Remnant Day

WE direct attention to the collection of remnants for this week as being more than usually attractive, both from a price standpoint and the high character of the several classes of goods represented. ## IN THE SOCIAL WORLD

Mme. Creel Opens Social Season at Mexican Embassy.

DECORATIONS QUITE PRETTY

Chrysanthemums and Palms Give Pleasing Color to Charming At Home—Mrs. Gillespie Gives Tea in Honor of Baroness d'Onnesage, Also Dinner Guest of Mrs. Carter.

Madame Creel, wife of the Mexican Ambassador, was at home at the Embassy in T street yesterday afternoon for the first time since arrival here about ten days ago from the summer leave of absence.

The drawing rooms of the Embassy, long identified with the most gracious hospitality of Capital life, were tastefully decorated with chrysanthemums and palms. Assisting Madame Creel were Mme. Godoy, wife of the Counselor of the Embassy, and Mile. Godoy, Mrs. and Miss Brodie, and Miss Wade. Mme. Godoy presided over the pretty appointed tea table.

Another pretty at home yesterday afternoon was that of Mrs. Gillespie, wife of Major General George L. Gillespie, who gave a small tea complimentary to the Baroness d'Onnesage, of Hamburg, Germany, who is here for a visit of a few days. The baroness is the daughter of the late Rev. Dr. Conklin, of New York.

Among those invited to meet her were the Baroness von Sternburg, wife of the German Ambassador; Mrs. Garfield, wife of the Secretary of the Interior; Mrs. Timmons, daughter of the Vice President; Mrs. Beekman Winthrop, Mrs. Barker, wife of Rear Admiral Barker, and Mrs. Casew, wife of Rear Admiral Casew.

Many prominent people, especially members of the Diplomatic Corps, attended yesterday afternoon, the service which was held under the auspices of the Christ Guild Society in St. Paul's Church, Fifteenth and V streets.

There was a sermon by Rev. Fr. W. J. Kerby, of the Catholic University, followed by solemn benediction of the blessed sacrament, celebrated by the Rev. Father James E. Mackin, pastor of the church.

His Excellency Diomedo Falco, the Apostolic delegate, was present, as were also many representatives from various churches and colleges in the District.

WOMEN RIDE ASTRIDE

Bifurcated Skirts Appear at New York Horse Show.

BIG CROWD DESPITE THE RAIN

Men Form the Majority of Visitors. Few Coat Flowers Seen, Although Alfred Vanderbilt Wears Red and White Pink Boutonnieres—Description of Some of the Gowns.

Madison Square Garden, Nov. 21.—Rain and murky sky were forgotten under the blaze of lights and colored banners of the horse show to-day.

There was a veritable crush so far as the attendance was concerned. "The rain drives 'em in," said the ring groom as he noted the afternoon rush, and there was a more strident tone to the bugle calls. The directors, with smiling faces, whispered the same comment at night, so all went very well.

Men, in the old times, formed a majority of the visitors. Again the long range hand-shakes over the box front between the smiling women and their men friends on the board walk was in view, winners and losers of the ring contest sharing without prejudice in the feminine greetings.

It seems an off year with coat flowers with the men. A few spotted violets, but not the younger men of the clubs. An exception is Alfred Vanderbilt, who wears a red and white pink boutonniere whatever coat he may be wearing, and in the class for road coaches each of the whips had flowers in his lapel. But this, with white topknots, was the only concession they made to old-time coaching ways. White box coats and pearl buttons were out, but the guards were in the customary gay liveries.

Vanderbilt Gets the Blue.

There was sentiment in the award of the blue for road teams to A. G. Vanderbilt, for it was his fourth year of victory with grays. The objectors to the award did not consider the sentiment and the combination of J. Campbell Thompson's fine driving and fast teams made the Vanderbilt entry second choice with the crowd.

There were two firsts on records for women. For the initial time at a national horse show a woman rode astride in a class for ladies saddle horses, although young girls do so. The Joan of Arc of the bifurcated was Mrs. J. A. Edmunds, of Manhattan. She wore a black habit and tan rough rider hat, and as her dark chestnut had a white bridle and reins the outfit was as prominent in the large class as a chrysanthemum would be in a bridal wreath. The other new record was a woman driver, in the class for trotting roadsters, Miss Anna S. Beverly, of Columbus, Ohio.

The trotting horse classes had slim entries and the best horses were owned by Horatio N. Bain, of Poughkeepsie, who took blue ribbons in eight different classes.

Elisavale of Elisnore won the first blue ribbon for Elisnore Farm of the week in the class for Shetland stallions that began the judging to-day. Elisavale was the peer of small studs. Six trotter classes held the judges until the noon halt, the entries being too small in number to be representative but of good quality.

Camera is Kentucky Bred.

The Kentucky-bred cod camera won in the three-year-old class for C. C. Hendrickson, of Manhattan, the winners in the four other classes for youngsters being bred at the Bain Farm at Poughkeepsie. The three-year-old filly to win was Frances Bain, by Master Elect, while two by Sir Robbins were other winners—Charles Robbins and Alicia Robbins, two-year-olds, and the yearling filly Akela Wicklife, by Wicklife, was also in line.

With road teams as an attraction this afternoon, and the fact that Alfred G. Vanderbilt was to drive his unseasoned team of grays, winners at the London show, the attendance at the Garden was very large, few of the arena boxes were empty, and many of the tier boxes had occupants, and the arena seats were well filled.

Society was pleased when the Vanderbilt team won.

It was another day for somber colors being in keeping with the rainy weather. But the big, ornate building, decorated with its orange and blue, made a rich background to the scene presented in the boxes.

Some of the Costumes.

Mr. and Mrs. Barclay Warburton, of Philadelphia, and Mrs. C. Oliver Harriman were guests in the Reginald C. Vanderbilt box. Mrs. Vanderbilt wore a blue costume and a hat trimmed with pink ermine. She had for fur Mrs. Oliver Harriman wore an old blue costume, trimmed with coffee-colored lace, and a big black hat trimmed with black ostrich plumes.

Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Morgan entertained a large party of friends in their box, No. 47. Mrs. Morgan wore a costume of gray cloth.

Mrs. Russell Hopkins, who is displaying more costumes than any woman who is patronizing the show, wore a costume of striped cloth, her hat was white, trimmed with a green bird with bid white wings.

Mrs. Alfred G. Vanderbilt entertained Miss Evelyn Parsons, Miss Pauline French, and Mr. and Mrs. F. Martin Davies. Mrs. Vanderbilt wore a blue and white costume, a blue hat, and sable fur.

With Mrs. E. R. Ladew were Mr. and Mrs. E. Berry Wall, Mrs. Charles Wall, and Miss Elise Ladew, who wore a brown velvet costume and a black plume hat.

Senator George Peabody Wetmore's box was a big attraction during the afternoon, and it was filled with children, his grandchildren, and they were enthusiastic about everything they saw in the ring.

SCOTTISH RITE FAIR.

Committee Appointed to Take Charge of Preliminaries.

In an executive session of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite bodies of the Southern Jurisdiction of the United States, held last night, it was decided to give a fair in the early part of 1908.

The following officers were elected to take charge of the preliminaries: F. A. Sebring, president; Sam Hart, vice president; Fred Beck, secretary; Sterling Kerr, treasurer. Other committees will be named later.
