GEORGETOWN LOSES FATHER MACKSEY

Included in List of University Transfers.

HAS BEEN A CENTRAL FIGURE

Created Some Confusion in Athletics at Institution by Rulings on Kind of Men Who Should Play on Teams. Successor Not Yet Named—Number of Other Changes.

The faculty and officers for the scholastic year of 1910 at Georgetown University will be announced and posted to-day.

A number of changes in the list of teachers and officials are made, the most notable of which and the one that will create the most interest in student circles being that of Rev. Charles Macksey, who has been assigned to St. Francis Xavier's College, New York.

Father Macksey has been one of Georgetown's most active officials, and has been the central figure in all of the reorganization schemes at the university for the last four years. He is a firm believer in strict discipline, and while he gained a reputation of being most severe in the treatment of those who break established laws, he is also known as being absolutely fair and impartial.

Will Regret Departure.

The great majority of students will regret his departure. Father Macksey's regime as the prefect of studies was marked by the businesslike manner in which the scholastic affairs of the university were conducted, his office resembling more that of some large business house than the place from which the studies of the institution were regulated. He is widely known as an upholder and advocate of "clean college sports," and is firm in his belief that scholastic and athletic should be excluded from the different athletic teams representing Georgetown. This opinion which he held with regard to college athletics was the cause of many contests between himself and the students, many of whom believe that the study of men to play on the teams, in case there were no bona fide student players, was entirely proper. In the end they came over to Father Macksey's side, and were enthusiastic in building up college teams which contained only students from the different departments of the university.

Father Macksey's successor has not yet been determined.

Interest has been manifested as to the presents and scholarships which would be changed at Georgetown, owing to the fact that on the plan the university is now being run a most efficient force of teachers is required. The list of brilliant men among the professors last year was largely made up of those who were prominent in the intellectual world and were widely known as teachers in their particular branches. Nearly all will remain this year teaching the same studies.

What changes there are in the teaching and official staff are small compared with last year.

Goes to St. Andrew's.

Rev. James A. Carlin, former prefect of discipline, goes to St. Andrew's at Poughkeepsie, as also does Rev. Peter Archer, former professor of junior Latin and Greek.

Rev. John C. Hart, former professor of special Latin and Greek, goes to St. Peter's College, Jersey City.

Rev. John A. Moore, former professor of the freshman class, also goes to St. Peter's College, Jersey City.

Rev. Patrick J. Sullivan, former professor of political economy, goes to Fordham University, New York.

Fathers J. Cresswell, T. McNeill, H. Sullivan, and J. Emmet will take the place of the retiring priests. Their positions on the staff have not yet been decided. It is probable several of the scholastics will take up work, which was carried on last year by the priests.

Mr. Dutton will take their places. It is expected the number of students in the various departments of the university the coming year will be the largest that has been known in the annals of the school. This is especially so with regard to the college department.

FUNERAL NOT ARRANGED.

Gen. Worthington's Relatives Not Positive of Details.

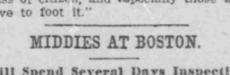

Final plans for the funeral of Gen. Henry G. Worthington, who died last Thursday at the Garfield Hospital, had not been completed up to a late hour last night.

Representative Pearre, of Maryland, nephew of the deceased general, who has charge of the funeral, states that the only thing definitely decided upon is the date—Sunday.

The body is now at the undertaking establishment of J. William Lee, 322 Pennsylvania avenue northwest, awaiting the completion of funeral arrangements.

STRONG ARGUMENT FOR PARK SCHEME

Citizens Continue to Advocate Rock Creek Opening.

MR. SHEA ADVANCES REASONS

Asserts that Washington Needs the Park for the Fresh Air, the Beauty, and Athletic Games—All Classes Deserve These Benefits—T. C. Dulin Voices Similar Sentiments.

All Washington is rapidly falling in line with the movement set on foot by the Washington Herald to open up and popularize Rock Creek Park.

What the people want they will eventually obtain, and in this case they are out after something the city has been in need of for a long time—a large park which citizens of all classes may reach at little or no expense and use, either to escape the sweltering heat of the summer or for athletic sports. That Rock Creek Park is eminently suited for such purposes, and should be employed, is the unanimous opinion of all who have the city's welfare at heart.

Mr. Shea's Views.

Nicholas H. Shea expressed himself yesterday as being decidedly in favor of the park at Rock Creek being made more easily accessible and better known to the citizens of Washington.

"I think the idea is admirable," he said, "and should by all means be carried out, as it undoubtedly will. Washington needs such a park, which can be used by the masses as well as the classes. The development and throwing open of the park grounds should, however, not be done in an unrestricted manner, nor should any of the natural beauty of the grounds be destroyed. The athletic fields should be in charge of responsible persons, who would have the power to exclude all objectionable characters, and who would be answerable for the care-taking of such fields.

There would be no necessity of cutting into any hillsides or of felling trees in order to provide level spaces for athletic fields. There are plenty of level stretches suitable for that purpose, notably on the Fourteenth street and Connecticut avenue sides.

If the wagonette system is introduced, I would suggest that the vehicles be of a quiet and private-appearing type, and that only a limited number be used. No class of citizens should exclude the other."

Commendable Plan.

T. C. Dulin, of the firm of Dulin & Martin, said yesterday that the project of making Rock Creek Park better known to all Washingtonians was a most commendable one.

"So much has been said concerning the different ways in which the park could be developed, it would be hardly possible for me to suggest new ideas. However, I wish especially to recommend the construction of two or more entrances that would be commensurate with the inner beauty of the park. At present a person passing would have no idea from the outer appearance of the park of the superb natural scenery within, unless he were attracted by a fitting and striking entrance. It would be desirable also to have car lines running up to these. In fact, every means should be employed to make the park a place, not only for those who are fortunate enough to own carriages or automobiles, but for every class of citizen, and especially those who have to foot it."

MIDDIES AT BOSTON.

Will Spend Several Days Inspecting the Navy Yard.

Boston, July 30.—Headed by Admiral Farragut's flagship, the Hartford, the practice squadron, with 800 midshipmen from Annapolis, arrived at the navy yard this afternoon.

Eight behind the Hartford was the monitor Tonopah, formerly the Arkansas; then the Olympia, Admiral Dewey's flagship at Manila; at the end the cruiser Chicago, flagship of Admiral Gerhardt, of the famous White Squadron.

The ships will stay here for several days to coal and allow the boys time to inspect the yard. Monday the fleet will be further augmented by the arrival of the armored cruisers Montana, North Carolina, and New York. Late this afternoon the first and second divisions of the torpedo flotilla attached to Rear Admiral Schroeder's squadron came to the yard to coal. They will be joined by the third division Monday.
