JURY HOLDS PHILIP

Must Answer for the Death of Frank Macaboy.

SELF-DEFENSE TO BE PLEA

Elevator Man Testifies Cabman Took Hold of Accused Before Shot Was Fired—Dr. W. Glazebrook Describes Dead Man as Physical Giant—Funeral Services To-day.

Before a coroner's jury yesterday afternoon, by which Gaston P. Philip, wealthy, and a member of a well-known family, was held for the grand jury for the death of Frank Macaboy, a cabman, it developed that Philip's attorneys will probably plead self-defense.

When the two men met in the hallway on the fifth floor of the Arlington early Saturday morning, William A. Grissett, who ran the elevator, said there was no coldness between Macaboy and Philip. The cabman took hold of the arm of Philip, objecting to his going out again.

"Don't do that," Philip said to Macaboy. The shot followed.

Just prior to the closing of the hearing, Dr. L. W. Glazebrook told of the autopsy on the body of Macaboy. He neglected to state the height and weight of the dead man.

"You did not say what the man weighed nor his height," said A. A. Hoehling, attorney for Philip, to the autopsy surgeon. "Will you kindly do so?"

"Macaboy was a man 6 feet 4 inches and a fraction in height. He weighed between 215 and 220 pounds," replied Dr. Glazebrook.

At this juncture Mr. Hoehling was asked by Coroner Nevitt if he desired his client to make any statement. He replied that he did not.

Elevator Man Testifies. William A. Grissett, the elevator man, took the two principals to the fifth floor in an elevator. Philip and two men, who were unknown to him, came into the hotel at an early hour.

"I saw the two men in the hallway," suggested that the trio have a drink, and they all disappeared.

"The next I saw of any of them," said the witness, "was when Mr. Philip appeared at the elevator. He got in and I closed the door. As I started, I heard a whistle. I reopened the door to see who was going up. It was Macaboy. 'I'm going up, too,' he said.

"Philip shook his head, and left the elevator. The two disappeared. Later Philip got in and I took him to his floor. He asked me to wait for him, saying he was going down in a minute.

"While waiting the bell rang, and I took the elevator down to the ground floor. It was Macaboy who had rung the bell. I took him up and he asked the direction of Philip's room. I told him. He went down the hall. I walked to the turn in the hall to see if Mr. Philip was approaching to go downstairs. He had asked me to wait.

"I saw the two men in the hallway," Macaboy took hold of Philip, saying, 'Where are you going?' 'I'm going out,' replied Philip to the cabman, according to the witness.

Macaboy Grasps Philip. Continuing, Grissett said that Macaboy grasped the arm of his companion tightly. This was followed by a mumbled conversation between the pair that the elevator man could not hear. Then he heard Philip say, "Don't do that," and the shot followed almost immediately.

Grissett returned to the elevator and hurried to the office, where he told the clerk that there had been a shooting affair between Philip and Macaboy on the fifth floor.

Assistant District Attorney Turner questioned the witness as to why he had gone downstairs instead of offering assistance to the man who had been shot down. He explained that he thought it his duty to notify the office.

James Brest, clerk at the hotel, told of his connection with the case, having gone to the fifth floor when told there had been a shooting. He saw Philip bending over the form of Macaboy on the floor. He asked the injured man what was the matter.

"He shot me. I shot myself," the witness said Macaboy had stated to him. He advised Philip to go to his room, and later found a revolver in his pocket.

John A. Heath, the night clerk, testified. His story was practically the same as that of Philip's. When Heath reached Macaboy he was apparently in great agony.

Begs to Be Killed. "Kill me; kill me; you don't know how I am suffering," Heath testified that Macaboy had exclaimed to him. The wounded man was asked what the trouble had been.

"I shot myself. No, he shot me," Macaboy said. "He shot me for nothing."

Policeman Martin Riley, Sergt. Evans, both of the Third precinct; Detective Sergt. Frank Helan, and Dr. D. R. Johnson were other witnesses, telling of their connection with the case.

Gaston Philip was accompanied to the morgue to attend the inquest by his brother, J. Van Ness Philip, and his attorney. He was attended in a light gray suit. Sitting erect in his chair, he did not seem nervous in the least, and paid particular attention to the testimony given by the different witnesses. His eyes were clear, and although his appearance was somewhat haggard, he did not look the dissipated man that he has been pictured since the shooting on Saturday.

The coroner's jury was out only a few minutes, when it returned its verdict, holding Philip for the action of the grand jury for the death of Macaboy. Later, Philip was returned to the District jail.

After the hearing, Capt. Philip said that he was not prepared to give out a statement concerning the defense for his brother.

Funeral services of Frank Macaboy will take place this morning at the family residence, 148 V street. Requiem mass will be said at St. Paul's Catholic Church. Interment will be in Holy Rood Cemetery.

CALL FOR "A FAIR DEAL." Brotherhood of Electrical Workers Criticize the President.

The International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, District Council, No. 3, through its president, H. W. Potter, and its secretary-treasurer, Robert Dickson, is promulgating the resolutions passed at the convention held at Atlantic City on the Idaho labor cases. A copy has been sent to the President of the United States.

The resolutions follow: Atlantic City, N. J., April 2, 1907. To our fellow-citizens, greeting: Whereas the time has come when organized labor should declare in favor of "a square deal" for all instead of the few; and

Whereas it is proved that the great minority has been favored in the past by the powers controlling the political patronage of the country, who are the leaders of the Western Federation of Miners as undesirable citizens; therefore be it

Resolved, That we, the delegates to District Council No. 3, do hereby condemn, and denounce the members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers of Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, and the District of Columbia, who represent the Western Federation of Miners as President of the United States influencing the minds of the judges and jurors who sit on the trial of Charles A. Moyer, D. D. Heywood, and George A. Pettibone, officers of the Western Federation of Miners; and be it further

Resolved, That we demand for them a fair and impartial trial, and that we protest against the unjust and illegal treatment they have received of a so-called justice; and be it further

Resolved, That we send our heartfelt sympathy to them in this their hour of suffering; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent our brethren, copies to the press, and a copy to the President of the United States.

LUNA PARK OPENS MAY 25. Manager Goodfellow Tells Something of Summer's Attractions.

Luna Park, more inviting and attractive than ever, will open next Saturday. In speaking of his plans for the coming summer, Manager Goodfellow said: "The public is continually demanding something new and out of the ordinary in the amusement line, and having its interest at stake, it is my intention to give Washingtonians a park that will be more diversified in its arrangements and more inviting in construction. In order to bring my plans to a successful result, it has been necessary to tear down, rebuild, renovate, remodel, improvise, dismantle, and excavate; in short, the alterations have been so extensive that space forbids my speaking of the telling transformations that have taken place. I had no idea that so much money would be required to bring about the desired results, but it is my earnest endeavor to give the public something far in advance of anything they have ever had, and with this in mind the expenditure is the last thing I have bargained to consider."

"A musical advent new to this country will be the Royal Berlin Military Band, with Paul Zieroff as conductor. Their music will attest their respective abilities, and bands no less in prestige and competency will be in evidence throughout the season."

LONG SERVICES REWARDED. Charles S. Denham Remembers Employee in His Will.

That loyalty in private and business pursuits has its reward is demonstrated by the will of Charles S. Denham, dated February 7, 1906, and filed for probate yesterday. It is provided that the deceased's business at 528 Nineteenth street be sold to William E. Reeves for $150, and that the business property go to Mr. Reeves at the death of the widow of Mr. Denham, "in appreciation of and in payment for loyal and faithful service while in my employ for the past fifteen years. A bequest of $500 is made to his daughter, Lula Denham, and a life interest in the remaining estate to the widow. Lewis Cass Denham is named as executor.

Mr. Reeves stated that he was not wholly surprised by the announcement that he profited by Mr. Denham's will, as it had been intimated to him before that he was named as a beneficiary. He says he had worked for Mr. Denham for the past fifteen years, and has always looked after the interests of his employer.

Orlando Bolivar Wilcox, by his will filed for probate yesterday, left everything to his wife, Mrs. Julia E. Wilcox, for her own use and that of her children. Mrs. Wilcox and the son Orlando Blodgett Wilcox are appointed executors. His swords, medals, and other rare left by the testator, who died May 19, to his wife and children.

The will of Hattie Johnson, dated March 27, 1906, was filed for probate yesterday. The testator leaves a number of minor cash bequests to relatives and friends, and leaves to the Rev. Walter Brooks, 1425 Corcoran street, $100, and to the poor of the Nineteenth Street Baptist Church $25. The rest of the estate is to go to Hattie B. Kyles. Walter H. Brooks is named as executor.

Mary J. Wright, by her will dated March 15, 1907, filed for probate yesterday, names her daughter, Eleanor Espy Wright, sole beneficiary and executrix.

Bids for Rails Opened. Bids were opened yesterday at the office of the Isthmian Canal Commission, in this city, for 5,000 tons of steel rails, to be delivered in Colon. There were two bidders—the Maryland Steel Company of Sparrows Point, Md., $18,750, and the United States Steel Products Export Company, $18,250.

Griffin Halstead Exonerated. Griffin Halstead, owner and operator of the automobile that ran over Joseph F. Whelan on H street northeast last Saturday evening, was exonerated from all blame yesterday by the coroner's jury, immediately following the verdict in the Langley case.

Rev. C. B. Ghodes, of St. Peter's, Baltimore, Talks to Synod on Need of Literature for Body.

The Eastern Conference of the Maryland Synod of Lutheran Churches convened at 10 o'clock yesterday morning in the Georgetown Lutheran Church. Rev. D. E. Wiseman, of the Church of the Redeemer, opened the morning session with devotional services. The business conference followed, in which the election of the officers for the year took place, as follows: Rev. P. A. Hellman, president; Rev. G. L. Usher, secretary; Capt. E. Herman, treasurer; together with the reading of reports of secretary and treasurer.

At 11 o'clock Rev. I. C. Burke, of the Third Church, in Baltimore, gave an exposition of Scripture on "God's elect." The session adjourned for lunch at noon. The afternoon session was opened at 2 o'clock, with Dr. Hellman in the chair. After the routine business was completed he called on Rev. C. B. Ghodes, of St. Peter's Church, Baltimore.

Dr. Ghodes said that the great need of the Lutheran Church was to have its doctrine expounded in English literature, who so that the American people might better understand the teachings of the "great reformer." Dr. J. G. Butler, of the Memorial Church, of this city, endorsed these remarks, and commended Dr. J. N. Lankner, who has just completed eight volumes on this subject.

At 2 o'clock Rev. G. W. Miller, of Second Lutheran Church, of Baltimore, spoke on the topic of men's organizations in the church. Dr. Miller has for sixteen years conducted an organization with spiritual and athletic features, meeting with splendid results. The subject was then open to discussion. Rev. I. M. Zimmerman, of Christ Church, Baltimore, spoke, followed by W. K. Kaufman, representing the laity.

Rev. E. Felton, of Messiah Church, Baltimore, was next on the program. Dr. Felton said that inherent methods of evangelism are not the aim of the Lutheran Church, conservatism and not sensationalism being the object. During the discussions that followed, many pleas for the co-operation of the congregations were made; for without it, Dr. Felton said, successful evangelism is impossible.

Rev. U. S. G. Rupp then spoke on "Mission Study Movement," followed by Rev. G. E. Hipsley on the "Congregation as a missionary society." The conference business came up at 5 o'clock, when it was decided to have the November conference in Beltsville, Md. The session adjourned shortly after.

Following is a list of the pastors present: J. C. Burke, Third Church, Baltimore; J. G. Butler, D. D., Memorial Church, Washington; C. H. Butler, Keller Memorial Church, Washington; J. F. Crigger, St. Paul's Church, Lottsville; S. H. Fuller, Trinity Church, Beltsville; M. L. Enders, Salem Church, Catonsville; E. Felton, Messiah Church, Baltimore; W. S. Freas, L. D., Mother House, Baltimore; J. L. Frantz, St. Mark's Church, Washington; P. A. Hellman, St. Peter's Church, Baltimore; G. E. Hipsley, St. Luke's Church, Baltimore; E. E. Ide, Trinity Church, Baltimore; George W. Miller, D. D., Second Church, Baltimore; L. F. Miller, Bethany Church, Baltimore; S. J. Miller, Church of Our Savior, West Arlington; H. D. Newcomer, Grace Church, Baltimore; U. S. G. Rupp, Church of the Reformation, Baltimore; G. L. Usher, St. John's Church, Sparrows Point; L. H. Waring, Georgetown Church, Washington; John Wadley, D. D., Church of Reformation, Washington; D. E. Wiseman, Church of Our Redeemer, Washington; L. M. Zimmerman, D. D., Christ Church, Baltimore.

The conference ended last night with the address of Rev. E. E. Ide, of this city, who spoke on "My duty at home." Rev. J. L. Frantz, of St. Thomas' Lutheran Church, of Washington, who addressed the congregation on "My duty to my church," and Rev. J. G. Butler, pastor of the Luther Memorial Church, near Thomas Circle, who had for his theme "My duty to my neighbor." The song service was rendered by the local choir.

CANT MONKEY WITH MONKEY. Target Practice with Simulans as Objects Is Barred.

Throwing soft rubber balls at a monkey, even if the monkey enjoys it, is cruelty to animals, according to a decision rendered in the Police Court yesterday. William Dwyer was the defendant. He earned an honest living by having his monkey, "Husky" dodge the balls at three for five cents, and a good cigar is yours for your coin.

"Your honor," said Dwyer, "I merely let the people throw balls at the dear little animal because he needs the exercise to keep his digestion in good order." Dwyer was fined $20.

RANDLE HIGHLANDS CAPITOL OF U.S. WHITE HOUSE DIAGRAM OF GROUND ELEVATION

When Randle Highlands was put on the market, about eighteen months ago, purchasers camped on the ground all night before the day of sale. Many were offered 100 per cent on their investment before the day was over.

You can select your lot in advance at North Randle Highlands, before the great sale on the 30th of May, when there will be two bands of music and refreshments on the ground. Come out and spend the day—you can take your lunch under the trees or by the side of the brook and enjoy the bracing air from the Highlands and the grand panoramic view of Washington.

Don't lose this opportunity, if you did the last, to secure a lot or a villa site for a home or investment. You can go out and make a personal inspection of the property free of cost, and secure a choice lot before the great opening day, the 30th of May. Lots and villa sites from 3 cents to 16 cents square foot—$25 cash—balance $5 per month.

If you want to get ahead of the great rush of purchasers, cut out the coupon in the corner, and a map, with prices, and an automobile will be sent to you at the time you designate in coupon.
