CHILDREN GIVEN OUTING.

Associated Charities Made Eight Hundred Happy Friday.

The Associated Charities took 800 children down the river to Colonial Beach yesterday. Secretary Jones was in charge, and he saw to it that every little one had a share of the day's fun.

Plans for the excursion were made many weeks ahead, and the use of the boat was promised the committee early in the summer.

At the beach the day was spent in all of the order of riotous childlike fun. Field day sports, ball games, and swimming matches helped to make the day one that will be long remembered by the excursionists.

Certainly, if happiness were weighable, the boat on the return trip would have sunk beneath the load it carried, and shown by the beaming faces of the children.

UNCLE SAM LOSING MONEY.

Committee Appointed to Put Registry System on Paying Basis.

Postmaster General Hitchcock, acting on the report of the chief of the registry division that the system is being operated at a loss, yesterday appointed a special committee to investigate the matter and make a report as soon as practicable.

The committee is composed of Charles H. McBride, assistant superintendent of the Railway Mail Service; George L. Woods, superintendent of the division of salaries and allowances, and Henry D. Temple, assistant superintendent of the registry division. The committee, after a thorough investigation, is expected to recommend certain changes by which the scope of the registry system may be enlarged and the cost of operation reduced, without impairing its efficiency.

It is improbable that the cost of the present registration fee of 8 cents will be advanced, although the Postmaster General is authorized by law to make the fee as high as 20 cents. If any increase is made at all it will not be more than 1 or 2 cents.

There is no extra charge for want ads telephoned to The Washington Herald. The rate is 1 cent a word for all wants.

BOYS WIN TANK.

Persuade Playground Association to Install Swimming Pool.

As a result of the enterprise displayed by the boys who use the Rosedale playground, a swimming pool is to be added to the equipment of that recreation center.

The boys have enjoyed to the full the wading pool at the playground, and although it is only two feet deep, they have continually attempted to swim in the shallow basin.

A number of the boys waited upon Commissioner West, acting director of the playground, and submitted to him a proposition that they would construct a swimming pool provided the materials were furnished.

The boys have won the day. The Playground association has about $1,000 at its disposal, and it has decided to install the much-desired swimming pool. It is expected that the contract will be let soon, and the work rushed to completion.

She is a native of Baltimore, born there August 6, 1819, the daughter of Mr. Thomas Rusk and Barbara Wagner Rusk. She remembers well when Gen. Lafayette passed through Baltimore, and when the first railroad train was run from Baltimore to Elliott City, which was when she was eight years old. She lived for some time in Ohio and came here to live with her son many years ago. Mrs. Marshall is both bright and active, and has recently returned from a three weeks' visit to Philadelphia and Atlantic City.

WILL NOT SELL NEW BONDS.

Circulation Tax on Panama Issue Causes Discrimination.

Secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh has decided not to issue any of the new Panama bonds authorized in the tariff act until next winter. In a statement given out yesterday, Mr. MacVeagh points out that the circulation privileges of the new bonds would be superior to the 2 per cent bonds which would amount to a discrimination against the latter.

The Secretary added that it was the duty of the government to see that the 2 per cent bonds be placed on the same level as the 3 per cent bonds. If necessary to replenish the amount of cash in the Treasury before Congress remedies this discrimination, the department will sell only 3 per cent certificates, limited to one year's duration.

TWO BROTHERS REUNITED.

Italian War Ship Brings Reunited Thought Dead to Giuseppe.

The oft-repeated axiom that truth is stranger than fiction was borne out lately when Leonard and Giuseppe Gullit, the former a gunner's mate on the Italian cruiser Etruria and the latter a barber in a Pennsylvania avenue shop, met after five years' separation, during which time each believed the other to be dead. The brothers came from Messina. Both the father and mother were killed in the late earthquake, and Giuseppe, who had remained with his parents until the great calamity which destroyed his birthplace numbered them among the dead, came to America, and eventually reached Washington. Long before the catastrophe which destroyed Messina, Leonard had quarreled with his parents and had left home to join King Emmanuel's navy. He was then seventeen, and Giuseppe fifteen.

The meeting of the brothers after five years of separation occurred when Giuseppe visited the Etruria with the United States navy. The scene of their reunion when the brothers dined about the deck embraced each other, and showered one another with kisses was one that will long be remembered by those who witnessed the touching event. However, duty is stronger than sentiment, and when the Etruria, her prow turned toward the sea, left her anchorage off the Arsenal on Thursday and departed for the North, they were forced to part, each happy in the thought that his brother is alive and of known whereabouts.

MAKES FIREMEN ANXIOUS.

Alarm Sounded for Burning Naphtha on a River Launch.

An alarm of fire early last night from box 428, Ninth and Water streets southwest, set all the fire apparatus in that section of the city in motion.

Fires on the water front are always looked upon with fear by the department, as the wharves, storehouses, and shipping offer specially combustible material for flames to feed upon. A fire in that section, if not handled promptly, will soon grow into a conflagration that will test fire-fighting abilities.

When the alarm came in engine companies 13, 4, and 16, the fire boat, and truck 19 went to the scene. The alarm was caused by a slight fire in an eight-foot naphtha launch owned by Charles Wormsley, of the Sherman apartment house. Fifteenth and L streets northwest. Mr. Wormsley was making repairs to the engine when the leaking naphtha tank took fire from an open torch.

There was no explosion. The flames were extinguished by Mr. Wormsley before the arrival of the firemen. The loss was insignificant, but the excitement was immense.
