

CLIPS TWO HOURS OFF OCEAN RECORD

Lusitania Lowers Mark Set on Her Last Trip.

BRINGING TEN MILLIONS

Record Cargo of Gold to Aid New York Banks.

Average Speed Nearly a Half Knot an Hour Faster Than on Previous Trip—Runs for Four Days Were 606, 616, 618, and 610 Knots—Best Day's Run Being One Knot Above Previous Record of the Giant Ship.

New York, Nov. 8.—The mammoth turbine Cunarder Lusitania got to Sandy Hook lightship, which marks the finish to the race from Daunt's Rock, at 1:23 o'clock this morning.

Fire Island caught first view of the Lusitania at 11:35. The big ship passed Fire Island at 12:11 and at 1:19 came into the field of vision of the observers at Sandy Hook.

New York, Nov. 7.—The Cunarder Lusitania, which passed Fire Island at 11:35 to-night, and was due to arrive at Sandy Hook lightship, which marks the finish of the race from Daunt's Rock, at about 12:35 o'clock to-morrow morning, will clip two hours off the record which she holds herself. The time is likely to be about 4 days and 18 hours, perhaps a few minutes less.

Her former record, which was made on the trip ended Friday, October 11, was 4 days 19 hours and 52 minutes. Her average speed on that trip was 23.99 knots per hour. On the present trip the hourly average of the giant turbine will probably be somewhat more than 24.40 knots.

She will come up to her dock in ample time to land early in the morning for the relief of the financial market her $10,000,000 in gold coin and bars consigned to various banking firms and institutions in this city. This is the largest amount of gold ever carried on one ship.

Wireless from Captain. This message was received from Capt. Watts, of the Lusitania, by way of the wireless station at Nantucket by Vernon H. Brown, general agent of the Cunard Line at this port.

"Lusitania 209 miles east of Sandy Hook lightship at 11 a. m. to-day. Day's run, 510 knots. Hope to arrive at Sandy Hook lightship at midnight."

The figures attainable through the wireless messages of the Lusitania's trip indicate that she has covered about 2,784 miles since she passed Daunt's Rock, off Queenstown, bound for this port, at 11:30 o'clock on Sunday morning.

At the end of the first nautical day, that is, at noon on Monday, she had logged 696 nautical miles; on the sun day ending at noon on Tuesday she had traveled 616 miles. During the next nautical day she sailed, achieving her best previous day's performance, the tallest on record, by two knots, covering 618 miles. To-day, as the captain telegraphed, she had made 610 knots.

Assuming that she made 25 miles between 11 o'clock this morning and the end of the sun day, she should have gone about 2,784 miles. This is three miles more than she covered on her last trip to Sandy Hook, when her time was 4 days, 19 hours and 52 minutes, and her average speed was 23.99 knots per hour.

Closely Watch Results. Great interest exists among the passengers on board, according to wireless reports, as to what the liner will accomplish, and a great variety of wagers are made as to the daily and hourly runs of the vessel. So frequent are the inquiries regarding the liner's progress that bulletins are hung up outside the purser's office every hour giving the figures.

Among the passengers are Mrs. Patrick Campbell and Miss J. M. Marlowe, Mrs. Campbell is, of course, patriotically infused with enthusiasm over the vessel's work, and is reported to have declared that she will donate $500 to be distributed among the stokers if the vessel arrives before midnight.

A concert was given aboard the vessel last night at which Ambassador Hengemuller, Minister from Austria-Hungary to the United States, presided. The affair was a great success, and an unusual feature of the performance was the rendition of the "Merchandise of Venice" by Mrs. Campbell and Miss Marlowe.

Besides records the big Cunarder brings gold to the amount of $10,000,000 expected to further aid in alleviating the financial straits of the New York banks. This consignment of metal will be distributed among various banking institutions of this and other cities. According to expectations the gold should be available to-morrow.

There is a great demand for passages to the inspection of the Lusitania to be held on Wednesday. Applications for these passages began to be received ten days ago and have come in such volume as to interfere with the clerical work at the Cunard offices.

Mauretania Still Faster. Although the Lusitania is the swiftest vessel that ever came over the western ocean, it is expected that the Mauretania, her sister ship, will be still faster. The completion of a 1,200-mile run by the Mauretania at an average speed of 26.02 knots is looked upon as very remarkable for a trial performance. It is pointed out that this distance is almost half way across the Atlantic, and that if maintained on a trans-Atlantic voyage would result in establishing a record of less than four and a half days.

Among the Lusitania's passengers are Baron Hengemuller, the Austrian Ambassador to Washington; Mrs. Theodore Seligman, who brings the body of her husband, and is accompanied by her father and her mother, Mrs. D. L. Einstein and her sister, Miss Einstein; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Stoeckel, James B. Reynolds, assistant secretary of the Treasury; Marion de Vries and Byron S. Waite, of the American commission that has been looking into tariff regulation in Europe.

NEWLY WEDDED COUPLE DIE.

Gas Blown Out or Accidentally Turned on in Their Room.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Nov. 7.—The bodies of Mrs. Eliza Nugent and Michael Cantlin, of this city, an aged couple, who were married last night, were found dead in their room at the Hotel Wells to-day. They had been suffocated by escaping illuminating gas, having either blown it out or else accidentally turned it on.

They reached the hotel about midnight, after having spent a jolly evening with friends, and left word to be called at noon to-day. As they did not respond at the time, the door was broken down. They had been dead some time. The groom was sixty-five years old and the bride sixty.

BANDITS TERRORIZE TOWN.

Shoot Up South Dakota Residences and Loot Bank.

Canova, S. D., Nov. 7.—Seven armed bandits held up the town at an early hour to-day. They blew open the safe in the Interstate Bank, and secured $5,500, escaping without leaving the slightest clue. While two bandits were working at the bank, the others guarded the alleys and streets.

The occupants of a hotel across the street were aroused by the explosion, but the robbers opened fire and drove them back, threatening to kill the first one who appeared. The hotel was riddled with bullets.

Where lights were burning in homes, the bandits, at the point of the gun, forced the owners to extinguish them. The town is terror-stricken.

ANNA HELD IS ILL.

Actress Unconscious in Dressing-room of Philadelphia Theater.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 7.—The curtain went up for the second act of "The Parisian Model," in the Chestnut Street Opera House here to-night, but came down again quickly when it was learned that Anna Held, who takes the chief part in the play, had been found unconscious in her dressing-room. The audience was dismissed.

The actress was taken to the Majestic Hotel, at Broad and Girard streets, and later in the evening it was announced that she was getting along nicely. It was said that a cold, in addition to a slight illness the past week, had weakened her greatly. A brief rest is expected to do her a great deal of good.

WANTS MARRIAGE ANNULLED.

Countess Castle-Mendoza May Appeal to the Pope.

Rome, Nov. 7.—Countess Castle-Mendoza, formerly Miss Edith Van Buren, is likely to request the Pope to annul her marriage on the ground that it is void owing to the mistaken identity of her husband, who, it has been discovered, is a noted bad character of Naples and a member of the Camorra.

He is wanted by the police. The request, it is said, has not yet been submitted to the Vatican, but opposition is unlikely to a declaration of annulment, which will facilitate a similar pronouncement by the civil courts.

STRIKES AT POSTMASTERS

New York Reform League Says Many Breed Corruption.

Demands that They Come Under Civil Service Laws—Praise for Roosevelt.

Buffalo, Nov. 7.—Politicians were named and their alleged misdeeds recounted in a report of the State Council of the National Civil Service Reform League, read at a session of the league held to-day at the Iroquois Hotel. Richard Henry Dana read the report, in the absence of Dr. Daniel C. Gilman, president of the league, who is ill.

After referring to civil service rules relating to political activity on the part of Federal employees, the report called attention to President Roosevelt's request for the resignation, last April, of Archie Sanders, collector of internal revenue at Rochester, because of his political activity against Gov. Hughes.

"It is rumored," said the report, "that Mr. Sanders is still allowing his political activities to interfere with his official duties, and if this proves to be the case, his removal is most desirable." The report commended President Roosevelt for promoting the assistant postmaster of New York to the postmastership, and suggested that postmasters be placed under civil service rules.

"With such a system," said the report, "we could kill several unsavory birds with one stone. Some of these unsavory birds are putting inexperience at the helm, making post-offices and custom-houses political headquarters, forcing subordinate officials to make political assessments on their salaries, and making the civil service department of any civilized country in the world."

At the evening meeting of the league the chief guests were Gov. Hughes and Attorney General Bonaparte. The latter preceded the governor with a brief speech. Gov. Hughes spoke as follows: "We are a government of laws and not of men, and most important it is that we should not lose sight of that fact. The government depends upon principle, upon the will of the people as prescribed in the fundamental law, and in legislation enacted according to popular desire, and does not depend upon the wish or caprice of individuals."

"Fundamentally, we need two things: First, the untrammelled expression of the people in the choice of their officers who administer, and in the choice of their legislators who make their laws. But we want no perversion of our party or political machinery, so as to set up obstacles in the way of that freedom of choice by the people, which we want, men they want and the laws they want."

"And the second thing is efficiency—the highest degree of efficiency in the management of the business of the State. If you have those two things, then you have true Democratic government."

NO ONE-MAN POWER

Henry Watterson Writes of Defeat in Kentucky.

PROHIBITION ALSO A FACTOR

Beckham's Ambition Held Responsible for Democratic Disaster in Kentucky—Effort to Incorporate Sumptuary Laws in Statutes Held Up as Folly—Issues Warning.

Special to The Washington Herald. Louisville, Ky., Nov. 7.—Mr. Henry Watterson, to whose silence during the campaign just closed is attributed by many of the defeated candidates the downfall of the Democratic party in Kentucky, will make a stinging reply in the Courier-Journal to-morrow morning.

He will point out some defects in the party in this State. Mr. Watterson attributes the defeat to the one-man power of Gov. Beckham, and to the prohibition plank in the platform. He will say, in part: "To your tents, O Israel!"

"If we were asked to put in a single sentence the cause of Democratic disaster in Kentucky we should answer: 'The one-man power.' The one-man power established by William Goebel descended to John Chopps Wildfire Beckham. No Machine Wanted.

"Always a precarious possession, it became perilous, and finally deadly in the hands of an ambitious, unsparring organizer, sacrificing every body and everything—the ethics and practice of just government along with the principles of Democracy—to the single purpose of building a self-perpetuating machine, like that of the Camerons, and thereafter of Quay, in Pennsylvania.

"But the Blue Grass State is not as the Keystone State. The true Kentuckian bows his head to no man's yoke. Kentucky was about to rebel against the immortal Clay when the Sage of Ashland died. What Clay could not do, what Guthrie could not do, lay not beneath the competency of a successor of far inferior talent.

"At the last moment, the day might have been saved if the Democratic ticket had said, as indeed to all intents and purposes the Republican ticket did say, prohibition does not prohibit.

Efforts Must Fail. "Nowhere has it resulted in anything but evasion and hypocrisy, adulation, and outlawry, smuggling and extortion. "What shall it profit us if we confiscate one hundred millions of yielding property and a hundred years of productive trade mark, hundreds of millions of contiguous values, transferring two or three millions of taxes from the manufacturer and distributor of distilled malt liquors to the shoulders of the already overburdened farmer, merely in order to make Kentucky as dry as Maine, which is not dry at all?"

"There could be no answer to this. It is not only true in itself, but it is true Democracy. Fancy a Democratic ticket preaching sumptuary laws in the State and a Democratic ticket preaching no law at all in the city.

"How was it possible for victory to emanate from such an abandonment of sound policies, such moral confusion, and political tergiversation?"

BLAST WRECKS $225,000 PLANT.

Mysterious Explosion in Indiana Hurts Men Into Air.

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 7.—The $225,000 plant of the Indiana Cressington Company, including a 100,000-gallon tank, was wrecked by a mysterious explosion to-day.

Superintendent Dickson and an employe were blown twenty-five feet into the air, and fell forty feet away on the tracks of the Monon Railroad. Both are seriously injured.

SANTA FE FINED $330,000.

Company Convicted on Sixty-six Counts of Granting Rebates.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 7.—In the United States District Court to-day Judge Olin Wellborn fined the Santa Fe railroad $330,000 for rebating.

The company was convicted on sixty-six counts of granting rebates to the Grand Canyon Lime and Cement Company on shipments of freight from Nelson, Ariz., to Los Angeles. The fine is $5,000 on each of the sixty-six counts.

The judge declared the fine was "an intermediate penalty," as the law imposed a maximum fine of $1,500,000 and a minimum of $50,000.

The jury found the Santa Fe guilty on all the counts after only one hour's deliberation. The rebates ranged in amount from 25 cents to 15%. The railroad's defense was that these payments were in settlement of claims for damages to goods shipped.

The judge imposed the fine of $5,000 on each count. E. W. Camp, for the Santa Fe, asked for a stay of judgment until January 1 to prepare a bill of exceptions, but on objection of the district attorney, the judge fixed thirty days.

ALABAMA SOLONS IN SESSION

Gov. Comer's Message Demands Laws Against the Railroads.

President Smith, of the Louisville and Nashville, Severely Censured for His Action.

Montgomery, Ala., Nov. 7.—The extra session of the legislature, called by Gov. Comer, to take up the question of further regulating the railroads, convened to-day, and the governor's message was read.

The governor says it is only a question whether the State shall control the railroads or the railroads control the State. "The influence of the railroads on politics and policies in Alabama in the past," says the governor, "we all know has been great and debauching, and the railroads have not hesitated as to the methods used in carrying out their policies.

"This influence has brought us face to face with the conditions as they exist in our State to-day, which makes it your duty to fashion the laws in such a manner as to change the conditions and remedy the evils resulting therefrom."

The governor is severe in his censure of President Milton H. Smith, of the Louisville and Nashville, for holding out against the laws of the State, while other roads had decided to give them a trial. The bills which the governor wants passed are drawn by the State's attorneys.

Many prohibition bills were read, and the indications are that Alabama will be voted dry.

LAW AFTER BANKERS

Government Plans Prosecution of Financiers.

INSPECTORS FIND FRAUDS

Treasury Examiners Reveal Startling Conditions in National Banks, and Are Compiling Incriminating Evidence Against Culprits Whom They Have Completely Enmeshed.

New York, Nov. 8.—The Work to-day publishes the following: "When national bank troubles were most acute, it was stated on high authority from Washington, that the government would closely examine into the affairs of financial institutions over which national supervision extended, for the purpose of fixing any criminal responsibility, should there be any such shown on the books of the institutions."

"That investigation has been rigidly pursued, and, as the result, the government bank examiners have unearthed violations of the national banking laws of serious character.

"Three of the best Treasury agents have been at work night and day, and have been in constant communication with the United States district attorney. Their work is finished only in part, but their conclusions are sensational.

Criminal Prosecutions. "As a result of the findings of these inspectors, the government has definitely determined to prosecute criminally one man who, until a recent date, was closely connected with a national bank, and the measure of his guilt and the character of the indictment to be returned against him have been fixed.

"Another financier of the Napoleonic kind, has been caught in the meshes of the Treasury Department's criminal net. This man is even better known than the first one, against whom prosecution will be instituted within a few days.

"Upon the highest authority, it is learned that the government case against these two men is founded upon conclusive evidence, and their arrest, which will be made very soon, will be followed by a prosecution, certain in the belief of the United States district attorney and Treasury officials to result in convictions."

SPENDING BURTON MONEY.

Johnstonites Relieve Market with Cash Won on Election.

Cleveland, Nov. 7.—The local money market to-day felt the effect of Tuesday's majority election, when half a million dollars that changed hands began to circulate. Much of this money has been the up of the campaign, the odds were 50 to 100 on Burton, and later they fell to 60 to 100. The night before election in the four downtown wards alone $200,000 was wagered and the balance in the outlying wards. Toward the end of the campaign the betting sagged as the Burton people seemed to have all their cash up. The result was that cash was rendered scarce.

PORT WINS BY 7,357.

New Jersey Legislature Republican on Joint Ballot by 27.

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 7.—Full returns give New Jersey's vote for governor as follows: Fort, 18,939; Katzenbach, 11,573. Fort's plurality, 7,367. Katzenbach's plurality in Hudson county was 6,722. He carried thirteen counties in the State. Fort carried thirteen counties, Camden by 6,771. Essex went 28 for Katzenbach.

In Jersey City Wittmann, for mayor, had 9,234 plurality over Mark Fagan. Katzenbach carried his home county, Mercer, by 706 plurality. "The Republicans lose one State senator, Shinn, in Ocean county, but have a majority of twenty-seven on joint ballot in the legislature. The lower house stands: Republicans, 49; Democrats, 29. The senate will be: Republicans, 14; Democrats, 7.

OFFICER ON OLYMPIA HELD.

Prisoner at Pittsburgh Says He Was in Battle of Manila.

Pittsburgh, Nov. 7.—From a position on the bridge of Admiral Dewey's flagship Olympia, in the battle of Manila, to a cell in a police station is the fall of Paul Kelley, a young salesman, according to a story he told the police to-day upon his arrest on a charge of forging a check for $22.50.

Kelley claims to have been a lieutenant in the navy and attached to the Olympia before being retired for disability, after the famous sea fight in the Philippines, and says he is a son of John F. Kelley, once United States district attorney at St. Paul, Minn.

Kelley had been working in a local department store since leaving the navy. He was arrested to-day after he had secured a $20 overcoat on the $22.50 check. It was charged, and then sold the overcoat. Kelley says he acquired a drug habit through being treated with the stuff while disabled in the navy.

KAISER REVIEWS TROOPS.

No Trace of Weakness in Voice—Socialists Plan Demonstration.

Berlin, Nov. 7.—Notwithstanding the fact that the mercury registered 31 degrees to-day, Emperor William attended the swearing-in of the recruits of the Guards Corps. He rode past each battalion, shouting in a resonant voice, "Good morning, guards." There was not a trace of weakness in his tones, which seems to disprove the reports that he is suffering with his throat.

London, Nov. 7.—The Socialists do not conceal their intention to make a demonstration against the Kaiser when he officially visits London next Wednesday. One of their leaders says that the Emperor's progress through the city will be anything but triumphal. He does not disclose how the disapproval of the Socialists will be expressed, but declares that his majesty will not be received with cheers, adding: "Of course, nothing improper will be done."

CHEERS DIXIE, ARRESTED.

Yale Student Released in Police Court and Judge is Cheered.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 7.—A hundred or more Yale men who crowded the police court for hours to-day gave Judge Tyler a vigorous Yale cheer when he discharged John H. Noel, a law school freshman and football player, who was before the court for creating a disturbance at the New Haven theater.

Noel, who played guard on the Vanderbilt University football team last year, and who is in training with the Yale freshmen squad this year, had a broken nose and a badly battered face as a result of his encounter in the theater with Patrolman Bright, who arrested him.

According to the story of the students and several other witnesses, Noel's disturbance consisted of giving a Southern yell of approval when Dixie was sung by some of the actors.

WEDDING WILL NOT OCCUR

Justin Percival, Unfortunate in Wall Street, Loses Bride-to-be.

Mrs. Virginia Howe Admits Engagement, but Says It's All Over Now.

Chicago, Nov. 7.—Mrs. Virginia Peyton Knight Howe, a Virginia society belle, who left New York mysteriously a day after she was divorced from her husband and an hour before it was said she was to have become the bride of Justin Percival, was found in Chicago to-day at the quarters of the Young Woman's Christian Association. She had left New York without notification to her family, and without the knowledge of the man who was at the moment dressing for the wedding.

"Run away," she said. "No, I did not run away. I simply came to Chicago, and my purpose is to do newspaper work."

"Were you engaged to marry Mr. Percival the day after your divorce suit?" "Yes," she admitted; "but that is over. There will be no wedding."

"Why did you leave just on your wedding day?" "Well, he was unfortunate on Wall Street. I will leave you to guess whether there was a reason. Anyway, the date never will be set now. I am here to work."

"Do you know he is on his way to Chicago in search of you?" "No, but if he comes I shall be perfectly willing to see him."

John Percival was divorced from Mrs. Maria Louise Percival, of a distinguished Georgia family, in the early part of the October term of court at Jacksonville, Fla., and at the Jacksonville Exposition he met Mrs. Howe, whose divorce from J. Wilson Howe, a nephew of President Wilson, of Princeton University, was pending. They had been sweethearts in their school days and then had drifted apart and married. Now they had met again, when both were about to be free, and married again.

WILL ELIMINATE THE NEGRO VOTE

Democrats Pledged to Press Disfranchisement.

GAINS FOR CROTHERS

Entire State Ticket Elected by Safe Majorities.

Ex-Gov. Smith, Commenting on Results, Says People Were Promised a Clean, Honest, and Efficient Administration, and Party Should Live Up to Promises—Victory Indicates People's Faith in Democracy.

Special to The Washington Herald. Baltimore, Md., Nov. 7.—Democratic leaders are already discussing plans for eliminating the negro vote, and there is but little doubt that one of the fruits of Tuesday's Democratic victory will be the disfranchising of the colored man.

While defeating the call for a constitutional convention, the Democrats elected a three-fifths Democratic majority of the house of delegates and added enough senators to Democratic holdovers to constitute a three-fifths Democratic majority in the next Senate.

Will Pass Amendment. These majorities in the two houses mean that the Democrats have the power, under the constitution, to pass a disfranchising amendment to be submitted to the people two years hence, and as they are committed to such a proposition by their last State platform, there is no doubt that they will proceed to pass an amendment for submission to voters two years hence.

The Democratic leaders acknowledge that they will pursue this policy. At the same time they claim that they will eliminate from the proposition objectionable points in the Poe plan, which, in part, caused its defeat two years ago.

Under the constitution of the State a three-fifths majority of the senate and house of delegates is necessary to pass an amendment for submission to the people. In the house this majority is 56. According to a decision of the Court of Appeals, the signature of the governor will not be necessary to the amendment, if passed. It is safe to say, however, that Governor-elect Crothers will sign it.

Attorney-elect Isaac Lobe Straus is now at work on an amendment, which will eliminate the ignorant negro, but reserve the right of franchises to the intelligent and thrifty colored man.

Crothers' Majority Grows. Forty-eight hours after the closing of the voting places in the State of Maryland, there remains a doubt only as to the majorities received by the Democratic candidates for State offices, as returns now indicate the election of the entire State ticket by majorities ranging from 5,900 to 5,900, the last being the lead accorded to Governor-elect Crothers over his Republican opponent.

In the next legislature the Democrats will have 17 senators and 74 house members, while the Republicans will have 9 senators and 27 members of the house. This will give the dominant party a clear working majority of 55 on joint ballot.

To this majority may be added the one fusion senator, Greenwell, of St. Mary, who can be counted on to vote with the Democrats on most issues.

In the Democratic Senatorial caucus John Walter Smith will have a majority of 22 over both of his opponents—Gov. Warfield and Congressman Talbott.

Smith Comments on Results. In commenting on the result of the election, ex-Gov. J. Walter Smith said: "Personally I am very much gratified at my own election and at the support given me by loyal friends throughout the State. The victory achieved was a glorious one, and is a practical indication that the people of Maryland believe in the Democratic party."

"Our party has been successful at the polls, and in order to assure a continuation of Democratic rule, the party must administer the affairs of the State in the interest of the people of the State. Such a course will be best for the people and best for the party."

"In canvassing the State the Democratic orators promised the people to give them a clean, honest, and efficient administration. Our party has this trust, and should live up to it. Certain definite promises were made in the party platform. Every one of them should be faithfully carried out. If the party stands with the people and for the people, it can expect the support and co-operation of the people."

RAY LEADS IN PRINCE GEORGE.

Democrats Won County Offices, with Crothers Far Behind.

Special to The Washington Herald. Upper Marlboro, Md., Nov. 7.—A peculiar feature of the election in Prince George County is that while Gaither carried the county over Crothers (Dem.) by a majority of thirty-six, the entire Democratic county ticket was elected by majorities ranging from 31 to 507.

Delegate-elect Ray led the county and legislative ticket, having a majority of 191 over his Republican opponent. Mr. Ray has already served two terms in the House of Delegates, and it is pretty certain that he will be the next Democratic candidate from the Fifth Maryland district for Congress.

The closest race was that between Bond (Rep.) and Duckett (Dem.) for the legislature, the former winning by the small majority of nine votes.
