IN THE SOCIAL WORLD

Italian Embassy Observes Emmanuel's Birthday.

THE NEW RUSSIAN ATTACHE
Moucheurs Will Re-enter Society and Lavishly Entertain—Many of Gotham's Social Set Seeking Winter Homes in the Capital City. Many Events for Near Dates.

The natal day of Italy's King was celebrated at the embassy, in New Hampshire avenue, yesterday by the hoisting of the flag, the national colors waving over the handsome mansion all day. No other mark of the occasion was observed, however, as the Ambassador, Baron Mayor des Planches, has not yet returned from his leave of absence, and will not arrive, according to the Baroness Mayor, who is coming back after two years' absence in Italy.

Though no formal entertaining marked the day, the general charge d'affaires of the embassy, Signor Montagna, and his colleagues, Signors Sentaro and Cora, made merry at their family dinner, drinking the King's health and good luck to the new heir which is to be born to the King and Queen of Italy within the month.

They already have three children, two daughters, the Princesses Iolanda and Malfrida, and a son three years of age, Humbert, Prince of Piedmont, who is named for his grandfather, the late King Humbert.

Of course all Italy is hoping that the little stranger so soon to arrive will be another son and heir, and toasts to the future prince were drunk by the King's loyal subjects in this country.

A party of relatives and friends who are in Washington to be present this evening at the wedding of Mrs. Mae Hamilton Wilson and Mr. Henry Spencer Powell were entertained by Mr. Powell at dinner last night at the Highlands. Covers were laid for sixteen, and the table was attractively decorated with chrysanthemums in blended tones of pink and red. The guests, beside Mrs. Wilson and her house guest, Mr. George Baume, of Montana, included Mrs. R. G. Powell, of New Orleans; Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Powell, of New York; Mrs. J. M. Anderson, of Cincinnati; Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Powell, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. James Berrall, of this city; Mr. Edward Berrall, of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Mr. T. C. Powell and Mr. W. B. Powell, of Cincinnati.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel W. Woodward, of Washington, D. C., have been entertaining a large house party at Eden Hill, Stockbridge.

Mrs. C. McNaughton and Miss Marie McNaughton, of 132 New Hampshire avenue, entertained at dinner last evening in honor of Mrs. J. W. Jones, who is visiting her son, Lieut. Clarence N. Jones, who is stationed at Fort Myer. The table was decorated with flags and flowers. Among the invited guests were: Mrs. A. C. McKelden, Miss Lucy Paige Stelle, Miss Helen Jones, the Misses McKelden, and Miss Clara Graesen. A musical evening followed, when other guests were entertained.

The Belgian Minister and Baroness Moncheur are expected at the legation in 1 street to-day. They have been abroad most of the summer, and the baroness, who was quite indisposed when she left America, has written friends that she is returning much improved. The Minister and the Baroness Moncheur were in mourning all last season for the young schoolgirl daughter of Baron Moncheur, who died early in the winter, and they consequently took no part in the social life of the Capital. Their mourning has now expired, and they will again resume the hospitalities which made the legation one of the most popular social rendezvous of Washington.

Lieut. Col. Baron Bode, who is now serving on the staff of the Grand Duke Nicholas Nicolavitch, commander of the military district of St. Petersburg, has been appointed to succeed Col. Raspopoff as military attaché of the Russian Embassy. He will not arrive until after the Christmas holidays. Col. Raspopoff, having served his term here of diplomatic service, has returned to his command in New York.

RARE ROSES SHOWN

Florists' Club Exhibit Opens This Afternoon.

TREAT FOR FLOWER LOVERS

New Varieties in Pink and Yellow Blooms Exhibited for First Time. Government and Out-of-town Florists Entered—Proceeds to Go for Benefit of Associated Charities.

Under the auspices of the society leaders of the Capital, the annual exhibition of the Florists' Club, of Washington, given this year for the benefit of the Associated Charities, will open at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the National Rifles' Armory at 918 G street northwest.

The show will mark an epoch in the culture of roses in this country, for it will be the first time that three new roses have been offered to the public. Two of these Washingtonian, and one comes from Pennsylvania, and one comes from Ireland, after having been originated in Ireland, Frederick Kramer, the Washington florist, will put on exhibition a yellow rose which he has evolved after many experiments with "crossing" various kinds of roses. This rose he has not yet named, but it will be on exhibition as "No. 15," and it is probable that he will name it during this exhibition, which will last through to-day, Wednesday, and Thursday.

Rare New Blooms Entered.

Mr. Kramer will also have on exhibition his famous Queen Elizabeth rose, which is pink. This is a new bloom which has not yet been disseminated among the dealers. A new pink rose, called the "Mrs. Jardine," will be put on exhibition by Robert Scott & Sons, Sharon Hill, Pa. This rose was first originated by Dr. Scott & Sons, florists, of Newtonards, Ireland.

A small army of workmen labored hard all day yesterday getting the two floors of the Armory into shape for the biggest flower show that has had in many years. There will be booths on both floors of varied designs and with different color schemes. Practically every exhibitor will have at least 100 blooms on exhibition.

Many Local Exhibitors.

Among the local exhibitors there will be the following: A. Guide & Brother, George H. Cooke, Frederick H. Kramer, Z. D. Blackstone, George C. Shaffer, John H. Small & Sons, Myberry & Hoover, J. R. Freeman, and the Washington Florist Company. The government will also be an exhibitor, as there will be in the show contributions from the Propagating Garden and the Botanic Garden. P. A. B. Widener, of Philadelphia, will have on show some of his prize chrysanthemums. Mrs. Gardiner Hubbard and Mrs. Leiter will also put on parade some of their choice flowers. The patronesses of the exhibition are: Mrs. Metcalf, Mrs. Brewer, Mrs. Newberry, Mrs. Oliver, Mrs. Ridgely, Mrs. Hubbard, Mrs. Bell, Mrs. McLean, Mrs. Glover, Mrs. Thoron, Mrs. Warner, Mrs. Edson, Mrs. Foster, Mrs. Foulke, Mrs. Macfarland, Mrs. Hopkins, Mrs. Clover, Mrs. Jennings.

Out-of-town Firms.

Hill Company, of Richmond, Ind.; Nathan Smith & Son, of Adrian, Mich.; Henry A. Dreer, of Philadelphia, Pa.; S. Pennock, Mehan & Co., of Philadelphia, Pa.; and others. Charles F. W. Deer, secretary of the Associated Charities, said last night: "The flower show will be of incalculable benefit to the Associated Charities. The whole of this net proceeds of the exhibition will come to us, and will be put into the general fund, which is used for helping the needy families of the District."

INTER-CITY TENNIS PLANNED

Delegates from Washington, Baltimore, and Philadelphia to Meet.

Will Form Permanent Association When Representatives Gather at Baltimore Country Club.

Delegates from Washington, Baltimore, and Philadelphia will meet at the Country Club of Baltimore Saturday, the 23d of this month, and effect the organization of the Inter-City Tennis League. The original plans called for the meeting to be held in this city, but because of its more convenient location and central position, the meeting has been transferred to Baltimore.

Ralph W. Hills, the secretary of the committee, appointed to represent Washington, has written to Mr. Dewhurst, of Philadelphia, in regard to the proposed association, and expects to hear from him shortly. There is little doubt that Philadelphia will enter, as the city is exceptionally strong in tennis talent, and it is thought that the association will fill a long-felt need in that city.

It has not been definitely decided whether each city will be represented by one or three delegates, but it is likely that the latter will be the case, in which event Ralph W. Hills and G. G. Lincoln, of the Bachelors' Lawn Tennis Club, and John C. Davidson, of the Clergy Chase Club, will represent this city, while Calvin Chestnut, John S. Ennor, and Frederick Colston will represent Baltimore.

Largest Morning Circulation. All advertising contracts made by The Washington Herald are based upon its sworn circulation—a circulation in Washington larger by thousands than was ever before attained by any morning newspaper at the Capital. Its books are open.
