Inability to hit Cy Young lost the game with Boston yesterday for the Nationals by the score of 3 to 0.

The old warrior had no trouble with Cantillon's rejuvenated men, four hits being their portion. Three of these bingles went for two sacks, but the rail-splitter had Washington completely fooled when a hit would have meant a run.

The twisters the local boys did connect with came to naught. Washington at times hit the ball hard, but the Boston pitchers were always there and prevented scoring.

Falkenberg was on the rubber for the Nationals, and pitched an article of ball that should have won an ordinary game.

In the first session Boston pushed a run across the park that might have been prevented. Fielder Sullivan got the benefit of a free pass. Parent advanced him by the suicide method, and Unglaub's grounder, which went to Ferrine, was batted handled and gave the new manager a life on first, advancing Sullivan to the third corner.

Collins scored a minute later on a jugged-outter to Schafly, which the latter jugged but recovered quickly enough to catch the former captain at first.

Schafly Falls Down. Boston's second run was largely due to Schafly, for, after Falkenberg stopped Hobe Ferris' left, the Washington captain fell down on the chance. Ferris was nailed at second when Wagner hit to the infield.

Catcher Shaw popped an easy out. Wagner pilfered second and went to third when Young singled to the right garden. Warner tried to nail Cy at second and Wagner dashed for home. Had Schafly's throw been lower, Wagner would have been caught.

In the second inning the Nationals appeared to have a look in. Big John Anderson drove a two-sacker to left, and Altizer, in an endeavor to sacrifice, bunted and Perrine both fanned.

With two men out in the third, Ganley landed for two bags, but got no farther. Schafly was safe in the sixth, but died on first. Cross and Anderson were easy outs.

Nationals Make Misplays. Misplays on the part of the Nationals were in evidence in the same inning, and the visitors pushed another man across the rubber. Anderson muffed a quick return of Collins' grounder by Perrine. Warner's shot to second was too far out, and the Boston third baseman was safe.

Warner nailed two fouls from Grimshaw and Ferris. Cy Falkenberg pitched wild, Collins jugged home while Warner was recovering the sphere.

Jones reached first on Collins' error, but got no farther than second. In the ninth, Washington made a half-hearted bid for a run, Altizer clouting out a two-sacker, with two down, but Jones failed to do his duty. His long fly was neatly trapped by Sullivan.

The Score. WASHINGTON. A. B. R. H. O. A. E. Gagner, 4 0 1 2 0 0

AN EVEN BREAK AT DETROIT

White Sox Runners Slow in Second Game of Double-header.

Both Contests Slightly Exhibitions of National Sport—Willitt Issues Passes to Visitors.

DETROIT, May 3.—Detroit and Chicago split even to-day in the first double header here, and both games were slothfully, even slovenly, played.

The cold weather may have been to blame. Detroit lost the first because Willitt, when not walking batsmen, was putting the ball over straight and very hitable.

Patterson was stingy of both hits and passes. In the second game Killian's luck held, the Chicago men on bases going to sleep and allowing themselves to be plucked off at will in fast double plays.

RUN WELL TO FORM

Jamaica Winners Supported by Betting Public.

BARBARY BELLE RUNS SECOND. Rules Favorite at 5 to 2, with Edna Jackson Second—Latter Raced Off Her Feet at Head of Stretch.

JAMAICA, May 3.—The horses ran pretty close to form at Jamaica to-day, and all of the winners were well supported by the public. The weather was cold and raw.

The stakes feature was the Newtown selling, for three-year-olds and upward, six furlongs. Barbary Belle ruled favorite at 5 to 2, with Edna Jackson second in favor at 3 to 1.

Barbary Belle was the favorite at 7 to 10, but Ace High got away running, and was never headed, beating Waterbury by two and one-half lengths in 1:13.45.

Henry Waterbury was backed off the boards in the third race. He made all the running, and breezed home three lengths before Savable, 4 to 1.

Jack Martin rode the winners of the two last races. He carried out the pace with Battle Axe, 7 to 10 favorite, in the fifth, at six furlongs, the Hamburg colt beating Water Tank, 8 to 1, by a length, in 1:13.25.

Martin then put up a great finish on Appleby's Sadler, 2 to 1 favorite, in the last event for maidens, six furlongs, catching Oyama, 5 to 1, and the pacemaker, in the last few strides, and breaking him three-quarters of a length, in 1:14.10.

Waterbury was the favorite at 7 to 10, but Ace High got away running, and was never headed, beating Waterbury by two and one-half lengths in 1:13.45.

PREEN SMASHES OLD RECORD. Outruns Old Gaziallo for Six Furlongs at Pimlico.

Tom Mannix Cuts Water Dog Loose, Taking Mile Event, with Price of 6 to 1 Chalked Up.

Special to The Washington Herald. Baltimore, Md., May 3.—Preen, Fred Presgrave's crack performer, not only won his third victory on the Pimlico track to-day, but broke the track record for six furlongs.

Preen ran the distance in 1:13.1, which is a quarter of a second faster than the track record, previously held by Preen.

It was in the Stafford Handicap, the feature of the programme, that Preen won. Old Gaziallo ran a strong race, as it was only by a half length he was beaten.

Preen was one of the two favorites to win. Scarfell, the favorite in the sixth event at six furlongs, was the other choice to win.

The stepladder race for four-year-olds and upward, now-winners in 1907, was won by Preen, flying Virginia was made the favorite, but he ran a very disappointing race, as he finished a poor third.

There were several surprises sprung. The opening race, at six furlongs, was won by King of Bashan, the 7 to 1 shot in the betting.

In the two-year-old race, Patricia, at 4 to 1, won all the way. The favorite, Etta Louise, ran a disappointing race.

Tom Mannix cut a Water Dog loose in the mile event, and the horse won at 6 to 1.

COLD WAVE AT BOSTON.

Stupid Work of Phillies Results in Poor Game.

Boston, May 3.—Stupid work on the part of the Phillies enabled the Boston team to roll up five runs in the seventh inning to-day. The brilliant work of Doolin and Gleason was a feature.

The weather was very cold. Score: Boston, R. H. O. A. E. Philadelphia,
