CLUB WAS USED TO BEAT BLISS

Friend of Tarrad Man Gives Victim's Story.

ASKED TO QUIT THE CITY

Says Hot, Sticky Tar Was Applied and Rubbed In.

Principals in the Case Refuse to Make Any Statements—Claimed by Friends of Bliss that He Believed Mrs. Marthinson to Be Unmarried, and that He Expected to Make Her His Wife—Is Not a Hypnotist.

That F. E. Bliss, Jr., was the "hypnotized" victim instead of Mrs. Marthinson, as claimed by Marthinson, Cole, and White, and that he received the most terrific beating possible without the breaking of bones, is the opinion of an intimate acquaintance of Bliss, who was deceived by 1317 Kenyon street, beaten and tarred on Wednesday night.

"I have never seen a man so frightfully hammered up," he said. "There were great blotches of black and blue all over his back that seemed as though the blood were about to gush forth. His face and eyes and hair showed the effects of the tar."

"When I saw Bliss on Thursday, I was shocked at his appearance and asked him the trouble. He told me of the affair. He said Mrs. Marthinson had telephoned to him early in the day to meet her at the house that evening, and when he went, he was called to the basement door by a masculine voice.

Met with a Revolver. "Surprised, but unhesitatingly, he went down and was met with a revolver, back of which a voice in the semi-darkness ordered him to come in. On the inside he discovered three men, as he told me, and was made to sit down upon a box, still under the cover of the gun."

Continuing, this friend of Bliss, who refused to allow the publication of his name, said the men made every effort possible to force a confession from their victim with regard to the wives of both Marthinson and Cole. Bliss refused to utter a word.

Friends they could accomplish nothing in this way, they took Bliss into the back part of the cellar and tied him to an upright support. Then a club, presumably a part of an old curtain pole, was brought and they belabored him about the back and thighs until they were tired.

At this juncture the hot, sticky tar was produced, and taking their bare hands the three men rubbed it into the helpless man's face and eyes. Not content therewith, they opened parts of his clothing and smeared it over his body.

As he showed over of the basement door, Bliss was asked when he expected to leave town. His reply was that he was not going to leave.

All attempts to gain information yesterday from any of the persons concerned in this unusual case failed. Mrs. Marthinson is keeping strictly out of sight, and neither Marthinson, Cole, nor White could be induced to say anything further than has already appeared.

It is rumored there has been some trouble between Marthinson and his wife. Friends of Bliss claim Bliss did not know the woman was married, for they say he has been going with her for months, and has repeatedly said he expected to marry her.

Saw Horse and Buggy. Neighbors of the Marthinsons say that some time ago Bliss' horse and buggy were to be seen in front of the Marthinson home nearly every afternoon. Suddenly one day Marthinson returned, presumably unexpectedly, and thereafter almost immediately Bliss was seen to leave the house.

The afternoon visits are said to have ceased then, but instead Mrs. Marthinson was observed to go out in her automobile nearly every day at about the same time as Bliss had been accustomed to come. This story tallies well with the one Mrs. Marthinson had been in the habit of frequently calling Bliss up by telephone at his office, and taking him out in a machine.

When the case was called in the Police Court yesterday morning, the men charged with assault and battery, Charles Marthinson, Henry Cole, and James L. White, pleaded not guilty, and demanded a jury trial.

Assistant District Attorney Given, for the prosecution, asked that the court raise the amount of the bonds of the men from $50 to $1,000 each, because of the serious nature of the case.

Attorney Coladay, for the defense, objected, but Judge Kimball agreed to the argument of the prosecution. Bail in the increased amount was furnished by the United Surety Company, who went the bail in the first instance.

G. W. Albrecht, president of the Bliss-Albrecht Company, of which Bliss is the vice president and local manager, was in the city yesterday and said:

"There is something hidden that will startle you all when Bliss makes it public. I want to say this much; it will be shown that Bliss was entirely in the right, and the men in the wrong. If there was anything crooked with my partner's connection in the case, I would dissolve the partnership before leaving the city to-day. This girl was to marry him; she called him up frequently at his office and took him automobile riding. I have been out with them."

Is Not a Hypnotist. "Bliss is no more a hypnotist than a dead man. That talk is absurd. Further than that I mustn't talk about the matter now."

GREAT OVATION TO SULTAN.

His Popularity Proved by All Classes at Constantinople.

Constantinople, July 31.—It is abundantly evident that the Sultan has lost none of his popularity here, whatever may be the attitude of the Young Turks in Macedonia. To-day being the Moslem Sabbath, his majesty, as usual, attended the Selamluk at the Hamidieh Mosque, opposite the Yildiz Kiosk.

He received a tremendous ovation from the populace, without there being a single discordant note, notwithstanding the disappointment of popular hope that he would hold the ceremony in Stamboul. The crowd is conservatively estimated at a hundred thousand. It packed every conceivable viewpoint and acclaimed the sovereign and the army.

There was noticeable again on this occasion what has been one of the most remarkable features of the revolution, the fraternization of all races and religions. Jews, Greeks, and Armenians mingled on equal terms with the Turks and were welcomed by the latter. All headed the soldiers, who distributed their rations of biscuits and lemonade, which are specially given on the occasion of the Selamluk to the crowd indiscriminately.

After the Selamluk, Abdul Hamid received the diplomatists, who felicitated him upon the loyalty of his subjects. Hamid Pasha, minister of police, who is blamed for emptying the prisons of criminals has been dismissed.

The notorious Izzet Pasha is a refugee at the German embassy, fearing that the populace will murder him.

FLIGHT IS A SUCCESS

Henry Farman Makes First Trial in America.

BALLOON IN PERFECT CONTROL

Rises in Air and Glides Two Hundred Yards at Command of the Inventor—Gen. Allen, of the Signal Corps, Among the Spectators at Brighton Beach Race Track.

New York, July 31.—Henry Farman made his first flight in America at the Brighton Beach race track this afternoon. Mr. Farman did not mean it to be a real flight—just a sort of final examination after the training-up process which the aeroplane has been undergoing for the day or two previous.

The flyer left the ground twice, for perhaps 200 yards each trip, but even by these short flights the perfect control which Mr. Farman has over his machine was demonstrated. It would run along the ground for a moment, then gradually rise fifteen feet or so above the field. Its descent was as easy and graceful.

An army of photographers made up the front ranks of the gallery for the preliminary test, and there were a number of Aero Club members and other aeronaut experts, chief among them being Brig. Gen. James Allen, chief of the army Signal Corps.

Hamilton Has an Accident. Charles K. Hamilton, who is making flights from Brighton in a small dirigible balloon, and who achieved fame by landing in the Atlantic Ocean about three miles from shore some time since, ran over in his balloon to pay his respects to Mr. Farman. When he got ready to come down by the side of the grand stand, he stopped the engine too quickly and the blade of his propeller snapped off. But an assistant ran back to the aerodrome on foot and got a new propeller, so Mr. Hamilton returned from his call the same way he came.

Mr. Farman expressed himself perfectly well satisfied with the result of his trial. He has made a circular kilometer, so he may be able to circle the track here, but the currents which come through and around the corners of the stands and other buildings bother a little.

Ketchell Wins in Third Round. San Francisco, July 31.—Stanley Ketchell put Hugo Kelly on Queer street in the third round of their world's championship battle here to-night. Kelly received a few stiff punches in the first two rounds, which virtually put him out of the running. He was outclassed from the first tap of the gong, and went down for the count when the third round was still going.

Frankfort, Ky., July 31.—A party of Chicago capitalists are here to make a survey of a right of way through the Licking River Valley for a railroad extending from the Morgan County coal fields to Cincinnati, about 200 miles. WAR WILL REMAIN, IS PREMIER'S VIEW

Tells Peace Delegates that Disarmament is Dream.

ADVOCATE MAINTAINING FORCE

No Modern Nation, Great Britain Less Than Any, Speakers Before International Peace Conference Declare, Can Afford to Neglect Her Defences—Oppose All Alliances.

London, July 31.—At a government banquet to the delegates to the Peace Congress, Prime Minister Asquith, while cordially welcoming and approving the efforts of idealists in the direction of peace, from which he argued the best results for the future could not be indulged in the hope that the youngest person now alive would witness the advent of the day of universal disarmament.

As long as man's nature continued as it was, it would be necessary for prudent statesmen to provide for war. National security must always have first place in the thoughts and plans of government in any country. Nevertheless, no enterprise was so worthy as Great Britain's, and education all helped, but the strongest hope lay in the efforts of international emissaries of peace, such as those gathered at the present congress.

Opposes All Alliances. He did not advocate alliances, defensive or offensive. They were sometimes hindrances of peace rather than helps. The main thing was for the nations to get to know and to understand each other. It would be grossly understating the case to say that half of the international quarrels arose from a lack of understanding. The notion that there are hereditary antagonisms, which it is almost a point of honor to cherish, and national antipathies which must, from time to time, find an outlet in carnage, was a pernicious superstition which needed to be eradicated, not only from the minds of children, but of men and of whole communities. Many forces were already moving in that direction. Travel, intercommunication, international trade, and education all helped, but the strongest hope lay in the efforts of international emissaries of peace, such as those gathered at the present congress.

Wants Big British Navy. Earlier in the day Mr. Haldane, secretary of war, and Viscount Falkland emphasized the need of Great Britain's keeping up her armament, especially her navy, which, they said, should be maintained at such a standard as would enable her to command the sea against any probable combination of hostile powers. They said that these were not the days when any nation could prudently lessen its national defenses. Not that there were any signs of war. On the contrary, they believed that Great Britain, France, Germany, and the United States all understood each other, and were on better terms. Still, it was the tendency of all peoples to scrutinize their defenses, and Great Britain must scrutinize hers.

GOVERNOR IN SANATORIUM. Arkansas Executive Suffering from Acute Melancholia.

St. Joseph, Mo., July 31.—Gov. John S. Little, of Arkansas, has been placed in a sanatorium here. He has been suffering from a nervous breakdown since his election and it has developed into acute melancholia.

His condition is not encouraging.

Mall Liquor Orders Illegal. Atlanta, Ga., July 31.—In a decision on the subject of soliciting orders for intoxicating beverages, handed down to-day by the Georgia Court of Appeals, Judge Richard B. Russell, with the concurrence of the entire court, rendered an opinion that soliciting orders by mail from another State, as well as from another place in Georgia, is a violation of the laws of the State of Georgia, and any person making such solicitation is guilty of a crime against the State.

POWDER DAMAGES TOWN.

Explosion Injures Sixteen and Destroys Valuable Property.

Wheeling, W. Va., July 31.—T. Monroe, postmaster at Stafford, a mining town in Raleigh County, will hardly recover from injuries received by the explosion of 100 kegs of powder in the mine powder-house late last night. Fifteen others were seriously injured.

Monroe was in his residence, 200 yards away. The force jarred the foundation of his house loose, and he was thrown out of bed and through the window to the boardwalk below. Mrs. Charles Bissett, wife of a miner, was blown through a window of her home into the street and was severely hurt. Several miners and employers in the vicinity of the powder-house were badly injured, but it is not believed that their injuries are fatal.

The cause assigned is that a miner's lamp, left burning at the entrance of the powder house, set fire to rubbish and was communicated to the kegs of powder kept. The building was rendered a complete wreck, and half a dozen other houses in the immediate vicinity, including warehouses and storage buildings, were blown into kindling wood.

There was not a building in the town which escaped the terrific concussion. Many of them lost every window. The damage will reach between $300,000 and $400,000.

"HAS FUN" WITH NEIGHBORS

Virgil Kingston Sits in Window and Shoots at Them.

Police, Suspecting Another Pospisiel Affair, Storm House and Capture the Fannaker.

The firing of a dozen or more revolver shots by a man seated in the second-story window of 608 K street northeast, shortly after 10 o'clock last night, aroused the residents of that section from their beds, and believing that they were facing a repetition of the Pospisiel affair, the police from the Ninth precinct were hurriedly summoned.

Policemen Frawley and Moore hastened to the scene. When they arrived several hundred people were gathered in the street—all some distance from the man with the gun. He kicked and fought, but was quickly overpowered and disarmed. He was then asked to explain his conduct.

"I was just trying to have a little fun with the neighbors," he said. "Well, you come along with us and have a little fun all by yourself," said Frawley, and with the aid of his brother policeman the man was led to the nearest patrol box.

At the station house the prisoner said he was Virgil Kingston, fifty-seven years old. He was locked up on charges of disorderly conduct and discharging firearms. The police say he had been drinking.

WHITE FLAG RAISED OVER EACH FORT

Truce Is Declared to Bury Imaginary Dead.

END OF WEEK OF HARD WORK

Guardsmen of District in Battle Army Will Be Idle for Two Days, So Far as Maneuvers Are Concerned, and Will Be Given Opportunity to Participate in Athletic Games.

Fort Washington, Md., July 31.—The white flag has been hoisted at Forts Washington and Hunt. For the next two days all will be quiet, and the men will rest after their first week of hard work in the field.

The white flag has not been raised on either fort as a token of surrender, for nothing is farther away from the minds of the regulars and militiamen, who are enthused with the defense, but merely as a two-day truce to bury the imaginary dead, and to rest.

To-morrow all drills and maneuvers will be done away with, and the men will have absolutely nothing to do but rest and enjoy themselves. The regulars will have a muster to-morrow, and aside from that they will be more or less at leisure, and, weather permitting, there will be lots of athletics with countless ball games. Baseball is certainly a popular pastime in both forts, and as soon as two companies are designated they are on the ball field.

Two Days of Idleness. For two days the big guns and the fire and battle command stations will stand idle. The truce comes after a week's hard work, and great progress. Col. Coffin, in commenting on the work to-day, said it was so remarkable that he, who had every confidence in the ability of the guardsmen, was astonished. From every viewpoint the first week of actual practice was a success.

The erstwhile enemies are now friends, and the passing river craft will gain a respite from their frequent destructions. Hostilities will begin in earnest again on Monday morning, and the second week will be crowded full of maneuvers.

As an illustration of the great success that has attended every branch of the work in coast defense, a story is being told on Col. Coffin and Col. Urell, who were both surprised in believing that some militiamen were regulars through the character and efficiency of their work. The regimental noncommissioned staffs have been stationed in the battle command station at the various instruments there, as plotters, observers, readers, and telephone men.

Col. Urell is designated as assistant battle commander, and was directly under Col. Coffin in the battle command station, with a detail of noncommissioned officers under Master Gunner Crosby, who is without exception one of the most competent and efficient noncommissioned Coast Artillery officers in the service.

CAVE-IN BURIES MINERS.

Twenty-three Men Entombed at Fernie, Manitoba.

Winnipeg, Manitoba, July 31.—Mine No. 2, Coal Creek, near Fernie, caved in to-day and entombed twenty-three miners. A gang is at work clearing the shaft, but six or seven hundred yards of loose rock will have to be removed before the men can be freed.

President Lindsay and other officials of the Crow's Nest Coal Company were rushed to the scene in a special train while nurses and doctors collected in case their services are required. It is feared that when the men eventually are reached they will be dead.

The cave-in occurred this morning shortly after the day shift went to work, the crash being heard for several miles. Work of rescue is impeded by dangerous gas.

This is the same mine in which an accident occurred two months ago.

BIG GOLD ROBBERY.

Conspiracy Discovered Among South African Mine Employees.

London, Aug. 1.—A dispatch to the Daily Mail from Pietermaritzburg reports the discovery of a gigantic conspiracy of employees to rob the Rand Gold Mines of enormous sums. Gold to the amount of $100,000 has been stolen this year, and many thousands of dollars worth was stolen in 1907.

Detectives are shadowing the suspects, who, it is believed, shipped their spoils to England by various routes.

CLOUDBURST FLOODS TOWN.

Much Damage Done When Arkansas River Breaks Banks.

Florence, Colo., July 31.—A cloudburst near this place to-night caused a destructive flood in the Arkansas River, which broke its banks and washed away many buildings, uprooted orchards and destroyed gardens, causing damage estimated at $200,000.

No loss of life has been reported.

CUBAN ELECTIONS TO-DAY.

Indications Are that Voting Will Proceed Quietly.

Havana, July 31.—The prospects for orderly elections to-morrow continue. There is, however, some disturbance in the vicinity of Guines, thirty miles from Havana.

Maj. Feltz, acting governor of Havana province, went this afternoon in an automobile to Guines and other barrios in that vicinity and made efforts to straighten the tangle out. The Liberals there realizing the strength of the Conservatives, declare that no matter who is elected they will run the government themselves won by right of the bloodshed in the revolution in 1906.

Gov. Nagoon has dismissed the mayor of San Jose de las Lajas and the chief of police of Guira Molena because of their political activity.

FIRE DESTROYS PIER

Hamburg - American Line Has $500,000 Blaze.

LOCOMOTIVE SPARK BLAMED

Thousands Barrels of Oil Narrowly Saved, and Steamer Has to Be Towed Out of Harm's Way—Dock Owned by International Marine Company and Leased by Railroad.

Philadelphia, July 31.—The pier of the Hamburg-American and Atlantic Steamship Company lines here was practically destroyed by fire in three-quarters of an hour this afternoon. The loss is $500,000.

Sparks from a shifting locomotive started the blaze, which swept through the sheds at the inner end of the pier with terrific speed. The suffocating smoke from the burning cotton and burlap made the work of the firemen difficult.

A thousand barrels of oil, which were piled at the outer end of the pier, added to the danger. Two fireboats and several tugs aiding, the firemen succeeded in preventing the flames from reaching these.

STEAMER PULLED FROM DANGER.

The steamer Albano, of the Hamburg-American Line, which docked on Wednesday, was pulled into midstream before the blaze became dangerous. Within half an hour after the fire had started it was completely under control.

Except the outer end of the pier, the entire dock and sheds were destroyed. The property is owned by the International Marine Company, and is leased by the Pennsylvania Railroad.

The merchandise which was burned included most of the cargo of the Albano and that of the Arandia, which was sunk at her moorings by an explosion a month ago.

PRESTON IS TOO MODEST.

"Delicacy" Forbids Man in Prison from Running for Presidency.

New York, July 31.—The socialist labor party which at its national convention in this city caused a sensation by nominating M. R. Preston, now serving a sentence in Nevada for murder, for President, has been forced to take his name off the ticket. Preston, who refuses to stand for such a fate, sent a private telegram to Daniel De Leon, founder of the party, when the news of the nomination reached him, declining the nomination, but the name continued to head the ticket until to-day. The matter was set at rest definitely to-day by the national executive committee announcing that Preston had notified the committee officially that "out of delicacy" he could not stand for his name at the head of the ticket.

There was nothing to do but to take the name off and this was done. The ticket will now be headed by August Gilhaus, engineer, New York, as "proxy" for Preston.

RUN BRYAN FIGHT FROM NEW YORK

Woodson Says Headquarters Will Be There.

BUT WEST WILL CONTROL

East Not to Take Charge of the Campaign.

Secretary of the Democratic National Committee and Roger Sullivan Meet in Manhattan to Confer with Chairman Norman Mack—The Campaign to Be Directed from Old-time Rooms in the Hoffman House

New York, July 31.—Democracy's fight will be conducted from the Hoffman House this year, according to Uray Woodson, of Kentucky, secretary of the Democratic National Committee, and Roger C. Sullivan, of Illinois. They reached New York this morning, and will confer to-morrow with Norman Mack, chairman of the national committee.

"We expect that the Eastern headquarters will be at the Hoffman, as before," said Mr. Woodson, "and that the national campaign will be managed from New York."

Waiting to See Mack. Neither cared to say anything more of the campaign plans until they should have a conference with Mack. Sullivan did not say whether he was prepared to swear allegiance to Bryan, after the manner in which the Democratic nominee has fought the Sullivan wing of the Illinois Democracy.

Mr. Woodson did not seem to anticipate that the Eastern wing of the Democracy would take the campaign out of the hands of the Westerners, as was the case four years ago.

Call for Bryan Day. Lincoln, Neb., July 31.—A call was sent out to-night by the local committee in charge of the Bryan notification ceremonies to Democrats of Nebraska, asking that as large a representation as possible be sent to Lincoln on the day of that event.

Mayor Brown, Lincoln's Democratic executive, says that he issued this in order to bring the biggest crowd ever in the town, but that, in fact, with the exception of the speeches, everything is to be of a nonpartisan character.

To emphasize this, Gov. Sheldon and other Republican State officials have been asked to take a leading part, and an invitation was sent to-night to Senator La Follette, of Wisconsin, to participate as a personal friend of Bryan.

La Follette is to speak at a local Methodist chautauqua here on the evening of August 12, and will be in Lincoln when the notification takes place. The mayor says he has invited La Follette to "participate in as much of the ceremonies as he may wish to."

Mr. Bryan declines to say just how long his speech will be. He says he does not know, but that he proposes to cover sufficiently each issue raised in the two platforms. The fact that he has beside him, during the periods of the day devoted to dictation, a pamphlet copy of Taft's speech, indicates one trend of the discussion. He expects to finish the speech by Monday, and to have it ready for distribution to the press representatives by Wednesday.

EXPELS ALL DUTCH CONSULS.

Thus Castro Answers Holland's Threat of Naval Demonstration.

President Castro of Venezuela has taken another fling at the Dutch government by cancelling the exequatur of all the Dutch consuls in Venezuela. Official confirmation of reports to this effect was received at the State Department yesterday.

The expulsion of the consuls completes the severance of all diplomatic and consular relations between Venezuela and Holland, and is regarded by diplomatic representatives as Castro's answer to the threat of a naval demonstration and possible bombardment of his ports by Dutch war vessels. It is expected that Holland will take similar action with regard to the Venezuelan diplomatic and consular representatives accredited to the Netherlands.

While the Dutch government has not notified the State Department that it intends to chastise Castro, there is a strong feeling in official circles that the orders to a Dutch battle ship to proceed to the Caribbean Sea foreshadows an active naval demonstration against Venezuela.
