FALCONIO IN HIS HOME

Monsignor Is Established at 1811 Biltmore Street.

SIMPLICITY MARKS INTERIOR

Furnishings Are Austere and Dignified, the Prelate Believing Little Elegance Should Adorn the Home of an Ecclesiastic—Mahogany and Weathered Oak Prevail.

Accompanied by Mgr. Denis O'Connell, of the Catholic University, and Rev. A. P. Doyle, of the Paulist Mission House, Mgr. Diomedeo Falconio yesterday entered his new home at 1811 Biltmore street, which, from now on, will be the headquarters of the apostolic delegate.

Simplicity and dignity are the most striking points of the structure, as the delegate believes little elegance should adorn the home of an ecclesiastic. Even frescoed walls in the hallways are not altogether tasteful to him, although they are by no means extravagant.

Large rooms, exceptionally wide hallways, high ceilings, and a great mahogany staircase make the building appear a trifle bare without complete interior furnishings.

The style of the Italian renaissance architecture has been adopted by the designer of the building, A. O. von Herbulis, and conserves the general plan of simplicity.

The residence is on a large lot in Biltmore street near Columbia road, with large gardens on either side, giving fine exposure. The house is of light buff brick with elaborate trimmings in white Indiana limestone; an entrance, offset by heavily-carved stonework, and large plate-glass doors framed in wrought-iron grill work marks the center of the house.

The entrance hall is spacious and decorated in cream and gold. Off the hall are two large drawing-rooms in mahogany, and a dining-room finished in weathered oak. The delegate's room and study are located on the second floor, as are apartments for visiting bishops and guests. The secretary, Father Strickney, and the auditor, Father Crevette, occupy rooms on the third floor, where the billiard room is located.

A feature of the structure is the private chapel on the second floor. It is eighteen feet wide and forty-four feet deep. The windows are of beautiful stained glass, and the stations miniature, but elaborately done. A large marble altar and numerous prie-dieu complete the furnishings of the room.

The building cost $40,000, and was erected by Newman & Smith, who also constructed the Walsh mansion.

TYPHOID FEVER DECREASING.

Fifty Cases Less Than at Close of Last Week.

Typoid fever conditions show a decided decrease during the last week, there having been 1 death from the disease, 19 new cases reported, and 53 discharged as recovered, leaving a total of 142 cases, as compared with 191 at the close of the previous week. Scarlet fever shows a slight increase. Seven new cases were reported, an increase of 2 over the previous week, and 5 discharged, making a total of 19 in quarantine at the close of the week. No deaths occurred from diphtheria, there being 14 new cases reported and 16 discharged, leaving 35 cases under treatment.

The principal causes of mortality were: Consumption, 16; heart disease, 19; apoplexy, 12; kidney disease, 13; pneumonia, 5; and malignant growths, 2.

The total births reported numbered 95, of which 52 were white and 32 were colored.

GOVERNMENT SUES BANK.

Demands that Riggs National Settle Alleged Forged Checks.

The United States of America, through District Attorney Baker, began suit in the District Supreme Court against the Riggs National Bank yesterday for the recovery of $29,550.

It is alleged in the declaration that William S. Yeatman, formerly disbursing clerk in the War Department, on seven different occasions forged checks, fraudulently indorsed them, and cashed them at the Assistant Treasurer's office in New York.

The government states that payments on the checks were requested May 23, but it is alleged that the Riggs National Bank refused to honor the papers. It is claimed by the United States that by indorsing the different checks, the Riggs National Bank guaranteed to all subsequent holders that the indorsement of the payee was genuine and true. It is further claimed that these checks were presented for payment to the Assistant Treasurer of the United States at New York, and that he, relying upon the guarantee of the Riggs National Bank, paid the various sums indicated on the checks. The suit is brought with interest from May 23 and costs.

LIPSCOMB DENIES SHOOTING.

Policeman Says Gun Was Accidentally Discharged When He Fell.

Policeman J. B. Lipscomb testified in his own behalf yesterday afternoon before the police trial board, where he is charged with shooting John Boyle on July 1.

Lipscomb said that in his pursuit of Boyle, he drew his revolver from his pocket partially in the hope of intimidating the boy and partially for fear of accident in case he tripped.

"We were running across a field covered with underbrush," he said, "and as I came within twenty-five yards of him I tripped, and in my struggles to raise from the ground my pistol was discharged."

Lipscomb said he had absolutely no intention of shooting Boyle. The other witnesses in the case said that they did not see Officer Lipscomb use any unnecessary violence when he made the arrest, but the witnesses for the prosecution called for rebuttal said that Lipscomb was too severe with his prisoner.

All of the evidence has been presented to the board, and the decision will be rendered in the next few days.

BLACKSMITH DISLIKES SEA.

Michigan Derives Navy, Repeats and Will Be Court-martialed.

Because he found that he wasn't cut out for a blacksmith aboard ship, and preferred shoeing horses ashore, Frederick Young, of Jefferson, Ohio, deserted from the battle ship Kearsarge when that ship finished her last winter's cruise. He made his way from New York to Dundee, Mich., where he resumed his horse-shoeing.

Young decided that he hadn't done right by Uncle Sam. He wrote to Senator Dick of Ohio, who yesterday accompanied him to the Navy Department, presented the deserter to Secretary Bonaparte, and then turned him over to Commander Wilson, of the personnel bureau.

The blacksmith with buccolic rather than maritime proclivities is fully repentant, and this may save him well when he is tried for desertion.

WHITE IS NOT INSANE

Will Be Freed from St. Elizabeth's Under $2,000 Bond.

SISTER OBTAINS HIS RELEASE

Incarceration Said to Have Been Partly Result of Persecution Resulting from Domestic Troubles, and His Affliction Is Said to Be Only Nervous Disease.

Habeas corpus proceedings before Justice Job Barnard yesterday afternoon upon a petition filed recently in the District Supreme Court by Mrs. Lillie V. Elliott, of Indianapolis, Ind., praying for an examination as to the sanity of Samuel M. White, an inmate of St. Elizabeth's Insane Asylum, resulted in a decision declaring White to be of sound mind and judgment.

Several physicians, including the hospital physicians, prominent citizens, and relatives of White, were placed on the stand, and after a three-hour hearing Justice Barnard ordered his release from the institution upon the condition that a bond for $2,000 be given to insure his good behavior.

Around the incarceration of White, who was adjudged insane by a jury last October, and has since been confined in the asylum, there developed what bordered on persecution, all of which had its origin in domestic troubles. White's wife first had him arrested on a charge of insanity. While the examining physicians declared him insane it was afterward shown that his affliction was merely nervous hysteria.

As soon as bond is given by his relatives and friends, White will be taken to Indianapolis by his sister, Mrs. Elliott. The latter is the wife of A. V. Elliott, president of the Telephone and Electrical Company of Indianapolis, and is said to be wealthy. White is thirty-five years old, and owns property in Washington.

WILSON BEGINS NEW DUTIES.

West's Secretary Becomes First Assistant Assessor To-day.

Louis C. Wilson, private secretary to Commissioner West, to-day will enter upon the duties of first assistant assessor of the District of Columbia. Mr. Wilson was to have assumed the duties of the office on January 1, to succeed T. Fred Alvey, who was appointed on the board of permanent assessors. Owing to the recent death of Mr. Alvey, however, Commissioner West yesterday decided to make the appointment at once. Mr. Wilson was made the subject of many congratulations upon the announcement that he was at once to be made assistant assessor, and was spoken of in the highest terms by Commissioner West, whose secretary he has been since the latter went into office.

Mr. Wilson is twenty-eight years old. He entered the District service as a messenger in the executive office, and was rapidly promoted. Finally, he was chosen as secretary to former Commissioner Rosecrance and was retained by Commissioner West. The position of secretary pays $150 per annum, and as assistant assessor he will draw $2,000.

Ralph B. Frait, a clerk in the office of the secretary of the Board of Commissioners, has been chosen by Commissioner West to temporarily fill the position made vacant by Mr. Wilson.
