Men's Clothing with Character

CLOTHING of marked individuality and character—studies in style that no man who gives thought to correct raiment can afford to miss.

Fabrics are in new weaves and color tones, and in a variety that includes styles to meet every good taste. Undressed worsteds, soft-finished cassimeres, and hard-twisted fabrics. Browns in variations are popular. Everywhere in the showing are shadow stripes and fancy weaves; checks—the conservative small check, medium checks, and—for the young man—the big, bold overplaid.

New cuff effects to the sleeves—the full rounded sleeve, widest at elbow, is finished at hand with curved seam; others with turn-back cuff. Coats have the loose, natural shoulder—good tailoring taking the place of heavy padding. Boxy and semi-fitting styles; long roll collars, rather wide lapels.

Vests with three, four, or five buttons. Some with only the two lower pockets. Flaps to vest pockets, also.

Fall and Winter Suits, $15.00 to $30.00.
Fall and Winter Overcoats, $15.00 to $35.00.

Two Specials in Men's Suits.

WE have secured and offer at a third less than the regular prices two lots of Men's New Fall and Winter Suits. They are all of this season's production and include brown, gray, and black grounds, with well-blended colored stripes and checks. They are cut in the most popular styles, and are well tailored and stylishly finished. A collection of smart suits suitable for dress, business, and general wear. A complete line of sizes.

$17.75 each. Value, $22.50.
$11.75 each. Value, $15.00.

Rich Black Dress Fabrics.

BLACK is, if possible, more fashionable than ever, and no wardrobe can be counted complete without at least one black gown. Manufacturers have done their best to add new beauty to the weaves selected for this season's favorites. The soft, sheer, graceful fabrics lead in popularity.

Special attention is called to the very broad assortment, now displayed from the leading manufacturers, including Lupin and Priestley, of which we show a very attractive assortment. Their productions are pre-eminently first in quality, weave, dye, and finish.

IN THE SOCIAL WORLD

Mrs. Clifford Richardson Is a Guest at White House.

HERR VON SCHUBERT AS HOST

Entertains at Dinner in Honor of Departing Colleague—Lieut. Davis to Wed Miss Colton—Stevens-Williston Marriage a Brilliant Event, Claflin-Payne Nuptials Solemnized.

The President and Mrs. Roosevelt are entertaining Mrs. Clifford Richardson, of New York, at the White House.

Herr von Schubert, of the German Embassy, was host last evening at his home in P street, at a dinner, complimentary to Maj. and Mrs. Korner, of the German Embassy, who will return to Germany the first part of next month.

Invited to meet them were Miss Langham, sister of the Baroness von Sternburg, the wife of the German Ambassador; Prince zu Lynar, and Herr von Radowitz, Maj. and Mrs. Korner will be entertained at luncheon to-day at the embassy by the Ambassador and the Baroness von Sternburg.

Herr von Radowitz, who has been assigned to Mexico, and will leave within a short time, went to New York late last night, but will return in a few days and will be the guest complimentary whom Herr von Schubert will entertain. Other farewell dinners will be given for this popular young secretary of the German Embassy.

The naval attaché of the German Embassy, Capt. and Mrs. Hebbinghaus, are expected to return to Washington to-day from their summer outing.

The Japanese Ambassador and the Viscountess Aoki will entertain at luncheon to-day at the embassy, and will give a dinner next week to celebrate the Japanese Emperor's birthday anniversary.

Senator and Mrs. Scott have returned for the season, and are at the New Willard Hotel.

Mrs. James Pinchot, who spent the summer abroad, most of it with her daughter, the Hon. Lady Johnstone, wife of the British Minister to Denmark, has returned to this country, and is at Simsbury, Conn. She will come to Washington next Saturday and open her house in Scott Circle.

Col. Francis Colton sent out yesterday cards for the marriage of his daughter, Miss Daisy Colton, and Lieut. Commander Archibald H. Davis, U. S. N. The wedding will take place at noon, in St. John's Church, November 29.

It will be a military wedding, and several hundred invitations have been issued. Miss Colton is one of the most popular girls of the Capital's smart set, and has for several years acted as hostess for her father. They have entertained frequently, and the young mistress of the home has the reputation of being graceful and dignified. Miss Colton is the most intimate friend of Miss Louise Forsaker, youngest daughter of Senator and Mrs. Forsaker, and both girls have a reputation for charm of manner and sweetness of character.

Miss Marjory Colton, the younger daughter, who has been traveling with the Secretary of War and Mrs. Taft, writes home of the charming and interesting time she is having. She is now in Manila, and will spend the winter there with her brother, Col. George Colton, returning to Washington in the spring.

Col. Albert B. Hilton, of New York, son of the late Judge Henry B. Hilton, and his bride, who was Mrs. Katherine Carroll Trego, formerly of Baltimore and Washington, are here on their honeymoon. They are at the New Willard Hotel. They were married at St. Thomas' Church, in Fifth avenue, October 28.

Miss Sydney A. Stevens, daughter of Mrs. Sydney A. Stevens, formerly of Chicago, was married yesterday afternoon to Mr. Harry Edwards Williston, of Northampton, Mass. The ceremony took place at 4 o'clock at the residence of the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Walcott, 173 Twenty-second street. Rev. Dr. Egleston, of Baltimore, was the officiating clergyman. Flowers decorated the rooms and hallways of the house, the color scheme in the library, where the service was read at an improvised altar, being carried out in an artistic arrangement of white chrysanthemums and palms. In the drawing-room, masses of pink roses banked the mantle, and were placed about the room against a background of palms and ferns.

Mr. Sydney Bressé Stevens escorted his sister to the altar, where the service was read, and her hand was given in marriage by her older brother, Mr. Holmes Stevens, of Rochester, N. Y. Miss Helen Walcott, a young niece of the bride, acted as her maid of honor, and Mr. Stewart Walcott, nephew of the bride, and Mr. Newell Garfield, son of the Secretary of the Interior and Mrs. Garfield, as ribbon bearers, formed an aisle of white ribbon, through which the bride party passed.

The wedding gown was of heavy white satin, fashioned on empire lines, and trimmed with rose point lace and point applique. A full tulle veil fell gracefully to the trained skirt, and the wedding bouquet was a shower of lilies of the valley and white violets. In lieu of the conventional wreath of orange blossoms, a coronet of lilies of the valley caught the wedding veil. The maid of honor wore a dainty gown of white radium silk, over pink, and carried an armful of pink carnations. A special feature of the wedding was the programme of music which was given under the direction of Mr. Robert Stearns, who arranged several of the bride's favorite compositions for string quartet.

Before the ceremony they played "March Militaire," Schubert; "Praeludium," by "Meistersinger," Wagner; "Calm As the Night," Bohm; "Narcissus," Nevin, and "Abendstern," from "Tannhauser."

For the entrance of the bride party they played a "Pompance March" from "Meistersinger," Wagner.

Selections from "The Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin," and "Hearts and Flowers" were played during the ceremony.

Mr. L. E. Underwood, of Lynn, Mass., acted as best man for Mr. Williston and the ushers were Lieut. Amos Bronson, U. S. N., and Mr. Hawley Ward, of Rochester, N. Y.

Mrs. Garfield, wife of the Secretary of the Interior, and Mrs. Huntington Wilson, wife of the third assistant secretary of state, assisted at the reception, which followed the ceremony.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Holmes Bressé Stevens, of Rochester, N. Y., brother and sister-in-law of the bride; Mrs. Helen Bressé Sanford, of Oneida, N. Y., an aunt of the bride; Lieut. and Mrs. Amos Bronson, of Annapolis, Md., and Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Davidson, of Richmond, Va.

Later in the afternoon Mr. Williston and his bride left for a Northern bridal trip. The bride's traveling costume was a tailored costume of Copenhagen blue and fancy corduroy and tulle, trimmed with plumes. After November 15 they will be at home at 24 Ocean avenue, West Lynn, Mass.

CORNER STONE LAID

Crowd Attends Ceremony at New Bethany Chapel.

MASONIC RITUAL FOLLOWED

Ministers and Men of Prominence Contribute to Service—Congregation Plans to Eventually Erect a Larger Church, Dedicating Present Building to the Young Folk.

With the usual Masonic ceremony, the corner stone of the new Bethany Chapel, at Second street and Rhode Island avenue northwest, was laid yesterday afternoon in the presence of several hundred spectators.

The ritual was under the direction of the grand master of the District of Columbia Grand Lodge, J. F. Woodman. S. W. Woodward presided over the meeting, which was opened with a cornet solo by Miss Grace Beelman. Rev. White-bigger delivered the invocation, and a Bible reading, from the second chapter of the Ephesians, by Rev. J. C. Ball, followed. The divine blessing was asked by Rev. E. H. Swen, and the principal address was delivered by Rev. J. J. Muir, D. D.

The theme of his address was that people of the present day must not get the notion that the idea of God is an antiquated one, fit only to be relegated to museums, but that it is as ever present to-day as it always has been, and that the religion that means something is not the free religion, but that which costs something in sacrifice. Then the Masonic ritual was gone through with by the grand officers, who laid the stone, and as operatives from the time of Solomon, proved it true and trusty.

In the stone when it was placed was an autograph photograph of President Roosevelt; a silver quarter of the 1906 coinage, from Secretary of the Treasury Cortelyou; a half dollar of 1907 coinage from Comptroller Tracewell, of the Treasury; a copy of "Roger Williams, the Pioneer of Religious Liberty," by Secretary of Agriculture, J. C. Ball, and a copy of the "Journal of Luther Rice, the Pioneer of the denomination," presented by William Allen Wilbur, of the Columbia University Theological School, Gov. Hughes, president of the Northern convention of the church, presented a Bible, and Dr. Strong, president of the American convention, gave a copy of the "Denominational Outlook." There were also parts of the records of Brown and Colgate universities, the oldest of their denomination in the country.

The building, which is not a large one, is expected to fill the needs of the congregation only until a larger one can be built, when this one will be used as a sort of Young Men's Christian Association for the youth of the neighborhood, into which some 15,000 persons have moved in the last five years.

The movement which resulted in the location of the church was the result of the activity of John E. Dawson and his associates, who finally instituted operations three years ago November 4, next. At that time it had a membership of fifty-two. Now it is 138.

The pastor is Rev. Hugh T. Stevenson, who came here from Colgate University, and who also has done much toward the building up of the congregation. He came to Washington from Hamilton, N. Y., about two years ago.

GRANT MEMORIAL SITE.

Don't Interfere with Magnificent Plan.

After the hostile criticism by certain Washington papers of the site selected for the proposed Grant monument, and also of the entire Mall scheme, it is with great satisfaction that I read your editorial in to-day's Herald and also "the other side," as presented by Mr. Flournoy and others in your news columns.

Allowing for all differences of opinion as to the question of beauty, it is difficult to understand how, after a careful and unprejudiced examination of the plans of the Parking Commission, the common sense of its proposed scheme can be overlooked. That our proudest public building, our Capitol, placed on a hill and typifying our representative form of government, should be seen, and seen to its greatest advantage from all points, would seem to appeal both to sentiment and to common sense.

When we consider that the scheme presented by this commission of eminent men (be said commission politically "born out of wedlock," a "cuckoo's egg," or what you will) contemplates a broad carpet of grass a mile and a quarter long, flanked by well-kept streets, flanked by wide borders of trees, these in turn bordered by shady walks and drives, with here and there a fountain, we think that at least a certain sort of beauty may also be promised, though the plans are not based on Hogarth's "line of beauty," nor upon the pothooks and hangers of our infancy.

It is beyond belief that such a scheme should be balked by a few trees planted from time to time by well-meaning persons, who wished to leave a pleasant memory behind them, certainly not a grove of white elephants to prevent a coming generation from realizing its best ideals. Save the trees if possible, but if they have not the vital force to adapt themselves to new conditions, let them go the way of all obstructionists and be replaced by new and healthier timber as have other things of decay association.

The Grant Monument placed at the foot of the Capitol, approached by the broad, green sward dominated to the West by the shaft to Washington, will be in every way appropriate to the national character of our great military hero. Its emplacement here will be a step and a long step in the right direction. Let us hope that no doubtful sentiment will rob our city of such an adornment, nor of such an argument for the final triumph of a great plan which is but the logical working out of a great conception, the dream of Washington himself.

NEW MACHINE RECORDS VOICE.

Will Receive and Give All Telephone Communications.

A Wonderful Invention, Complete and Ready to Put on the Market, is on Exhibition at Room 507 of the Metropolitan National Bank Building.

It is called the telegraphone, and is the invention of Valdemir Paulsen, of Denmark.

The machine is a combination of the telephone and the phonograph, only the phonograph principle is entirely new. The record, instead of being tangibly made by the impression of a needle on wax, is made by means of magnetism on steel.

The vibrations of speech, which, traveling over a wire and reproduced in a receiver, and which make the telephone possible, are in this case exempt and held on to a steel plate by magnetism.

It is the discovery of the possibility of the localization of magnetism which made this possible. The result is that the phonographic record is not on the surface of the plate, but is a part of it, not to be eradicated even with a file. Once made, all that is necessary is that a conductor of electricity pass over the plate and the vibrations which were reproduced. The voice, thus heard, has much more the human quality than in the phonograph. Every shade of expression, each note of feeling is reproduced. However faint is the message, the record is to speak another message on top of it. The last message wipes out, as it were, the first one and records itself in the vacant place.

The distance at which this machine may be successfully operated is limited only by the same limitations that affect the telephone. Attached to the telephone, it is possible, with this machine, that when a man is out of his office, those calling him up may leave their message, speaking it into the 'phone just as if he were present. When the man comes back he can pick up his receiver and hear one or a dozen messages that may have been left during his absence.

THOUSANDS SEE FLOWERS.

Chrysanthemum Display Attracts Many Visitors.

More than 2,000 visitors attended the opening of the chrysanthemum show yesterday, at the government propagating gardens, south of the Washington Monument. This exhibit, in connection with the display of chrysanthemums by the Department of Agriculture, is the largest and most perfect collection of this type of flower ever shown in this country.

Both greenhouses are open to visitors from 9 o'clock in the morning until 5:30 o'clock in the evening, and the display will continue for another week.

The date for the naming of the new products has not yet been decided, but it is thought the committee in charge will take action Saturday.

An unusual number of visitors is expected at the propagating gardens tomorrow, that being the day designated for the reception of many notables, among whom are several persons who have chrysanthemums named for them.
