TEACH CHILDREN ART.

Plan of Mrs. Zeh to Increase Interest in Church Work.
About fourteen children between the ages of six and fourteen years, met at the home of Mrs. W. J. Zeh, 1301 Seventeenth street, yesterday afternoon, and organized an Art and Conversation Club, for the purpose of learning something of Catholic art and artists.
Mrs. Zeh, who has been interested in church affairs in Washington for many years, conceived the idea about three weeks ago, and knowing the small interest the congregation in general took of the beautiful features of the church, hit upon the plan of teaching the children something of church art, and to excite interest in other work of that nature.
The children will be provided with scrapbooks, in which, at the close of each meeting, they will place halftones of some church subject, and opposite the picture on the same page the child will write something in reference to the artist who painted the picture.

The subjects yesterday were "John and the Virgin Mary," "Raising of Lazarus," and "The raising of the daughter of Jairus."
Assisting Mrs. Zeh are Mrs. A. P. Zapone, Miss Fealey, and Miss Suzanne Yerby.
Companions Desert Girl in Scrap.
Nellie Griffith, nineteen years old, is held by police of the Anacostia substation, to await the outcome of injuries sustained by Dennis Lyles, a negro, sixty-five years old, who was run over by a horse driven by the girl and several companions on Good Hope Hill, early yesterday morning. The companions of Miss Griffith, a girl and two men, ran away after the accident. The negro is not seriously injured.

WILL REST IN ARLINGTON.

Funeral Services for Capt. J. P. Wooten To-morrow.
Funeral services for Capt. Julien P. Wooten, who died Friday night at Providence Hospital, will be held to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, from the chapel of Hilde & Bayliss' undertaking establishment, Fifth and H street. Interment will be in the officer's lot at Arlington National Cemetery, with full military honors.
Capt. Wooten served with distinction as an officer of the Volunteer Signal Corps in the war with Spain. He was affiliated with the Elks, and was a member of Fourth Immune Camp.
He recently perfected an invention which would make possible a printing telegraph instrument. While with the Western Union, Capt. Wooten conceived his invention.

FOUND DEAD IN HOTEL.

Col. B. F. W. Carter Was a Virginia Veteran of Civil War.
Heart disease was given as the cause of the sudden death of Col. B. F. W. Carter, sixty-one years old, of Richmond, Va., found dead in bed in his room in the National Hotel yesterday morning.
Arrangements for the funeral are being made by Representative Lamb, of Virginia.
Col. Carter was a veteran of the civil war, having served with the Richmond Howitzers. For some years past he has been a salesman for a Cincinnati varnish concern. He resided at the National Hotel last Saturday night. He was found dead by a bellboy at 11:30 o'clock yesterday morning.

BAN ON JOHNSON ANNEX.

Not Suitable for School Purposes, Says Fire Chief.
"In my opinion the frame building known as the Johnson annex is not at all suitable for school purposes," says Chief Belt in his report submitted to the Commissioners yesterday, after inspection to determine what is necessary for proper fire protection of that building.
The chief engineer believes that no school children in the city proper be housed in frame buildings. He calls attention to numerous defects existent in the annex, and recommends to the school board, at whose request the Commissioners ordered the investigation, many improvements.
"If these recommendations be adopted I recommend that the Commissioners authorize the board of education to continue the use of this building until such time as it can be replaced by a fireproof structure. If the recommendations be not adopted it is recommended that the use of this building for school purposes be discontinued at once."

Chief Belt, acting upon the Commissioners' instructions, is examining all school buildings with respect to fire protection. The schools visited by him during the last week were the Estery, Eckington, Hayes, Maury, Edmonds, Lovejoy, Pierce, Webb, Wheatley, Blow, Logan, Hamilton, Blair, and Madison.
Four of these schools the Madison, Blair, Hamilton, and Logan, were found to have wooden stairways, which the chief engineer recommends be torn out and fire escapes installed.
