WASHINGTON BOY HONORED.

Huntington May Tendered Reception New National Last Night.

Before an audience that tested the capacity of the New National Theater, Huntington May, a Washington singer, was last night the recipient of a genuine ovation as was ever accorded a local stage favorite.

Mr. May will remain here until the final performance Saturday night and join in the general farewell to the company, although his personal good-by was said last night, the occasion being "Huntington May" and acknowledging his thanks to those in the audience.

MARINE BAND CONCERT.

A concert will be given at the Capitol this afternoon at 5:30 o'clock by the Marine Band, under the leadership of the band leader, Mr. F. Smith, second leader.

FIND PLOT IN ARITHMETIC.

Texas See Attempt to Teach Children Northern Victories. Austin, Tex., Aug. 4.—The John B. Hood Camp, Confederate Veterans, have filed a formal protest with Gov. Campbell against the action of the State Text-Book Board in adopting for the public schools of the State a certain elementary arithmetic, because it contains the following examples, which, the camp holds, is an affront to the memory of the fallen soldiers.

NEWS OF ALEXANDRIA

Lots Awarded to Purchasers by Park Association.

W. H. SNOWDEN LAID TO REST

Stockholders of Harvey Company Meet—Pound Wagon on Job Again. H. E. Widener is Appointed Deputy Stamp Collector—Police Court Whisky Case Continued.

WASHINGTON HERALD BUREAU.

Alexandria, Va., Aug. 4.—One hundred and four out of 208 lots were drawn by purchasers at a meeting of the Washington Monument Park Association held this afternoon in the Opera House.

The meeting was well attended, and was very enthusiastic. Capt. F. L. Slaymaker presided and A. J. Wedderburn served as secretary.

Announcement was made by Capt. Slaymaker that Secretary Wedderburn had accomplished his purpose by disposing of the lots, and he was now ready to consummate the deal with the owners of the property. The association, he said, had reserved a few lots, their idea being to convert them into a park. He also said that the lots have a frontage of 25 feet with a depth of 150 feet.

The following committee was appointed to make alterations in the building regulations: J. D. Normoyle, F. C. Spinks, and J. T. Johnston. It was decided to have all buildings ten feet back of the building line, and buildings erected will have to be two and one-half feet from each house on either side, making a total of five feet.

Fredericksburg Folk Fill Their Jugs and Laugh at Local Option. Fredericksburg, Va., Aug. 4.—At midnight last night all the saloons in this city closed their doors for an indefinite period as a result of the local option election held May 5 last, the ninety-day period in which they had to dispose of their stock having expired.

For the past week the jug and bottle trade had been enormous. The whole day yesterday the town was filled with country people, who came evidently especially for the purpose of laying in their supply. Considering the fact that it was the last day there were few saloons left.

Whether the saloons will open again in the near future rests with Judge John T. Goodrick, of the Corporation Court, who will render his decision in the contest case on Thursday.

The last rites over the remains of Capt. William H. Snowden, who died Saturday at his home, Arcurus, Fairfax County, Va., were held at 9 o'clock this morning. A number of relatives and friends attended. Rev. J. A. Jeffers, pastor of the Methodist church at Anacostia, D. C., conducted the services.

The first meeting of the stockholders of the Harvey Company, Inc., was held in this city to-day at the office of Attorney Leo P. Harlow, 119 South Fairfax street. The following officers were elected to serve for the ensuing year: Joel Hillman, president; Washington; Sarah L. Hillman, vice president; Washington; Anthony Ludley, secretary; and treasurer, Washington; Wolf & Rosenberg, counsel, Washington. The company was recently organized, with a maximum capital stock of $50,000, the objects of which are to conduct a restaurant.

It is reported that several members of the city council have signed a paper in which they pledge themselves to vote for an appropriation of $90 to continue the service of the dog wagon on the streets. This news will be hailed with delight by the majority of citizens, as at the present time innumerable dogs, licensed or unlicensed, roam the streets free from hindrance on the part of the authorities.

The fact that the wagon has been out of commission so long is because the appropriation was exhausted. The proposition is that the wagon will shortly start out again.

H. E. Widener, Arlington, Va., has been appointed deputy stamp collector in this city in place of William Brown, of Lynchburg, Va., resigned. It is understood that Mr. Widener's appointment is only temporary, and that beginning September 1 the office will be filled by Gus Agnew, of this city.

In the police court this morning the case of Edward Morris and Harry Lunsford, held on suspicion of stealing a barrel of whisky from the Washington Southern Railway Company, was continued for ten days, in order to give the police an opportunity to collect evidence.

The various glass factories of this city are making active preparations for the annual reopening during the early part of September. At some of the factories extensive improvements are being made.

The remains of Roger Crupper, who died in Washington Sunday, were brought here this afternoon and buried in Union Cemetery. Mr. Crupper was a former resident of this city.

The explosion of a kerosene lamp caused a slight fire at the residence of Mrs. Lee, 1111 First street, shortly after 2 o'clock this morning. No damage was done.

SEAMAN DROWNS AT NORFOLK.

Earle Mann, Like Kerr, Lost Late, Hailed from Indiana. Norfolk, Va., Aug. 4.—The mysterious disappearance from the United States battle ship Montana of Earle Mann, a seaman from Terre Haute, Ind., was today solved by the finding of the body of the drowned man floating by the ship. How he came to his death is still a mystery.

George Harvey Kerr, another young Southern Indiana seaman, was drowned from the Montana only a week ago. Mann's body was ordered to be shipped to his parents' Indiana home.

HINTON LIVERY STABLE BURNS

Thirty-seven Horses Incinerated by a Thirty Thousand Dollar Blaze.

Special to The Washington Herald.

Hinton, W. Va., Aug. 4.—Fire early this morning destroyed the large livery barn of the Hinton Livery Company, cremating thirty-seven horses and destroying fifty or more vehicles and an immense quantity of feed, entailing a loss upward of $20,000.

The fire was discovered about 1:30 o'clock in the upper story of the large brick building, but before an alarm could be sounded the entire building was ablaze. At the risk of their own lives, citizens rescued five horses from the burning structure, two of which were so badly burned that they were killed. The livery barn was used as a boarding stable by twenty-five owners of horses in the city, while the remainder were kept in sixteen in the structure. The upper floor gave way under the weight of the vehicles and feed, crushing the helpless animals under the falling debris.

The loss includes practically every valuable driving horse in the city, some of which were valued at from $500 to $750 each. The loss in horses alone will total $12,000. The fire was caused by a gas lamp which had been left burning up with the loss of the building and in the vehicles.

There was only $2,000 insurance on the building and contents.

VIRGINIA FARMERS' MEETING.

Fifth Annual Session to Begin at Richmond To-day.

Special to The Washington Herald.

Richmond, Va., Aug. 2.—The fifth annual session of the Virginia State Farmers' Institute will convene at the Jefferson hotel to-morrow. It is believed that at least 2,500 will attend.

The Eastern Shore farmers, who have never before joined with the association, will be here in force. The association will be called to order by President T. O. Sandy, of Burkeville.

Addresses of welcome will be delivered by Mayor Carlisle, McCarthy and Gov. Claude A. Swanson. Responses will be made by ex-Gov. J. Hoge Tyler, honorary president of the institute, and by John W. Churchman, president of the State board of agricultural matters, of the legislature from Augusta County.

The address of the president will also be delivered to-morrow morning.

WITS IN JOVIAL MOOD.

Fredericksburg Folk Fill Their Jugs and Laugh at Local Option. Fredericksburg, Va., Aug. 4.—At midnight last night all the saloons in this city closed their doors for an indefinite period as a result of the local option election held May 5 last, the ninety-day period in which they had to dispose of their stock having expired.

For the past week the jug and bottle trade had been enormous. The whole day yesterday the town was filled with country people, who came evidently especially for the purpose of laying in their supply. Considering the fact that it was the last day there were few saloons left.

Whether the saloons will open again in the near future rests with Judge John T. Goodrick, of the Corporation Court, who will render his decision in the contest case on Thursday.

The office of the Virginia State Fair Association presents a scene of great activity. Piles of premium lists have been delivered by the printer to the general manager, and three mail bags, stuffed full, leave the office every evening, going to men in nearly every county in Virginia, and many to the States of Maryland, Delaware and Pennsylvania.

The horses that have been in Norfolk will be taken to the Fair Grounds. Most of the horses going to Richmond will be entered in the races of the Petersburg Driving Association, to be held next week on the Riverside track in the "Cockade City."

An increase of 2,500 tons in one week is the record of the Norfolk & Western Railway coal office at Lambert Point. Last week 7,500 tons were dumped aboard ship at that station, as against 5,000 for the week previous. The bulk of the tonnage was exported. The foreign markets have shown a decided increase in demand for this period, and the agents there, unfortunately, had all the fuel they needed to meet the demand. Instead of two or three ships out of Norfolk in a week for foreign ports, six cleared last week, taking American coal to the uttermost parts of the world.

We haven't had time to figure it out yet, but we have a sneaking idea that if Mr. Taft had cut out "Roosevelt" wherever it occurs in his speech of acceptance, he would have kept the deliverance within the 3,500-word limit—Virginia Pilot.

Logan Liville, of Charleston, has invented and secured a patent for a miner's lock indicator, which takes the place of and does away with the loose check system by which the miner keeps account of the coal he loads. This new device is designed to place on the mine cart, and by means of two numbered dials the miner sets the dials to reveal only his number and locks the dials by means of an automatic spring locking device which remains locked until the weight boss credits this number with the weight of coal and unlocks the indicator, when it is ready for the next miner.

At the mining town of Stafford, Raleigh County, W. Va., last Thursday night 100 pounds of powder in a powder-house exploded. Nearly every building in the town was completely wrecked and several persons were seriously hurt, the worst injured being Postmaster Frank Monroe. Several persons were blown out of their houses, but not seriously hurt. The damage aggregates $200,000.

Southwest Virginia appears to have within its limits some of the hidden wealth of all the other States, but the developments of this wealth is merely in its infancy. When the Norfolk and Western completes its line of road to Potts Valley in Craig County, it will make accessible to the markets one of the best and greatest iron beds in the United States. The iron ores of Virginia have been credited with existing only in "pockets," but when the Potts Valley ores are reached, it will be found that no such small quantities exist. The present developments of promising magnitude in the Southwest is that of the gypsum beds in Smyth County. No effort has ever been made to develop the beds of gypsum until acquired by the Southern Gypsum Company.—Roanoke Times.

Norfolk has started a crusade against unnecessary noises, with special application to the hours of the morning. Some

GO ON FISCAL MISSION

Senators Sail to Probe Foreign Money Systems.

DISCUSS HEARST'S LEAGUE

Hale Thinks It Will Injure Bryan. Daniel Says Effect Will Be Felt in Both Parties—Aldrich Expects to Get Valuable Data for Use in Devising Better Banking System.

New York, Aug. 4.—Senator Nelson W. Aldrich, of Rhode Island; Senator Eugene Hale, of Maine, and Senator John W. Daniel, of Virginia, members of the subcommittee of the National Monetary Commission, who are going to Europe to look into the way the countries there conduct the banking business and financial affairs generally, returned to-day aboard the North German Lloyd steamship Kronprinzessin Cecilie.

Senator Hale said before sailing that if there were doubt about the election of Mr. Taft the movement of the Independence League would make it a certainty. From the viewpoint of Mr. Daniel the Independence League's candidates would draw just as heavily from the Republicans as from the Democratic party. He said that the Democratic party is in better shape than in years ago and that Mr. Bryan is stronger with the people than ever before.

Aldrich Expects Results. Senator Aldrich, chairman of the subcommittee, said they would obtain more complete and accurate information than is now available about the monetary and banking systems of the world, and would examine the methods in use abroad by the leading nations for the collection and distribution of public revenues.

The work, Mr. Aldrich said, was merely preliminary to the report which the commission is required to make to Congress of a complete monetary and banking system for this country.

JOHN HENRY MARTIN DIES.

Washington County Citizen Leaves Two Sons in Washington.

Cumberland, Md., Aug. 4.—John Henry Martin, once prominent in Democratic politics in Washington County, where he was a candidate for county commissioner, died here to-day, aged eighty-two years. The surviving children include Marcellus Martin, justice of the peace; Sergeant Harry A. Martin, in the local police force; Capt. Williams S. Martin, of the fire department, and Peter D. Martin, both of Washington, D. C.

Woman Killed by Train.

Hagerstown, Md., Aug. 4.—Miss Elizabeth Oden, widow of Nathaniel Oden, was run down and instantly killed this evening shortly after six o'clock by a Western Maryland passenger train No. 11, "Blue Mountain Express," while attempting to cross the track at Chewsville station.

NEWS OF THE VIRGINIAS

POLITICAL AND OTHERWISE.

By the census of 1900 Virginia contained a population approximating 2,000,000, or more than one-fifth of all the people then in the United States, about one-third of this number being negroes, of whom 12,000 were free. Comparing the returns with the present population of the Commonwealth (2,100,000), the hasty conclusion is drawn that the increase has been exceptionally slow, but this view loses sight of the fact that in 1790 the figures embraced all the persons living in the territory now covered by West Virginia and Kentucky; and it should be taken into account that the Old Dominion contained largely to the settlement of Illinois and Missouri, and Alabama, Tennessee and Florida as well. Even among the pioneers of Iowa, California and Minnesota many names can be found whose hearers were first Americanized in the settlements on the banks of the James and Potomac rivers. Had Virginia retained her original geographical proportions she would rank easily as first in the family of States. Generously profuse of offspring from the parent stem, there still remains a goodly crop of sons and daughters under the ancient roof tree, amid the diminished acres of her original domain. In 1890 largely more than one-half of the senators and representatives in Congress were of Virginian birth, or were the sons or grandsons of men for whose manor born.—Norfolk Virginian-Pilot.

Gov. Swanson of Virginia will spend two weeks at his farm near Chatham. "I have not taken a vacation since I was inducted into office," said the governor, "and it just occurred to me that I will steal away and go to my farm and spend a couple of weeks. I enjoy getting back to home, and I know that I can find rest up there." The governor has been kept on the go nearly all the time since he was inaugurated, and last year he was compelled to go a great deal of entertaining and speech-making during the exposition.

The big corps of examiners at work in the office of the State superintendent of free schools of West Virginia will not be able to finish its work in less than three weeks. Almost 3,000 persons took the uniform examination, and all the papers are being carefully graded now, preparatory to the issuance of certificates to the successful ones.

Plans for the boys' dormitory to be built by the Virginia Christian College will be submitted shortly to the contractors, and it is expected that the contract will be awarded by August 15. This structure is to cost $20,000. The college will also construct a college building as soon as possible at a cost of $20,000. The funds for all of this work are in hand.

Last Saturday the Richmond Evening Journal was turned over to the ladies of Richmond, and the much-heralded playground issue was produced. The ladies filled the various offices, and they sent out to the Journal readers a paper of twenty-six pages. It was a credit to the ladies, who showed that they are not only good housekeepers and sweethearts, but journalists as well. The regular staff of the paper sat by and looked wise, cognizant of the fact that they were not the only people living in the capital city of Virginia who knew how to run a newspaper.

JAMES DUNCAN HAGUE DEAD

Called by Darwin America's Most Noted Geologist.

Was Prominent in the Development of the Hecla and Calumet Copper Mines.

New York, Aug. 4.—James Duncan Hague, government geologist and mining expert, and son of Dr. William Hague, a noted clergyman, died to-day at Stockbridge, Mass., after an illness of one month. He was seventy-three years old, and leaves a son, William, also an engineer, and two daughters, Marian and Eleanor. His brother, Arnold Hague, is a United States Geological Survey expert.

Mr. Hague's New York residence was at 118 East Fortieth street. Mr. Hague was lately connected with the development of the Rothschild mines and the North Star mines, of which he was president. In the booming of the Calumet and Hecla mines and as superintendent of the Lake Superior copper region he was a leading engineer. He was geologist of the United States geological exploration of the fortieth parallel in 1867, after his graduation from Harvard, Göttingen, and Freiberg scientific schools.

In the South Sea exploring cruise of 1858 he was a chemist. He was a member of every prominent American and European scientific academy and club and nearly all of the clubs in this city. Mr. Hague represented New York City and the chamber of commerce at the relief of the San Francisco earthquake sufferers. He was called by Darwin America's most noted geologist.

Maryland Chautauques Open.

Cumberland, Md., Aug. 4.—The Allegany Grove Chautauque opened this afternoon at Allegany Grove, four miles west of Cumberland, with a concert by the Southern Jubilee Singers. The Mountain Chautauque, at Mountain Lake Park, began its twenty-sixth summer this evening, words of welcome were uttered by Dr. C. W. Baldwin, of Baltimore, president; Superintendent V. L.
