OF INTEREST TO WOMEN.

FROM WOMAN'S POINT OF VIEW

There is one feminine trick with which men have no patience at all, and that is the habit of chattering in public places. Presumably good money is paid to see and hear what is going on behind footlights, but there is no proof of it in groups of women who talk all through a performance and prevent those in the immediate vicinity from getting the value of their money.

Occasionally you will find men quite as willing to talk, but their intellect is open to question, because chattering is not a masculine trait. Generally, they are men who pay social court to women who have the talking habit, but occasionally will be found a man whose age and talents lead us to expect better things in the way of department. The most conspicuous of the latter class who ever came under my observation was an artist with society's seal of approval upon his work, a man with white hair and a bitter tongue. On the occasion when he was asked by a woman in front to be kind enough to allow her to hear what the players were saying, he protested to his feminine companion that he did not care to go to the theater if he could not talk, and he dragged her away after the curtain fell upon the second act, of which they had seen but little, as they arrived when it was well under way.

Sometimes one has the misfortune to be placed near a woman who knows all about the play and also her knowledge in advance. It is decidedly annoying to have a performance spoiled in that fashion, and there have been a few players who have had the courage to halt a performance and insist upon courteous attention. The Boston Symphony Orchestra has added much to public enjoyment by insisting upon silence during the performance of each number, thus barring out late arrivals and consequent distraction.

Annoyances can be put down by determined effort—witness the hat nuisance. There were obstinate fighters against the edict, and a half victory in the form of permission to wear a small, flat head covering, but women did not generally take advantage of it. A few defiant females had to be escorted to the street by the police, but in the end we all fell into line as we would in every case where persistence is the feature, persistence from those in position to use it.

I imagine that more secrets have leaked out by speech in public than through all other means combined. I know that I have learned in that manner enough to set scores of families by the ears. Were I a mischief-maker I could be extremely busy with persons whom I know as well as with strangers. Some women never realize that even low tones carry in places built for that express purpose, and low tones are not usual to American voices. Where topics are chosen with care conversation is harmless and eminently proper between acts and intermissions. Few keep within bounds, however.

Fads for Women.
A pretty accessory which any girl could make for herself at little trouble or expense is an overblouse formed from satin folds in diamond trellis effect.

This little garment is cut low in the neck, following the lines of a jumper. The folds are of the same color as the dress and must be taken into a belt or sash of ribbon to match. It is surprising how much the addition of this blouse improves a plain frock. A tall girl could trim a plain skirt with a broad band of the trellis a foot or so above the hem and still it becoming to her.

The white mayonnaise prepared by foreign chefs calls for cream, lemon juice, and the white of an egg. Instead of the oil, vinegar, and egg yolks of the ordinary mayonnaise.

LITTLE PROBLEMS OF LOVE AND MARRIAGE.

Does a Man Prefer an Extravagant or Slipshod but Agreeable Wife to the Practical but Prosy Companion?

THE sort of a wife that will make a man happy depends altogether upon his temperament and tastes. What would suit one man would drive another to distraction. What are irritating faults to some pass unnoticed by others. So whether an extravagant but agreeable woman is preferred to the thrifty but uninteresting depends largely upon the man's predilections in these directions.

Every one is familiar with the agreeable woman who can talk most entertainingly, who can play the piano like a virtuoso or sing like a "leading lady," but whose house is a trail of disorder from garret to cellar and whose children are ugly and unkempt. Every one also knows the woman whose home is always in apple-pie order, whose meals are faultless, whose children shine with cleanliness, but who is absolutely dull as a comparison and who seemingly never has a thought above her dishpan and sewing machine. Which sort of woman is the better wife depends largely upon what a man wants in a wife.

The man whose sole delight is in the creature comforts of home prefers, of course, the practical, if prosy, helpmate. If he knows he will not be happy unless his home is orderly, his meals well cooked and well served, his money spent judiciously, he would be foolish to marry a woman who would not give him these RITES FOR GEN. W. F. DRAPER.

Prominent Political Men Attend the Obsequies at Late Home.

Obsequies over the body of Gen. William F. Draper, attended by many prominent political men of the city, were held yesterday afternoon at the Draper home, 1705 K street northwest. Interment will be in the Arlington National Cemetery, Arlington, Va., on Monday, Feb. 22, at 10 o'clock.

Members of the Loyal Legion, the Army and Navy Club, and the G. A. R. were present. Rev. Dr. Roland Cotton Smith, pastor of St. John's Church, officiated. The body was sent to Hopedale, Mass., on a special car for interment.

Gas Victim to Be Buried.
Funeral services for Mrs. Jane Elizabeth Howlett, who was accidentally asphyxiated on Sunday afternoon, will be held at 2 o'clock to-morrow afternoon from the family residence at 1213 Wallach street northwest. Interment will be in Rock Creek Cemetery. Mrs. Howlett was the wife of John H. Howlett, retired contractor, and mother of Detective Robert Howlett.

ARMY AND NAVY.

ARMY ORDERS.

Gen. ODES C. HORNEY, Ordnance Department, will visit the works of the Erie Electric Company, Erie, Pa.

Second Lieut. RODERICK DEW, Twenty-third Infantry, is transferred at his own request to the Nineteenth Infantry.

Special orders relating to Capt. HENRY C. MERRIAM, Coast Artillery Corps, is revoked.

The leave of absence granted Second Lieut. EDWARD A. KEYES, Sixth Cavalry, is extended to and including February 9, 1910.

The leave of absence granted Capt. WAIT C. JOHNSON, Eighteenth Infantry, is extended twenty days.

Major WALTER A. THURSTON, U. S. A., retired, is relieved from duty with the organized militia of Alabama.

The leave of absence heretofore granted Capt. WILLIAM S. SCOTT, quartermaster, is further extended fifteen days.

Leave of absence for five days is granted Capt. ROBERT C. WILLIAMS, U. S. A., retired.

Capt. HENRY J. HUNT, Seventeenth Infantry, is detailed for general recruiting service. He will proceed at the proper time to Columbus, Ohio.

Capt. KIRBY WALKER, quartermaster, will proceed to Cincinnati, Ohio, on official business.

Leave of absence for two months is granted First Lieut. CHARLES G. METTLER, Ordnance Department.

NAVY ORDERS.

The following orders have been issued: Midshipman J. M. DEEM, detached Louisiana, and to continue treatment Naval Hospital, Norfolk.

When washing tins, use soda and hot water. After drying them, polish with a little dry flour or whitening and a clean cloth.

PUT IT ON ICE.

When you have written a letter red hot, roasting some chap in his tenderest spot—some one who's done you an underhand trick, some one who's wounded your pride to the quick; try to remember that writing abuse does no more good than the hiss of a goose—this is the meaning of all of your sass: "You are a villain—and I am an ass." Take up your letter and read it through thrice—put it on ice awhile, put it on ice! Maybe your wife isn't much of a cook; maybe she'd rather sit down with a book, than to go fussing around making pies, doughnuts, and cakes and things good to your eyes; you are preparing a withering speech, you are preparing to rear up and preach, telling your wife of the beautiful things cooked by your granny before she had wings; telling your wife that her duty's to stuff things in your tummy till it has enough. When you went courting that hausfrau of yours, swearing you'd love her while nature endures, did you get down on your knee-bones and rave: "Dearest, I'm needing a drudge and a slave! Come to my cottage and sweep, cook, and scrub! Clean up the dishes and sweat at the tub!" Can the reproaches you're planning to make; go to a baker when spoiling for cake. Cut out the sermon you think is so nice—put it on ice awhile, put it on ice!

Proctor, Victoria, Tex., and David T. Raynor, Wilmington, Del. Mr. Thaddeus Gorecki and Mr. S. O. Osbourn, members of the faculty of the Tome School, were also present.

Mrs. J. R. Morrow has cards out for an afternoon bridge on Tuesday, February 3.

Mrs. Hayes and Miss Hayes, wife and daughter of Representative Hayes, of California, will receive this afternoon at their home, 211 Bancroft place, from 3 to 6 o'clock, but will not be at home on the following Tuesday.

Mrs. Samuel S. Shedd, of this city, is spending the remainder of the winter in Lower California.

Miss Ethel Roosevelt was the guest for whom Miss Martha Phillips entertained at dinner last evening, when Mr. and Mrs. Kennard, of the British Embassy staff chaperoned the party. The guests asked to meet her were Miss Marion Oliver, Miss Isabel Hagner, Miss Carlisle, Miss Osborn, Miss Krofts, of Boston, house guest of Miss Phillips; Lieut. Rowcliffe, Capt. Chaney, Mr. Centaur, Mr. Curtis, of Boston; Mr. Hobart, of Boston, house guest, and Mr. Weldon. These guests all went to the Newberry dance.

Mrs. John C. Phillips is in London for the marriage of her son, Mr. William Phillips, first secretary of the United States Embassy, to Miss Carolyn Astor Drayton, of New York, which will take place there to-morrow. Mr. Phillips was formerly Third Assistant Secretary of State, and one of the most popular bachelors in Washington society.

The "Merry-makers" will give another dance, at National Rifles Armory, on Thursday.

Mrs. Dennett, wife of the Commissioner of the Land Office, will be at home on the first and third Thursdays throughout the season.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Patterson and Mrs. Berryhill entertained at a bridge party last evening at the Rochambeau. There were fourteen tables in the large reception rooms on the first floor. Punch was served throughout the evening, and a buffet supper from tables set in the balcony was served.

Mrs. Patterson wore a handsome gown of black velvet, with a diamond necklace, and Mrs. Berryhill was in mauve satin princess, with a brooch of pearls and diamonds. The decorations of the rooms and the tables were of red and green. Among the guests were the Secretary of the Interior and Mrs. Ballinger, who went there from the reception at Miss Boardman's; Senator and Mrs. McCumber, Assistant Secretary of the Interior and Mrs. Frank S. Pierce, Assistant Secretary of the Interior and Mrs. Jesse Wilson, Representative and Mrs. Humphrey, Representative and Mrs. Langley, Representative and Mrs. McCredie, Representative and Mrs. Cravens, Representative and Mrs. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. H. Green, of Seattle, who are spending the winter at the Grafton, and Mrs. James Shallenberger, of Seattle, who is visiting her mother-in-law, the widow of Judge Shallenberger.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore W. Noyes entertained at dinner last evening in honor of the Secretary of the Treasury and Mrs. MacVeagh.

Miss Sarah Carr Upton, whose house has been occupied this season by Gov. and Mrs. O'Toole, of Montana, has returned to Washington for a time and is at 1149 Connecticut avenue.

Mrs. A. W. Patterson and Mrs. Berryhill will be at home at the Rochambeau on the afternoon of February 4 from 3 to 6 o'clock.

Mrs. Robert Patterson has her daughter, the Countess Glych, and her little son with her in her Dupont circle home.

Mrs. William A. Jones, wife of Representative Jones, of Virginia, will be at home this afternoon at 1706 Q street from 4 to 6 o'clock.

Miss Elsa Reichman, daughter of the late Rudolph Reichman, was married last evening to Dr. C. B. Colwell, of Providence, R. I. The ceremony was performed in the home of the bride's relative, Rev. Dr. George E. Truett, in Georgetown, former pastor of the Georgetown Baptist Church, who officiated in the presence of the relatives only. The house was decorated in a color scheme of green and white, palms, Southern smilax, and ferns, with white roses and carnations being used. The table was dainty and beautiful; festoons of Southern smilax hung from the chandelier in the center of the room, to the four corners, and a center-piece of bride roses and maidenhair ferns forming a mound.

The bride and bridegroom entered the drawing-room together to the strains of the "Lohengrin" wedding march, played by Miss Katherine M. Ellis. The bride wore her going-away gown of marine blue cloth with a large black hat and white plumes. She wore a corsage bouquet of pink sweet peas. Mrs. Truett, wife of the pastor, and hostess of the occasion, was beautifully gowned in her own wedding dress, made thirty years ago. The bride and bridegroom left on a night train for their new home in Providence.

Among the out-of-town relatives were Mr. and Mrs. George Salmaguer, of Rochester, and Mrs. Oppen, of New York, uncle and aunt of the bride. Other relatives were Mrs. A. G. Grunwell, Mrs. Lockwood and Miss Lockwood, Mrs. Bertram Foster, Mr. and Mrs. George Warner, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Cox, Miss Carter, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Smith, Mrs. Alfred Grunwell, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Weaver, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Vandenberg, Prof. and Mrs. Fisher, Miss Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. George Vandenberg, Miss Margaret Vandenberg, Dr. Paul Fry, Miss Fry, Mr. John Grunwell, Mr. Charles Grunwell, Mr. Thomas Weaver, Miss Ida May Vaughn, Miss Helen Vanderberg, Mr. Van Ostrand, Mr. Holtzman, Mr. Paul C. Grunwell, Mr. Thomas Clark, Miss Louise Grunwell, Miss Helen Vandenberg, and Dr. A. B. Bennett.

A fashionable audience assembled in the ballroom of the New Willard last evening to hear the Monday Morning Music Club in a programme of beautiful choruses under the baton of Mrs. A. M. Blair and with several excellent soloists. They were Mr. Bertram C. Peacock, of Baltimore, tenor, and Mr. Richard Lorchberg, cellist, of the Washington Symphony Orchestra. The ballroom was decorated and the scene was a pretty one, with the audience in full dress and the chorus of prominent society women in gowns of white. Among the singers were Mrs. Jack Blidde, Mrs. Charles D. Walcott, Mrs. Robert Hinckley, Mrs. Ten Eyck Wendell, Mrs. Musgrave, Mrs. Archibald Gracie, Miss Harlan, Mrs. Goldsborough, Mrs. Elliott Woods, Mrs. Leland O. Howard, Mrs. William Kearney Carr, Mrs. Edwards, Miss Nettleton, Miss Katherine Heald, and the Misses Goldsborough.

CHILD'S COAT.
Paris Pattern No. 3208
All Seams Allowed.

The little folks require new spring outer wraps as well as their elders, and the various innovations in fashions find their way into the juvenile garments, too, as for instance, the little coat here pictured which has a wide shawl collar, Dutch cuffs and a single button closing. It is provided moreover with a removable shield and is altogether as pretty a little wrap as a small girl could wish for. As shown, the coat is made of white heavy linen, the collar, cuffs and pockets being hand scalloped, and a single large pearl button closes the front. Other materials suitable for the development of the design are ladies' cloth, serge, Bedford cord, flannel, cashmere, cheviot, bengaline, pique, crash or cotton poplin. Light cloth used for the coat, silk for facing and white linen for the shield will make a very attractive combination. The pattern is cut in four sizes—2 to 8 years. For a child 4 years old the coat requires 2 1/2 yards of material 36 inches wide.
