

FRANK KNOX, president of Utah State Bankers association, who attended currency bill conference in Chicago.

President of National Bank of Republic Returns From Conference. RECOMMEND CHANGES Delegates Suggest Revision of Currency Bill Pending Before National Congress.

Frank Knox, president of the National Bank of the Republic and also president of the State Bankers association, returned to the city yesterday from Chicago, where he was a delegate to a conference of bankers which was held recently for a discussion of the currency bill now pending in the congress of the United States.

The conference was called by A. B. Hepburn of the Chase National bank of New York City and also chairman of the currency committee of the American Bankers association.

Mr. Knox said upon his return that in many respects the Chicago conference was the most important gathering of bankers in the history of the country. There were more than 250 in attendance and the delegates comprised presidents of clearing house associations and presidents of bankers associations.

Discusses Measure. Discussing the great gathering and the matter considered, Mr. Knox said: As we well know, the meeting was called to consider, or rather to make suggestions pertinent to the currency measure that is now pending in congress. This bill makes a totally new plan and a change in the entire financial system of the country.

The delegates formulated a set of resolutions recommending a modification of the present bill, believing if the measure should be modified, as recommended, that the bill would then provide for a more effective system of the banking and currency systems of the country.

The resolutions also recommended a government bank, or if this could not be done, instead of twelve of these banks, at least seven, which were thought better to reduce the number to five. We also recommended a reduction of the capital stock to be contributed by the national banks to 10 per cent instead of 25 per cent.

This would amount to $100,000,000, all of which would have to be contributed from the stock of the national banks, as state banks do not have to be stockholders in the central bank unless they desire to be.

The present bill provides that a large part of the reserve of national banks be placed in the central bank and the remainder in the national banks. This would amount to $500,000,000, in addition to the $100,000,000 which would come out of the capital stock of the national banks.

Another change that we suggested was that the amount of reserve funds to be placed in the central bank be reduced about one-half, the remainder of the reserve to be placed in the national banks.

It is contended, on the other hand, that the money that is borrowed back from the federal bank, but they cannot borrow to exceed 50 per cent of their capital stock, and you can see that this would be a disadvantage.

The fact is that the bankers are merely trying to construct a bill that will suit those in charge of the currency measure, and the further fact remains that the bankers are not interested to a great extent as the public.

The passage of the bill in its present form is that the currency remains that the bankers are not interested to a great extent as the public. The passage of the bill in its present form is that the currency remains that the bankers are not interested to a great extent as the public.

Another objection urged against the bill in its present form is that while the national banks of the country furnish all the capital, the sole management and conduct of the federal bank would be in the hands of appointees to be designated by the president, no one of whom would have a dollar of interest in the bank, or be a banker, with perhaps a single exception.

In conclusion, I want to emphasize the fact that the currency measure was conciliatory to a marked degree. The bankers who met there desired only to assist in every way possible the framing of a currency measure that will be a credit to the administration and a boon to all the people of the country.

REAL ESTATE LEADER PRAISES SALT LAKE

President C. L. Simpson of National Association of Exchanges Here. PREDICTS GREAT CITY Says There Is Everything Here; Sees Unusual Prosperity at Present.

C. L. Simpson of Kansas City, recently elected president of the National Association of Real Estate Exchanges at the Winnipeg convention, was the guest of prominent members of the local association yesterday.

Mr. Simpson is a leader among real estate men and is a keen observer. His business makes him a student of cities and city problems. This and the fact that he made his first visit to Salt Lake yesterday, make his impressions especially interesting and valuable.

DEMOCRATS OPPOSE A CITY CONVENTION Municipal Committee Meets and Decides Not to Name Candidates.

If the decision reached at the meeting of the Democratic city committee yesterday afternoon is approved by the members of the party in general, there will be no municipal convention this fall and no candidates will be nominated for city commissioner or auditor.

Those present at yesterday's meeting were Chairman C. L. Olsen, John Halvorsen and Gould B. Blakely. The remaining members of the committee, John Holley and Joseph Young, while absent, had agreed that no convention should be held, and a resolution introduced by Chairman Olsen, declaring against holding a convention, was adopted by a unanimous vote.

The resolution, adopted at the meeting, which sets out fully the spirit of the city committee, follows: Resolved, by the city committee of the Democratic party in Salt Lake City, Utah, that:

Whereas, it is the spirit of the law creating a board of commissioners for the government of cities of the first and second class in this state that such board of commissioners and a city auditor should be chosen without regard to party affiliation, and that city offices shall not be made a means of patronage for party service; and

Whereas, this committee believes it to be the sentiment of the Democratic party in this city that this interpretation of the spirit and purpose of the law should be recognized and observed.

Resolved, That it is the sense of this meeting that the Democratic party should make no nominations for the office of commissioner and auditor for Salt Lake City for the approaching election of 1913; that support should be given to such candidates, regardless of party affiliation, as may come before the people at said election that shall most nearly fit the spirit and purpose of the law; that vigilance should be exercised to prevent the election of any candidate that might be put forth, directly or indirectly, by any private interest for ulterior purposes, or by any party for partisan advantage; and be it further

Resolved, That candidates should be preferred who favor municipal ownership and operation of public utilities, and who shall be pledged to work for the establishment of this economy in Salt Lake City as rapidly as it is practicable to do so. Be it further

Resolved, That the Democratic party should reserve the right to aid in the accomplishment of the purpose aforesaid by any official endorsement or declaration that the party may at any time deem it advisable and proper to make.

WESTGAARD IS FOR THE MIDLAND TRAIL Noted Automobile Pathfinder Says That Route Is an Established Fact.

"Utah should not worry about keeping the Midland trail. Any agitation to cut out the state from the trail comes from unreliable sources. I consider the trail an established fact. However, it has only been a few months since I came over the route as a pioneer and one could not expect to do a great deal with wild country in that time.

NEW COAL FIELDS BEING DEVELOPED American Fuel Company Spending Large Sums This Summer in Southern Utah.

Development of new and established coal fields in southern Utah is being pushed with great rapidity this summer and hundreds of thousands of dollars are going into the work, according to Walter J. Harris, general manager of the American Fuel company of Salt Lake, who has just returned from an inspection trip to his company's property at Neelen, Utah.

"There has never been a time in the recent history of Utah when so much was being accomplished in the way of working in one of the best veins of coal we have ever found and the mine is shipping steadily. The market for Utah coal seems to be steadily increasing and we are selling a great deal of 'Bear' coal, as the American Fuel company's product is known in California."

QUEEN IS SELECTED BY SUMMIT COUNTY Maids of Honor Also Chosen for Carnival of Counties at Fair.

Summit county has taken the lead in the selection of a queen and maids of honor to represent the county in the grand "Carnival of Counties" which is to be the feature of the opening exercises of the Utah state fair this year. At an enthusiastic meeting held in Park City the selections were made and committees appointed to arrange additional representation for that county, which will include a military band on "Summit county" day, and possibly a band to enter the musical contest as well.

The queen chosen is Miss Belva McCormick, and the four maids of honor are Fern Lewis, Park City; Cora Passett, Honefer; Blanche Milner, Peoa, and Nida Allen, Coalville. These girls are said to represent the beauty of the county, and are expected to become strong contenders in the state-wide beauty contest which will be held in connection with the carnival.

WOMAN VICTIM OF PECULIAR ACCIDENT Breaks Through Glass Canopy in Front of Hotel; Injuries Are Slight.

Stepping from an upper story window upon the canopy of the Shelton hotel to secure a better view of the biplane sailing over the city yesterday morning, Mrs. A. F. Cromwell, a guest of the hotel, found too late that she had stepped upon a roof of glass. As she crashed through, she spread her arms out and caught the framework of the canopy, which was held up by a ladder secured and held at the base by Patrolman Carlberg, while Detective V. B. May of the Maylon Detective agency climbed up to assist the woman to safety.

HAND IS MUTILATED IN SAUSAGE GRINDER Edward McGuire, 14 years of age, son of Edward McGuire, proprietor of the Bingham bar on Commercial street and Orpheum alley, suffered a mutilation of his right hand yesterday afternoon by getting it caught in a sausage grinder at the Horner meat market, Second East and First South streets, where he was employed. He was taken to the emergency hospital at police headquarters and attended to by Dr. H. B. Sprague. The first finger was crushed and the second one so nearly cut off that amputation was necessary. He was later taken home to No. 8 Hollywood apartments by his father.

THOUSANDS EXPECTED AT SALT AIR TOMORROW Tomorrow ends the summer season at Saltair, and plans have been made for the annual Labor day celebration that is expected to send the attendance mark way ahead of any previous closing day. Davis county has also taken the matter up in earnest, and committees have been appointed to represent every section of the county in the exhibits and to provide some plan for the selection of the queen and maids. It is likely that a county contest will be held. At Logan the selection for Cache county is to be made through the medium of a beauty contest as a feature of the county fair next month. Under this plan there will be a contest in which the entire county will participate. Box Elder county and Tooele county have both taken favorable action, and committees are now at work.

At Ogden last night a meeting was held at the Weber club at that city, the ball rolling there, and will doubtless result in the most elaborate representation Weber county has ever had at the state fair.
