President Rudolph Appoints Executive Committee.

E. C. GRAHAM NEW DIRECTOR

Members Discuss the Subject of Restricting Their Activities to Civic Matters, but Make No Definite Resolutions—Will Keep Office Hours Three Days During the Week.

Members of Executive Committee.

- Thomas P. Morgan, chairman; Theodore W. Noyes, John L. Weaver, William V. Cox, Thomas W. Smith, Gen. John M. Wilson, Samuel W. Woodard, John B. Larner, Scott C. Bone, J. Henry Small, Jr.

The directors of the Washington Board of Trade held an adjourned meeting yesterday afternoon at headquarters, and went over in a general way the business for the ensuing year.

The election of E. C. Graham, as director, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of B. H. Warner, was effected, and President Rudolph announced the members of the executive committee, to serve one year.

President Rudolph stated that suggestions had been made that the Board of Trade should limit its activities in some degree to civic matters, leaving to the Chamber of Commerce matters relating particularly to commerce, industry, and business interests.

Held a Discussion.

The directors entered upon a discussion of this topic, expressing a variety of views upon the subject, but all of a harmonious nature.

Several specific matters were brought forward and briefly considered. President Rudolph stated that he would soon have the committees of the board in working shape, and that the topics brought up would be referred to them for appropriate action.

President Rudolph said last night that he had arranged to keep "office hours" at the Board of Trade building. He said it was his intention to be in the Board of Trade rooms regularly on Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday afternoons, between the hours of 3 and 5 o'clock, to attend regularly to the routine business of the board.

PASSENGER DIES IN TRAIN.

Grim Reaper Suddenly Overtakes Charles Nason, of Baltimore.

Charles Nason, of Baltimore, died suddenly last night on a Baltimore and Ohio Railroad train while en route to this city.

As the train neared Langdon, D. C., Nason was found unconscious in his seat. No one in the coach had noticed him until that time. The train was stopped immediately, and Dr. J. S. Dorsey, of Twentieth street and Rhode Island avenue northeast, was summoned. He pronounced the man dead, and the body was brought to this city and removed to the morgue.

The remains were identified as those of Nason by W. J. Owen, a local hotel man, late last night. Nason was about sixty years old, and an employee of the Belmont Club of Baltimore.

APPEAL FOR MURDERER.

Attorneys Make Petition to Court for Joseph Paolucci.

Arguments in the appeal of Joseph Paolucci, sentenced to be hanged December 3, for the murder of Elizabeth Dodge, were repeated yesterday morning by Attorneys Thomas Taylor, W. J. Lambert, and R. H. Yeatman, in the District Court of Appeals, before Chief Justice Shepard and Justices Clabaugh and Robb.

A striking appeal was made along the same lines as when the original arguments were made before the late Justice McComas.

PRESIDENT FRAMES MESSAGE.

May Ask Congress to Amend Sherman Antitrust Law.

The President has nearly completed his annual message, which will be sent to Congress upon its convening, and the last sheet will be in the hands of the printer in all probability within the next day or two.

Before the President returned to Washington from Oyster Bay he wrote the greater part of his message, but there were certain things that naturally had to be left until a later date.

It is uncertain to what extent, if any, the President has modified his recommendations in regard to the regulation of corporations as originally drafted in the message. It is certain that he favors the repeal of an antitrust amendment of the Sherman antitrust law, but it is well understood now that he desires this change not because it is generally too radical, but because it does not permit reasonable traffic arrangements among railroads.

NATIONAL UNIVERSITY.

Recommended by State Universities Association.

That a national university should be established in Washington was the opinion expressed by the delegates attending the convention of the Association of State Universities, at the meeting at the Shoreham Hotel yesterday afternoon.

The recommendation was made by a joint committee. It was recommended the proposed university be supported by the government and that it should serve as a post graduate school of all the colleges maintained by the States.

NEW PLATT WITNESS.

Says Mae Wood Told Him She Never Married Senator.

New York, Nov. 19.—Justice O'Gorman, of the Supreme Court, granted today the application of counsel for Senator Thomas C. Platt for an order permitting the examination by commission of John P. Shook, a resident of Kansas City, as a witness in the suit for divorce brought against the Senator by Mae C. Wood, who alleges that she was married secretly to the Senator in the Fifth Avenue Hotel six years ago.

An affidavit by Senator Platt says that Shook, on reading the published reports of the Supreme Court, wrote to the Senator stating that he recalled distinctly a series of conversations he had with Miss Wood between November 9, 1891, and October, 1903, when the Senator married Mrs. Lillian M. Janeway.

In these conversations, Shook's letter states, Miss Wood never claimed to be Platt's wife, but, on the contrary, denied that she had ever married him.

WOULD REGULATE RAILWAY

Northeast Citizens Discuss Abolition of B. & O. Crossing.

Commissioner Macfarland Delivers Address in Which He Commends the Association.

That the Commissioners of the District must have greater powers to regulate street railways and other utility corporations in the District, is the opinion of Commissioner Macfarland as expressed by him in an address at the jubilee meeting of the Northeast Washington Citizens' Association, at Northeast Temple, Twelfth and H streets northeast, last night.

The meeting was in celebration of the fifty-fifth anniversary of the association and the abolition of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad crossing in the northeast section of the city. Mr. Macfarland was the chief speaker. He congratulated the association for its many services to the city during the fifteen years, or over half the period of the present form of government.

In the past seven years, he said, he had worked with the association and could testify to its zeal, ability, and industry.

William J. Frizzell, first president of the association and chairman of the committee of arrangements, presided and delivered the opening address. He outlined the origin of the organization, and spoke of the early settlement in the northeast section of the city. The chief objection, he said, had been the conduct of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, in its violation of laws, regulations, and rules governing speed limits and trains.

E. H. Tucker, president of the association, outlined the many improvements in the northeast section of the city through the untiring efforts of the organization. He took up the work done by the several standing committees and said the committee on railroads made the first step to abolish railroad crossings by presenting to Congress, through Senator Sherman, a bill for that purpose.

This resolution was unanimously passed at a meeting last night in Bessie's Hall of the United German Societies, which was called by President Kurt Voelcker for the purpose of ascertaining the attitude of the twenty-one societies composing the United German Societies, and the present school muddle and the question of discontinuing the teaching of German and Latin in the graded schools.

Many speeches were made, and the speakers gave the highest words of praise to Dr. Chancellor's administration of the schools.

These were George Connor, chief of police of Brownsville at the time of the raid, and Louis A. Jagou, a resident of that town, who is supposed to know something about the affair.

The committee adjourned until next Tuesday, when the two witnesses will be heard. After the two reports—a majority report finding the shooting was done by colored soldiers and a minority report to the contrary—will be prepared for presentation to the Senate.

The Talk of Washington.

Advertised in yesterday's evening papers, and quoted in The Herald as this morning's most important shopping news, the sale of Ullman's famous pictures will be the talk of Washington before night.

The store artist has made an attempt at sketching this pastel—let us encourage the attempt with thanks, and be otherwise silent. The original represents old ocean beating upon the shore with foam-capped waves. Being a Chandler picture, it is "the ocean herself." The effect is intensified with a superb 4-inch green frame on which are modeled sea birds, anchor, and rope, all in artistic abandon. Measuring 21x43 inches. This picture was modestly priced at $12. It is to be $6.

Exactly Half Ullman's Prices.

The samples used this autumn in the great galleries of New York. Each picture is in an appropriate frame—the genius of Ullman in the selection of frames has proved a great factor in the success of his pictures. The collection comprises over one thousand pictures, and while some may show slight signs of a season's display, few are hurt to hurt.

$10 Were $20. $6 Were $12. $5 Were $10. $4 Were $8. $3 Were $6. $2 Were $4. $1 Were $2.

The collection includes imported photogravures, etchings, pastels, carbons, facsimile oil and water colors, &c.—subjects for the den, the dining-room, parlor, bedroom, &c. Choice of one thousand subjects—no two alike. Each at exactly half the price charged by Ullman. Distribution to begin this morning at 8 o'clock. A hundred or so samples on first floor. The main collection will be on fourth floor.
