WASHINGTON PASTORS—NO. 4.

REV. CARL G. DONEY.

Rev. Carl G. Doney, one of Washington's younger pastors, has brought himself before the public in many ways, particularly by his steadfast opposition to the selling of liquors in the District. He has lately been elected president of the Anti-Saloon League, in which capacity he officiated at the recent mass meeting at the Belasco Theater. At present he is the head of the flock at the Hamline Methodist Episcopal Church, which is remarkable for the religious fervor of its services. Mr. Doney was born in Columbus, Ohio, and was educated at the Ohio State University, Ohio Wesleyan, and Harvard universities. After finishing a course in law at Ohio State University he was admitted to the State bar. Finding the practice of law little to his taste, he immediately began preaching, and has continued in the ministerial work for thirteen years. His pastorate was in the Methodist church at Baldrige, Ohio. After a successful service there, he was called to the college church in Granville, Ohio, the seat of Denison University. From Granville he soon after removed to Columbus, where he remained until he was called to accept the pastorate of the Hamline Church in this city, in 1905. Mr. Doney is married and has two boys. Under his guidance the Hamline Church has increased greatly in its congregation, which now numbers more than 800 persons. The church was organized in 1865. Its trustees are O. M. Bryant, J. W. Davis, E. D. Godfrey, Thomas Humphrey, H. B. Moulton, F. P. Nash, J. R. Quinter, and D. E. Street. Mark A. Watson is the Sunday-school superintendent.

MEMORIAL FOR MRS. HOOKER

Tributes Paid to Her as Leader in Suffrage Movement.

John Barrett Declares in Favor of Giving Women the Right to Vote.

Other Speakers Heard.

Woman suffrage was strongly advocated by Hon. John Barrett, director of the International Bureau of American Republics, in his address at the Mrs. Isabella Beecher Hooker memorial meeting at the Church of Our Father last evening.

In beginning his address, Mr. Barrett paid tribute to Mrs. Hooker, saying that she was one of the greatest women he had ever met. He then spoke of existing conditions. "There was never a time in the history of the United States," he said, "when we were watched by foreign powers as we are now. Especially is this true in regard to our twenty sister republics on this side of the hemisphere, who are studying us carefully, and who are noting carefully all of our social conditions. The present moral conditions which prevail now will cause our sister republics to swoon unless they are checked, and in checking them we must have the assistance of the women of our country."

"The problems that confront us to-day is the protection of our young women. In regard to questions of this sort, women are far better able to regulate affairs than men. Women are more moral, their character is more perfect than that of men. It devolves upon women to raise the standard of public morals and keep them high. Any nation which does not give its women a part in the workings of its government is doomed to be behind the times."

"It is my firm belief, as it always has been, that every woman should be given a voice in the making of laws to support the State, and when that day comes the United States will have made one of the greatest progressive movements which has ever been seen."

Dr. William Chancellor, superintendent of the Washington public schools, said that in view of the many arrests which had been offered in favor of the mother, he felt called upon to say something in behalf of the father, telling of the great work which had been done by Lyman Beecher. He dwelt strongly upon the beautiful home life of Mrs. Hooker, saying that those who knew her thought of her primarily as a wife and mother, a friend and a comforter, and a generous enemy, who was always willing to forgive.

Mrs. Clinton Smith presided at the meeting. Among those who spoke were Mrs. Charles M. Pepper, who gave some personal recollections of Susan B. and Mary Anthony. Mrs. Ellen Spencer Muesey, Mrs. Helen Tindall, who read a number of letters and telegrams pertaining to the celebration. Miss E. M. Gillett, who made some remarks concerning the life and work of Susan B. Anthony, and Rev. John Van Schaick. Owing to illness, Mrs. Belva Lockwood, president of the Federal Equality Association, was unable to be present at the meeting.

Mayor Schmitz to Speak.

Mayor E. E. Schmitz, of San Francisco, head of the delegation from California to confer with the President regarding the Japanese situation, will address the Central Labor Union at its meeting Monday night next, in Typographical Temple. In addition to the principal speaker, remarks will be made by Representative Julius Kahn, of California, Samuel Gompers, Frank Morrison, resident member of the executive committee of the American Federation of Labor, and others.

While there Mr. Hebbard will select his line of woolsens for the spring and summer, and upon his return will have many exclusive novelties in high-grade suitings for the Easter season to exhibit to his Washington patrons.

PLANS $60,000 HOME

Columbia Turn Verein Decides to Erect Building.

OUTDOOR MEETINGS IN VIEW

Question of Site for New Clubhouse to Be Decided at Meeting on February 24—Gymnasium Will Be a Special Feature—Ball at Masonic Temple Among Plans for Season.

If the plans of the Columbia Turn Verein are carried out Washington will boast of one of the largest, best-appointed, and most up-to-date gymnasiums and club-houses in this country before the year 1909.

Plans and specifications for the new building are now in the hands of a committee, and the members will hold a meeting February 24 to pass on them, when the question of the site for the building will be open for discussion. It is expected that the cost of this building alone will be about $60,000, and that the site finally decided upon will be large enough to enable the Turners to have outdoor athletic meets.

The local chapter has lately moved into temporary quarters at Seventh and L streets northwest, where they will remain until the proposed new building has been completed. Their officers are: President, B. F. Shubert; secretary, F. E. Mann; treasurer, M. E. Karler, and instructor, Carl Duchring.

Starting next week, they will have a ladies' class in addition to the men's and children's class. The apparatus which they now have in the gymnasium enables them to work horse, parallel bars, horizontal bar, rings, wrestling, and fencing.

At the opening meeting at the club rooms on the 24th, in addition to the discussion of the plans, there will be addresses by members and several prominent men, among them Representative Richard Bartholdt, an honorary member of the society.

The plans for the season include an exhibition tourney and ball at the Masonic Temple, and the sending of a picked team to the turn fest at Reading, Pa. They have sent in an application to have the national turn fest, which takes place in 1908, held here, as they expect to have the new building finished by that time.

MAUD POWELL, VIOLINIST.

Washington Artist Gives a Brilliant Programme at the Columbia.

Miss Maud Powell, violinist, was the magnet that drew a large audience to the Columbia Theater yesterday afternoon to the eleventh concert of the Washington College of Music series, under the direction of Mr. Sydney Lloyd Wright. Miss Maud Powell is a Washington artist, whose fame as a violinist has grown steadily in the years since she was first heard in Washington, and her native city may well be proud of the breadth of talent she displays.

The concert she gave practically alone, accompanied by Mr. George Falkenstein, a clever accompanist. Unfortunately, after playing the second number, Tartini's "L'art de l'archet," Miss Powell broke one of the keys of her violin, and this would have necessitated a dreary wait had it not been for Mr. Falkenstein, who kindly volunteered to entertain the audience with the piano. He played three solos with great skill, and most heartily deserved the applause he won.

Of course, the favorite number that Miss Maud Powell played was the well-known "Träumerei" of Schumann, and seldom has it been played to advantage in this city. Her "La Fleurie" of Couperin-Powell, played on muted strings, was a delightful number, and she quite charmed the audience with Arensky's "Concert de Salon," in four movements.

The programme was a varied one. It opened with the "Rondo Brilliant," by Schubert—a number that requires deft fingering and involves considerable muscular exertion. To every demand Miss Powell responded readily, and the final burst of the number, brilliant in difficult bowing and intricate fingering, brought down the house. Of Mozart, the artist played his "Rondo," and of Hubay, his beautiful "Zefir." She closed the concert with the Polonaise in D major of Wieniawski. Altogether, the programme was so brilliant and so varied as to stamp Miss Powell as a violinist of the very highest capacity. She plays with wonderful fervor, grace, and feeling, and it is very evident that her technical training has been arduous and excellent.

The twelfth of this series of concerts will take place February 23, at the National Theater, Gertrude Peckerson giving the entire programme.

Dolly Madison Chapter Meets.

At the February meeting of Dolly Madison Chapter, D. A. R., held Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Job Barnard, 126 Rhode Island avenue, an address was given by Mr. Gifford Pinchot, forester. The historian, Miss Catharine Barlow, presented a paper, and a delightful musical programme was rendered by Mrs. Ralph Barnard and Mr. Varela.
