GEORGE E. GUNN DIES SUDDENLY

prominent of eastern capitalists and senior member of the firm of Thompson, Towle & Co. of New York and Boston. Mr. Thompson and the brothers of Mr. Gunn were immediately informed of his death yesterday afternoon, and the final funeral arrangements will not be completed until their wishes are ascertained.

Wealthy Bachelor.
 In addition to the grief among his friends at his death, all deem it especially regrettable that Mr. Gunn should die at the time when he was in a position to enjoy the results of long years of hard work, at a time when the success so long fought for was within his grasp. He was a rich man, but in a few years he would have been immensely wealthy, as several of his largest holdings have not yet been rounded out into full production and dividend perfection. He had never married, and his philanthropies, while widely distributed, were never advertised. Those who were close to him, who worked with him, know of the many families made glad at Christmas times by the gentle charity of George E. Gunn, reaching into spots that the average charity would never see. There are hundreds of friends all over the country who loved George E. Gunn as a brother, and to whom he was always the same quiet and gentle companion.

At the time of his death Mr. Gunn was educating several young men and women to whom he was related and young in heart he was ever helpful to those interested in young people. He never forgot a friend, and always managed to find room somewhere with his enterprises for those whose friendship had a real or remote call upon him.

Member of Clubs.
 Mr. Gunn was a member of the Alta and Commercial clubs of Salt Lake; he was a Knight Templar and Shriner and a member of several clubs on the coast and in the east. Should his remains be buried in Salt Lake, where so many of his friends reside, it is likely that the Knights Templar will have charge of the funeral.

It could not be learned last night whether Mr. Gunn had left a will. His estate is being administered by a number of close friends, including Mr. Crisp, William H. Bradley, J. B. Thompson and Fred A. Flint, to be held pending instructions from the relatives. It is expected that the Los Angeles brother will reach the city at the earliest possible date. William B. Thompson of New York is expected in Salt Lake as soon as the long journey can be made.

Forty-four prominent local business men members of the Commercial club representing many millions of dollars invested in Salt Lake and Utah, yesterday sent to the Commercial club a resolution a written protest against the body's action on March 7. The resolution was passed indorsing the state legislature's action in passing a bill providing for the creation of a public service commission, which was read before the board members yesterday. It was stated that the resolution was not intended as an expression of the club's opinion and was entirely "unworthy" of the institution which represents the business interests of the state and which, hereafter, in the name of its own perpetuity, usefulness, had "persistently" refused to be used in a partisan way.

Rescission.
 A protest urges that the board's action be rescinded and that in the future the club's membership be confined to any proposed legislation or proposition be submitted to the club, according to an opportunity to be given to the members to present their views.

At the time the proposed public commission bill was read, it was stated that the vote was taken on a strike on the enacting clause proposed measure had previously introduced before the house, where it was defeated.

It is probable, however, that this will have effect upon today's announced action and that the protest will be carried out.

Protest.
 The Board of Governors of the Commercial Club appears from the public prints to have indorsed on March 7 a resolution recommending to the legislature the passage of a bill providing for the creation of a public service commission.

It is stated that the action seems to have been taken at the instance of a few influential members and without any notice to the body of the club.

It is stated that the action should be rescinded and that the club should be allowed to have its own say in the matter.

It is stated that the resolution is an expression of the club's opinion and is entirely unworthy of the institution which represents the business interests of the state.

ARGUMENT IS HEARD ON NEWSPAPER LAW

Journal of Commerce Asks That No Action Be Taken Pending Court Decision.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—Counsel for the New York Journal of Commerce today applied to the supreme court to restrain Postmaster General Burleson from immediately enforcing the "newspaper publicity law." Former Postmaster General Hitchcock had agreed to attempt to enforce the law pending a prompt appeal to the supreme court from the decision of the federal courts in New York.

The request was based on an agreement between counsel, the department of justice and the postoffice department last October that no action would be taken by the postoffice department to compel newspaper publishers to comply with the law or enforce any of its penalties until the supreme court had passed on its validity.

George G. Morris, counsel for the Journal of Commerce, in a statement to the supreme court declared that on March 4 the postmaster of New York had notified the paper that unless the statements required by the law were filed a case would be proceeded to enforce its penalties. Similar letters, the attorney charged, had been sent to other newspapers throughout the country. Since March 4, Attorney Morris declared Postmaster General Burleson had informed him verbally that unless the required returns were made on or before March 11, he would enforce the penalties, which include disbarment from the mails. The law requires newspapers to file with the government and publish twice each year a sworn statement showing the names of their bondholders, security holders, stockholders, the amount of the daily circulation and to designate all paid for articles as "advertisement."

The supreme court has had the validity of the law under consideration for several months, but has announced no decision.

The court took the motion of Mr. Morris under advisement.

Solicitor general Bullitt stated verbally that he government took cognizance of the motion, but did not agree to all the statements set forth as facts in the statement Mr. Morris filed with the court.

Later Mr. Bullitt stated that his recollection was that the postoffice department had informally agreed not to enforce the law for a reasonable time, but that it did not specifically agree not to enforce the law until the supreme court had passed on it.

TWINE FACTORY WAS A FAILURE

This Is Testimony Given by H. E. Brown in Harvester Company Suit.

OMAHA, March 11.—A co-operative binding twine factory started a few years ago in Sioux City & a competitor of the International Harvester company, was a failure, for lack of capital. H. E. Brown of Salix, Ia., an officer of the defunct concern, so testified today in the government's suit against that corporation.

Mr. Brown qualified as an expert in farming, binder machinery, binder twine and grain elevators. His testimony threw some sidelights on the harvest conditions generally and the twine business in particular.

He testified that the twine business in Salix, Ia., was a failure, for lack of capital. He testified that the twine business in Salix, Ia., was a failure, for lack of capital.
