

REGULATION CHOSEN

Carr Democrats Meet in City Convention.

REGULARS HOLD PRIMARIES

Kelley Faction to Choose Representatives to Denver on Thursday—Opposition Adopts Platform Favoring Franchise for District, Tariff Revision, and Protection of Labor.

While the representatives of Democrats of the District who follow the leadership of William E. Carr and Charles W. Darr were assembled in city convention yesterday, the opposing faction led by Fred Kelley was holding primaries.

The Carr-Darr faction held its primary Monday, and last night selected delegates and alternates to the Democratic national convention in Denver. This faction voted for an untruncated delegation.

The Kelley faction has not as yet gone on record as favoring Mr. Bryan. It is said in certain quarters that the city convention, which will be held on Thursday, will instruct for the Nebraskaan.

The Kelley primary, like that of the Carr-Darr faction held on Monday, was held in the city hall.

At the city convention of the Carr-Darr faction, the entire delegation selected Monday was present.

William E. Carr, acting chairman, called the convention to order. Mr. Darr was elected without opposition.

After thanking the members of the convention for the honor they bestowed upon him, Mr. Darr outlined what they were there for. He said the delegates met under trying circumstances and had shown loyalty to the party and principles by standing together as they had done.

He said, in part: "We are here to say to the Democrats of the District that we are regular, as regular as any Democratic convention ever held. We are not wearing the collar of any man or clique, and we are tired of chasing around the country after one man, and we are tired of this twelve-year oratory that it has been our lot to hear. What we want is a winner—one whom we can at least expect to get votes."

"We propose to show that the politics of the District has been absolutely dragged in the dust, and has been made a monetary place of business."

"I look upon the first convention to-night that has been held by the regular party in the District of Columbia for the past twenty years. This is the first convention where the delegates have not been paid to come to the convention."

Platform is Adopted. Chairman Darr appointed a committee of five to draft resolutions: William B. Carr, M. P. Lynch, J. O'Connor, L. W. Reed, and J. C. DePaul.

The committee retired to an ante-room and drafted the resolutions which were unanimously adopted. They are in part as follows:

"We affirm our allegiance to the principles of the party of Jefferson, Jackson, and Polk, and our support to the candidate for the Presidency whom the national Democratic party shall select."

"We are opposed to the present form of municipal government in the District of Columbia. We favor with us the national Democratic party to commit itself in favor of self-government in the District."

"We declare that the high protective tariff has made possible unlawful trusts and combinations. Federal supervision and control of the great industrial enterprises and service corporations is necessary for the continued welfare of the American people."

"We recognize that the commercial and transportation business of this country cannot be transacted except through the medium of large aggregations of capital, but that fact makes it more than ever necessary that the rights of individual citizens should be protected. It is not only their right so to do, but it is necessary that those who labor with their hands should organize for their own protection. The demand of labor shall be granted for reasonable hours of work, the compulsory adoption of safety appliances in connection with dangerous employments, and for a modification of the rules of the common law, fixing the liability of master for injuries to the servant, so that in the future our jurisprudence will guarantee to labor that industry will be a source of benefit and not of injury."

"We declare further that in common with all other citizens, those charged with any crime in connection with, or growing out of, the above-mentioned disturbances should enjoy the right to a speedy and impartial trial by jury."

"We believe that the powers vested to the Federal government by the States through the Constitution in its present form are ample. The powers reserved to the States are ample, and each should manage its domestic and internal affairs."

"The dangers to be apprehended from centralization of power are under apprehension. Under autocratic leadership Congress has become inactive and the people to the public will, while a bureau form of government is being rapidly extended to a point which threatens the extinction of State autonomy."

Delegates Are Elected. The chairman appointed a committee to nominate delegates and alternates to the national convention. The committee reported the following slate, which was voted upon collectively: Delegates, Charles W. Darr, William E. Carr, Robert Allen, H. E. Davis, M. P. Lynch, and J. O'Connor; alternates, Richard A. Curtiss, F. W. Ogle, Julius Feysner, Harry Hayden, H. A. Martin, and Timothy Costello.

The committee on nominations consisted of H. A. Martin, John Dunn, Frank Burns, J. O'Meara, and J. J. McCarthy. Delegates of each district were instructed to name a member of their district to form a central committee. These names were sent to the secretaries, and the members notified when the next meeting will be held.

Kelley Faction Primary. Delegates and alternates to the city convention selected at the primaries held yesterday by the Kelley faction are:

Delegates and Alternates. First district—Delegates, Thomas J. Moore, Jerome Digg, and Harry Perkins; alternates, Dr. Charles H. Weiss, Edward G. Leasler, and Edward Webster.

Second district—Delegates, William McK. Clayton, Edwin A. Newman, and Frederick L. Siddons; alternates, George W. White, William F. Gude, and William E. Richardson.

ley. Fifth district—Delegates, John D. Gallagher, James L. Magruder, and John W. Thomas; alternates, J. J. McLaughlin, Frank Wall, and Joseph P. Smith.

GO TO BALTIMORE TO WED

Lieut. W. J. Giles and Miss Louise Ryan Quietly Married.

Brides' Mother Learns of Union Upon Return, and Declares It Is No Elopement.

Lieut. William Jefferson Giles, United States navy, attached to the U. S. S. Dolphin, lying off the Washington Navy Yard, was married to Miss Louise Ryan, of Washington, at the home of friends of the bride in Baltimore yesterday.

It is said the young couple left Washington early yesterday morning for the Monumental City without telling any members of Miss Ryan's family where they were going or what their plans were, and that the first news of the marriage received by Mrs. Arthur H. Ryan, of 1914 Sunderland place, the mother of Mrs. Giles, was when the couple returned to Washington last night.

Mrs. Ryan denies that the affair was an elopement, and says the reason her daughter went to Baltimore to be married was because she wanted the wedding to be quiet, which would have been impossible with the number of friends of both the bride and groom in Washington aiding in the ceremonies of starting them off in life as man and wife.

Lieut. Giles and Mrs. Giles will make their home with Mrs. Giles' mother for the present.

Lieut. Giles is a resident of Marcellus, N. Y., and is twenty-five years of age. Miss Ryan has just passed her twenty-first year.

TROUBLE OVER THE ELECTION

Statement Given Out at White House After Cabinet Meeting—United States Granted Privilege of Observing the Elections—Violence is the Result of Fraud.

TAFT AS PEACEMAKER

Panama Mission Was to Halt a Revolution.

TROUBLE OVER THE ELECTION

Secretary of War Taft's recent trip to Panama was for the purpose of preventing a possible revolutionary outbreak there.

Panama is in the midst of a Presidential election to choose a successor to President Amador. The constitutional party, headed by Senor Arias, minister of foreign affairs, according to reports received in Washington, had denied the privilege of registration to members of another faction of the constitutional party headed by Senor Obaldia, former minister to the United States, and one of the candidates for the presidency of the republic.

"Such a critical period had been reached that a revolution seemed almost inevitable. President Roosevelt then decided to send Secretary Taft to Panama to act as peacemaker."

The United States has been granted the privilege of appointing representatives who will observe the elections and make a report to the President.

Taft Issues Statement. After Cabinet meeting yesterday, Secretary Taft gave out the following statement:

"Representations were made to Secretary Taft that there was likely to be great frauds in the elections to be held for the Presidency of Panama on July 12, and the representations included affidavits tending to show that registration had already been denied to many persons applying for the same, who were entitled to register."

"These matters were brought to the attention of the Panamanian government. It was pointed out that if fraud was permitted in the elections it would be likely to lead to violence and riot and insurrection, contrary to the interests of the United States, and that it would then be the duty of the United States to preserve order under the treaty and the constitution of Panama."

Programme Announced by Panama. "Accordingly, the government of Panama approved and announced the following programme:

"First—Commission of electoral inquiry to be created by Panama with full power to investigate complaints of all parties."

"Second—United States to join in this inquiry through any agents, concurrently, with right to examine and cross-examine all witnesses concerning past, present, and future proceedings from beginning to end; full right of inspection and copy of all instructions and agreements, and omission; also right to attend all sessions of the commission of inquiry."

"Third—Agents of respective governments to report to their respective governments for guidance and action."

"Fourth—Official declaration by Panama that it desires and assures open, fair, and free election, and that result shall not be opened to reasonable doubt."

"Fifth—if the United States comes to the conclusion that material errors or defects are now or hereafter made in electoral proceedings, or that right of suffrage has been or may be lost to citizens through failure of electoral jury to discharge duties or otherwise, then Panama will cause same to be remedied in some lawful manner in due course of season before election."

"Sixth—Inquiry to be forthwith and pursued with utmost intelligence."

"Seventh—Official letters exchanged to-day, embodying the foregoing, and the agents leave within forty-eight hours for the interior. By this plan any past errors can be ascertained, not ex-parte, but under conservation all parties without necessity for present hostile action. The agents of the United States will have judicial function but report to their government."

Subsequently the Cabinet agreed to allow the inscription of new names, that is, registration, until May 28. The commissioners appointed on May 17, and the rest will go to-day. Senor Obaldia was also permitted to send private representatives.
