Prof. Raymond Intended No Reflection on Commissioners.

Writing to Mr. Macfarland, He Referred to Influence of Commercialism Over Sentiment.

The following letter has been received from Commissioner Henry B. F. Macfarland in relation to the statements of Prof. Raymond regarding the height of Washington buildings:

Editor The Washington Herald: Sir: In your issue of Thursday, April 4, Prof. George L. Raymond was quoted as having said at a meeting of the National Society of Fine Arts in Hubbard Memorial Hall on the previous evening:

"The law of the District limiting the height of a building to the width of the street upon which it fronts is now being violated, and the rich man can secure the approval of the Commissioners to a further violation of this regulation. Selfish interests in the erection of 'skyscrapers' built with no regard for the landscape, and the invasion of land suitable for public parks by business houses, is the obstacle to the securing of a difficult task, and it remains for you, if it is possible to interest the public only so far as their pocketbooks are concerned, Churches and other buildings of architectural beauty are overcrowded by the 'skyscraper,' and the law relating to this is now being violated in the District."

Upon reading this statement, I wrote the following letter to Prof. Raymond: I assume, of course, that you did not make the statement attributed to you in the enclosed paragraph cut from The Washington Herald of this morning. It is a difficult task, and one making a mistake or making a statement reflecting upon any one without accurate knowledge of the facts is a very serious one. I am being asked about it, I want, before making my statement, to know from you just what you did say.

In response to that, I received the following letter from Prof. Raymond: Your use of such harsh terms as 'selfish' and 'commercial' is not only unjust but also untrue. The remarks attributed to me in the enclosed paragraph cut from The Washington Herald of this morning are not only true but also a fair and honest discussion of the problem. I certainly did not say that 'the rich man can secure the approval of the Commissioners to a further violation of this regulation.' I said that 'the rich man can secure the approval of the Commissioners to a further violation of this regulation.' I said that 'the rich man can secure the approval of the Commissioners to a further violation of this regulation.'

The marriage of Rose Charlton Wellman and Le Roy Chamberlin, of Virginia, will take place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wellman, 2529 Columbia road, this afternoon at 3 o'clock. Mr. Roger Dyer, rector of Christ Episcopal Church, Barton, Va., will perform the ceremony. Only the immediate families will be present; Mrs. S. E. Chamberlin, Miss Eleanor Chamberlin, and Mr. Edward Chamberlin, of Virginia; Mr. and Mrs. Justin Morrill, of Washington; Miss Anna Matthews, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wellman, the Misses Ruth, Rae, Rita, and Reba Wellman.

Col. E. E. Chamberlin, father of the groom, is ill at the family home in Virginia and will be unable to be present. After the ceremony the bride and groom will leave for Chicago, where Mr. Chamberlin is connected with the Armour Company.

The Ambassador from Mexico and Sonora, Creel, who have been constantly entertained since this popular diplomatist presented his credentials, were the guests of honor last night at the Russian Embassy.

Among those present were the Mexican Minister to Cuba, Mr. Pardo, the Peruvian Minister and Mme. Pardo, the Minister from the Argentine Republic and Mme. Portela, Mr. and Mrs. Ridgely, Mrs. John B. Henderson, Miss Williams, Baron Ambrosy, Mr. von Thal, and Mr. John Barrett.

Mr. and Mrs. Foulke entertained at dinner last night that they might present their house guest, Miss Margaret Pierson, of New York, to some of their more intimate friends. The guests were the Minister from the Netherlands and Mme. van Swinderen, the Minister from Norway and Mme. Hauge, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Radworth, Miss Foraker, Baron von Radowitz, of the German Embassy, and Mr. Higgins, of the British Embassy.

Mr. and Mrs. Gibson Fahnstok were among the other dinner guests last night. Their guests were the Swiss Minister, Mr. Leo Vogel, the Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Metcalf, Gen. and Mrs. Fitzhugh, Mrs. Charles J. Bell, Mr. and Mrs. Harlan, Mrs. Jack Rodgers, Mrs. Seaton Schroeder, Miss Jane Riggs, Miss Isabel Hagner, Rear Admiral Kenny, Mr. Lambert Tree, and Mr. Skybak.

Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Hopkins will pass the early spring at the home of Senator and Mrs. Newlands, "Woodley."

Benjamin were elected trustees, and President Sheridan appointed a committee to see President Roosevelt and make arrangements for a visit of the delegates to the White House.

At the opening of the session yesterday Dr. H. O. Keen, of Georgetown, Del., conducted the devotional services, which were followed by the report of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society. It showed the organization to be in good financial circumstances. Rev. Dr. Lewis was granted the floor to make the annual report for Westminster College, of which he is the president. The report emphasized the need of an endowment fund for the institution while stating that the finances were in a flourishing condition. Rev. J. D. Kinzer, president of the board of governors, read the report of the Westminster Theological Seminary, which was encouraging.

Announcement was made of those who were to be ordained to the ministry on Sunday. They are N. C. Clough, C. M. Elderidge, W. P. Roberts, L. B. Smith, E. L. Bunce, and J. T. Bailey, while the names of Rev. J. T. Lassell and Rev. J. M. Yingling were placed on the list of superannuated ministers of the conference.

Missionary Work Discussed. Missionary work was the subject of several speeches at the meeting last night, and the best methods of both home and foreign mission labor were discussed. Dr. Warner, pastor of the Westminster Church in Maryland, spoke at some length on the need of missionaries both at home and abroad, and enumerated many instances in which such workers had sacrificed a great deal to make converts. Other speakers along the same lines were Mrs. Charles Spieldt, president of the Woman's Home Missionary Society, and Dr. T. J. Ogburn, of West Lafayette, Ohio. A duet was sung by Rev. J. T. Straughn and Dr. J. S. Smith.
