

NEWS FROM THE GREAT SALT LAKE MOUNTAINS

SHERIFFS TRY TO SURROUND BANDIT LOPEZ

Trail Thought to Lead to Branch Line of Salt Lake Route in Cedar Valley.

been made in the Lake mountains by the deputies and supposedly by the bandit have been crossed and recrossed so often during the past few days that they are practically worthless at this time. Fresh snow it is thought would be an invaluable aid in following the man, especially as he would have to contend with the additional effort of traveling through it. That snow would fall last night was, however, considered very improbable as the weather was very cold, although there was a tendency to cloudiness.

Anticipating that the man might have gotten out of the country, Deputy Sheriff Alva Williams, who went out on the manhunt Friday night, returned to Salt Lake last night. Deputy Williams will remain in Salt Lake and will today begin preparations for starting a long-distance hunt for the man.

Reward Probable.

It is thought that a reward may be offered by Governor Spry for his capture and that circulars will be sent to all parts of the country describing the Mexican.

The craft of the Mexican in leading his pursuers over the roughest kind of mountain country for more than sixty hours, in which time, according to his pursuers, he doubled and recrossed his own trail many times is now apparent. When the hunt was first started it was comparatively easy to follow the Mexican. On two occasions, on Saturday night and Sunday night, the deputies were satisfied that they had the man successfully surrounded and that escape was impossible. But Lopez has outwitted the posses each time.

Trail Confused.

Yesterday afternoon his trail seemed to lead in almost any direction one cared to follow and the deputies were frequently encountering each other only to find that they had been following parts of the same trail. Adding to the difficulty of the trailing yesterday afternoon was the fact that a warm sunshiny was rapidly melting the snow on the hills, practically obliterating or rendering unrecognizable whatever trail there was.

As an example of this difficulty, a posse yesterday afternoon struck a trail near the Jones ranch, which led to the north end of Utah lake in the general direction of Lehi. It had every appearance of that left by Lopez and was followed assiduously. The posse was on horseback and toward evening, near Lehi, a man was sighted in the distance. The posse reached the man in a few minutes, and then the man walked out ahead of the posse on the other side. He was a resident of Lehi, a member of one of the posses who was walking home.

Locates Cabin.

Another deputy was searching the mountainside yesterday and ran across a clearing in the woods which was the cabin. He fired his rifle, jumped behind a tree and awaited developments. Not a sound was heard in response to the crack of his rifle. He was cautiously approached the cabin. There seemed to be no sign of life. With exceeding care he searched the interior of the cabin, but he supposed was inside, to fire still behind him, expecting the bandit, whom he supposed was inside, to fire still behind him. He was not a sound. Convinced that the cabin was empty, he entered. Beneath the table he found a badly frightened man with a loaded shotgun in his hands. The man explained that he thought the latter was the Mexican coming for an early morning meal.

Leads to Railroad.

Another posse, headed by William Carter and Edward Jones of Provo, picked up a trail one mile south of the shearing corral on the Salt Lake route, a point two and one-half miles northwest of Saratoga Springs. The trail at that time led directly toward Bingham, and it was thought that the Mexican had been set back to the vicinity of the mining camp over the same route he followed in fleeing from there early Thursday morning. They followed the trail, and in the meantime a courier was dispatched to a telephone and Bingham was ordered to send a deputy out on the same route from the north. After a short distance the trail led onto dry ground and was lost.

PHILIP CULLETON, who has been chosen chief of police at Bingham to succeed J. W. Grant, who was murdered by Raphael Lopez, the Mexican bandit.

NEW POLICE CHIEF CHOSEN AT BINGHAM

Philip Culleton, Patrolman, Is Elected by Unanimous Vote of Council.

Special to The Tribune.

BINGHAM, Nov. 24.—At a meeting of the city council held here this evening, Philip Culleton was elected to succeed J. W. Grant, murdered, as chief of police. Mr. Culleton is one of the best known peace officers in Bingham, and there is no question that his selection will give satisfaction. Mr. Culleton came to Bingham from Butte, Mont., more than ten years ago and has been a resident of the city since that time. For the past six years he has been a member of the police force, and stands high in the estimation of the public as a level-headed and painstaking officer.

The council also adopted resolutions of condolence to the family of the late Chief of Police Grant, who was one of the most popular officials who ever held office in this city.

found leading toward the railroad and which will be followed this morning. The public as a whole, and his deputies believed they had trailed the Mexican into the onyx quarry near Pelican point, and men were posted north and south on the county road and on the hillsides and another went into the quarry. Yesterday morning the posse closed in on the Mexican and he was taken to Pelican point. Last night, while Sheriff Smith and Sheriff East were returning to Lehi from the posse, they were on the man hunt of their own accord. They started from Bingham Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock and during Sunday afternoon, Sunday night and Monday morning they were with the posse which traced tracks supposed to have been Lopez's, to Pelican point.

Thinks Lopez Escaped.

It is the firm belief of Frank E. Orvis of the Utah Copper company at Bingham, who has been with the posse in search of Raphael Lopez, that the Mexican has escaped. Mr. Orvis returned to Salt Lake last night with E. T. Green and I. P. Poole, who are also of the Utah Copper company at Bingham. Orvis, Green and Poole went out on the man hunt of their own accord. They started from Bingham Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock and during Sunday afternoon, Sunday night and Monday morning they were with the posse which traced tracks supposed to have been Lopez's, to Pelican point.

Many Difficulties.

But those who are not actually in the chase either do not know or they do not realize the vastness of the country and its mountainous features and the opportunities for the Mexican to slip from within all boundaries. The Mexican has the advantage in that he knows the whereabouts of his pursuers. He has enough ammunition to last him a long time and he has had plenty of food, despite reports that he has no supplies.

THINK MEXICAN MAY BE CONVICT

Special to The Tribune.

OGDEN, Nov. 24.—The belief of the local officers that Raphael Lopez, the Mexican outlaw who murdered three officers and a deputy sheriff was one time convicted in this county and sentenced to two years in the state prison for second-degree burglary, was strengthened by inspection of the criminal record on file in the sheriff's office.

COMPARES SELF WITH MEXICAN BANDIT

Special to The Tribune.

OGDEN, Nov. 24.—Comparing himself with the murderer, Raphael Lopez, who is being sought by posses south of Bingham, David Rodriguez, who is also a Mexican, was arrested by Sergeant O. H. Mohman this afternoon for making serious threats against Special Officer William Reast. Rodriguez is said to have declared that he would get a gun and shoot down Officer Reast like Lopez murdered the Bingham officers a few days ago. The Mexican was somewhat intoxicated when brought to the city jail. He had been creating a disturbance at the Harriman freight depot. He was not armed.

Mr. Whiting Is Dead.

PROVO, Nov. 24.—Mrs. Mary J. Whiting, aged 42, died here yesterday from paralytic dementia. The body will be sent for burial by Passer & Co. to Huntsville, where Mrs. Whiting had relatives.

HOLD FUNERALS OF SLAYER'S VICTIMS

Many Mourn at Biers of Brave Officers Who Died Doing Duty.

Impressive funeral services for Deputy Sheriff Neph Jensen and Chief of Police J. W. Grant of Bingham, two of the three peace officers who were shot and killed Friday afternoon by Raphael Lopez, the Mexican murderer, were held in Salt Lake yesterday. The funeral of Mr. Jensen was held at the Tenth ward chapel and final services for Chief Grant were held at the funeral chapel, E. W. Hall, preliminary services having been held Sunday at Bingham. The funeral of Deputy Sheriff Otto Witbeck, the third of the Mexican's victims, will be held at the Forest Dale ward meeting house.

Hundreds of friends and relatives crowded the Tenth ward chapel yesterday afternoon to pay their last respects to the memory of Deputy Sheriff Jensen. Deeply impressive were the tributes of the speakers and just as impressive were the numerous floral offerings and the beautiful programme of music.

The services were presided over by Bishop Joseph Christensen, who in a short address spoke feelingly of the brave deputy and the shock occasioned by his untimely death. The pallbearers were Judge Alexander McMaster, Archibald Buchanan of the sheriff's office and Inspector Carl E. Wilcox. The pallbearers were John Corless, Claude Russell, Edward C. Bassett, L. Matts, Isaac Emery and H. L. Withers.

With the Rev. P. A. Sumpkin in charge of the chapel and the Knights of Pythias presiding over the services at the grave in Mt. Olivet cemetery, the last rites for Chief Grant were simple but impressive. The preliminary services having been held at the Forest Dale ward meeting house. The Rev. P. A. Sumpkin paid eloquent tribute to the life and death of the officer who gave his life in performing the duty of his office by running down a lawbreaker. At the grave the ritual was read under the direction of H. N. Standish, chancellor commander of the K. of P. Lodge No. 1127, which has been a member of the fire department for five years, beginning under James Devine, Chief W. H. Bywater and his many successors. The funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock in the Forest Dale chapel. Interment will be in the City cemetery.

ntion to last him a long time and he has had plenty of food, despite reports that he has no supplies. It is known that Lopez was fed by several shepherders. Shepherders are numerous in the mountains near Utah lake and they are undoubtedly forced to give Lopez food. The belief of those in the posse is that Lopez has been seen in the mountains of his traveling at night. Since nothing has been seen of him in the daytime, it is believed that he has been hiding in the mountains. From what I know of Lopez in Bingham, he did not have the reputation of a bad man. He was employed in or near the mine at Highland Boy and although I did not know him personally, I had seen him many times. He was clean looking and had clear-cut features.

PRESIDENT WILSON DONE IN RARE SILKS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—A remarkable likeness of President Wilson, done in rare silks by an obscure Syrian in the orient, was presented to the president today on behalf of the Buffalo, N. Y. Syrian colony. It was a reproduction from a photograph the president sent last February, in response to a request from Mansour Karam of Buffalo. Karam brought it to the White house today and said the picture was the result of six months' patient work by a Syrian living in Beirut.

BELIEVES LOPEZ IS MANY MILES AWAY

Mark Hopkins Makes Statement and Gives Reason for His View.

That Raphael Lopez, the Mexican murderer, left Jones' ranch Friday night and instead of going in a southerly direction, as has been thought, went north and got out of the country by crossing the bridge across the Jordan river at the Jordan pumping station, is the opinion of Mark Hopkins, owner of a large ranch which adjoins Jones' ranch to the south. Mr. Hopkins was in Salt Lake last night on business. He says that he has not taken part in the man hunt, because he firmly believes that Lopez by this time is on his way north with three days' start and that the posses are chasing a phantom.

Mr. Hopkins bases his belief on the fact that he and W. S. Knight, manager of the Jordan pumping station, found footprints early Saturday morning leading east across one of the two bridges which cross the Jordan river near the pumping station. He says that they compared the footprints with those leading into Jones' ranch from the north—known to be those of the fugitive Mexican—and that they were identical. Here is Mr. Hopkins' story:

Friday night I heard about the shooting and failing to get any information regarding the Lake I decided to go down to Jones' ranch early Saturday morning. I went to the pumping station and there met Mr. Knight. He bases his opinion on the fact that he and W. S. Knight, manager of the Jordan pumping station, found footprints early Saturday morning leading east across one of the two bridges which cross the Jordan river near the pumping station. SHERIFF WILLIAMS TELLS EXPERIENCE

Returns to Salt Lake After Spending 72 Hours in Hunt for Lopez.

"No attempt is being made to capture Lopez alive, and I am not of the opinion that the man will ever be taken alive," said Deputy Sheriff Alva Williams upon his return to Salt Lake last night after spending three days and three nights on the hunt for the Bingham murderer. Sheriff Williams and Sheriff Henrold of Eureka had a thrilling experience Saturday night. Early Saturday morning they, with a posse, left Eureka to travel through the country toward Topli and in the evening the two men became separated from the balance of the party. The companions reached Topli and later went out on a searching expedition, traveling several miles toward a camp fire, only to find that it belonged to a shepherd. Williams and Henrold kept walking all night and finally reached a ranch house in the Cedar valley, where they rested for a time and then joined Sheriff Henrold this morning.

Sheriff Williams is reported by Sheriff Williams as having suffered considerable discomfort on the trip. In speaking of his share in the man hunt, Sheriff Williams said last night:

All in all I traveled about 200 miles, walking about one-third of the distance over the roughest sort of country. I left Salt Lake with a posse Friday night. We went to Lehi and then to the Jones ranch, where the killing of Grant, Witbeck and Jensen took place. Then we went to Mosida, to Tintic, to Five-Mile pass, to Topli and Fairfield in succession before we got to the ranch. All of the day-time was spent in scouring the hills and a considerable part of the night in getting to some place for a brief rest. Lopez, in my opinion, will never be taken alive, and I don't think it is the intention of the posses to take any chances with the man. The probabilities are they will shoot first and capture him later. Lopez is a dangerous man and it would be foolhardy to try and get him to surrender. Of course, if he decided to give himself up and was surrounded in a house or barricade and threw out his gun there is a small chance that someone might take him alive, but it is sure that he would have a lot of weapons trained on him when he was taken. I shall, pending orders from Sheriff Smith, remain in Salt Lake and organize things at the sheriff's office for a long-distance hunt for Lopez in case he escaped from the Lake mountain region entirely.
