Ambassador and Mme. Jusserand Home from South.

SAIL FOR FRANCE IN JULY

Miss Mary Hester Shepard Married to G. Gould Lincoln at Bride's Home by Rev. Dr. Roland Cotton Smith—Mrs. Wickersham Guest at Tea Given in Her Honor.

The French Ambassador and Mme. Jusserand, who went to Petersburg, Va., with President Taft for the unveiling of the monument to the Pennsylvania troops, returned to the embassy at noon yesterday.

They were among the guests at the dinner and at the reception given for the President Wednesday night in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hall Davis. They will leave Washington in a few days for California for a visit to San Francisco and Los Angeles, to be absent during the month of June, and will sail early in July for their home in France for the summer.

Miss Mary Hester Shepard, daughter of the chief justice of the court of appeals, was married yesterday afternoon to Mr. George Gould Lincoln, son of the late Dr. N. S. Lincoln. The ceremony was performed in the home of the bride's parents, on Highland Terrace, near the German Embassy, by the Rev. Roland Cotton Smith, rector of St. John's Church, before a small company of relatives and a few close friends of the bride and bridegroom.

The house was decorated with spring blossoms and palms and ferns, and after the ceremony a reception was held for the friends of the two families, both of which have been identified with the resident and official society in Washington for many years. The bride wore an exquisite gown of ivory white satin trimmed with pearl embroidery and duchesse lace. Her veil of tulle was held with orange blossoms and she carried a shower of lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Mark Brooke, wife of Lieut. Mark Brooke, who was formerly Miss Marie Barnes, was the matron of honor; Miss Caroline Shepard, sister of the bride, maid of honor, and Miss Natalie Lincoln, sister of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids. They wore similar gowns of white French muslin elaborately trimmed with valenciennes lace, over green satin, with white chip hats trimmed with white lilacs and pink roses. The matron of honor carried bunches of pink sweet peas. Mr. Mark S. Willing, of Chicago, was the best man, and the ushers were Mr. E. I. Low and Mr. B. R. C. Low, of New York; Mr. Augustus S. Blagden, of Chester, Pa.; Mr. Harry Hooker, of New York, all classmates of the bridegroom at Yale; Mr. Seth Shepard, Jr., and Mr. Nelson Shepard, brothers of the bride, and Mr. Nicholas T. N. Robinson, all of this city.

After the reception the bride and bridegroom left for a wedding trip, and bride wearing a gown of dark blue tailored cloth with hat of the same color. They will spend a fortnight at "The Elm" in the country place of Mrs. A. C. Tyler, near New London, Conn., who placed it, with servants, horses, carriages, and autos, at their disposal. They will be at home later in this city. Mrs. Tyler and Miss Tyler came down in Washington and will stay for a visit in Washington.

Mrs. Wickersham, wife of the Attorney General, was the guest for whom Mrs. Preston Sands entertained at a tea yesterday afternoon in her Q street home. It was a small company, principally of old friends of Mrs. Wickersham. Mrs. Charles W. McFee, Mrs. Nathaniel Simpkins, and Miss Henriques presided at the table.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Cummings entertained a company of young people at dinner last evening in honor of Miss Josephine Durand, daughter of the late British Ambassador, who is the guest of Miss Marion Oliver.

Gen. John W. Foster, formerly Secretary of State, and Mrs. Foster entertained at dinner last evening, which was preceded by an afternoon tea, which had the weather permitted, was intended for an al fresco tea in the garden of the Princeton home in the presence of Princeton University and Mrs. Wilson.

Mrs. Foster had assisting her Mrs. Sherman, wife of the Vice President; Mrs. Bryce, wife of the British Ambassador; Mrs. Stephen E. Elkins, Mrs. Stanley Matthews, Mrs. Frank O. Briggs, the Misses Keen, and the wives and mothers of some of the members of the Princeton alumni, and Miss May Williams and Miss Sophie Siebert.

Mrs. William W. Lewis, of Clarkburg, Montgomery County, Md., announces the engagement of her daughter, J. Marie Lewis, to Mr. S. K. Edmonston, of this city. The wedding will take place in June.

Mrs. A. C. Chapman announces the engagement of her daughter, Leola Elmore.

SAYINGS OF MRS. SOLOMON.

Being the Confessions of the Seven Hundredth Wife.

Translated by HELEN ROWLAND.

Verily, verily, my daughter, now is the appointed hour for the annual matrimonial vacation! Then, I charge thee, cut thy husband's leash and remove his muzzle! Let down the bars and leave him to seek his own diversions, whether they be blonds or brunettes; likewise to get his own breakfasts and find his own collar buttons.

Behold, matrimony should be a privilege, not a prison; and a saint would tire of heaven if he felt that he could never escape therefrom!

Yes, even eating or loving, which must be kept up from day unto day, become a duty—which is not a pleasure.

Yet, peradventure, mingle a little sense with thy sentiment, and go not too far away, neither stay too long; for a little distance lendeth a wife enchantment, but too much distance may lead to another enchantment—and the woods are full of love pirates and flirts in stenographer's clothing.

Lo! during eleven months of "close communion" a husband's repartee becometh frazzled and his devotion frayed at the edges.

But a little total abstinence from thy society shall cure him of that tired feeling, and shall make him long for thee as he length for an old pipe when he hath sworn off smoking; and a few breakfasts consisting of cocktails and warmed-over coffee in soiled cups shall make him yearn for thee as one yearneth for home cooking after many weeks of lobster palaces and bohemian table d'hote.

Behold, what maketh a man appreciate an old shoe like unto trying a new one?

Verily, verily, two married people are like unto two cats which might find one another good company were they not always tethered unto the same string.

Yes, wives are like unto old books, which become dearer but less interesting every day.

Yet, as I have before said unto thee, an ounce of summer vacation is the prevention, which is worth a pound of cure in the divorce court. Selah!

KNIGHTS AT SERVICE

Bishop Harding Preaches at St. Mark's Church.

TELLS OF GOSPEL OF CHARITY

Foundation Stone of Masonry, the Bishop Declares, Was Laid by Christ When He Taught the Brotherhood of Man—Knights March from Temple to House of Worship.

In full-dress uniform, more than 300 Knights Templars attended services commemorating Ascension Day in St. Mark's Episcopal Church last night.

The knights listened reverently to the words of Right Rev. Alfred Harding, Bishop of Washington, as he told them of the foundation stone of their order being laid by Jesus Christ, when he taught the brotherhood of man and the gospel of charity.

The knights marched to the church in parade formation, led by a section of the Marine Band. They assembled at the same Temple at 6:30 o'clock, and, on the west side of Thirteenth street, formed in platoons, eight files front, and at the order of command started on the march to the church, at Third and A streets southeast.

Knights Join in Chorus. Arriving at the church, the knights were seated in the east tier of pews. When the organ rolled forth the "Processional" the knights joined with the vested choir in singing "Hail the Day that Sees Him Rise."

Rev. Dr. W. L. De Vries, pastor, read from the Scriptures, and the solemn and impressive ceremony was started. Through the rest of the service the knights sat with eyes to the front, and the lightning flickering on their insignia of rank and of the order.

The Bishop of Washington delivered the sermon, telling of the ascension of Christ and of what it meant to the world and mankind. He gave a brief description of the life of Christ, and toward the close of his discourse declared it was on the principles laid down by the Saviour that the order of Knights Templars was founded.

He said it was Christ who taught charity; who taught the brotherhood of man. It was Christ, he said, who taught the word of God, and who, by His teachings and example, revolutionized the world.

"Caesar ruled by force," said the minister, "but Christ revolutionized the order of things and ruled by love. He set the example and gave the first inspiration of the brotherhood of man."

Following the sermon, the choir gave several selections and the benediction was said by Dr. De Vries. Before leaving the church the knights were greeted by the pastor and the bishop.

Commanded the Templars.

Those in command of the Templars were Right Eminent Grand Commander Sir Walter H. Klopfer and Excellent Grand Prelate Sir J. Russell Verbruyke. The following commanderies and chief officers took part in the services: Washington Commandery, No. 1, Sir Benjamin S. Graves, commander, and Rev. Sir J. Russell Verbruyke, prelate; Columbia Commandery, No. 2, Sir F. A. Sebring, commander, and Sir James H. McIntosh, prelate; Potomac Commandery, No. 3, Sir John W. Michael, commander, and R. E. Sir William F. Hunt, prelate; De Molay Mounted Commandery, No. 4, Sir William N. Beahm, commander, and E. Sir Maurice Otterback, prelate, and Orient Commandery, No. 5, Sir Joseph H. Milans, commander, and Sir Richard P. Evans, prelate.

SING TO AID HOSPITAL.

Choir of St. Paul's Church Gives Programme of Sacred Music.

A splendid programme of sacred and secular music was given yesterday afternoon at old St. Matthew's Church for the benefit of the Georgetown Hospital's poor ward, by the full vested choir of St. Paul's Church, numbering forty-five boys and men, under the direction of the parish organist and choirmaster, Prof. Ernest T. Winchester. The singers sang with wonderful tone and style, and answered every direction of the choir master.

A strange coincidence was the fact that this was probably the first sanctuary choir to sing in this old church, in honor of the space formerly used by the priests as the altar, and that it is the last choir to sing in the building before it is torn down.

Baroness Marguerite Moncheur.

daughter of the Belgian Minister, has returned to the legation after a visit in Philadelphia and Baltimore.

Mrs. L. Z. Letter left Washington yesterday for Beverly, Mass., accompanied by Miss Dorothy Williams, sister-in-law of Mrs. Letter's son, who will spend the summer with her. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Letter will join them later.

The Norwegian Minister and Mme. Gude will sail for their home to-morrow.
