

ANARCHY REIGNS IN SPANISH TOWN

Troops in Barcelona Streets Unable to Restore Order.

SCORES DEAD OR HURT

Queen at Bayonne Waiting Outcome of Trouble.

General Marina, at Critical Point in Melilla, Calls for 75,000 Troops, and Declares His Men Are Worked Out and Demoralized—News Suppressed, and It Is Feared Conditions Are More Alarming.

Lisbon, July 29.—The Diario de Noticias states that complete anarchy reigns in Barcelona.

Troops with guns have been placed in all the principal streets, and are continually sweeping them with shot. The populace behind barricades, in windows, and on roofs return the fire with deadly effect.

The killed and wounded are numerous on both sides. The booming of the guns can be heard for many miles. Huge flames are visible at different points, where buildings are being destroyed.

Queen Leaves for Bayonne.

Hendaye, July 29.—A dispatch from San Sebastian says that Queen Victoria and the Queen's mother left in an automobile to-day for Bayonne.

Their departure from Bayonne, however, is said to depend on events, and they have made preparations for every contingency.

London, July 30.—Whenever there is trouble, no country in Europe more readily or more rigidly enforces a strict press censorship than Spain, but even allowing for this, the fact that no news up to the time of calling—3 p. m.—has come through since yesterday afternoon must be considered ominous.

Very significant, too, is the news that the Queen and the Queen Mother have crossed the French frontier, their return, it is believed, depending upon events, while "preparations have been made for every contingency."

There is no indication that the situation at Barcelona has improved, and there seems no doubt that the monarchist forces in Spain are faced by a revolutionary movement which may prove to have tainted a very considerable part of the army.

No list of the casualties in Morocco has yet been published, and 20,000 homes are being kept in an agony of suspense, which increases the popular indignation and makes the people ready to listen to anarchists and revolutionists.

Marina's Situation Critical.

Madrid, July 29.—Advice from Melilla shows that Gen. Marina's situation is extremely critical.

He is in urgent need of re-enforcements. He is said to have now asked for 8,000 troops, declaring that his present force is worked out and demoralized, while the natives, intoxicated with success and excited by marauds, are becoming more and more aggressive in firing on the Spanish outposts. They are daily coming so near that it is feared they will reach the gates of Melilla.

The campaign is showing up many faults in the administration of the army.

Wild Rumors Abroad.

Bayonne, July 29.—A dispatch from Madrid says that Spain is threatened by a perfectly inextinguishable situation at home and abroad.

Very little is known of what is happening in Barcelona, except that the state of affairs there is most serious.

In the absence of definite information the strangest rumors are current, such as one stating that a provisional government has been proclaimed in Barcelona and another that the civil governor has been murdered. The latter report has been denied.

The revolutionary section has taken advantage of the country's external difficulties to kindle a general and sudden revolt among the working classes. Such is the view taken by the average Spaniard, who is reader to ascribe the present occurrences to revolutionary machinations than to any widespread anti-patriotic or separatist sentiments among the people.

Conditions Alarming.

Genoa, July 29.—The captain of the steamer Barcelona, which arrived at Barcelona Monday morning late to unload wheat, described the outbreak there.

He says he waited vainly for dock laborers. Suddenly he saw thousands of workmen, headed by women and children, pouring out of the streets leading to the harbor and invading the piers.

They came to prevent men and ammunition being embarked on the steamer Buena Ayres, for Melilla.

The mob began to destroy the railroad track along the piers, hurling imprecations at the government. They engaged in the work of destruction as though seized with sudden madness. When a strong force of cavalry, infantry, and civil guards arrived the mob took up a position, with the women and children in the first line, and kept the soldiers at bay. The men behind hastily raised barricades. Soon volleys of stones and revolver shots began pouring on the soldiers, who charged many times and fired several volleys at the strikers, who turned and fled. The losses must have been serious on both sides.

The Barcelona called that evening without unloading.

BANK THEFTS GROWING.

Defalcations of Indiana Cashier May Reach $150,000.

Tipton, Ind., July 29.—The defalcations of Noah R. Marker, assistant cashier of the First National Bank of this city, are climbing up with every hour of the examiner's inquiry, reaching the $150,000 mark this afternoon.

That the shortage will reach $125,000 and may go to $150,000 there is no doubt for forged paper, including notes and checks, are turning up all the time.

WOMAN HEADS SCHOOLS.

Mrs. Ella Flagg Young Elected Superintendent of the Chicago Public Schools by the board of education.

"More than one of us who was ready to oppose a woman for superintendent on general principles have been won over by the force of Mrs. Young's personality," said a trustee.

WOMEN BEAT UNPOPULAR ONE

Ten of Them Club Miner's Wife at Railway Station.

Pull Her Hair and Tear Her Clothes in True Feminine Style.

Special to The Washington Herald.

Evansville, Ind., July 29.—Mrs. Maurice Kurner, a young married woman living in Oakland city, Ind., was attacked by ten women in Mass., a small town near here, this afternoon and seriously injured.

No cause for the attack can be found. The only woman who is known to have been one of the number who made the attack is a Mrs. Young, whose husband has fled affidavit against her for assault and battery on Mrs. Kurner. He did this to prevent any one from filing an affidavit against her charging assault with intent to kill.

Mrs. Kurner, whose husband is a miner, went to Mass. some time ago to visit relatives. For reasons that cannot be learned she became very unpopular there. It was known that she intended to leave Mass. this morning, and when the train arrived there were more than a dozen women at the station, some of them armed with clubs. But Mrs. Kurner had changed her plans, and did not leave until 1:30 o'clock this afternoon. When she went to the station she was met by the same women who had waited for her in the morning. As soon as she stepped upon the platform they attacked her. She was hit over the head with clubs and knocked unconscious. Her hair was pulled and her clothes almost torn from her body.

It is expected that Mrs. Kurner will file affidavits against the women who attacked her as soon as she is able.

CUBAN CABINET RESIGNS.

Action Taken to Free the Hands of President Gomez.

Havana, July 29.—Following a conference to-day, all the members of the cabinet, except Secretary of Justice Divino, resigned, giving as their reason that they wished to save President Gomez from the necessity of asking for the resignation in order that he might reorganize his cabinet in accordance with the popular clamor.

Dr. Juan Guiteras, the world-famous yellow fever expert, who was associated with Dr. Finlay in establishing the mosquito theory, has also resigned because the appropriations for sanitation were cut down.

President Gomez will return from Cayo Cristo to-morrow morning. It is expected that he will immediately act on the resignations and appoint a new cabinet.

KILLS MAN AND SELF.

Double Tragedy Follows Woman's Friendship with Grocer's Clerk.

Cincinnati, July 29.—Mrs. Hannah Malarky, aged forty, the handsome wife of John Malarky, a railroad man of Bellevue, Ky., near here, shot and killed Edward Exline, aged twenty-seven, a grocer's clerk, this evening and then drank carbolic acid, ending her own life.

Exline delivered groceries at the Malarky home, and neighbors have noticed, they say, that he spent considerable time on such occasions.

To-night Exline lingered at the Malarky home until nearly 7 o'clock. About that time a shot was heard, and when passers-by investigated they found Exline's body in the parlor and Mrs. Malarky in a nearby room dying of carbolic acid poisoning. An army gun used to fire the fatal shot was lying by her side.

BROUGHT FROM HONDURAS.

Francis Bailey Must Answer Charges of Beating Merchants.

New York, July 29.—Francis G. Bailey, who loaded the steamship Goldboro with goods obtained from merchants under what it is charged were false representations, and sailed away to Honduras, back in the spring of 1908, was brought into police headquarters at 6:30 o'clock to-night.

He had been brought from British Columbia, where he was arrested by Detective David N. Wilbur, of the central office.

There are numerous indictments against the prisoner.

THAW IS NERVOUS IN WITNESS CHAIR

Prisoner Glad When Jerome Stops Questioning.

HIS ANSWERS DELAYED

Finally Gains Control and Makes Good Impression.

Dodge's Sharp Questions Hurdled One After Another by the District Attorney, and Declares if Released He Will Be Careful to Avoid Recurrence of Brainstorm He Experienced When He Killed White.

White Plains, N. Y., July 29.—Harry K. Thaw weathered the second day's assault by District Attorney Jerome in the Supreme Court here to-day by the narrowest leeway of safety.

When, at the end of four hours of pounding, Jerome announced at the close of the afternoon session that he was through with the witness, save possibly for a few fugitive questions to-morrow, Thaw jumped from the stand without waiting to be dismissed and hurried to the security of the seat beside his counsel.

The Matteawan prisoner did not break once, but for fifteen minutes during the early part of the examination he fought himself visibly on the stand, and he came out of the conflict shaken but temporarily secure.

It was not what he said that betrayed his struggle to regain control of his sharpened faculties; it was the evidence of his uncontrolled muscles that may have been carried to the judge.

Followed Hartridge on Stand.

Thaw took the stand after Clifford W. Hartridge, his one-time counsel, and Mrs. Susie Morrill, the keeper of the apartment houses, had added further weight to the testimony Jerome had previously adduced regarding dog whips and girls and cash payments. That testimony was not pleasing nor beneficial to his case, and the rattle of it was with him when he was called to the stand to resume the hard task of cross-examination that Jerome had set for him on the day before.

The minute Thaw took the stand, Jerome hurried at him the same bald question that had caused him difficulty on the stand yesterday.

"Were you or were you not crazy when you shot White?"

The witness shifted in his chair, his right hand fluttering to his lip and back again. He spoke in a low voice, with none of the easy confidence that had characterized his sallies of yesterday.

The muscles in his cheeks just below the eyes twitched and his lips gave a rapid motion on the floor. Jerome, with eyes narrowed, watched, and waited.

"I was not crazy—that is, I was not medically crazy," was Thaw's answer after a full minute's delay. Then he repeated what he had adopted as his routine the day before, saying that the alienists who had examined him had assured him that such was the case. Dr. Lamb, Baker, and Jacob were the ones whom he cited as authorities.

"Did Dr. White, Gregory, Pilgrim, and Jelliffe swear on the stand in the second trial that you were crazy when you shot White?" came the question in Jerome's rasping inflection.

"I think those gentlemen testified that I was suffering from a mental derangement which prevented me from knowing the nature and quality of the act I committed," was Thaw's hesitating answer. As he spoke he looked nervously from his own counsel's face to the implacable visage of Jerome. The man seemed to be straining for a support beyond his reach.

More questions Jerome asked him along the same lines as those covered yesterday, as to wherein his opinion of his own sanity differed from those of the experts who had testified for him in his trials for Dr. White, and what his present belief as to his sanity at the time of the shooting of White, and now. Thaw answered mechanically at first and as if by rote, then gradually he began to get on his feet himself. Jerome unwittingly gave him a good chance by asking him to look over a sheet of writing paper and identify them as his own. Carefully, like a trained fighter sparring for wind, Thaw took up the time to examine the paper, and during those moments his nervousness passed away, and confidence crept into his eyes. At the end he was the same gently aggressive man that had handled repartee and retort with his interrogator yesterday.

"His Second Defense."

"You were being tried for murder this second time, and your defense was that you were insane at the time of the shooting," Jerome was saying, when Thaw interrupted him with one of his quick flashes of impatience.

"No such thing," said he. "My defense was all that the law would allow me."

"But," persisted the district attorney, "you understand that when you appeared before Justice Morchauer in Poughkeepsie last June upon a writ similar to that which is being heard now, the justice adjudged you insane."

"I understand no such thing, I understand that the justice dismissed the writ, which, to my mind, meant that there was a burden of doubt which he cast against me; that's all."

Geis Back at Jerome.

Thaw, with the full measure of acumen that he possessed on the first day of his examination, was giving it back to the district attorney as hard as it was sent. The State's alienists, who sat behind Jerome, were exchanging glances. Peculiar brilliancy in concealing the evidence of paranoia is also, they say, one of the unfailing indications of a paranoiac. A man being examined as to his sanity is usually

WHEAT CROP ENORMOUS.

Farmers of Minnesota and Dakotas Expect to Receive $300,000,000.

Minneapolis, July 29.—The farmers of Minnesota and North and South Dakota will get more than $300,000,000 for the enormous wheat crop now almost ready for the bladders.

This means that the farmers of these States will have more money to spend than ever before in the history of the Northwest.

The figure is based on the crop estimate by the Northwestern Miller to-day, considered the most reliable wheat crop authority in the country. Based upon the price of wheat to-day on the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce the crop is worth exactly $313,750,000, compared with $148,750,000, the value of the 1908 crop.

FIVE PROSTRATIONS RECORD FOR A DAY

Heat and Humidity Felt in Capital Yesterday.

PARKS BECOME A RENDEZVOUS

Hundreds of Washington People Spend Portion of the Night in Reservations in Effort to Keep Cool—Intense Suffering During Day and Night Among All Classes.

There were five prostrations from heat yesterday, none of which was serious. Each victim was taken to a hospital and was doing well late last night.

The maximum temperature officially reported by the United States Weather Bureau was 96, and the minimum 70. The humidity recorded was 82 at 8 o'clock yesterday morning, 87 at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, and 75 at 8 o'clock last night. The official thermometer readings, as reported, were as follows: 8 a. m., 76; 10 a. m., 85; 12 noon, 90; 2 p. m., 92; 4 p. m., 85; 6 p. m., 82; 8 p. m., 82.

After 8 o'clock last night there was a gradual, but hardly perceptible, fall in the temperature. At 9 o'clock yesterday afternoon there was a light shower of a few minutes' duration, which to some extent cooled the atmosphere, there being a drop of two or three degrees.

Intense Suffering.

There was intense suffering all over the city all day and last night, particularly in the tenement and alley and court sections occupied by the poorer classes. Practically no air was stirring, and for that reason the heat was more oppressive than it would have been under other conditions. In many sections of the city people remained on their lawns, front porches, stoops, and in the parks until a late hour, to take every advantage of catching what little fresh air that might be stirring. In all the parks there were many lounging on the grass, and all the benches were filled. In some of the alley and court sections, sleep was impossible in the small quarters of tenement houses, and many occupants spent the better part of the night out of doors, in near-by parks or near their houses.

The day was one of those bright, scorching hot days that make the asphalt pavements and roadways soft and mushy, like a thick Bigelow velvet carpet under foot, marked by the tracks of wagons, autos, and lighter vehicles and the imprint of shoes of the lightest pedestrians.

It was one of those sweltering "good old summer time" days that has won for the National Capital the well-deserved distinction of being one of the hottest spots on the continent when old Sol gets down to roasting business.

As a result of the hot wave, many of those who had put off their departure for the seashore or mountains hurriedly packed their belongings and got out of the city. Last night's trains out of the "White" small quarters were liberally patronized by the exodus of Washingtonians running away from the heat.

Prostrations Reported.

The prostrations reported by the police were as follows: Louise McDonald, negro, twenty-two years old, of 422 O street northwest, overcome at 422 O street northwest, between Fifth and Sixth streets northwest, shortly after noon. She was taken to the Homeopathic Hospital.

Tom Nast, negro, thirty years old, attending a hearing in Police Court yesterday morning at 11 o'clock. Taken to the Emergency Hospital.

Julia Carter, negro, forty-five years old, overcome at the Eleventh street wharf southwest at noon and taken to Freedman's Hospital.

Lucy Hanson, negro, twenty-three years old, of 1577 Pierce place, overcome at Eighteenth and Pennsylvania avenue northwest late yesterday afternoon. Taken to Emergency Hospital.

Joe Gaston, negro, forty years old, of 171 Rhodes court, taken to the Emergency Hospital at 7:30 o'clock last night.

Man Once Dropped $100,000 in a Church Collection Box.

New York, July 29.—John Hall Deane, realty lawyer, who for some years represented the late Charles T. Brinny in his real estate deals, and who once had the credit of dropping $100,000 in the collection plate at the Calvary Baptist Church, testified in supplementary proceedings to-day that his only asset now is $7 in cash in his pocket, and that there are judgments aggregating $500,000 outstanding against him.

MAKE PLANS FOR TAFT.

Governors of Western States to Be Invited to Greet President.

Austin, Tex., July 29.—Gov. Campbell, of Texas, will extend an invitation to the governors of New Mexico, Arizona, and California to join with him in extending greetings to President Taft and President Diaz on the international bridge connecting El Paso and Juarez in October.

It is stated that the governors of all the border States of Mexico will also be present on that occasion.

Raton Rouge, La., July 29.—It was announced to-day that Gov. J. Y. Sanders, of Louisiana, will join President Taft at St. Louis and will accompany him on his steamboat trip down the river.

STABBING CAUSES LIVELY MAN-HUNT

Reserves Called Out by Capt. John C. Daily.

AENEAS LANE WOUNDED

Receives Dangerous Stab Wound in the Abdomen.

Knife Cuts a Gash Two Inches Long and Victim Falls Insensible—Taken to Hospital, Where He Revives and Tells Story of Trouble in a Barroom—Assaults Make Escape, No Arrests at Late Hour.

The police of the Ninth precinct, headed by Capt. John C. Daily and Lieut. W. F. Falvey, and the entire station reserve went on a man hunt last night, shortly after 10:30 o'clock, for Andrew and Louis Smith, negroes, father and son, charged with stabbing Aeneas Lane, bartender in the saloon of Moses Collins, at 1435 H street northeast.

Lane received a stab in the abdomen about two inches long. He was taken to Casualty Hospital in a semi-conscious condition, but, under treatment, revived. He was in a weakened state on reaching the hospital.

The physicians say Lane, while badly cut, is not necessarily fatally injured, and that, unless complications set in, he will pull through. However, owing to the weakness of Lane, they were unable to probe the wound.

After Lane had recovered consciousness, he said he was busy attending to duties in the front part of the saloon waiting on customers, when a row started between negroes in the back bar, reserved for negro customers. As soon as his duties would permit, he went to the rear room, and found Andrew Smith, a middle-aged negro, in a dispute with another negro, Louis Smith, a son of the negro in the row, was taking no part in the trouble.

Ordered Out of Place.

Lane says he ordered the party out of the house, but his orders were not respected. He then undertook to eject Andrew Smith from the house, and as he rushed him toward the door, the son, he says, drew a long knife from his hip pocket and made a lunge at him. Lane was too quick for the younger man, and while holding to the father with one hand, knocked the arm of Louis Smith into the air, and the blow went wild.

Quickly recovering, the younger negro, Lane says, made a second attempt to cut him, and before Lane could throw his prisoner out of the door the blade caught him in the abdomen, inflicting the wound. Lane fell unconscious, and the negroes ran from the saloon. Friends went to Lane's assistance. A hurry call was sent to Casualty Hospital and the policemen notified.

Lane was taken to the hospital. In the meantime Capt. Daily had arrived, and after investigating ordered Lieut. Falvey to call out the reserve for a man-hunt. Capt. Daily headed one section of the reserves, while Lieut. Falvey headed the other for a systematic search of the northeastern section of the city.

Certain that one or the other of the reserves would pick up the men. In addition to this general alarm, was sent out to the police, and every suspicious appearing negro found in the streets between midnight and daylight was asked to give a satisfactory account of himself to avoid arrest.

Story by Eyewitness.

At Collins' saloon it was stated by an eyewitness to the cutting that Andrew Smith, whom Lane was attempting to put out of the saloon, made no attempt to offer violence, but as soon as Lane put his hands on him, Louis Smith, the son, made a dash for Lane with the knife.

At 2 o'clock this morning word was received from the policemen that the man had been tracked to a point one mile beyond Chesapeake Beach, Md., and that the pursuit was still in progress.

LIGHTNING KILLS TWO.

Great Damage Done in Chicago by Electrical Storm.

Chicago, July 29.—Two deaths by lightning resulted in the severe electrical storm that struck Chicago this afternoon.

Possibly others will be found to have been killed when all reports from outlying portions of the city are in. The pranks of lightning caused panic and injury in various parts of the city.

Nearly a score of passengers on a Halsted street car narrowly escaped injury at Fifty-seventh street when a bolt of lightning struck the rear end of the car. The controller and the rear platform were broken.

Several houses were struck and caught fire. Others were reported to have been damaged during the storm.

WILL REFUSE TO TESTIFY.

Galveston, July 29.—When the court of inquiry presided over by Gen. S. M. Young, now in session at Washington, investigating the Brownsville outrage, adjourns to that town, it will not be heartily received by the citizens of Brownsville. Not that they feel bitter toward the court or any individual member of it, but the best citizens of Brownsville, who were witnesses of the shooting-up of the town on the night of August 13, 1906, will refuse to testify again. Three will have thrashed out the evidence against the negro soldiers of the Twenty-fifth Infantry, and recited under oath all the details.

STILL A NEBRASKAN.

Bryan Will Not Become Resident of Texas.

Lincoln, Neb., July 29.—Mrs. W. J. Bryan this evening gave explicit denial of the story from Bellefontaine, Ohio, that Mr. Bryan and his family would soon remove from Nebraska to make their home in Texas.

The same rumor, it was stated, was circulated a number of times in the past, and the same denial was always made. Lincoln, it was stated, was the permanent home of the Bryans, though a few months' winter residence in Texas each year was not improbable.

CHICAGO GETS PLANT.

Shops to Build Passenger Cars Will Cost $2,500,000.

Pittsburg, July 29.—Through the Pressed Steel Car Company here, it is announced that Chicago will secure a new $2,500,000 plant for the making of passenger cars.

Plans had been prepared to build the plant at McKees Rocks, here, but adverse criticism by the public and newspapers regarding the big strike at the McKees Rocks plant now on, has changed this. President Frank N. Hoffstott has also announced to friends that the $2,500,000 plants of the company at which the strike is now on will be dismantled and moved to Hammond, Ind., likely.

It has been the first time that the large employers at Pittsburg have been criticized. President Hoffstott ann his business associates do not like the steady public reference to his mill as "The slaughter house" and "The last chance," nor the taking up of his workmen by the public through broad funds. To-day there was not one workman in the great plants according to the strikers.

NEGROES GAINING CONTROL

Indianapolis Citizens Fear Result of Mayoralty Primary.

Business Men Realize Too Late that Negroes and Lower Classes Can Nominate Their Candidate.

Indianapolis, July 29.—Business men who have not heretofore taken interest in the coming primary at which mayoralty candidates will be nominated, became convinced to-day that a plan is on foot to nominate Lew Shank for mayor by the negroes and lower classes of working people, and began to hustle for Harding, but it is generally conceded that the effort has come too late, and that Shank already has a clutch on the nomination.
