

"USE LESS WATER. GET MORE CROPS"

Salt Lake Route-Utah Agricultural College Demonstration Train on Tour.

EXPERTS GIVE VIEWS

Farmers of Tooele Valley Enthusiastically Welcome Visitors.

By STAFF CORRESPONDENT.

TOOELE, March 4.—The doctrine of more and better crops with the use of less water, was expounded to the farmers of Tooele valley by L. A. Merrill, agricultural expert of the Salt Lake Route, this afternoon in the Tooele high school auditorium, where at least 500 residents of Tooele and vicinity gathered to listen to agricultural advice from those composing the Salt Lake Route-Utah Agricultural college demonstration train party.

Two Meetings Held.

The meeting addressed by Professor Merrill was one of two held by members of the demonstration train party, another being held tonight. The train arrived at about 8:30 o'clock this morning and the cars were set on the main line of the Tooele Valley railroad, at the intersection of the two principal streets of the town. All morning the visitors flocked through the cars, viewing the exhibits and listening to explanations by Professor L. M. Winsor, Agricultural station staff of the college. It was estimated that at least 400 persons visited the cars before noon.

The first persons to visit the train were members of the board of directors of the Tooele Commercial club, which has taken an active part in creating interest for the train's stop here. Those in the party were William S. Marks, president; Dr. L. A. McBride, secretary; Mayor Peter Clegg, Dr. J. A. Phillips, L. L. Barker, A. Bevan, C. E. Green, George C. Chase, J. B. Hickman and C. A. Orme. The latter is the Tooele county representative of the Agricultural college advisory board.

Citizens Make Holiday.

In honor of the train's visit, the entire town of Tooele took a holiday, all the schools and some of the business houses being closed. The schools of the neighboring towns were closed for the afternoon and in the crowds which filled the high school auditorium at the two meetings were many high school boys and girls from all over the valley. These Tooele valley farmers of tomorrow were praised by the speakers for their attendance and interest in the remarks concerning new ideas as to the use of water by Professor Merrill were directed to the younger generation personally, the speaker declaring they must change the antiquated methods of their fathers. Among the towns represented by visitors to the cars and the meetings were Grantsville, Erda, Lincoln, Ajax, St. John and Stockton. A delegation from Grantsville, twelve miles away, was in attendance.

Music One Feature.

Mayor Clegg presided at the afternoon meeting, the speakers being Professor Merrill and Dr. E. G. Peterson. Excellent music was furnished by an orchestra, directed by the mayor to the best in the state. Owing to a severe cold and a slight attack of illness coming upon him in the afternoon Professor L. M. Winsor was unable to deliver his complete talk at the evening session. The other speaker was Ben R. Eldredge of the federal dairy division of the department of Agriculture and president of the Utah State Dairyman's association. Professor Winsor talked on judicious use of water, taking a different angle of the subject than that used by Professor Merrill in the forenoon. Mr. Eldredge told of the value of dairying on farms and how the dairy products can be made to yield good returns by the use of silos. The silo subject being a comparatively new one in this section, the address of Mr. Eldredge was listened to with more than ordinary interest.

Why Utah Leads.

California land is worn out and the residents of that state are forced to spend large sums for fertilizer to secure their crops. An orchard of apples in Utah is worth far more than an orchard of oranges in southern California. As there is little productive territory between Utah and the coast, this state is the natural source of supply to the large cities of the coast, whose own farms will soon fail to support them, and in this line lies Utah's golden opportunity.

These were some of the principal points brought out by Professor Merrill in telling his hearers why farmers of this state should conserve the water and make it do more work than has formerly. He declared that within the next few years there will be thousands of settlers from Russia, Germany and other countries come to America for the purpose of finding homes. He says when they find California overstocked and worn out they will naturally turn to this section.

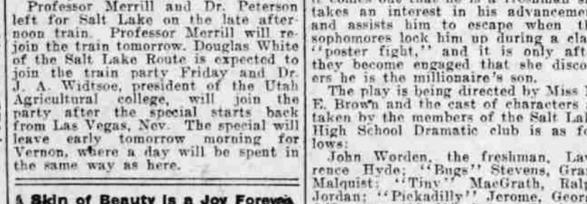

Co-operation the Ideal.

Dr. Peterson spoke on co-operation among the farmers. He said that the old idea that if a competitor takes the business of the other man has been abandoned and that now all try to work together for the common good and thereby secure more individual success. As proof of his remarks he pointed to last year's success of the Utah Fruit-growers' association. He said that until the fruitgrowers organized and quit fighting one another they were at the mercy of the speculators and jobbers and as a result most of their crops were failures. With organization came success the first year. He defined co-operation as business incorporated into brotherly love.

Professor Merrill and Dr. Peterson left for Salt Lake on the late afternoon train. Professor Merrill will re-join the train tomorrow. Douglas White of the Salt Lake Route is expected to join the train party Friday and Dr. J. A. Whitson, president of the Utah Agricultural college, will join the party after the special starts back from Las Vegas, Nev. The special will leave early tomorrow morning for Vernon, where a day will be spent in the same way as here.

ASKS SUNDAY BASEBALL.

Tooele Believes Her Present "Blue Laws" Are Too Stringent.

TOOELE, March 4.—The city commissioners in meeting today were informed by spokesmen for two committees appearing before the body, that Tooele has been out of the "quiet" farming community and is taking on the airs of a city. On this ground the commissioners were asked to repeal the "blue laws," which prohibit Sunday baseball; to allow the saloons to stay open until 11 o'clock at night, instead of 10 o'clock; and to limit the number of saloons to eleven. The committee represented the Retail Liquor Dealers' association and the Tooele Baseball association. The liquor dealers were represented by S. Swartz, P. H. Young, George Cruise, Tom Atkins and V. J. Allen. Members of the committee urged that the saloons be kept open longer, saying that it was necessary on account of the city's air being taken on with the increase in population. At the same time, they declared eleven saloons enough for the town and urged that the "blue laws" be repealed. The law against Sunday baseball is repealed in order to secure a successful town team this season. Both petitions were tabled by the commissioners for consideration at the next meeting.

Influx of Settlers.

BRIGHAM CITY, March 4.—Settlers for western Boulder county are commencing to arrive, and it has been estimated that before July 1 more than 100 families will move to Park valley to take up farming. For the greater part new settlers are from outside the state. The Park valley district is one of the largest farming communities in the county and much of it is yet unsettled. Many improvements have been made there during the past few years by the Pacific Land & Water company.

The public improvements com-

COMMISSION ORDERS AUDIT.

Recent Discoveries Impel Investigation of Books of All County Officials.

PRICE, March 4.—An audit of the books in all county offices was ordered by the county commissioners at today's meeting. The order is the result of the shortage discovered in the books of former County Treasurer R. W. Snyder, who is facing a charge of embezzlement of $280,81 of the county funds. At the meeting of the commissioners today the bondsmen of Snyder paid the amount of the shortage into the county treasury. This ends the suit for collection of the amount from the bondsmen, but Snyder still faces the charge of embezzlement. Gwyn Jones, ex-county clerk, is now on trial in the district court on a charge of embezzlement of county funds also. Considerable difficulty is being experienced in getting a jury to try the case.

Mr. Keeler, however, believes the city can legally issue such bonds and made a proposal for the submission, by his firm of the legal phase of the question to eminent bond attorneys.
