

The Want Columns are the clearing house of realty information. Many farms are bought and sold through the Wants.

WEATHER TODAY.
cloudy; Wednesday, rain.
Salt Lake Metal Prices:
..... 62 1/2
..... 87 1/2
..... 45 1/2
(St. Louis) 42 1/2

LXXXVI., NO. 22.

SALT LAKE CITY, TUESDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 5, 1912.

18 PAGES—FIVE CENTS

TURKISH ARMY WILL FIGHT TO THE LAST GASP

They Have Not Reluctantly Submitted to the Armistice and it is Certain the Bulgarians are No Mood to Negotiate Peace.

SAFONIKI NOW AT MERCY OF GREEKS

Victory of Adrianople Hour Expected; Western Front of Turks Cut Off from the East by the Allies; Foreigners Fear Break in Constantinople.

LONDON, Nov. 4.—The prospect that a considerable portion of the defeated Turkish army will be able to reform behind the Tchatalja, the last fortification in Constantinople, is not altogether clear, but whether the Turks will be able to maintain there any serious resistance to the Bulgarian advance is a matter of some doubt.

Sign of Peace.

At the present hour there is no sign of anything having come of the appeal to the powers for mediation. Replies have been received at Constantinople and there is little doubt that they are received they will be a declaration to consider the proposal an armistice. At present Bulgaria is in no mood to negotiate at the present time.

Are Cut.

Occupation of Buck, on the rail line between Saloniki and Kuleli Bure, the last link of the chain wholly in the hands of the Turkish armies, which are fighting the great battles in the west of the scattered forces in the east of the country and to the westward.

WARRIORS EXPECTED TO ASSIST TO THE LAST

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 4.—Nazim Pasha, the Turkish commander-in-chief, is confident of his ability to hold the city against the Bulgarians. He has invited in order to obtain an armistice while negotiating for the Turkish fleet. It is pointed out that the Turkish fleet is pointed out.

DIABOLICAL DEEDS CHARGED TO TURKS

Instances of Terrible Atrocities on Serbo-Turkish Frontier Related by Novelist.

BUTCHERY OF PRIESTS

Old Men and Peasants Put to Death in Barbarous Manner;

LONDON, Nov. 4.—Many instances of terrible atrocities on the Serbo-Turkish frontier since the war began are given by the Serbian novelist, Dragutin J. Hiteh, in a letter to the Budget received today. He says: "In the village of Dubrovatz, on Turkish territory, the Turks entered the house of a priest named Philip Kumanovitch and seized him roughly, dragged him into the road and cut off his nose, ears and lips. Thus mutilated, they paraded the priest through the streets of the village to show him to the peasantry. When finally the unhappy man fell to the road in his agony, the Turks gave him a finishing stroke by putting a bullet through his head."

Cut Into Morsels.

In the village of Gradina, Turkish soldiers caught an unfortunate peasant named Voin Tanish and cut him into morsels. In the town of Gorne Pilizta the Turks captured a man named Milisavlevitch. He was summarily dispatched. The Turks cut off his head and mounted it upon a long pole. The sole offense of the man was that he had hidden his ten-year-old granddaughter from the barbarian invaders.

Altogether in the village of Gradina the Turks killed six persons and mutilated the corpses. Then, purely for their own amusement, they bound Alexis Kovanovitch, an inoffensive laborer, to a stake sunk in the main street, and fired at it for rifle practice as at a target. Needless to say they riddled him with bullets.

Peasants Butchered.

Turning from this scene of amusement the Turks cut off the ears and noses of three Serbian countrymen named Boshkovitch, Savitch and Stepanovitch, and after leading them around the little square in the town for a half hour, decapitated them. A poor old man who saw these crimes covered his eyes with his hands to shut out the horrible sight. Noticing this, the Turks seized the man, gouged out his eyes and left him lying senseless in the street.

Unnamable Crimes.

The Turks took exceptional pleasure in the horrible usage of a daughter of a couple in a manner which I may not indicate, under the eyes of her anguished parents, or in the maltreatment of a wife in the sight of her husband. When they came upon a Christian woman whose personal appearance pleased them, they carry her off for their harem and if the parents or husband are present they are killed.

(Continued on Page Two.)

GIVES PRAISE TO TURKS WHO DEFIED DEATH

Daniel H. Donahoe of London Chronicle Staff Tells Story of the Retreat of Abdullah's Army.

LONDON, Nov. 4.—Daniel H. Donahoe, special correspondent of the Chronicle, telegraphs the following from Constantza, Rumania: "Turkey is in a desperate plight. She is confronted with a wrecked army and the prospective ruin of her empire in Europe. Now that a national calamity has overtaken her, numbers of prophets who foretold her approaching dissolution are increasing daily. With these it is easy to be wise in view of contemporary events, but there were many thoughtful and serious minded Ottomans in the army and outside who viewed with genuine misgivings their country's determination to accept the gage of battle rather than submit to what she considered diplomatic humiliation."

By International News Service.

Marked for Scapegoat.

"Already the finger of scorn is pointed at Abdullah. He is earmarked as the national scapegoat. His offense, disappointedly viewed, is that with a strong army he ventured into the wilds of Thrace to attempt to beat the finely disciplined and highly organized enemy."

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 4.—

Letters which the government charged, showed that Frank C. Webb, New York, wrote to J. J. McNamara about sending Orrie E. McManigal to New York and Boston to blow up work there were read at the dynamite "conspiracy" trial today. A letter from Webb was quoted as showing that Michael J. Young, Boston, was anxious to have "jobs" done in Boston in the spring of 1900. In reply, McNamara wrote: "I don't know whether my friends will be able to get down your way. Find out if the deal could be pulled off. I'll attend to the rest of it, so no one will know anything about it as to time."

(Continued on Page Two.)

SEERESS IS FOUND GUILTY POISONED SON, SAYS JURY

Mrs. Louise Lindloff, above; Arthur Graunke, at left; Alma Graunke, center; William Lindloff, right.

SALT LAKE FIGURES IN DYNAMITE TRIAL

Letter From Munsey to McNamara in Evidence; Hotel Explosion Followed.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 4.—Letters which the government charged, showed that Frank C. Webb, New York, wrote to J. J. McNamara about sending Orrie E. McManigal to New York and Boston to blow up work there were read at the dynamite "conspiracy" trial today. A letter from Webb was quoted as showing that Michael J. Young, Boston, was anxious to have "jobs" done in Boston in the spring of 1900. In reply, McNamara wrote: "I don't know whether my friends will be able to get down your way. Find out if the deal could be pulled off. I'll attend to the rest of it, so no one will know anything about it as to time."

Usual Motion Made.

A formal motion for a new trial was made by the woman's attorney and the court set November 15 as the date for hearing arguments.

Arsenic Found.

When she was arraigned in the municipal court June 17, charged with the murder of her son, she was ordered held without bail and by agreement of counsel the preliminary hearing was postponed until June 27 without the introduction of testimony. Meanwhile a chemical analysis of the dead boy's organs disclosed quantities of arsenic. Exhumation of the bodies of William Lindloff, 15 years old.

(Continued on Page Two.)

RESULT RESTS IN THE HANDS OF THE VOTERS

One of the Most Strenuous Political Campaigns in the History of the Country Ends and the Candidates and Party Managers Await the Verdict.

APPEALS MADE AT THE LAST MOMENT

Usual Predictions of Success Put Out by the Leaders, but Many of the Larger States are Admittedly Doubtful; Struggle for Control of the Senate.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—The most vigorous presidential fight in recent years came to an end tonight, with the leading candidates for the nation's chief office continuing their personal appeal to voters almost to the last moment. President Taft, speaking from his train in Ohio on his trip to Cincinnati; Colonel Roosevelt addressing voters at Long Island points, close to Orster Bay, and Governor Wilson addressing meetings at Passaic and Patterson, gave to the conclusion of the campaign a touch of personal activity that emphasized the interest in tomorrow's balloting.

Democratic Claims.

Against Republican predictions that the senate will remain Republican, Democratic national leaders claimed enough states to give them the senate and to swell greatly their majority in the house of representatives which they captured in 1910.

Where Women Vote.

In the six western states, where women will vote, Wyoming, Utah, Colorado, California, Idaho and Washington, their ballots will be an important factor in the results. In five other states, Arizona, Michigan, Kansas, Oregon and Wisconsin the right of women to vote will be an issue at the polls.

FINAL WORDS SAID BY THE MANAGERS

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—Final telegraphic instructions to state and county chairmen in all of the western states were sent out tonight from the various national political headquarters in Chicago.

Three-Cornered Fight.

The three candidates for governor ended their personal campaign throughout the state last night and hurried home to vote. Governor William Spry addressed a small crowd at the Six

(Continued on Page Nine.)

FIGHT IS OVER, WITH LEADERS MUCH IN DOUBT

Close of Most Exciting and Fiercely Waged Campaign in History of State is Marked by Conflicting Claims of Republicans, Democrats, and Progressives Throughout Utah.

NOT ALL HARMONY WITH THE G. O. P.

Intense Public Interest Points to Heavy Vote in City, County and State; All Citizens are Urged to Cast Ballots Early as Possible.

THE last campaign oration is now a memory. The most exciting and critical campaign in Utah's history is now past and all that remains is the casting and counting of the ballots. Though the contest is one of the closest and the battle one of the hardest fought in years the campaign closed quietly and with little noise last night. The doubt as to the result that has been indicated by the varying reports at various headquarters during the past week continued to the end and even the wisest of election prognosticators is not venturing an opinion as to the result in the state and county.

Managers Worried.

At the various headquarters the managers were claiming everything in sight. Each state and county chairman professed to read in the pre-election signs a certainty of victory for his party, but at the same time each was visibly worried as to the outcome. Each of the three leading parties in the state has made an active campaign in the state and county, and each party has apparent reasons to feel encouraged.

Hinges on Salt Lake.

The situation immediately hinges on the result in this county. Should the Democrats or Progressives carry the county the Democrats will likely carry the state. If the Republicans carry the county their plurality in the state will not be much larger than their plurality in this county.

The Democrats have the best organization they have ever had both in the county and state and have been receiving encouraging reports from all parts of the state and from the various districts in the county. Furthermore the Democrats have had much more money than usual and have been able to make a complete canvass of the county and the state. Possibility of victory has caused the Democratic enthusiasts to make a vigorous campaign.

With the enthusiasm of recent converts to a new cause the Progressives have been particularly active. In Salt Lake county where they have been making the principal contest, they are claiming the county by a big plurality, relying on a Roosevelt landslide to sweep the county. The organization is largely volunteer and there are few if any paid workers. They have spent little money here. In many of the smaller counties of the state they have had no organization and have put up no county tickets except in the larger counties. In the larger counties of the state they have been showing remarkable strength. This is especially true in Box Elder, Cache, Carbon, Sevier, Sanpete, Utah and Weber counties. The Progressives are claiming most of these counties.

Three-Cornered Fight.

The three candidates for governor ended their personal campaign throughout the state last night and hurried home to vote. Governor William Spry addressed a small crowd at the Six

(Continued on Page Four.)