ALMAS TEMPLE HOLDS FEAST

Valentine Night is Made Ceremonial Session.

Fifteen Wideawake Wanderers from Plains Perform Special Feats. Banquet is Final Reward.

Valentines to the girls I know— And they're a lot of daisies; I'm fond of those that are fond of me. And the rest can go to blazes!

Almas Temple of the Mystic Shrine met last night in ceremonial session and celebrated Valentine's night.

The potentate's invitation to a session expressed the wish that all believers in this well-established American idea would come to this special Almas feast and show their devotion to an institution that has been conferring pleasure on all who have belonged to it for many years.

It was the first night for illustrious Potentate Louis A. Dent as the main guy, and the way he regulated the ropes and conducted the journey across the desert augured well for an interesting and a successful year for the nobility of Almas Temple.

There were fifteen wideawake wanderers from the plains, real live Valentines, and that they were rewarded for the hardships and trials they endured while crossing the desert goes without saying. Special favors—the polite name for special stunts—were distributed to the degenerate sons in full measure. The features introduced were new and novel, the moving picture show being especially interesting and amusing. The slides depicted the present officers and the husbands in many laughable characters.

There were a great many visitors, including a number from the "House on the Hill," all of whom were looked after by a special committee. The Arab patrol, under Capt. Frank E. Gibson, was, as usual, a pleasing feature of the continuous performance.

The festivities of Valentine night were concluded with an elaborate banquet. Illustrious Potentate Dent acting as toastmaster. The speeches were humorous, along the line of the sentiment so appropriate to the season.

The official ditty of Almas Temple, A. O. N. M. S., for 1933 is as follows: Louis Addison Dent, illustrious potentate; Alexander Grant, chief rabbi; William W. Jernano, assistant rabbi; Thomas C. Nore, high priest and prophet; John A. Gilmore, orient guide; Fred A. Selberg, treasurer; Harrison Dinsman, recorder; Frank E. Gibson, bow puller; Louis Addison Dent, Gustave A. Knevel, and Harrison Dinsman, ad vicem, representatives to Imperial Council, 1933; Samuel Hart, Thomas P. Morgan, and Walter H. Klopfer, trustees; Harry Standfield, representative; Masonic Temple Association.

REVIEWING STANDS GOING UP RAPIDLY

Outside Inauguration Work Makes Great Progress.

STREETS YET TO BE LIGHTED

Committees Will Have All in Readiness Before Arrival of First Train Load of Visitors—Workers Hope for Good Weather—West Point Cadets Will Join Marching Column.

The active work in preparation for the Taft-Sherman inauguration is now going on vigorously. The period of preliminary planning and discussion of ways and means has passed, and now the sound of the saw and hammer is heard on the reviewing stands.

The stands, along the Avenue, at the Capitol, and in the Court of Honor are all making good progress. The framework will be up and the roofs on in one week more, and days before the first trainload of inaugural visitors arrives within the boundaries of the District the reviewing stands, the Court of Honor, and the work of the committee on street decoration will be finished.

Work of Lighting Streets. It is expected that the special work necessary for wiring up the street lighting scheme will be started next week. There is much of this work to be done, and though it will be of a temporary character, wires must be stretched to carry extra current, standards must be set up at each 100 feet along the Avenue, and thousands of bulbs put in place. The area of special lighting covers the Union Station plaza, the streets leading to the Capitol, Pennsylvania avenue, a portion of Fifteenth street, and the Court of Honor.

Besides, special arrangements must be made to light the Washington Monument, the Capitol dome, and the Ellipse on the night of the fireworks.

This work, however, with the preparations which must be made at the Pension Office, is in the hands of competent contractors, and the work will all be done within the next two weeks. It is planned by the committee that it shall not be necessary to strike a blow after Saturday, February 27.

Hope for Clear Skies.

Much interest centers in the probable weather of inauguration week. Some days of the week just passed would have been ideal for inauguration, but there is no certainty that such days will come to Washington the first week in March. In fact, inauguration day in the past has been noted for its general discomfort and rawness. The exposure of March 4 has been responsible for many cases of illness and not a few deaths. In view of these facts, the inauguration workers are all hoping for good weather, which would bring a big crowd to Washington.

It was announced yesterday from the office of Gen. Johnston, chief of staff to the grand marshal, that a government band would be detailed to head the parade division which will escort the President and vice President-elect from the White House to the Capitol on the morning of March 4. It has not yet been determined what band will be given this duty, but the suggestion has been made that the Constabulary band from the Philippines be given the place of honor.

West Point Boys Coming.

Gen. Bell yesterday received word from the West Point Academy that a detail of 40 cadets from the United States Military Academy, with nine officers, will come to Washington during the night of March 3, arriving here about 7 o'clock on the morning of March 4. The cadets will be quartered in the train which brings them to this city. They will march from the train to the place assigned to them in the formation of the parade, and after it is over will return to the train, and immediately start on the return trip. The cadets will be accompanied by the Military Academy Band.

Gen. Bell also was informed yesterday that a cadet corps from Shepherdstown, W. Va., will come here to participate in the parade. The cadets of the Georgia Military Academy, of College Park, Ga.; the Donald Frazier Academy, of Decatur, Ga., and of the Marist College, of Atlanta, Ga., will come to Washington as one body. They will number about 200, and will be attended by the Atlanta Fire and Drum Corps. These young men will wear the regulation gray uniform of school cadets in the South.

It was definitely stated yesterday that the police from New York, known as the "traffic squad," will not come to Washington.

DIAMOND RING RECOVERED.

Found Hidden in Rubbish at Foot of Elevator Shaft.

Almost hidden by rubbish in the bottom of an elevator shaft in a building at 22 St. Felix street, Brooklyn, N. Y., a diamond ring, valued at $1,000, which, the police say, was stolen from F. Warren Johnson, a pawnbroker, of this city, by Robert Osborne, was found by detectives. The ring was brought to Washington yesterday by Detective Birlingame, who arrested Osborne in the Orpheum Theater, Brooklyn. James Crosby, a member of the Osborne-Kelly band of safe-blowers, admitted to the police, it is said, he was given the ring by Osborne and had thrown it in the elevator shaft when he saw he could not escape capture.

Detectives also brought from New York several other diamond rings, supposed to have been stolen in this city, together with a valuable gold watch and a charm in the shape of a lion's head. A sack containing 200 pennies, supposed to have been stolen from the store of George C. Altemus, 2029 Fourteenth street, was recovered.

ENFORCEMENT OF LAW ASKED

Only One Fire-escape Inspector Was Appointed.

Commissioners Say Congress Failed to Provide for Law Going Into Effect for Two Years.

Failure of Congress to make provision for carrying the fire escape law of 1906 into effect until two years after the enactment, and the appointment of only one inspector, are the reasons given in a communication sent to the Speaker of the House yesterday by the District Commissioners, in response to a resolution passed by that body calling for a report of the extent of the enforcement of the law.

The resolution asking for the information relative to the law was introduced by Representative McCarvin. The Representative insisted that an explanation be given for failure to enforce the law more thoroughly. Owing to the reasons cited by the Commissioners in their reply, only 25 per cent of the buildings coming under the act have been inspected.

The report says that the law could not be enforced at all for two years, and at the end of that time only one inspector was appointed. Pressure of business prevented building inspectors from taking action, and it was decided to inspect the buildings considered most dangerous first, and gradually to eliminate all conditions of a menacing character. The employment of only one inspector is held accountable for the slow progress made.

The Commissioners say it was decided to inspect first the hotels and public buildings where transients and the general public visit in large numbers.

Combustible materials, sources are next in order, and fireproof apartments and office buildings are to be taken up in the order of the possible danger.

WOMAN A SUICIDE BY GAS.

Mrs. Yonce Was Clerk in Bureau of Statistics.

Coroner Nevitt has issued a certificate of death by suicide in the case of Mrs. Susan H. Yonce, thirty-nine years old, who was found dead in her room, at 146 Belmont street northwest, yesterday morning. It is thought Mrs. Yonce turned on the gas just before retiring late Thursday night. Her body was warm when found.

Mrs. Yonce, who came to this city from Beaufort, N. C., was a clerk in the Bureau of Statistics, Department of Agriculture. Her husband, a clergyman, died about ten years ago. She is survived by four children, Mrs. C. W. Jenkins and Brown Yonce, of this city, and two younger children, residing in Baltimore.

A note was found in her room, reading: "Let Senator Simmons and Representative John Small know." Photographs of her two youngest children were found on the cot beside the body. Arrangements for the funeral have not been completed.

REAL ESTATE NOTES.

Dr. J. C. Boyd, surgeon, U. S. N., has purchased from Gen. John Watt Kearney, through F. W. Graham & Co., a lot 50 by 100 feet at the southeast corner of Twenty-second and R streets, for $3,000.

Wood, Doan & Deming architects, are preparing plans for a residence which the purchaser intends to erect on the property, and which is to cost approximately $50,000. The sale was made in connection with Arthur D. Adgison, who represented the former owner.

Mrs. W. J. Wallace has bought through the Taggart-Thrift Company, in connection with Moore & Hill, a residence in Garfield street, just north of the Connecticut avenue bridge, for $5,000. It is a three-story brick and occupies a lot 120 by 130 feet.

Mrs. Virginia A. Sterling, of Boston, has purchased through Miss Grace Thomas, a two-story and basement residence, at 1872 V street northwest, for about $5,000. The sale was made in connection with Walter Brothers, and the property will be held by the purchaser as an investment.

Mrs. Loxi P. Morton, wife of former Vice President Morton, who a week ago purchased the unimproved property fronting on Sixteenth street, between L and M streets, intends to erect a handsome residence on the property, which she will occupy as her home. The lot adjoins that purchased by Mrs. George M. Pullman, who also intends to erect a handsome residence on the newly purchased property.

The former home of the Mertons, the red brick mansion, on the triangle formed by Fifteenth and N streets and Rhode Island avenue, will be sold in the near future, as negotiations with that end in view have been going on for some time. The house was formerly occupied by the Russian Embassy, and is now occupied by Senator-elect Root.

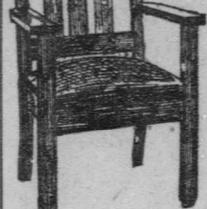

Government Employees' Monthly.

The object of this publication is to correct the widespread impression adverse to the betterment of conditions surrounding the government clerk, which has been produced by articles written in ignorance of the truth or through petty jealousy. It is thought that when the facts about government employe life become better known, and the influence of Uncle Sam's subordinate employe is an established quantity, Congress will seriously consider the advisability of placing the government clerk's salary upon a higher plane.
