

HEARST CONFIDENT. CONTINUED FROM FIRST PAGE.

be a very clever campaigner. His reception in Brooklyn must have gratified him greatly. His remarks are original, epigrammatic, and dignified, and he displays a great sense of humor. Such expressions as "The boys in the headlines" are being caught up and passed along by all the newspapers that support him.

Higgins' Men on Ticket. Little or nothing is being said about the balance of the State ticket on either side. The whole interest at this time is centered in the head of the tickets, and the balance of the nominations are rushed through without any consideration by the delegation.

As to the democratic ticket, it is somewhat of a mystery as to how the candidates were chosen. It has been discovered, however, that the candidate for State treasurer, Julius Hauser, is a baker in a little village of Sayville, Long Island, and that he was chosen at the order of Mr. Murphy because he is a German. Mr. Hauser does not know Mr. Murphy, and Mr. Murphy does not know him.

The information was handed out at the committee State headquarters in the Victoria Hotel that in lieu of campaign literature this fall, William Hearst is to print daily from this time to election day 3,000,000 copies of his newspapers, and that they are to be sent into every county of the State.

It was decided by those in authority at headquarters that such a method of campaigning would be the least expensive tried in years.

Mr. Hearst's friends said that the idea was borrowed from the Hon. Whitelaw Reid, candidate for Vice President in the Republican campaign of 1882, who contributed to the national campaign that year 25,000 copies of the weekly Tribune.

It was decided by those in authority at headquarters that such a method of campaigning would be the least expensive tried in years. Mr. Hearst's friends said that the idea was borrowed from the Hon. Whitelaw Reid, candidate for Vice President in the Republican campaign of 1882, who contributed to the national campaign that year 25,000 copies of the weekly Tribune.

Mr. Hearst's friends said that the idea was borrowed from the Hon. Whitelaw Reid, candidate for Vice President in the Republican campaign of 1882, who contributed to the national campaign that year 25,000 copies of the weekly Tribune.

Mr. Hearst's friends said that the idea was borrowed from the Hon. Whitelaw Reid, candidate for Vice President in the Republican campaign of 1882, who contributed to the national campaign that year 25,000 copies of the weekly Tribune.

Mr. Hearst's friends said that the idea was borrowed from the Hon. Whitelaw Reid, candidate for Vice President in the Republican campaign of 1882, who contributed to the national campaign that year 25,000 copies of the weekly Tribune.

Mr. Hearst's friends said that the idea was borrowed from the Hon. Whitelaw Reid, candidate for Vice President in the Republican campaign of 1882, who contributed to the national campaign that year 25,000 copies of the weekly Tribune.

Mr. Hearst's friends said that the idea was borrowed from the Hon. Whitelaw Reid, candidate for Vice President in the Republican campaign of 1882, who contributed to the national campaign that year 25,000 copies of the weekly Tribune.

Mr. Hearst's friends said that the idea was borrowed from the Hon. Whitelaw Reid, candidate for Vice President in the Republican campaign of 1882, who contributed to the national campaign that year 25,000 copies of the weekly Tribune.

Mr. Hearst's friends said that the idea was borrowed from the Hon. Whitelaw Reid, candidate for Vice President in the Republican campaign of 1882, who contributed to the national campaign that year 25,000 copies of the weekly Tribune.

Mr. Hearst's friends said that the idea was borrowed from the Hon. Whitelaw Reid, candidate for Vice President in the Republican campaign of 1882, who contributed to the national campaign that year 25,000 copies of the weekly Tribune.

Mr. Hearst's friends said that the idea was borrowed from the Hon. Whitelaw Reid, candidate for Vice President in the Republican campaign of 1882, who contributed to the national campaign that year 25,000 copies of the weekly Tribune.

Mr. Hearst's friends said that the idea was borrowed from the Hon. Whitelaw Reid, candidate for Vice President in the Republican campaign of 1882, who contributed to the national campaign that year 25,000 copies of the weekly Tribune.

Mr. Hearst's friends said that the idea was borrowed from the Hon. Whitelaw Reid, candidate for Vice President in the Republican campaign of 1882, who contributed to the national campaign that year 25,000 copies of the weekly Tribune.

Mr. Hearst's friends said that the idea was borrowed from the Hon. Whitelaw Reid, candidate for Vice President in the Republican campaign of 1882, who contributed to the national campaign that year 25,000 copies of the weekly Tribune.

Mr. Hearst's friends said that the idea was borrowed from the Hon. Whitelaw Reid, candidate for Vice President in the Republican campaign of 1882, who contributed to the national campaign that year 25,000 copies of the weekly Tribune.

Spanish War Veterans, Welcome:

"Greater Washington's Greatest Store for Men and Boys" now extends a cordial greeting to you in time of peace as sincerely as it bade you godspeed in '98. If we can serve you, let us.

Saks-made Fall Suits at $15

It is not so remarkable an achievement to serve well the man who pays from twenty-five to fifty dollars for his suit. Much beating of drums and costly advertising to the contrary notwithstanding. Tho there is such a thing as Saks-distinctiveness to be seriously figured with even then.

Our boast is that we excel in the suits we offer to the man who either cares, or can afford, to pay only fifteen dollars.

On that point we have brought to bear the full force of the whole Saks organization—till now we have become letter-perfect in our lesson.

Our fifteen-dollar suits are made over the same models, in the same workshops, by the same master-tailors as are our higher-priced grades. Made by ourselves—not by this man or that; and the usual maker's profit goes into the making. Which is the key to the whole situation.

Fashioned of black tibets, blue serges, fancy worsteds, and cassimeres in a wide diversity of effects.

The coats are in both long and extra-long models; some are quite conservative, others slightly conforming to the lines of the body; some with vents in the center of back, others with no vent at all.

If we can excel in our suits at fifteen dollars, it requires no devious reasoning to arrive at the conclusion that we excel also at the higher prices. We do.

Pennsylvania Saks & Company Seventh Avenue

SILVER CHINA FURNITURE PLATE PAINTINGS DRAPERIES

ANTIQUES CURIOS BRIC-A-BRAC BOOKS PRINTS RUGS

C.G. SLOAN & CO. General Auctioneers

1407 G Street N.W., Washington, D. C. COMMISSION ONLY

Auctioneers by custom to the DIPLOMATIC CORPS, OFFICERS OF THE ARMY AND NAVY, GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS, &c., for the sale by public auction of all personal effects.

CORRESPONDENCE AND CONSIGNMENTS SOLICITED THE ONLY CONCERN OF THE KIND IN THE UNITED STATES

Regular Sales of Furniture Every Saturday at 10 a. m. Special Sales at Private Residences on Short Notice

Sell (at auction only) Real and Personal Property under special rates for Trustees, Executors, Administrators, Receivers, Attorneys, Agents, Assignees, Guardians, Real Estate Agents, Brokers, &c.

ARMY AND NAVY STORAGE ROOMS SEPARATE APARTMENTS 1407 G Street N.W. C. G. Sloan & Co., Props.

JAPANESE LEADER COMING.

Junko Haseba, Influential Member of Diet, Arrives in New York.

Angelo Franchisi, a young Italian, was arrested by the local police yesterday at the request of the Richmond authorities, on a charge of robbing Achilles Aprian, of the Virginia city, of $300. Franchisi was traced to this city, and a Richmond detective followed with a warrant. He was captured by Policeman Wall and handed over to the Virginia officer.

RUMOR ACQUITS COMPLY.

Battle Ship Alabama's Commander Said to Have Been Exonerated.

It is understood that Capt. Samuel E. Comly, who commanded the battle ship Alabama at the time of her collision with the Illinois in the harbor at Newport, R. I., has been acquitted by the court-martial which sat at Provincetown, Mass. The records, testimony, and papers in the case have been received at the Navy Department.

Secretary Walton Returns.

S. T. Walton, secretary of the Washington Jockey Club, has returned to the city and has opened the office for the autumn meeting in the Lenman building, 1428 New York avenue.

Theodore, Jr., Returns to Harvard.

Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., who came home Friday on a brief visit, left late evening for Cambridge, to resume his studies at Harvard.

WOMAN BURNED.

Circumstances Surrounding Death of Mary Hill Cause Investigation.

Philadelphia, Oct. 7.—Under circumstances which Coroner Jermon thinks are suspicious, Mary Hill, a woman eighty years old, was burned to death today. The woman, who is said to be wealthy, had apartments in the third floor of the house at 19 Ellsworth street, and it was in one of these rooms that her charred body was found after the firemen had subdued the blaze which was discovered about 2 o'clock in the morning.

Many Babies Suffocated.

London, Oct. 7.—At an inquest in the case of an infant who had been suffocated in its parents' bed, the coroner said that 2,000 infants were so suffocated annually in England. There were 800 cases in London alone. He pointed out that in Germany the law made it illegal to have a baby under a year old in the same bed with its parents.

Chamberlain Again Ill.

Birmingham, Oct. 7.—Joseph Chamberlain has had another sharp attack of gout, but he is now better.

Advertisement for Schlect Kander's Old Reserve Rye, 8 Years in Warm Storage, 50 Gallon, Full Quart, The Quality House, 909 7th Street, Phone Main 274

WILL NOT TAKE STUMP

President Avoids Speaking in New York Campaign.

JAMES SHERMAN SEES HIM

Representative Dines at the White House and Reports on Progress of the Fight in the Empire State—Roosevelt is Keeping Close Watch on the Congressional Contests.

FUNSTON TO DIRECT MARINES.

Colonel Waller Ordered to Report to General with His Command. Col. L. W. T. Waller, who is in command of the marines in Cuba, has been ordered by the Navy Department to report to Brig. Gen. Funston with his entire command.

THE HERALD AND ITS HOME

Where Washington's Modern Newspaper Had Its Birth.

Busy Careers in Up-to-date Plant Which Works Nine into Shape for Its Readers Each Morning.

The Washington Herald bids its readers a cheery good morning. The purpose to publish a new, up-to-date, and progressive newspaper was announced last July, when the reading public was informed that the first issue would appear early in October. It is now October 8, and here is the paper in all the pride of new dress, fresh news, and the realization of occupying for the moment the center of the journalistic stage.

The Herald is published at 73 Fifteenth street, in the premises formerly known as the Dockson Building, which has been leased and fitted up into a comfortable and convenient newspaper home. The Herald Building was formerly an office and apartment house, and for a long time sheltered the Washington bureau of the New York Herald.

The new plant occupies practically three floors of the structure, and has all the appointments of a modern, well equipped office publication. The entrance is on the ground floor. To the left, as one enters, is the business office, where the business manager and his corps of assistants, bookkeepers, and clerks are found. In this room also is the telephone switchboard which connects with the various rooms of the building and the outside exchange.

Opposite is the "city room," with the desks of the reporters and the copy table. Here the city editor and his staff gather the happenings of the Capital City and whip them into readable shape to be poured off at Washington over the morning telegraph wire.

Further down the hall to the right is the telegraph room, where three telegraph operators receive dispatches from the New York Sun news service, the Publishers Press service, as well as from special correspondents. Beyond is the room of the managing editor, who directs the news end of the paper.

Opposite is the office of the editor, who, with his assistants, gives attention to the editorial page and special news features. To the extreme end of the hall is the headquarters of the advertising department, where the manager and his corps of active and efficient solicitors carry the burden of making the Herald a financial success.

Complete Mechanical Outfit.

Passing through the door at the end of the hall, the visitor steps into the composing room. Here is assembled a complete outfit for printing the paper. Linotype machines line the walls to the left. Over in the corner, to the right, is the stereotyping apparatus, the "busy corner" in the last hours of the morning.

In the basement is the pressroom, just beneath the composing room. Here is installed a Hoe quadruplex press, with a capacity of 2,000 an hour. It is operated by the motor system of electricity, which keeps the press at all times under the absolute control of its operators. For example, if a man on one side of the press sees something out of order, by pressing a button he stops the rollers, and the press ceases to run, without giving alarm or calling to anybody else. This arrangement of power is a safety device of great value.

In the second story of the building are gathered the editorial writers, the dramatic, society, and sporting editors, and the special writers on politics and kindred topics.

The plant is complete and convenient, its arrangements have been thought out with great care, and everything about the home of the Herald is of a character to produce the best results in journalistic work.

Last night the new plant was put to the test of actually getting out the new paper. When the machinery was put in motion, the plant set about the task of getting out the first issue without a hitch. An onlooker might have imagined that the Herald had been published daily for a century.

MILTON E. AILES, Vice-Pres. Regs Nat'l Bank CHARLES J. BELL, President HENRY F. SLOUNT, Vice President SAMUEL S. BURDETT, Lawyer ALBERT CARRY, Pres. Nat. Capital Branch of WILLIAM M. COATES, Phila. Wood Merchant. JOHN A. HANCOCK, Pres. Nat. Capital Branch of W. RILEY DEEBLE, President Georgetown Gas. ROBERT DONNAN, Phila. Manufacturer Carpet. GEORGE T. DUNLOP, Pres. Capital Branch of JAMES E. FITCH, Philadelphia WILLIAM J. FLAHERTY, Assistant Cashier City Bank, N. Y. DANIEL FRASER, Pres. Norris Paters Company HERBERT J. GIBSON, Pres. Capital Bank GEORGE F. HUFF, Member Capital Bank HENRY HURT, Vice Pres. Capital Branch of JOHN A. HANCOCK, Pres. Nat. Capital Branch of JOHN R. McLEAN, Pres. Washington Gaslight Co. FREDERICK A. MILLER, U.S. Navy, Reg'd CALEB J. MILNE, Phila. Manufacturer Cotton and Woollen Goods. MARTIN F. MORRIS, Lawyer CLARENCE F. NORMENT, Pres. Central Nat. Bank CROSBY S. NOYES, President Evening Star Newspaper Company MYRON M. PARKER, Auditor WARD THORON, Auditor FRANK A. VANDERLIP, Vice Pres. National City Bank, N. Y. HENRY WELLS, Real Estate JOHN P. WILKINS, Washington Post Company SENNY A. WILLARD, Philadelphia JOSEPH WRIGHT, Philadelphia

Advertisement for American Security and Trust Company, $4,600,000 CAPITAL AND SURPLUS, N. W. Cor. 15th and Pa. Ave.

HUGHES TALKS TO YOUNG MEN

Candidate Makes a Non-Political Address in Carnegie Hall.

New York, Oct. 7.—More than 2,000 young men turned out at Carnegie Hall this afternoon to hear Charles E. Hughes deliver a non-political address. The meeting was held under the auspices of the West Side Branch of the Y. M. C. A.

Mr. Hughes appeared in accordance with an engagement which he had made before he was nominated for governor. Besides Mr. Hughes' address, the programme of the meeting included the rendition of Mendelssohn's oratorio "Elijah" by the New York Festival Chorus of more than 200 voices, under the direction of Tall Eszen Morgan. Mr. Hughes delivered his address in the intermission between the first and second part of the oratorio.

Although it was Mr. Hughes' expressed desire that there should be nothing of a political nature about the meeting, it was obvious how the crowd of young men felt toward Mr. Hughes. As he appeared through an entrance near the stage the enthusiasm got the better of the crowd and the big hall rang with cheers. He was interrupted frequently in the course of his speech with applause. His advice to the young men was to be true to all to maintain their self-respect.

Americans Not Money Mad. Incidentally, he gave his view on the overworked observation that the American people are money-mad.

Mr. Hughes was introduced by William M. Kingsley, chairman of the West Side Branch. Said he: "The Y. M. C. A. as an organization does not take an active part in politics. In presenting this candidate for office, we do not present him as a candidate or as expressing any political preference. We invited him here to become a candidate for office, because we believe in him and admired him, and nothing has happened since he has gone into politics to cause us to change our opinion of him."

When Mr. Hughes stepped to the front of the platform the young men again broke out in applause. Mr. Hughes said in part: "I shall not speak this afternoon with reference to political preference, with reference to the necessity of hard work, of unremitting endeavor."

"I will neither draw your attention to something more important. We have been accused of times, rather thoughtlessly, of having money as our God. It has been said that the American people are affected with money-madness. I think it is a thoughtless observation. While doubtless the American people are fond of comfort and the luxuries of life, all desire to maintain a high standard of living, all desire those things which go to make life easy and free from petty annoyances; some there are, no doubt—many in number."

He said that he believed the Republicans will lose several Congressmen, the loss will be made up elsewhere.

Y. M. C. A. BANQUET.

Local Organization's Season is Now in Full Swing.

With the opening of the Evening Institute of the Young Men's Christian Association last week, the inauguration of the Bible-study plans on Friday evening, with "Big Bob" Gallery, the famous Princeton center rush as principal speaker, and the formal beginning of gymnasium classes this morning at 10:30, the Washington Young Men's Christian Association will be in full swing for a great season. Preparations for the largest year in its history have been in progress for several months. The secretaries and committees have been busy for the past thirty days as the busiest commercial house in Washington could be, putting up the details of the fall campaign.

The Evening Institute is now recognized as among the leading educational institutions in the city. It was begun twenty-eight years ago, and has been growing steadily year after year, especially with the opening of the Washington Young Men's Christian Association in full swing for a great season.

No admission examination is required, and the work carried on is elective, so that a young man can take the studies he finds best adapted to help him on in his chosen work. Last year chemistry was added to the curriculum, and this year physics, and higher mathematics through trigonometry. A total of 100 classes are now scheduled. One of the best things the Young Men's Christian Association is doing in its physical work besides the general gymnasium and basket ball, is the teaching of swimming. There is no swimming pool, large and so perfectly maintained outside of New York. This is all free to members, and in connection with the "Swimming and Life-saving Club" is a very valuable and life-saving feature. In the bowling alleys leagues are already at work, and the old-time bowlers like Hammer and Gould are enthusiastic over the condition of the alleys.

In the building for boys the lads edit and manage a little paper called "Washington Echo," and the whole atmosphere of the "cabinets" room is business-like. They're all boys, and they have on and off of good times in their building, which is so well fitted for a club of their own.

The formal inauguration of the fall membership campaign will take place next Wednesday night, at the "banquet dinner and reunion," to be presided over by President S. W. Woodward.

FUNERAL DIRECTORS.

W. R. SPEARE, Undertaker and Embalmer, 519 F STREET N. W.

WM. H. SARDO & CO., FUNERAL DIRECTORS AND EMBALMERS, 408 H ST. N. W., Modern Chapel, Phone E. 521.

GEORGE P. ZUPHORST, 201 East Capitol St., Funeral Directors.

YORKLEY & JENKINS, UNDERTAKERS AND EMBALMERS, 303 1/2 F STREET N. W., Phone E. 1864.

AUGUSTUS BURGDOFF CO., UNDERTAKERS AND EMBALMERS, 209 7TH ST. N. W., Phone N. 3030.

HARRY W. BOSSE, UNDERTAKER AND EMBALMER, 1320 N. CAPITOL ST., Phone North 3203.

PRESIDENT AT CHURCH.

Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt and Miss Ethel at Grace Church.

President Roosevelt and family were seen yesterday for the first time since their return from their summer home in Oyster Bay in their accustomed pew in the Grace Reformed Church.

The Rev. Dr. Schalek took as his text the quest of James and John to take the right of Jesus Christ in glory. After the services the President and Mrs. Roosevelt, accompanied by Miss Ethel, took a long walk before returning to the White House for dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt and Miss Ethel at Grace Church.

President Roosevelt and family were seen yesterday for the first time since their return from their summer home in Oyster Bay in their accustomed pew in the Grace Reformed Church.

MUST PAY BILL

Intervention May Cost Million Dollars a Month.

PRECEDENT IN BOXER WAR

Military Expenses and Cost of Provisional Government on Island to Be Met Out of Island's Resources. Governor Magoon to Get Same Salary as President Palma.

Cuba will be compelled to pay an enormous sum for the fully made American intervention necessary. The price of the bill is now growing at the rate of $5,000 a day, and this figure will be materially advanced when Governor Magoon's regime is in effective operation.

The salary allowance of Governor Magoon has been fixed at $25,000 a year. This is the same as the salary paid President Palma. General Wood, under the military occupation, was allowed $5,000 a year in addition to the pay and allowance of a major general of volunteers.

As an absolute ruler, accountable only to the President, Governor Magoon may make the additional bill either large or small for Cuba. He may surround himself with all kinds of high-priced officials or limit the number. Cuba will have no say whatever in fixing the price she must pay for the music furnished by intervention.

Heavy Items of Expense.

The military expenses incurred will be beyond the control of the government. These now approximate $25,000 a day. In addition, Quartermaster General Humphrey is paying about $15,000 a day for transports. It is estimated that the deficit in the item of "transportation for the army" will be at least $90 a head for each soldier in the army of the intervention, or an aggregate of $180,000. This will all be charged to the government of Cuba, and must be paid out of its treasury. It must also pay for all the provisions consumed by the 250,000 American soldiers in Cuba.

A precedent for this action is found in the Boxer uprising of 1900. The United States tendered China a bill covering the expense of sending its quota of soldiers and marines to the relief of the besieged legations at Peking. The bill was made comparatively small because pay was not asked for the troops for the time they remained in China. The Government officials there held that the cost of the military establishment for maintenance would not have gone there, and China was not asked to pay salaries.

On the basis of present plans for completed intervention, and following the precedent of the Boxer uprising, it is now computed that Cuba will be required to pay $180,000 a month for the services being rendered by the United States.

CUBANS CLASH AT GUINES.

Rebels Fall on Volunteers and Shed First Blood Since Intervention.

Havana, Oct. 7.—The first outbreak of consequence since the intervention occurred late last night at Guines. A detachment of General Asbert's troops entered the town, bent on trouble. They found a disarmed body of Colonel Estrampes' volunteers, upon whom they frantically fell. A lively fight followed, in which four of the militia were badly slashed with machetes. One of them is expected to die. The volunteers fled to the protection of a small detachment of American marines, who quelled the riot.

Three hundred more marines will be rushed to Guines to-morrow. Gen. Funston and Col. Estrampes will accompany them. The town is reported to be in an uproar.

A committee representing the Americans living on the Isle of Pines is on the way to Havana to present to Gov. Tall and Mr. Bacon their views regarding the island's future. They will discuss several propositions to make, but they are all based on the complete separation of the Isle of Pines from Cuba. The Americans contend that since Cuba has failed so far to govern herself she is not competent to govern them.

The first United States regulars to arrive in Cuba landed in Havana to-day. They were met ashore at the Pan de Azucar Wharf, and entrained immediately on electric cars, which carried them to Camp Columbia.

The regulars were the detachment which left New York Tuesday on the transport Sunner, and consisted of the Second Battalion of Engineers, from Washington, D. C., under Major Patrick, and the First and Second battalions of the Fifth Regiment of Infantry, from Plattburgh. There were also detachments of signal corps and hospital men. The transport's passage from New York was uneventful, and the force of nearly one thousand men was landed on foreign shores without a mishap. The landing of the regulars this morning marked the first appearance of the American soldiers under colors in a foreign country since the China campaign of 1901.

At Camp Columbia there are now en-

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

With the exception of showers in the Lower Lake region and New York the weather has been fair in all parts of the country. A depression of considerable extent stretched from the Delaware shoreward to the Texas frontier, but it has not yet become pronounced enough to bring any rain.

This depression will move eastward during the next twenty-four hours, and cause showers in the Lower Lake region, and some showers in the region and Southern New England Tuesday. The temperature will be about the following: In the Middle West, it will be in the middle 40s and in the Missouri valley, it will be in the middle 50s.

Temperatures in Other Cities.

Table with 2 columns: City and Temperature. Includes cities like Abilene, N. C., Atlanta, Ga., Baltimore, Md., etc.

Table with 2 columns: City and Temperature. Includes cities like Abilene, N. C., Atlanta, Ga., Baltimore, Md., etc.