

THE FOREIGN ELEMENT IN AMERICA

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

Most Americans are descended from English forefathers, and despite the twisting of the loom, all, and other occasional political and social evidences of Anglophobia, the English are not looked upon as other foreigners in the United States.

In the history of our country the English names are most numerous and illustrious. Of our twenty-five Presidents, fifteen have been of direct English stock, beginning with Washington and ending with Cleveland.

only American city where the queer tongue of Grebra may be heard spoken on the streets. The area of Japan suitable for agricultural purposes is equal to about one-third of the State of Illinois, and for this reason she must either have colonies or permit the immigration of some of her population.

It is said that in one of the mining towns of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company every means was tried to keep the Slav from entering goats in the parlors of their houses, and to keep the Italians from using their bathtubs for coal bins.

To-morrow—"Unique Ways of Making Money."

HIS DESPERATE REMEDY

BY CECILIA A. LOIZEAUX.

Andrew Carnegie is the best known of the native Scots who are now Americans. He came to the United States as a penniless boy, and is now the second richest man in the world.

The few Scots who came to this country nowadays do not settle in colonies, but rapidly amalgamate themselves with the Americans. This was not so in the old days when the frontier was beset with dangers.

Our neighbor of the North, the fair Dominion of Canada, sends us thousands of her sons each year. It is said that there are more Canadians on this side of the boundary than there are in the Dominion.

Once, when I was driving through the country districts in French Quebec, I noticed many houses whose windows were boarded up and abandoned.

Thrift and pride are the most marked characteristics of the Greeks who are pouring into the United States each year. In proportion to their numbers they send more money home than any other nationality.

One doesn't often meet a Manxman, but it is nevertheless a fact that 10 per cent of the population of the little Isle of Man has moved to Canada, and the United States in the last fifteen years.

GOES AFTER WEALTH

Washingtonian Seeks Share of an Ohio Estate.

PROPERTY WORTH $150,000

William B. Riley, of Harvard Street, Opposes Claim of an Englishman Who Is After Title to Fortune.

It was not until the treaty of 1857 that the Chinese Emperor recognized the right of any one of his subjects to immigrate or change his residence.

The Portuguese in the United States came chiefly from the overpopulated Cape Verde and Azores Islands, settling in many of the new England fishing towns. They are noted as good citizens, whose homes and clothes are always neat and clean.

To-morrow—"Unique Ways of Making Money."

Elphonzo Youngs Company.

428 Ninth St. Phone Main 1858.

Groceries—Wholesale and Retail.

A FULL MEASURE of satisfaction with everything you buy at this store. We sell only Food Products of known purity—and sell them at fair prices.

SPECIALS:

California Evaporated Peaches—

Unpeeled, extra fancy, large halves, 20c grade, 17c lb.; 6 lbs. $1.00.

Snider's Catsup—

Full pints, 25c size, 18c; $2.25 doz.

Welsh Rarebit Cheese—

Double Creamery, 20c grade, 18c lb.; 3 lbs. 50c.

Louisiana Creole Peas—

Very large thin-shelled nuts of delicious flavor, 35c a pound. Regular price, 50c.

French Prunes—

For eating raw—tart. They're delicious. 2-lb. glass jars, 65c; regular price, 75c.

A complete line of Lenten Specialties.

Down Town—Near the Market.

READY FOR ST. PATRICK'S DAY.

Storekeepers Offer All Manner of Novelties in Emerald Hue.

Only seven days more and it will be "St. Patrick's Day in the morning," and the storekeepers of the city, particularly candy emporiums, necktie and toggery shops, and stationery salesrooms, have already placed gentle reminders of the great day in their shop windows in the shape of goods and wares of their own respective trades decorated with the green of the Emerald Isle.

The most varied and attractive display is made by the candy stores. There are fancy candy boxes in the shape of golden Tara harps, the last my father wore, with a little duden stuck in its hat band; green boxes with the Blarney Castle embossed on its sides in bold relief; tobacco pouches filled with candy tobacco, with a rakish pipe stub stuck in the middle; green candy the shape of the shamrock, and many other novelties.

The necktie of all shades of green, from the pale Nile down the line to the dark green abanthe, occupies a place in the storekeepers' of the city, alongside green shirts, green socks, and green handkerchiefs and near-green gloves. The stationery St. Patrick layouts are equally unique. There are envelopes with a green border, and note paper with the harp or the shamrock imprinted thereon. Green silken flags of "the old sod" are on sale at the various stores all the year round, and the demand is ever increasing with the rapid growth of the population in this city of people of Irish birth and descent.

Something never before offered in this city for St. Patrick's day is a green hat. A local hatter has a fine line of fedoras, derbys, slouches, sombroses, telescopes, and topers, all done up in the latest and approved style in a bright green. He stated to a Herald reporter last night that never before in the history of his establishment has he done such a big business in green hats as he is doing this year. Everything points to a popular and lively celebration of St. Patrick's Day.

TALKS ON CELTIC LITERATURE.

Dr. Dunn Delivers First Lecture at Catholic University.

Dr. Joseph Dunn's first lecture in the series to be given at the Catholic University on early Celtic literature attracted an interested audience yesterday afternoon. It dealt with the privileges and education of the Celtic poets preceding Christianity in Ireland.

"The court poet," said Dr. Dunn, "was treated by kings as their equal. He was supposed to be possessed of magic power which he used haughtily." The lecturer gave examples of complex Celtic meters and said that rhyme seemed to be peculiar to Irish forms, though alliteration or head rhyme was often used.

The lecture, full of new facts and suggestions, exquisitely enunciated, was enthusiastically received. The next in the course will be given Friday, March 15.

DAILY FASHION HINT.

"If any one has to go I will do it. It isn't his fault; it's mine. I made him do it. He told me he couldn't afford it, and I acted like a little beast, and so he did it to satisfy me. I suppose. He isn't a thief, you know he isn't a thief!" she appealed to the detective. He stammered: "But the ring—"

"Take the ring back," she said, "and I will come and explain the whole thing to Mr. Reade. He wouldn't let you arrest John, anyway. If he knows who it was, Oh, please—give him the ring, John," she begged.

"I don't ever want to see a diamond again as long as I live," she said, beginning to sob. The detective went to the door feeling somewhat as if he had been robbing widows and children. He looked back once as he reached the door, and then hastily let himself out.

"Gee!" he said to himself, as he went up the stairs, "I made him do it. You sit around and think of yourself until you believe you are martyrs, when a little word would be better for you. It isn't all your fault, though," he added slowly. "If the baby had lived, you would have been more grown-up."

His wife sprang to her feet. "I'm almost glad he didn't live," she sobbed. "It wouldn't want him to hear his father talk like that to me?" and she whirled from the room.

John Brent spent a wakeful, uneasy night, but by morning he thought he had found a solution. He ate his lonely breakfast. Mary never got up to breakfast any more—and went down town early. During the forenoon he went over to the office of Jim Reade, the most prosperous attorney in the town, and his best friend. The two were closeted in the consulting room for over an hour, and as he came out into the reception room John said: "I'll take good care of it, Reade, and bring it back to-morrow. The fact is, you aren't married makes it easier. I wouldn't want any other woman to know."

As soon as he got to the store he went straight into his private office and called up the police station. Within a few moments a detective whom John Brent knew well passed through the store and into the little room. The clerk looked at each other furtively and applied themselves vigorously to their work. They could not help hearing the burst of laughter that came from the office, however, though the ensuing conversation was too low to be heard.

That evening John Brent went home a little later than usual, and sat down to the waiting dinner-table without changing upon the turnback cuffs of the short puff sleeves. Brown silk sateen braid formed mark the wide revers at intervals of four inches. The coat does not meet in front, but hangs loose over the blouse and is held to the figure by a broad brown elastic belt fastening in front with a silver buckle.

In the Directoire Mode.

A charming exemplification of the directoire mode is this afternoon costume of brown shalwa cloth. The skirt is perfectly plain, circular in cut, and made with a demi train. The coat is trimmed in unique fashion with darker brown silk tassels, three runs upon the skirt and one

An Attractive Waist of Voile.

2405

Elphonzo Youngs Company.

428 Ninth St. Phone Main 1858.

Groceries—Wholesale and Retail.

A FULL MEASURE of satisfaction with everything you buy at this store. We sell only Food Products of known purity—and sell them at fair prices.

SPECIALS:

California Evaporated Peaches—

Unpeeled, extra fancy, large halves, 20c grade, 17c lb.; 6 lbs. $1.00.

Snider's Catsup—

Full pints, 25c size, 18c; $2.25 doz.

Welsh Rarebit Cheese—

Double Creamery, 20c grade, 18c lb.; 3 lbs. 50c.

Louisiana Creole Peas—

Very large thin-shelled nuts of delicious flavor, 35c a pound. Regular price, 50c.

French Prunes—

For eating raw—tart. They're delicious. 2-lb. glass jars, 65c; regular price, 75c.

A complete line of Lenten Specialties.

Down Town—Near the Market.

READY FOR ST. PATRICK'S DAY.

Storekeepers Offer All Manner of Novelties in Emerald Hue.

Only seven days more and it will be "St. Patrick's Day in the morning," and the storekeepers of the city, particularly candy emporiums, necktie and toggery shops, and stationery salesrooms, have already placed gentle reminders of the great day in their shop windows in the shape of goods and wares of their own respective trades decorated with the green of the Emerald Isle.

The most varied and attractive display is made by the candy stores. There are fancy candy boxes in the shape of golden Tara harps, the last my father wore, with a little duden stuck in its hat band; green boxes with the Blarney Castle embossed on its sides in bold relief; tobacco pouches filled with candy tobacco, with a rakish pipe stub stuck in the middle; green candy the shape of the shamrock, and many other novelties.

The necktie of all shades of green, from the pale Nile down the line to the dark green abanthe, occupies a place in the storekeepers' of the city, alongside green shirts, green socks, and green handkerchiefs and near-green gloves. The stationery St. Patrick layouts are equally unique. There are envelopes with a green border, and note paper with the harp or the shamrock imprinted thereon. Green silken flags of "the old sod" are on sale at the various stores all the year round, and the demand is ever increasing with the rapid growth of the population in this city of people of Irish birth and descent.

Something never before offered in this city for St. Patrick's day is a green hat. A local hatter has a fine line of fedoras, derbys, slouches, sombroses, telescopes, and topers, all done up in the latest and approved style in a bright green. He stated to a Herald reporter last night that never before in the history of his establishment has he done such a big business in green hats as he is doing this year. Everything points to a popular and lively celebration of St. Patrick's Day.

TALKS ON CELTIC LITERATURE.

Dr. Dunn Delivers First Lecture at Catholic University.

Dr. Joseph Dunn's first lecture in the series to be given at the Catholic University on early Celtic literature attracted an interested audience yesterday afternoon. It dealt with the privileges and education of the Celtic poets preceding Christianity in Ireland.

"The court poet," said Dr. Dunn, "was treated by kings as their equal. He was supposed to be possessed of magic power which he used haughtily." The lecturer gave examples of complex Celtic meters and said that rhyme seemed to be peculiar to Irish forms, though alliteration or head rhyme was often used.

The lecture, full of new facts and suggestions, exquisitely enunciated, was enthusiastically received. The next in the course will be given Friday, March 15.

DAILY FASHION HINT.

"If any one has to go I will do it. It isn't his fault; it's mine. I made him do it. He told me he couldn't afford it, and I acted like a little beast, and so he did it to satisfy me. I suppose. He isn't a thief, you know he isn't a thief!" she appealed to the detective. He stammered: "But the ring—"

"Take the ring back," she said, "and I will come and explain the whole thing to Mr. Reade. He wouldn't let you arrest John, anyway. If he knows who it was, Oh, please—give him the ring, John," she begged.

"I don't ever want to see a diamond again as long as I live," she said, beginning to sob. The detective went to the door feeling somewhat as if he had been robbing widows and children. He looked back once as he reached the door, and then hastily let himself out.

"Gee!" he said to himself, as he went up the stairs, "I made him do it. You sit around and think of yourself until you believe you are martyrs, when a little word would be better for you. It isn't all your fault, though," he added slowly. "If the baby had lived, you would have been more grown-up."

His wife sprang to her feet. "I'm almost glad he didn't live," she sobbed. "It wouldn't want him to hear his father talk like that to me?" and she whirled from the room.

John Brent spent a wakeful, uneasy night, but by morning he thought he had found a solution. He ate his lonely breakfast. Mary never got up to breakfast any more—and went down town early. During the forenoon he went over to the office of Jim Reade, the most prosperous attorney in the town, and his best friend. The two were closeted in the consulting room for over an hour, and as he came out into the reception room John said: "I'll take good care of it, Reade, and bring it back to-morrow. The fact is, you aren't married makes it easier. I wouldn't want any other woman to know."

As soon as he got to the store he went straight into his private office and called up the police station. Within a few moments a detective whom John Brent knew well passed through the store and into the little room. The clerk looked at each other furtively and applied themselves vigorously to their work. They could not help hearing the burst of laughter that came from the office, however, though the ensuing conversation was too low to be heard.

That evening John Brent went home a little later than usual, and sat down to the waiting dinner-table without changing upon the turnback cuffs of the short puff sleeves. Brown silk sateen braid formed mark the wide revers at intervals of four inches. The coat does not meet in front, but hangs loose over the blouse and is held to the figure by a broad brown elastic belt fastening in front with a silver buckle.

In the Directoire Mode.

A charming exemplification of the directoire mode is this afternoon costume of brown shalwa cloth. The skirt is perfectly plain, circular in cut, and made with a demi train. The coat is trimmed in unique fashion with darker brown silk tassels, three runs upon the skirt and one

AMUSEMENTS.

BELASCO To-night 25c to $1.50. MATINEE TO-DAY—25c to $1.00. DE WOLF HOPPER Marguerite Clark and DE WOLF HOPPER OPERA CO. in "HAPPY LAND"

Original New York Theater Production. SUNDAY NIGHT—Special Entertainment. Motion Pictures and Illustrated Songs. Grand Vaudeville.

NEXT WEEK—SEATS NOW. Take a Trip with TOURISTS AND RICHARD GOLDEN

TO-DAY 2:15 TO-NIGHT 8:15. MR. WILLIAM FAVERSHAM THE SQUAW MAN

By Arrangement with Chas. Frohman. NEXT WEEK, MATINEES AT 2:15. Klaw & Erlanger Present GEO. H. COHAN'S Music Play

45 MINUTES FROM BROADWAY with FAY TEMPLETON and Original New York Cast.

Only Show in Washington at Popular Prices. MAJESTIC THE FAMILY THEATER

MATS. MONDAY, WEDNESDAY, & SATURDAY. W. F. MANN, Presents THE COW PUNCHER

A PICTURESQUE STORY OF THE WEST. Next Week—HARRY CLAY BLANEY IN THE BOY BEHIND THE GUN.

WINTER RESORTS.

The Atlantic City Office of The Washington Herald is located in the Bartlett Building, corner of Atlantic and North Carolina avenues, where advertisements can be inserted at regular office rates.

H. S. Wallace, special representative.

ATLANTIC CITY.

HOTEL MONTICELLO Modern and High-class in Every Respect. Grand location, Kentucky Ave., near Beach, and

THE DUNLOP Situated on the Boardwalk, at Ocean Avenue. EUROPEAN PLAN. House Thoroughly Renovated.

NEW PRINCESS HOTEL. SOUTH CAROLINA AVE., Near Beach. AMERICAN AND EUROPEAN PLAN.

HOTEL DENNIS ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. Occupies one-half square of unobstructed beach.

HOTEL JACKSON DIRECTOR, OGDEN, Steel Pier. Fireproof. Virginia Ave. and the Beach.

FROM WOMAN'S POINT OF VIEW Poverty is not confined to the tenement districts by any manner of means.

These are the women who do beautiful needlework, who make infant outfits; put up delicious preserves and jellies; do clerical work for conservative old business houses and busy matrons with money, and superintend the different branches of education with delicate or backward boys and girls for pupils.

These are the women who do beautiful needlework, who make infant outfits; put up delicious preserves and jellies; do clerical work for conservative old business houses and busy matrons with money, and superintend the different branches of education with delicate or backward boys and girls for pupils.

These are the women who do beautiful needlework, who make infant outfits; put up delicious preserves and jellies; do clerical work for conservative old business houses and busy matrons with money, and superintend the different branches of education with delicate or backward boys and girls for pupils.

These are the women who do beautiful needlework, who make infant outfits; put up delicious preserves and jellies; do clerical work for conservative old business houses and busy matrons with money, and superintend the different branches of education with delicate or backward boys and girls for pupils.

These are the women who do beautiful needlework, who make infant outfits; put up delicious preserves and jellies; do clerical work for conservative old business houses and busy matrons with money, and superintend the different branches of education with delicate or backward boys and girls for pupils.

These are the women who do beautiful needlework, who make infant outfits; put up delicious preserves and jellies; do clerical work for conservative old business houses and busy matrons with money, and superintend the different branches of education with delicate or backward boys and girls for pupils.

These are the women who do beautiful needlework, who make infant outfits; put up delicious preserves and jellies; do clerical work for conservative old business houses and busy matrons with money, and superintend the different branches of education with delicate or backward boys and girls for pupils.

These are the women who do beautiful needlework, who make infant outfits; put up delicious preserves and jellies; do clerical work for conservative old business houses and busy matrons with money, and superintend the different branches of education with delicate or backward boys and girls for pupils.

These are the women who do beautiful needlework, who make infant outfits; put up delicious preserves and jellies; do clerical work for conservative old business houses and busy matrons with money, and superintend the different branches of education with delicate or backward boys and girls for pupils.

These are the women who do beautiful needlework, who make infant outfits; put up delicious preserves and jellies; do clerical work for conservative old business houses and busy matrons with money, and superintend the different branches of education with delicate or backward boys and girls for pupils.

These are the women who do beautiful needlework, who make infant outfits; put up delicious preserves and jellies; do clerical work for conservative old business houses and busy matrons with money, and superintend the different branches of education with delicate or backward boys and girls for pupils.

These are the women who do beautiful needlework, who make infant outfits; put up delicious preserves and jellies; do clerical work for conservative old business houses and busy matrons with money, and superintend the different branches of education with delicate or backward boys and girls for pupils.

AMUSEMENTS.

NEW LYCEUM MATINEE DAILY ALL THIS WEEK. THE YANKEE DOODLE GIRLS

THE YANKEE DOODLE GIRLS 4-FUNNY COMEDIAN-4. 7-VAUDEVILLE ACTS-7.

COLUMBIA TO-NIGHT AT 8:15. MATINEE TO-DAY, AT 2:15.

JESSIE BUSLEY IN "In The Bishop's Carriage"

WITH SUPERB SUPPORTING COMPANY. Gaiety VAUDEVILLE

Daily Matinees, 5c. Evenings, 25c and 50c. The Complaisant Editor of the Season.

THE BIG RINK. ROLLER-SKATING CONVENTION HALL

Will Be Closed All Day Saturday. Reopen Monday.

ATLANTIC CITY.

HOTEL MONTICELLO Modern and High-class in Every Respect.

THE DUNLOP Situated on the Boardwalk, at Ocean Avenue.

NEW PRINCESS HOTEL. SOUTH CAROLINA AVE., Near Beach.

HOTEL DENNIS ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. Occupies one-half square of unobstructed beach.

HOTEL JACKSON DIRECTOR, OGDEN, Steel Pier. Fireproof. Virginia Ave. and the Beach.

FROM WOMAN'S POINT OF VIEW Poverty is not confined to the tenement districts by any manner of means.

These are the women who do beautiful needlework, who make infant outfits; put up delicious preserves and jellies; do clerical work for conservative old business houses and busy matrons with money, and superintend the different branches of education with delicate or backward boys and girls for pupils.

These are the women who do beautiful needlework, who make infant outfits; put up delicious preserves and jellies; do clerical work for conservative old business houses and busy matrons with money, and superintend the different branches of education with delicate or backward boys and girls for pupils.

These are the women who do beautiful needlework, who make infant outfits; put up delicious preserves and jellies; do clerical work for conservative old business houses and busy matrons with money, and superintend the different branches of education with delicate or backward boys and girls for pupils.

These are the women who do beautiful needlework, who make infant outfits; put up delicious preserves and jellies; do clerical work for conservative old business houses and busy matrons with money, and superintend the different branches of education with delicate or backward boys and girls for pupils.

These are the women who do beautiful needlework, who make infant outfits; put up delicious preserves and jellies; do clerical work for conservative old business houses and busy matrons with money, and superintend the different branches of education with delicate or backward boys and girls for pupils.

These are the women who do beautiful needlework, who make infant outfits; put up delicious preserves and jellies; do clerical work for conservative old business houses and busy matrons with money, and superintend the different branches of education with delicate or backward boys and girls for pupils.

These are the women who do beautiful needlework, who make infant outfits; put up delicious preserves and jellies; do clerical work for conservative old business houses and busy matrons with money, and superintend the different branches of education with delicate or backward boys and girls for pupils.

These are the women who do beautiful needlework, who make infant outfits; put up delicious preserves and jellies; do clerical work for conservative old business houses and busy matrons with money, and superintend the different branches of education with delicate or backward boys and girls for pupils.

These are the women who do beautiful needlework, who make infant outfits; put up delicious preserves and jellies; do clerical work for conservative old business houses and busy matrons with money, and superintend the different branches of education with delicate or backward boys and girls for pupils.

These are the women who do beautiful needlework, who make infant outfits; put up delicious preserves and jellies; do clerical work for conservative old business houses and busy matrons with money, and superintend the different branches of education with delicate or backward boys and girls for pupils.

These are the women who do beautiful needlework, who make infant outfits; put up delicious preserves and jellies; do clerical work for conservative old business houses and busy matrons with money, and superintend the different branches of education with delicate or backward boys and girls for pupils.

These are the women who do beautiful needlework, who make infant outfits; put up delicious preserves and jellies; do clerical work for conservative old business houses and busy matrons with money, and superintend the different branches of education with delicate or backward boys and girls for pupils.

These are the women who do beautiful needlework, who make infant outfits; put up delicious preserves and jellies; do clerical work for conservative old business houses and busy matrons with money, and superintend the different branches of education with delicate or backward boys and girls for pupils.

These are the women who do beautiful needlework, who make infant outfits; put up delicious preserves and jellies; do clerical work for conservative old business houses and busy matrons with money, and superintend the different branches of education with delicate or backward boys and girls for pupils.

These are the women who do beautiful needlework, who make infant outfits; put up delicious preserves and jellies; do clerical work for conservative old business houses and busy matrons with money, and superintend the different branches of education with delicate or backward boys and girls for pupils.