

POULTRY ASSOCIATION CUPS ARE AWARDED EXHIBITION OPENED TO PRIZE WINNERS

More Than 500 Birds, Representing State of Utah, Are on Display.

BIG INTEREST IN SHOW
Meeting Easily Promises to Be Most Successful Ever Held in State.

With more than 500 birds, representing different sections of Utah, on display, the twenty-fifth annual exhibition of the Utah State Poultry association opened in the Wells Fargo building, 125 South Main street, yesterday morning. Judging from the opening day's attendance this year's show promises to be the most successful in the history of the Utah association. Before the showrooms closed last night, 800 poultry fanciers and others interested in poultry and its products had visited the exhibition. There are no turkeys on exhibition.

The large attendance of the opening day is attributed to the fact that the association this year secured quarters in the heart of the city. No "spiller" is needed to herald the presence of the show. Even the layman, who knows the feathered family only at breakfast time, cannot pass the showrooms without a glance at the many varieties of the ordinary is in progress within. While the exhibition is a Utah show, birds have journeyed from as far as Butte, Mont., to enter into competition with the Utah fowls.

Many Varieties Seen.

Practically every variety known to breeders is included in the entries of the 1913 show. More than 500 entries have been received and all are now in place in the showrooms.

The poultry industry is not a business confined to the country as is commonly supposed. It is a science, the variety of the 1913 show. Fully 50 percent of the entries represent fanciers who have their fowls within the city limits. Mixed with these are birds from Ogden, Tremonton, Brigham City, Murray, Sandy, Provo, Riverton and other places.

One of the attractive features of the display this year is the exhibition of judges, which has been arranged in conjunction with the poultry show, under the direction of the Utah Poultry association. A second show, held in the pigeon club. Officers of the club believe that the 1913 show is far ahead of the one held last year, as well as being one that will set a precedent for future exhibitions.

Pigeons Are Numerous.

Three hundred and forty pigeons, of various breeds, are entered in the show. Many of these are of the fancy variety, and are of the most beautiful colors. The birds have been sent from Los Angeles and Seattle to compete for the prizes and cups offered by the association and the business judges of Salt Lake.

The birds are owned by thirty-two exhibitors, thirty of whom are Salt Lake fanciers. Included in the exhibition are: Carrier, Carneau, Dragon, Fantail, Homer, Jacobin, Owl, Pouter, Runt, Scanderoon, Turbans, Truncates and Tumblers. R. V. Moore, of Ogden, Utah, will exhibit a pair of the pigeon show. He will arrive in Salt Lake this morning and will immediately start scoring the birds entered in the competition.

In the poultry division E. H. Shellenbarger, of West Liberty, Iowa, is scoring a judge, shortly after the show opened yesterday he commenced the work of scoring the birds in the various divisions. This work will occupy the remainder of the week. The findings of the judge, on which the awards are made, will be announced after the scoring of each class is completed.

Awards Are Made.

Judge Shellenbarger completed the scoring of the birds in the Plymouth Rock class last night, and made the following awards:

First: H. P. Seddon, first; H. H. Pincock, second; H. H. Pincock, third; S. O. Day, fourth; F. J. Chamberlain, fifth.

Cocks: H. H. Pincock, first. No other entries.

Hens: Thomas P. Seddon, first; H. H. Pincock, second; H. H. Pincock, third; Thomas P. Seddon, fourth; Thomas P. Seddon, fifth.

Cuckers: Thomas P. Seddon, first; A. J. Trapp, second; C. W. Rogers, third; Albert Hooper, fourth; C. W. Rogers, fifth.

Pullets: E. J. Chamberlain, first; H. H. Pincock, second; S. O. Day, third; Thomas P. Seddon, fourth; H. H. Pincock, fifth.

Chickens of All Types.

Practically every type of chicken known to the poultry industry is included in the poultry division of the show. The largest number of entries have been received in the Rhode Island Red class, while Harold R. Gray, secretary of the association, has the largest individual exhibit with thirty-five Rhode Island Reds.

John J. Newton of Sandy has the distinction of being the first exhibitor of Silver Campines, to compete in a Utah show. A. A. Ellwood of Brigham City has the largest exhibit of White Game fowls in the state. He installed his first exhibit in the state show fifteen years ago. Since then he has not missed a show held under the auspices of the state association. He is represented by a pair of White Game fowls.

E. E. Smith of Bountiful, who is identified with the industry in a national way, brings a member of the American Poultry association, and an exhibitor of eastern shows, has a display of White Leghorns at the Utah show. A. P. Stone of Salt Lake has installed an exhibit of White Orpingtons, while A. W. Fishburn of Tremonton is represented by two pairs of Buff Orpingtons.

E. J. Trapp and John W. Bird of the Utah Poultry association, who have been active for years in the poultry industry, are the judges of the 1913 show, which will deliver an address on topics of interest to poultry fanciers.

Membership Trophies Are Presented by Commercial Club Committee.

Winners of the membership trophies were awarded prizes at an interesting meeting of the Commercial club membership committee yesterday afternoon. The committee and other members of the club attended. Wesley King, chairman, presided.

The cups were presented by the Rev. P. A. Simpkins, as follows: First prize to W. W. Armstrong, second to A. H. Scouthern, third to George Rust. Individual prizes were awarded to W. S. Romney, first; R. H. Felt, second, and B. W. Mendenhall and L. P. Judd, third. Mr. Mendenhall and Mr. Judd were tied for third prize, so the club purchased an extra cup.

Secretary Joseph H. Caine complimented the committee in behalf of the board of governors for the excellent results of the membership campaign. W. J. Halloran delivered an address in which he said that when he heard of the results of the membership campaign, he was very much pleased. He complimented the Commercial club, saying that it was a "great club."

Addresses were made by the prize winners, John P. Lyon, and the four members of the board of governors, Wesley King, George A. Steiner, T. W. Whiteley and E. S. Murphy. They gave the membership committee much credit for their election.

CHAUFFEUR CHECKS FIRE, RISKING LIFE

Rail for the presence of mind of George Robinson, a city chauffeur, the city streets, probably would have been destroyed by fire early Sunday morning. As it turned out, a new Cadillac automobile belonging to the water department was partially destroyed and Robinson suffered several painful burns about the hands and arms.

Responding to a rush call for the machine, Robinson was preparing to take it out of the garage when it came in an inexplicable manner it caught fire. At great risk of his life, Robinson pushed the car out of the garage, and it was then that the fire broke out. Robinson was then in a panic and fled from the car. The fire was then extinguished by the fire department. Robinson was then taken to the hospital, where he is now recovering from his injuries.

MANUFACTURERS OUT FOR BOOST CAMPAIGN

Tomorrow there will be launched a membership campaign by the Manufacturers Association of Utah and an effort will be made to double the present membership of 25. The campaign will be held in the city hall, where the membership reaches 25. It is expected by members to reach the goal set in a few weeks, but the campaign will not be held until the membership reaches 25.

As represented by White Plymouth Rocks, while Mr. Trump's exhibit consists of Barred Plymouth Rocks. Ogden is represented at the show by George Poulter and W. L. Bramwell. Both are exhibitors of Rhode Island Reds.

Among the other exhibitors are: Harry Oster, Salt Lake, White Wyandottes; A. Matton, Salt Lake, White Face Black Spanish; A. Betts, Salt Lake, White Wyandottes; A. T. Sanders, Salt Lake, Silver Spangled Hamburgs; H. H. Pincock, Salt Lake, Cornish Indian Game; Black Langshires and Black Minorcas; S. O. Day, Salt Lake, Barred Plymouth Rocks and Brown Leghorns; and the Holiday Poultry farm, Holiday, White Leghorns.

FAVOR A STATE ORGANIZATION

Believing that the time is ripe for a state organization in the Utah poultry industry, the Utah State Poultry association has called a meeting of poultry fanciers to be held in the Commercial club Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. At this meeting various and sundry matters of the poultry associations of the state under one head will be taken up and discussed.

While the Utah State Poultry association is intended to be a state organization at the present time, it has no control over the county organizations of the state. It is pointed out that a state organization will overcome these irregularities.

By forming a state organization, the officers of the Utah association declare the shows can be held consecutively, thus giving exhibitors an opportunity to compete in various sections of the state. It is proposed to hold one big state show each year, under the direction of the state organization, to be made of representatives of the county organizations. The show would be held in different cities of the state each year, thus giving every poultry section an opportunity to have the big exhibition. The county shows could be held as at the present time, with the exception that no two shows would be held at the same time.

According to the present plan, the state organization would be composed of representatives from the smaller associations who would constitute an executive board. Under this arrangement, members of the Utah association, all of the paraphernalia necessary to conduct a poultry show could be owned by the state organization. Uniform cups could be purchased and used by all of the associations, which is impossible when each association has to provide its own equipment.

In addition to the discussion of the proposed organization, P. H. Shellenbarger, of West Liberty, Iowa, who is acting as judge of the 1913 show, will deliver an address on topics of interest to poultry fanciers.

Probabilities Are, However, That N. E. A. Convention Will Come Here.

PRESIDENT HEARD FROM
Matter Hinges on Railroads of Country and Hotels of Salt Lake.

Definite selection of Salt Lake City as the meeting place for the 1913 convention of the National Education association is still in abeyance, according to a special announcement by Edward T. Fairchild, president of the association, a copy of which was received by G. N. Childs, director for Utah, yesterday. In a carefully worded statement, Mr. Fairchild says:

The executive committee of the National Education association is unable to place of meeting of the general association. The board of directors at its meeting in Chicago expressed its preference for Salt Lake City, Utah, by unanimous vote. The president and secretary made a trip to Salt Lake October 11 and 12 to confer with the local committee having charge of the matter. We found local conditions admirably fitted for the holding of the convention and so reported to the meeting of the executive committee held in Chicago Wednesday, October 23.

After hearing the report, the executive committee decided that, provided the railroad and hotel conditions were satisfactory, the next meeting would be held in Salt Lake, Utah, in 1913. The basic rates for the meeting will be made by the Western Passenger association, which will hold its meeting in Salt Lake, Utah, in 1913. The association has had conference with members of both these associations but no definite action has been taken.

It is expected, however, in view of information received, that satisfactory arrangements will be made for the association, and that the meeting will be held in Salt Lake City. Definite announcements will be made from time to time through the Educational Press.

In view of the current agitation by eastern women against the holding of the convention here, and the alleged attitude of the local hotel men, who, it is declared, have not yet agreed to maintain regular rates during the convention period, this announcement by President Fairchild is taken as significant. Local schoolmen having charge of arrangements for the convention are, however, unimpressed by the situation. However, they are inclined to accept the "special announcement" as favorable to Salt Lake.

PAIS EXTENSIVE PARK IMPROVEMENTS

If the budget recommendations of George A. Keyser, park commissioner, are allowed the city will spend $94,720 for park improvements in 1913. The budget from the park department has been filed and will be considered by the budget committee, which begins its deliberations today.

Commissioner Keyser asks for $33,400 for liberty park, where he proposes to put in $10,000 for improvements. He also asks for $12,000 for labor. A zoo for the animals now collected at the park will be built at a cost of $40,000; $20,000 will go for public band concerts; $10,000 for playgrounds; $500 for purchase of animals, and lesser amounts for various items.

The commissioner will ask for $8,000 as a fund for the purchase of land for new parks; $2,000 for the establishment of the Moran playground in City Creek canyon, and another $15,000 for extension of the parking in City Creek canyon. $4,000 for Albion park, $2,000 for Riverside park, $7,000 for boulevard extensions; $650 for improvement of Pioneer Heights; $6,200 for Pioneer park; $2,000 for maintenance of the city's side of the joint building grounds; $800 each for the Sixth East, South East and Twelfth East streets parks; $1,500 for Second South park; $1,200 for Douglas park; $1,000 for improvements about the Thirtieth East street reservoir; $700 for Arlington Heights; $700 for school ground improvements. Numerous other lesser improvements are included in the budget.

Funeral services for Mrs. Joseph W. Stringfellow were held at the residence of her husband, George Stringfellow, 65 Fifth East street, yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The service was held in the home of the deceased, who died at the residence of her husband, George Stringfellow, 65 Fifth East street, yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. ### MRS. AGNES M'EWAN, UTAH PIONEER, DIES

Mrs. Agnes M'ewan, 76 years of age, a pioneer of 1850, died at the residence of her son, Henry T. M'ewan, 474 Fourth street, yesterday afternoon of the infirmities of old age.

Mrs. M'ewan was born in Edinburgh, Scotland, August 25, 1836. She came to Utah in the company led by Miles Anderson in the year 1855. Her husband, Henry M'ewan, died in 1904 from injuries received in a runaway. She was the mother of five sons and five daughters. Four of the sons survive her. They are Henry T., Fred and William M'ewan of Salt Lake, and Frank M'ewan of Park City. Funeral services will be held from the residence of Henry T. M'ewan, 474 Fourth street, some time Wednesday.

Board of Education Listens to Statements of Parties Concerned.

UNION LABOR HEARD
Charges That Plumbing Company Is Using Defective Material Denied.

The board of education held a meeting last night to discuss the "strike" at the new east side school. A. D. McMullen, G. M. Sullivan, W. J. Barretto, A. G. Glaque, O. W. Moyle, Matson, Thomas, H. V. Van Pelt and J. T. Hammond of the school board were present. J. L. Chescho, architect; E. J. Householder, chief engineer for P. J. Moran; Joseph H. Lane and A. M. Scott, president and secretary of the Building Trades council, and A. F. Osborne, in charge of the heating and ventilation were on hand to look after their interests.

Mr. Glaque, chairman of the building and grounds committee, stated the case as he knew it. He said that the first official notice of any trouble came to them through P. J. Moran, general contractor, when he learned that his men had been called off the work because of the plumbers and steam fitters had some kind of labor trouble with the Wright-Orsborne company, who had charge of the heating and ventilation.

Trouble a Mystery.

The trouble was reported to have started on a building which the Wright-Orsborne company was fitting with heating and ventilating system at Price, Utah, but the nature of the trouble was not known to him. Numerous meetings had been called between the unions and the Wright-Orsborne company but without a satisfactory result.

Mr. Glaque further stated that it was now a question of the progress of the work and what steps could be taken to hurry the completion of the building, that if possible in any way, he thought the difficulties outside the city should be adjusted so as not to interfere with the work here and that the Wright-Orsborne company should arrange its work so as not to be in bad repute.

A. E. Osborne, of the Wright-Orsborne company, was then called upon to state his case and say what steps he would take to get the work started and completed.

Arbitration in Doubt.

Mr. Osborne appeared willing to arbitrate the matter if it were left to three responsible men, but refused to leave it to the committee suggested by the Building Trades council. When questioned as to what the trouble was, he said that it started at Price, when one of the boys of education ordered him to take off the work. A man named Eugene Johnson, who had damaged the work to the extent of about $75. Johnson was discharged and given a ticket to Salt Lake, but no wages. The time he had worked was paid for at $4.00 per day. On account of the damage to the building this money was withheld and suits brought against Johnson for $100 and against the Building Trades union for $100.

Union Presents Case.

Joseph H. Lane, in behalf of the Building Trades union, presented the case of Johnson was taken by them only after a careful investigation. The charge against Price was that he had expected to receive the balance of his wages and work when the case was investigated it was learned that Johnson did not use tobacco and forced him to quit. Representing the building trades had offered to arbitrate the matter by Osborne putting the amount due to Johnson in escrow. The union committee composed of four members of the master plumbers, of which Osborne was a member, and four building trades men, plumbers and two steam fitters. They steadfastly refused to do until a charge of $100 additional was invested in the case. Lane to regular trades council had been put to investigate the matter.

Mr. Lane further stated that the suits must now be withdrawn before the matter would be considered at all. While the council regretted very much to cause work to stop, he was forced to do so for convenience. It was necessary to bring about the proper results.

Scott Brings Charges.

After considerable argument among the members of the school board, Osborne and Lane, A. M. Scott, secretary of the Building Trades council, corroborated the statement of Lane by making a small suggestion when he declared that the school board could go ahead with the work according to the contract if they so desired. After further discussion, Mr. Barretto moved that the board go into executive session and consider the evidence presented by the building trades until 11 o'clock and the matter was taken under advisement. The committee in charge of the building was instructed to investigate further and report at a special meeting tonight.

Held in Abeyance.

This was denied by Osborne as was the assertion that defective material was being used. After further discussion, Mr. Barretto moved that the board go into executive session and consider the evidence presented by the building trades until 11 o'clock and the matter was taken under advisement. The committee in charge of the building was instructed to investigate further and report at a special meeting tonight.

A. M. Scott, secretary of the Building Trades council, stated that the sheet iron used in the ventilating plant was a job lot, first-class in no respect, but of the cheapest quality. He said that the sheet iron was as bad as the quality of the metal, probably due more to the material than the workmen. He also said that the sheet iron was as bad as the quality of the metal, probably due more to the material than the workmen. He also said that the sheet iron was as bad as the quality of the metal, probably due more to the material than the workmen.

Good Roads Association Reaches an Agreement on Recommendations.

Members of the legislative committee of the Intermountain Good Roads association placed the stamp of approval on the ten recommendations submitted to Governor Spry by the state road commissioner at an adjourned meeting held in the Felt building yesterday. After discussing the road needs of Utah, the members of the committee decided that the recommendations of the road commission embodied that which could be consistently asked for. Resolutions were adopted endorsing these recommendations and recommending that the association in an endeavor to have laws made to cover them.

A proposition to have the legislature hold the state for $2,000,000 for road improvements, which had been fostered by members of the committee, was abandoned. An issue of this kind the committee decided, would give the smaller counties of the state an advantage over the larger counties. The apportionment for some of the smaller counties, it was pointed out, would be more than the counties would put on roads.

Instead, the committee decided to support the recommendations of W. D. Beers, state road commissioner, providing an appropriation of $200,000 each year for each county, providing the county furnishes 50 per cent or more of that amount. The state law empowers the county commissioners to levy a tax of not to exceed 5 mills to meet the county's share in the construction of state roads. The committee and the state road commissioner have recommended that the law be changed to read "a tax of 3 mills."

The following members of the committee on roads, including the awarding of the contract for the building of the new capitol to James Stewart & Co. were approved:

Charles S. Tingey, former secretary of state, was elected secretary of the board, but the superintendent of buildings, H. H. Masters, was elected secretary of the board. The superintendent of buildings, H. H. Masters, was elected secretary of the board. The superintendent of buildings, H. H. Masters, was elected secretary of the board.

CITY AND VICINITY

FRANK SMITH, 42 years of age, a laborer who came here recently from Oregon, was arrested at police headquarters yesterday of an experience with confidence men. Smith lost $8 on a fake horse race game. Smith became suspicious before losing his money and quit with $40 in his pocket.

FINAL REHEARSALS were held yesterday by the Salt Lake quintette for the church choir. The rehearsals will be given at the First Congregational church tonight. There is much interest in the new law for the criminal and the relative music lovers of the city.

A COMPLAINT charging Joseph Cross with third-degree burglary was issued by the county attorney yesterday on complaint of W. C. Olson, a police officer. Cross is alleged to have entered the premises at 25 Commercial street January 6, and stolen $100.

WORD FROM SAN FRANCISCO has been received announcing the death in that city on December 29, 1912, of Mrs. Susan Barton, a native of Kentucky, aged 77 years. A daughter of Mrs. Barton is thought to be a resident of Salt Lake.

G. BEVERLY ARCHIBALD, special mineral and Carey act inspector for the state, has been named as a witness in the McCune timber trespass case in Montana. The case is being heard today.

THE PETITION for naturalization set for hearing in the United States district court on January 25 have been continued until March 25 on account of the absence of the petitioner, the district during the rest of January.

MURPHY is charged with failure to provide for his wife and minor child in a complaint filed by the county attorney yesterday. Julia Murphy, the wife, is the complaining witness.

OBJECTIONS MADE TO HEALTH ORDINANCE

Objections to certain sections of the new health ordinance, wherein health inspectors are given the right to enter a house and examine it or its occupants for disease or other health conditions, were made to the city commission last night in the form of a petition. The petitioners also objected to the provision in the new law for the publication and circulation of literature advising communities as to the best methods of preventing disease and the spread of their affliction. The petitioners declare that the question of how to treat contagious diseases is a matter of medical science and that the city has no right to allow its board of health to promulgate one method as against another.

ST. CECILE PROPRIETOR CONVICTED AND FINED

A. C. Larsen, proprietor of the St. Cecile hotel, was convicted yesterday of keeping a disorderly house by Judge N. H. Tanner of the criminal division of the city court yesterday. A fine of $50 was imposed.

The testimony of Lucile Walker and Nellie Elder, the women detectives employed by the department, was corroborated by that of A. C. Hargrove, who told of having bought beer with which to entertain Nellie Elder in his room at the St. Cecile at about 1 o'clock on the morning of November 3.

ASK CONFERENCE TO FIX BOUNDARY LINE

Oscar W. Carlson, chairman of the board of county commissioners, yesterday addressed a letter to the commissioners of Davis county asking for a conference to determine definitely the disputed boundary line between the two counties.

For years a question has existed as to the exact location of the line. The Jordan river formerly was agreed upon as the division, but that stream has frequently changed its course just far enough to cause trouble. In recent years persons living in the disputed territory have been confronted with the possibility of having to pay taxes in two counties.

At the conference to be held in the near future it is likely that the two boards of commissioners will agree to erect substantial monuments to determine the boundary for all time.

Theft Is Charged.

W. L. Lafferty, colored, with a police record, was arrested last night for the alleged theft of a few oranges. He offered an excuse for taking the oranges, saying that he could not find any more. He was arrested last summer on a charge of stealing cantaloupes.

FORMER SECRETARY OF STATE HONORED

They Will Ask Lawmakers for Flat Rate on Public Advertising.

HOLD MEETING IN GATHERING
Governor Spry and Joseph E. Caine.

The Utah Newspaper association ask the legislature to fix a flat rate for publishing public notices, laws and legislation committee was pointed by the association at its meeting in the Commercial club yesterday. It will be argued that as the newspapers publish many notices of the state free of charge and make practically no profit under the competitive system of public advertising, they should be given the benefit of a rate of $1.50 per hundred words.

One of the most interesting results in the history of the organization held, H. C. Hicks of Provo was elected president; Charles L. Hulse of Eugene, Ore., secretary; J. H. Masters of Salt Lake City, treasurer. The committee on legislation consists of Royal Johnson, W. P. Emerson, Mr. Masters, Hulse and Jacob Coleman. Charles Hulse and Joseph E. Caine, secretary of the Commercial club, will appoint a committee on advertising.

CHANCE CHOSEN BY CAPITOL COMMISSION

Former Secretary of State Is Given Position; Building Superintendent Next.

The state capitol commission held an executive session yesterday afternoon, which lasted until almost 7 o'clock in the evening, at which the proceedings of the committee on the building of the new capitol to James Stewart & Co. were approved.

Charles S. Tingey, former secretary of state, was elected secretary of the board, but the superintendent of buildings, H. H. Masters, was elected secretary of the board. The superintendent of buildings, H. H. Masters, was elected secretary of the board.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT ASKS FOR $80,000

Dr. S. G. Paul, city health commissioner, yesterday submitted to the city commission his annual budget for 1913. He asks for a total appropriation of $80,000 with which to conduct the manifold affairs of the department coming under his supervision. This amount, while about $5000 greater than the appropriation for 1912, includes certain extra expenses and innovations to be undertaken by the various divisions, an expense not encountered last year.

The budget recommends $4500 for the health department, $1600 for the department of bacteriology, $1600 for sanitary inspection, $1700 for meat and fish inspection, $250 for dairy and milk inspection, $200 for the department of weights and measures, and $250 for the chemistry department.

For general health division, which has supervision over matters of disease, both as to prevention and control, $55,316 is asked. Of this $4800 goes for the salaries of the commissioner, his assistant and members of the board of health; $1920 goes for office salaries, $1000 for public health nurses, $1000 for the health department by the city commission last night. They will be employed as inspectors at the health department, checking the spread of contagious diseases among school children and in the home, and in the health department, checking the spread of contagious diseases among school children and in the home, and in the health department, checking the spread of contagious diseases among school children and in the home.

WOMEN NAMED IN HEALTH DEPARTMENT

On recommendation of Dr. Samuel Paul, health commissioner, Miss Carrie Roberts and Miss Ellen Lane, graduate nurses, have been named as members of the health department by the city commission last night. They will be employed as inspectors at the health department, checking the spread of contagious diseases among school children and in the home, and in the health department, checking the spread of contagious diseases among school children and in the home.

DEATH COMES QUICKLY TO E. L. KRAEMER

E. L. Kraemer, 35 years of age, an assistant chemist at the Utah state hospital, died last night at his home in Salt Lake City. He was found dead in his room at the hotel where he was staying. He was found dead in his room at the hotel where he was staying. He was found dead in his room at the hotel where he was staying.

SHIPPERS TRYING TO GET TOGETHER

In order to stimulate interest in the meeting of shippers and members of the state horticultural commission, J. Taylor, secretary of the commission, yesterday went to Ogden to confer with prominent shippers of the junction. The shippers of Utah, who are the members of the horticultural commission, at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the Commercial club in this city, to discuss the subject of shipping fruit with a view to getting legislation requiring uniform packing of fruit in Utah.

SHEPHERD OF UTAH MAY BALE THEIR WOOL

Big wool growers of Utah are seriously considering the idea of baling the wool of their flocks. The reason for this is that it is difficult to transport the wool in its natural state and in some cases impossible to get the wool to market. It is estimated that the wool growers ship their clip in bales for 10 per cent less than they could if they were making arrangements to estimate the wool in bales. The wool growers are making arrangements to estimate the wool in bales. The wool growers are making arrangements to estimate the wool in bales.
