IN THE SOCIAL WORLD

Ambassador and Mrs. Bryce Return from Maine.

JOHN BARRETT JOINS TAFT
Senator and Mrs. Oliver Lease Residence in Massachusetts Avenue. Miss Adelaide Heath to Be Presented November 22—Invitations for Tea Issued by Miss Norcross.

The British Ambassador and Mrs. James Bryce returned to the embassy here last evening, after their summer absence in Northeast Harbor, Me., and a long series of visits in and around New York. They are expecting Mrs. Bryce's sister and niece, Mrs. and Miss Ashton, of England, Friday, to be guests at the embassy.

Mr. John Barrett, director of the Bureau of American Republics, left yesterday morning to join the President and his party. He will return here Monday.

Miss Mary Athow West, daughter of Commissioner and Mrs. Henry Litchfield West, was married last night to Mr. Orville Breckenridge Drown, of this city. The ceremony was performed in the Mount Pleasant Congregational Church, and was followed by a reception for the bride and her relatives, and the members of the bride's society and the bridegroom's fraternity.

The church was decorated with palms, Boston fern, and exquisite chrysanthemums of the new bronze shade. Mr. Louis C. Atwater, organist of the church, played the wedding music, using the Lohengrin and Mendelssohn marches for the entrance and the exit, and the love duet from "Tristan and Isolde" during the ceremony. The church was decorated charmingly with the new bronze chrysanthemums, mingled with autumn leaves, palms, and ferns, the colors of the gowns of the bridesmaids harmonizing beautifully. The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Marion Litchfield West, maid of honor, Miss Eleanor Traylor, Miss Carrie McKinley, Miss Pauline Zeb, Miss Mary Minalix, and Miss Laura Sylvester, all of Washington, and Miss Isabel Lay, Miss Elizabeth J. Crane, Mrs. J. A. Brown, Miss Marjorie Plickens, and Miss Mary Lee McComas, nieces of the bridegroom. Mr. Frank Norris Jones was the best man, and the ushers were Mr. Vernon Eskridge West, brother of the bride; Mr. Joseph Tarbell Dyer, Jr., Mr. Lawrence H. Green, Mr. Ralph De S. Quinter, Mr. Donald S. Edmond, and Mr. John H. Sicman, Jr.

The bride, who entered the church with her father and was given in marriage by him, wore a gown of white crepe charmeuse made in draped princess fashion, with hand embroidered bolero and front panel, and very long sleeves. Her veil was held with white blossoms, her only ornament was a pendant of pearls and diamonds, the gift of the bridegroom, and she carried an English shower of lilies of the valley and white orchids.

The maid of honor wore a strikingly artistic gown of apricot crepe meteor, richly embroidered by hand, made in the draped princess style, and carried an armful of bronze chrysanthemums tied with autumn leaves. The bridesmaids wore pale blue satin and chiffon princess gowns and carried bouquets like the maid of honor. The little flower girls, who completed the picture, wore in white cloth, brodered batiste gowns over blue and carried baskets of lilies of the valley. Mrs. West, mother of the bride, wore deep violet crepe meteor, with cut steel and silver trimmings, and carried single violets and lilies of the valley.

The decorations at the house were of palms, white chrysanthemums, and pink roses, and in the dining-room the color scheme was pink and white. The bride's table had a center of pink roses and lilies of the valley. One of the decorations of the drawing-room was a mammoth basket of American Beauty roses and white chrysanthemums sent by the bridegroom. The Rev. Dr. William C. Fraser, of this city, officiated at the ceremony. The bride and groom were seated at the head of the table, and the bridegroom's best man, Mr. Charles M. Schwab, of New York, was seated next to the bride.

Senator and Mrs. George T. Oliver of Pittsburg, Pa., have leased the residence of Mr. James Lowndes, 1515 Massachusetts avenue, for the coming season. This is the house which for many years was occupied by Mrs. Williams, and is immediately opposite the Louise home. Senator and Mrs. Oliver have a young daughter, Miss Joan Oliver, whose engagement to Mr. William L. Blakely, district attorney of Pittsburg, was reported in the spring.

Mr. Charles M. Schwab, of New York, has leased the residence at Seventeenth and Massachusetts avenues, which was the former home of Bishop Hurst. The Schwab family will spend the winter in Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hays Hammond and family will arrive shortly to take possession of their newly leased residence, the former home of Hon. Levi P. Morton, which has of recent years been occupied by the former Russian Ambassador, Count Cassini, and by the former Secretary of State and Mrs. Elihu Root.

Miss Adelaide Heath, granddaughter of the late Gen. Barnes, will be presented to society here at a tea to be given by her aunt, Miss Clementine Smith, Monday afternoon, November 22, in her home, 127 H street. Miss Heath will be assisted by Miss Clover, Miss Hineckley, Miss Merriam, and Miss Johnston, a cousin of the bride, who have been brought up together. Mrs. Barnes is too much of an invalid to present her granddaughter.

Miss Norcross has issued invitations for a tea to be given at her residence in Potomac, Saturday, October 30, in honor of the bride of her brother, Dr. Alfred Cookman Norcross. Miss Norcross will be assisted in receiving by Mrs. Williams of Washington, and Mrs. C. A. Shafter, and Miss Mildred Bacon, all of Washington. The bride is a daughter of Dr. O. C. Hunt, of Richmond, and a granddaughter of Dr. O. C. Hunt, of that city.

He was the winner of the Jefferson Society orator's medal the year of his graduation. He studied law at the Boston Law University, where he took his Bachelor of Laws degree. Mr. Allen was Presidential elector in 1904 for the Tenth Virginia Congressional district, and is vice president of the Bank of Amherst.

Among those present were Miss Mary Manson, Chicago; Mrs. William D. Ligon, Louisville, Ky.; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Andrews and Master Andrews, Vicksburg, Miss.; Mr. Louis de la Tour and the Misses de la Tour, Lynchburg; Mrs. Tinsley L. Allen and Miss Allen, mother and sister of the groom; Dr. Charles W. Allen, Mr. J. Clarence Allen, Mrs. C. A. Shafter, and Miss Mildred Bacon, all of Washington; Mr. and Mrs. Albert F. Hunt, Miss Imogen Warwick, Miss Albert Hunt, Jr., Mr. Spotswood Hunt, of Helen Crampton and Miss Louise Davidson, of this city, were in white striped chiffon over pink satin and carried arm showers of the most delicate shell pink chrysanthemums. All these arm bouquets had long white ribbons, and both blossoms and ribbons reached to the bottom of the skirts. Mrs. Kirkus, mother of the bride, wore silver gray net over gray satin.

The best man was Mr. Howard Turner, of Potomac, N. C., and the ushers were Mr. Benjamin Crampton and Mr. Spencer Gordon, of this city; Mr. Nathaniel Hume, Mr. Frank Keen, of Philadelphia; Mr. Donald Gilpin, of Millwood, Va., and Mr. Ralph Gamble, of South Dakota. The reception in the home of the bride's mother in the Cordova was for the bridal party and relatives only.

The decorative scheme at the house was equally elaborate and beautiful. The reception hall had curtains of bamboo vine and bunches of Killarney roses in profusion. The mantels of the drawing-room and library were banked with ferns and studded with Killarney roses, the doorways festooned with bamboo vine and the same vine trailing over the delicate white lace curtains at the windows.

The dining-room had the same effects with the bamboo vine, and the center table occupied by the bride and groom had a centerpiece of Enchanter roses, of the most delicate shell pink, arranged in a graceful basket, the roses trailing over the handle of the basket which met the canopy over the seat. The canopy had a shower of the bamboo hanging from it. The other tables had Killarney roses. After the reception and supper the bride and bridegroom left for their wedding trip, the bride wearing blue chevots and a blue hat. On their return they will be at home at the Cordova.

Mr. and Mrs. Odell Smith entertained at a dance last evening in their home at Sixteenth street, for their young daughter, Miss Ida Norment Smith, a bud of next season. Thirty couples enjoyed general dancing until the wee small hours. The drawing-room floor of the house, which is beautifully adapted for such entertaining, was thrown almost into one spacious apartment, and was effectively decorated with autumn leaves and yellow chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Smith, who had no assistant in receiving except her daughter, wore a gown of white crepe de chine, and Miss Smith wore a white suit and carried a huge bunch of violets. Supper was served at midnight. The guests included Misses Woodard, Stokes, Osgood, Pigeon, Morrison, Dent, Loukes and E. L. Taylor, Mrs. Meyer, Mrs. Alden, Mrs. Pool, Mrs. Higgins, Foster, Mitchell, Burney, Sylvester, Thompson, Swartzell, Murray, Harbin, Hastings, Dent, and Messrs. They were married in the Second Baptist Church, Fourth street and Virginia avenue southeast, by Rev. R. A. Mallory.

There were present a large number of the friends and relatives of both families. The bride wore a gown of white messaline, with pearl trimmings, her veil being of white tulle and held by lilies of the valley. The bride's sister, Florence Hilliard, was maid of honor, and wore a gown of pink messaline, and carried a bouquet of bridesmaid roses. The bridegroom's brother, Mr. George Fraser, was best man. The ushers were Mr. Tugart, Mr. Miller, Mr. Davis, and Mr. Hemming. The ceremony was played by Miss Allen. ## ATTENTION OPTIMISTS!

Washington Herald Optimist Club Announcement for Coming Contest.

By THE OPTIMIST.

"How can we best accomplish improvement?"

This is a subject which should appeal to all Optimists. The tendency of this club is for improvement all along the line. We stand for the world's progress in all that is good and beneficial for mankind.

Self-improvement, and the resulting example set for those who are in need of help, is one of the objects of optimism. How can we, as Optimists, best accomplish the ends toward which we are aiming?

Progress and improvement should be synonymous. As we see the world progress and improve in all that is best we should not ourselves stand idly and allow it to leave us. We have the power to make ourselves better in thought and in action day by day. If we have the will for it, there is nothing that will prove easier.

I want all the Optimists in the club to give their ideas on this subject. Contributions should reach The Optimist not later than noon on Wednesday, November 3, and the expressions will appear the following Sunday, as usual.

For the benefit of those who have not joined the club, I want to extend a hearty invitation to become one of our helpful and hopeful brotherhood. Admission to The Washington Herald Optimist Club is free, and the membership is composed of a large number of Washington people who are laboring for the betterment and the improvement of mankind.

Once an Optimist, always an Optimist.

For the best expression on "How can we best accomplish improvement" I will award the following prizes:

For the best essay.....$5.00 For the third.....$2.00
For the second..... 3.00 For the next five, each.... 1.00

As many additional contributions as are considered worthy of honorable mention will be printed.
