Housekeeping Supplies

THE several departments which contribute the Requisites and Helps for modern housekeeping are now splendidly prepared to meet the demand, no matter how great, for Upholstery, Curtains, Rugs, Beds and Bedding, Table and Toilet Linens, Furniture, Pictures, China and Crockery, Cut and Pressed Glassware, Fancy China, Bric-a-brac, Silverware, Lamps and Electroliers, Baskets, Gas and Oil Stoves, Bathroom Accessories, Kitchen Utensils, Pure Foods, and every article that enters into the conduct of the home, the hotel, the boarding house, the cafe.

In the selection of these several classes of home needs only standard goods are considered—the sorts that not only look well, but afford the service you require and have a right to expect.

No matter how "trifling" the article, it must be the best of its kind to find a place in our stock.

We ask your inspection of our New Fall Stock, which is the brightest, best, and most all round satisfactory we have ever assembled.

Prices are absolutely the lowest for same grades of goods.

Exceptional values are being offered in the various departments of Housekeeping Supplies, and a visit just now will prove both interesting and profitable to housekeepers and home-makers.

Demonstration and Sale of the Whitley Exerciser.

THE Whitley Exerciser is being demonstrated in our Sporting Goods Department this week by Mr. Max Brettnier, who so successfully demonstrated these machines here last spring. The benefit to be derived from the use of this simple exerciser is surprising. Mr. Brettnier will during this special demonstration and sale be pleased to give free instructions for developing the various muscles of the body. Special prices prevail on Whitley Exercisers, as follows: "Juvenile" Exerciser, $1.00; was $1.25. "Ideal" Exerciser, $1.00; was $1.25. "Vim" Exerciser, $1.50; was $2.00. "Standard" Exerciser, $2.00; was $3.00. "Athlete" Exerciser, $3.50; was $4.50. "Special" (silk cable), $5.00.

Shreve-Heartsill Wedding a Feature of Fall Season.

BRILLIANT CHURCH NUPTIALS

Gen. Anson Mills, U. S. A., and Mrs. Mills and Mrs. Philip Sheridan and Daughters Return—Commander and Mrs. Kincaid Announce Approaching Marriage of Their Daughter.

Mount Vernon Place Methodist Episcopal Church South was the scene of one of the prettiest weddings of the autumn last evening, the contracting parties being Miss Fannie Elizabeth Shreve, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank Shreve, and Mr. Francis P. Heartsill, formerly of Texas. The ceremony took place at 8 o'clock, the Rev. William French Locke, pastor of the church, officiating.

A simple setting of green was the only decoration used in the church, palms and ferns intermingled with foliage, banking the chancel. The bride entered the church on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. Mrs. Love Banks, sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor, and Miss Mary Simpson Birch, a cousin of the bride, acted as maid of honor. In the wedding train there were also two bridesmaids, Miss Minnie Ellison and Miss Jeannette Gaggler.

Mr. Ralph Febray Shreve, brother of the bride, was the best man, and Mr. Richard Newbold was the groomsmen. The guests were seated by Mr. Lee Nutt, Mr. David L. Conn, Mr. Everett Baird, Mr. Charles Flockler, Mr. Lawrence Shreve, and Mr. Lee Kessler. The wedding dress was a princess gown of white chiffon satin over taffeta. Real lace used about the bodice, with touches of white panne velvet, enhanced the beauty and effectiveness of the costume. In lieu of the bridal veil, a large white hat of panne velvet, trimmed with lace and white plumes, was worn, and the wedding bouquet was a cluster of bride roses.

The matron of honor and the maid of honor each wore becoming gowns of pale blue silk fashioned in a soft, graceful style, and the bridesmaids wore pink frocks. Each wore a wreath of tiny roses in her hair, and carried a cluster of maidenhair ferns tied with streamers to correspond with their gowns. Mr. J. Edgar Robinson, organist of the church, rendered a beautiful musical programme preceding and during the ceremony.

A small reception, limited to the bridal party, followed the ceremony at the residence of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Heartsill leaving the city late in the evening for an extended wedding trip. Mrs. Heartsill were for traveling a becoming suit of heavy brown silk with hat to match. Upon their return to Washington they will take up their residence at the home of the bride's parents at 2322 First street northwest.

Judge and Mrs. Thomas Ryan, the former recently having been transferred from the post of Assistant Secretary of the Interior to Special Assistant Secretary of the Interior, with headquarters at Muscogee, I. T., will close their home on S street some time between the 1st and 10th of November. Both Judge and Mrs. Ryan have a large circle of friends and acquaintances, and their departure will be a matter of sincere regret.

The first eulch party of Lincoln Circle, No. 3, Ladies of the G. A. R., will be given Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Avery, 123 Thirtieth street. Mrs. Mida C. Peabody, who is chairman of the entertainment committee, has secured many beautiful prizes, and both old and new patrons are invited to attend.

Mrs. Burnham, wife of Maj. Burnham, retired, has returned from the seaside and the Berkshires, and taken an apartment at the Hotel Gordon. Mrs. Burnham will have a friend, Mrs. Sigenson, from Buffalo, with her during the winter.

Gen. Anson Mills, U. S. A., and Mrs. Mills have returned to Dupont Circle and opened their residence at Sheridan Circle for the winter.

Mrs. Philip Sheridan and her daughters have returned to Washington from their summer home at Nonquitt, Me., and opened their residence at Sheridan Circle for the winter.

Invitations will shortly be received here for the marriage of Miss Ruth Sibley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hiram W. Sibley, and John Allyn Gade, the wedding to take place November 18 in the Sibley home at the Genesee Valley, near Rochester, N. Y.

All the details have not yet been decided upon for the wedding. Miss Sibley, who is a most attractive and accomplished young woman, has yet to select her bridesmaids, of whom there will be half a dozen. The bride-elect is well known and extremely popular in Washington, where she has been a frequent guest of Mrs. Clarke Wagaman.

Mr. Gade is very well known in society and is popular. He is a son of Gerhard Gade, who for years was a member of the Norwegian diplomatic service, and who was appointed American consul general at Christiania by President Grant. Mr. Gade was graduated from Harvard University, class of 1886, and belongs to the Norwegian royalist family of his name.

For his best man Mr. Gade will have his cousin, H. N. Gade, of Froquer, Christiania, Norway. The ushers are to be Commodore Gustaf Gade, of the royal Norwegian navy, and George L. Wrenn, Beverly Bogert, Howard Slade, William Commann, Henry G. Gray, and Harper Sibley, the bride's brother, whose engagement to Miss Georgiana Farr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Powers Farr, was recently announced. F. Otway Byrd, of Brandon, Va., and H. Bradley Penno, and Harry Appleton Curtis, of Boston, are also invited.

Miss Sibley, whose parents have a residence in New York, has been visiting relatives in Lawrence, L. I. She will leave in a short time for the family country home in the Genesee Valley.

Mrs. Penbrooke Shipley and her daughter, Miss Ivel C. Shipley, have returned to Washington from a trip through New York and Canada.

Mrs. P. R. McCargo is the guest of her mother, Mrs. John G. Hodges, of Fairmont street.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Gassenheimer are now established in their home at Fourteenth and Harvard streets.

The marriage of Miss Gwendolyn Cary, daughter of the late Sidney Cary, of Baltimore, to Mrs. Francis Potter, secretary of the American Legation at Madrid, will take place Monday, October 21, in St. Margaret's Chapel, Westminster, London, England.

Miss Cary, who is a particularly beautiful girl, made her debut in Baltimore two seasons ago, after having finished her education abroad.

Commander Thomas Wright Kincaid, U. S. N., and Mrs. Kincaid announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Helen Kincaid, to Dr. Robert Helner, passed assistant surgeon, U. S. N., Saturday afternoon, November 2, in Philadelphia.

Lieut. and Mrs. Lewis Adams are at the Washington Barracks.

Dr. and Mrs. Edward S. Smith have returned to this city, after a trip to the Jamestown Exposition and Richmond.

Mr. and Mrs. Courtland Richardson, the latter formerly Miss Mimi Carr, whose marriage took place last Thursday at Darien, Conn., are spending their honeymoon at Hot Springs, Va.

Miss Blanche Brown, of Georgetown, will leave to-day for a stay of some time at the Jamestown Exposition.

Invitations are out for the wedding of Miss Lillian M. Omer, of Little Rock, Ark., and Joseph Miller, of Dallas, Tex., which will take place next week. Miss Omer is well remembered here, having been at Gunston Institute for several years.

John Alexander Hancock, of Albemarle, Va., is visiting his brother, C. P. Hancock, at 306 Dent Place. Mr. Hancock is a new old acquaintance during home-coming week in Baltimore.

A Very Practical House Dress.

A simple dress of inexpensive material is a real necessity for wear about the house when there are tasks to perform, and a design for one is sketched here. The waist is in shirt-waist style, with a prettily shaped yoke and tucks in front and back. The sleeves may be finished short, as shown, or long to the wrist. The skirt is a plain five-gored one with a straight gathered flounce at the lower edge. It closes at the left side in front, and is not difficult to make or launder. A percale, madras, or challis may be used as material, of which 8 1/2 yards 32 inches wide are needed for the medium size. Six sizes, 32 to 42 inches bust measure. A pattern of this may be obtained by enclosing 10 cents in stamps and addressing Pattern Department, The Washington Herald, 733 Fifteenth street northwest, giving number (2548) and size wanted.

CHURCH YOUNG PEOPLE MEET.

Y. P. S. C. E. of Northminster Church Transact Business. At a well-attended business meeting of the Y. P. S. C. E. of the Northminster Presbyterian Church, Monday evening, the president, Miss Chum, presided.

Among the volume of business transacted was the pledging of a memorial window for the new church, to be erected at Eleventh street and Rhode Island avenue northwest. Affiliation with the Anti-Saloon League, together with indorsing its work and the decision to organize an intermediate society, was decided upon. The solution of an intermediate superintendent was deferred until a future meeting, to be held at the call of the chair.

Messrs. Miller and Wilson, together with the Misses Burgdorff and Bogar, were elected delegates to the Anti-Saloon League. A delegate party was announced by the chairman of the society committee, Miss Ingalls, who assured every one a pleasant evening. The president, in a heart-to-heart talk, covered the work to be taken up in the near future.

Dr. Johnson Returns. Dr. H. L. E. Johnson returned yesterday from a two months' trip in Europe. Dr. Johnson was a delegate to the Medical Congress in Berlin.

PARIS GOWNS SHOWN

Woodward & Lothrop Offer a Tempting Display.

CREATIONS OF BEST MODISTES

Fall Opening of Reversible Attractive Assortment of Opera Coats, Evening and Afternoon Gowns, and Blouses from the French Capital—Kimona Effects Largely Predominate.

The display of importations of wonderful Parisian confections in opera coats, evening and afternoon gowns, and dainty blouses well merited the inspection and admiration of the crowds that flocked to the third floor of Woodward & Lothrop's department store yesterday, which was the first of the three days devoted to the fall and winter opening of that department.

An artistic arrangement of palms, tall, fluffy grasses, and other decorations in foliage gave an attractive setting to the models which were displayed in a gorgeous array.

Empire and modified empire models there are in plenty this season, and the tendency of all bodices and upper garments, whether in ball gowns or coats, runs to the kimona effect. Many new shades are introduced, yellow in many tones being among the most popular; from burnt orange to apricot, and shading off into cafe au lait, this color is used for all garments.

All of the most exclusive shops in Paris are represented. From Paquin there were several charming morning costumes, in dark and serviceable tones. In a striped model in black and gray, the whole giving more the effect of gray than a distinctive stripe, the coat is cut on empire lines, bias bands of the same material stopping a little above the waist line, with several small buttons and the tail of the jacket springing out in plaits. A touch of color adding much to the smart effect, is supplied by a tie of dark green panne velvet. The skirt is round in length and trimmed simply with buttons.

Elbow sleeves still seem to be popular, and nearly all of the models show elbow or three-quarter length, finished with a tiny inner cuff of Persian embroidery on white satin or cloth. A good model in street costume is in dark brown broadcloth, heavily braided about the coat, which comes to the waist line. Pippings of velvet outlined the kimona effect of the jacket, the same material being used for the sleeves and collar. A more bewitching wrap for a debutante can hardly be imagined than this, of which Eloy, Mignot & Co. are the makers.

Attractive Afternoon Gowns. A skeleton gown shows a tendency toward thin fabrics, a field which for several seasons has been given over largely to chiffon broadcloths and other pliable but thicker materials. From Raffin there is a simple and bewitching girlish evening gown of pink crepe, combined with white tulle, on which hand-embroidered flowers are introduced with charming effect. An inset of this tulle was put at the head of a bodice, which finished the skirt at the bottom. The same effect is used as a finish for the decollete bodice, threads of gold and touches of contrasting shades of velvet also being used. Agnes is responsible for an afternoon gown of charming design in gray chiffon combined with broadcloth of the same shade. Strappings are employed as the skirt trimming, and run to the sleeves, which are elbow length. A vest of silver fluff lace, with a touch of green velvet, combine to make a charming effect.

In blouses Elsie Pupa perhaps excels other modistes, and her combinations of silk and lace are marvels of beauty and daintiness.

A skeleton effect of cold-blue silk, filled in with tiny ruffles of German valenciennes and two patterns of French lace, is most attractive. A touch of Persian guimpe in Oriental shades of pale blue, rose pink, and gold adds a touch to the girlish and cuffs. Another beautiful waist is a jumper of white satin with lace motifs embroidered in pastel, in shades of pink, blue, and canary. The kimona-sleeve idea is carried out by a band of fine French lace in which the pattern was brought out in colored embroidery.

The most attractive evening gown was white, plaited in silver over blossom-pink satin combined with rose point lace, and finished around the neck with a spray of orchids, the petals of which were of silver gauze edged with pink panne velvet. This gown was finished at the waist with a girde of pink satin.

Handsome Evening Coats. The evening coats showed an endless variety of fabrics. The display includes an elaborate confection of Irish crocheted lace on fluff made over white satin with billows of white accordion-plated chiffon, the neck touched with apricot or other shades of satin, and a simple and faultless style of a plain kimona design lightened with a touch of gold passementerie and tassels. A sage-green model of satiny crepe, the soft folds draped to give the effect of empire sleeves, and a shallow yoke outlined with mink and Persian guimpe of dull rose on a background of gold is a charming coat.

An attractive afternoon gown of champagne chiffon, used for the formation of sleeves and as shoulder trimming. The vest was outlined with rows of small silk buttons resembling balls. Models from such well-known costumers as Francis, Doucet, Drecoll, Nicolas, and Maurice Meyer were much admired, and the opening day promised a successful season for the importers.

Celebration for Poet. Celebration of the birthday of Thomas Osborne Davis, the national poet of the Irish people, by the Gaelic League, of Washington, was held last evening at Carroll Institute. Mr. James Flynn presided and addressed the league in Irish. He referred to the antiquity of the Irish tongue and the effect of Irish literature on the civilization of the world. He sang with fine effect Mr. Patrick Murphy's song, "The Wearing of the Green," and "The Dawning of the Day" in Irish. Dr. Jeffrey C. O'Connell made an address in Irish and English.

Sent to St. Elizabeth's. Herman Gotz, who claims he is a detective and has several million dollars deposited in a bank somewhere, was sent to St. Elizabeth's Asylum yesterday, after an examination as to his mental condition.

Largest Morning Circulation. All advertising contracts made by The Washington Herald are based upon its sworn circulation—a circulation in Washington larger by thousands than was ever before attained by any morning newspaper at the Capital. Its books are open.

SYNAGOGUE TO BE REBUILT.

Church Will Immediately Repair $15,000 Fire Damage.

The synagogue of the Washington Hebrew Congregation, in Eighth street, between H and I streets northwest, which was damaged to the extent of about $15,000 yesterday morning, will be rebuilt immediately. It is thought that the crossing of two electric light wires were the origin of the blaze.

The fire was first seen by the occupants of the house at 811 Ninth street, who immediately rushed to the telephone and summoned No. 6 engine company. When the firemen arrived they found several other companies.

Within a half hour after the engines had reached the place the flames were under control. The rear end of the building sustained the heaviest damage, nearly every one of the five Bible class rooms being totally wrecked. In the smaller rooms, where the fire raged the fereest, the walls, furniture, and flooring were reduced to ashes.

Senior Rabbi Stern and Rev. Abram Simon officiating at the synagogue, stated that rebuilding would be commenced as soon as possible.

MEMORIAL SERVICES HELD.

Potomac Literary Club Honors the Memory of Its Dead. The Potomac Literary Club held its first meeting of the present year last night, at which officers for the coming year were elected, as follows: S. A. Terry, president; Col. E. B. Thompson, vice president; Miss Ina V. Hotchkiss, recording secretary; Frank Hoadley, corresponding secretary; Mrs. S. B. Boyce, treasurer; Horace M. Fulton, reporter; Silas Boyce, H. M. Fulton, Mrs. M. J. Arnold, Miss Katherine V. Johnson, and Miss Jennie Hudson, executive committee.

The principal feature of the evening was the memorial services, held in honor of deceased members of the club—Judge J. S. McCalmont, Gen. George W. Bullock, J. L. McCreery, and Rev. Fred A. Stern. Talks were made and papers read eulogizing each of the departed members.

After the memorial services vocal solos were rendered by Mr. Carlton Howard and Miss J. L. Harnsberger, followed by the serving of refreshments.
