

PAPERS KEPT SECRET

Interior Department Facts Withheld from Glavis.

HEARINGS HALT ABRUPTLY

Bullinger's Attorneys Given Week to Study Case—Lawyer Makes Accusations Against Bureau's Delay in Sending Information—Secretary May Engage Two Ex-Senators.

A number of important documents were sent to the Congress committee engaged in investigating the Bullinger-Pinchot controversy from the Interior Department yesterday.

They are in the list of those called for by Louis D. Brandeis, attorney for L. R. Glavis. Chairman Nelson received the papers in response to a special message sent to the Interior Department just after the committee adjourned yesterday.

Examined the Documents. He examined the documents and conferred with some of the members of the joint committee and decided that for the present at least the Glavis attorneys should not inspect them.

The contents of the documents were not divulged. It is believed there is something in the letters which relates to pending suits in the courts, and making public such information at this time might imperil the government's case.

To allow Secretary Bullinger's counsel time to familiarize themselves with the case, the Congressional committee of inquiry yesterday adjourned until Friday next.

It is understood Secretary Bullinger is considering the names of former Senator John L. Wilson, Republican, and former Senator George Turner, Democrat, both of Seattle, as leading counsel. John J. Vertrees, of Nashville, has accepted the position of counsel for Bullinger.

No Testimony Taken. No testimony was taken yesterday, the committee being in executive session when the decision was made to temporarily postpone the hearings.

Just before the members of the committee dispersed Louis D. Brandeis, attorney for Glavis, made a vigorous protest against the delay of the Interior Department in sending to the committee letters and documents that had been called for.

"A week has now elapsed since the committee at my request called on the department for this information, and yet it has not been received," said Mr. Brandeis. "I have knowledge that some of it is available and could have been sent in. In view of Secretary Bullinger's statement that he wanted to interpose no obstacles to the committee in getting information, this delay requires explanation."

Chairman Nelson Replied. Chairman Nelson replied that the committee had considered the delay in sending the documents at its executive meeting and had directed the Secretary to send in the documents in installments.

At Mr. Brandeis' suggestion a messenger was sent to the Interior Department with a letter directing the sending to the Capitol immediately of all documents available included in the list called for by Glavis' attorneys.

Rosebud Delegates Back.

True Reformers delegates returned yesterday from the Rosebud convention at Philadelphia. They were W. R. Griffin, Mrs. Mary V. Green, Mrs. Sarah F. Lewis, Mrs. Eliza Travers, Mrs. M. E. Washington, Mrs. Edmond Robinson, Mrs. Julia Tenneyson, Mrs. Lucy A. Jackson, Mrs. Emma Johnson, Mrs. Ewenia N. Lumpkin, Mrs. Ida V. Belle, Mrs. Elizabeth Cameron, Miss Mary Stockton, William Cooper, Perry L. Thomas, and E. R. Washington.

GIVE ANNUAL BALL.

Rifles' Armory Crowded by Union Machinists and Friends.

More than 1,000 invited guests attended the annual ball of Columbia Lodge, International Machinists' Union, at Rifles' Armory Hall last night.

Samuel Elder made the address of welcome. A literary and musical programme was given. Miss A. M. Craver, accompanied by Oscar Franklin Comstock, gave a soprano solo; Mrs. John Naecker sang in soprano, and selections by the Metropolitan Quartet were given.

Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the entertainment, and dancing followed. There were 250 couples in the opening number of the dance.

PARK VIEW MEETING HELD.

Citizens' Association Nominates Officers for Election in March.

Officers were nominated by the Park View Citizens' Association at a large meeting in the Whitney Avenue Christian Church last evening. The annual election will be held at a regular meeting a month hence. For president, last night, John G. McGrath was nominated; for vice president, James L. Wilmet; for secretary, George T. Dietz, and for treasurer, William Schultz.

The association listened to a report by D. A. Teller on the state of the Congressional bill, carrying with it an appropriation of $30,000 for the proposed Park View school's site.

GET SARBER IN 'FRISCO.

Man Wanted in Washington as a Check Passer to Be Brought Here.

Charles Sarber, mine promoter for whom the Washington police have been searching for two months, was arrested in San Francisco, according to a telegram received last night.

Sarber is charged with passing a worthless check for $222.25, on George O. Mills, the hotel man, on January 22, 1909. The check was drawn on the Commercial Bank, of Steubenville, Ohio, where Sarber is said to reside. A detective will be sent to San Francisco to bring Sarber back.

NEGRO GIRL BEST SCHOLAR.

Gets First Prize Among 10,000 in Hoboken Schools.

New York, Feb. 4.—Estelle T. Gibbs, a negro girl, fourteen years old, living with her parents at 512 First street, Hoboken, received to-day the first prize, a gold medal, at the graduating exercises of the Hoboken public school pupils, in the Gayety Theater. She had the highest average of any public-school scholar in the city—96.1-3 per cent in six subjects.

Estelle is the daughter of a Pullman car porter on the Lackawanna Railroad. She is the only negro girl who has carried off such honors in Hoboken, and the only one to be graduated from the grammar school to the high school.

In all but one of her studies the girl was rated at 100. In geography she made 95. The five branches in which she reached the maximum were history, civics, spelling, arithmetic, and grammar.

Eighteen questions were posted at the geography examination, and the pupils had the privilege of selecting ten to answer. The teacher who conducted the examination says that Estelle picked out the ten hardest.

HUSBAND IS EXONERATED.

The jury at the inquest over the body of Mary E. Scott exonerated Walter Scott, her husband, who was arrested by the police in the investigation of his wife's sudden death.

Scott was represented by Attorney George P. Hoover. There was nothing to indicate to the police that Mr. Scott had ever taken part in a row with his wife, the testimony of the witnesses proving that Mrs. Scott received the injuries which caused her death by falling down both Cameron, Miss Mary Stockton, William Cooper, Perry L. Thomas, and E. R. Washington.

SAVED BY SIGNALS

just taken Capt. Moore and crew of forty-six men from sinking steamer Kentucky. Water has already reached fireroom, and steamer will founder before midnight. The Alamo is now proceeding to Key West.

The Alamo should reach Key West tomorrow morning. She may tell more about the rescue by wireless before getting there.

Begins to Leak Badly.

Tietjen & Lang docked the Kentucky just before she sailed from this port, and C. M. Englis, of Green Point, fitted her out at a cost, it is said, of about $50,000. About eight feet more freeboard was added to her, and according to the steambot inspectors, she was quite able to negotiate the warty seas.

But she began to leak badly when she was about 150 miles south of Sandy Hook, and her skipper, Capt. F. S. Moore, decided to put into Newport News. He started her pumps going, and provisioned the lifeboats and had them ready for launching, apparently not having a high opinion of the old ship's seaworthiness. She was simply crammed with coal, and it is said that, as she was not a cargo boat, the unusual weight in her hull, shaken by the seas, may have opened her seams and let in the ocean.

She was looked over carefully by experts at Newport News, and they said that after she had been repaired that she was thoroughly seaworthy. She got a certificate from Lloyd's and the United States Inspector at Newport News that she was sound and fit to make the long trip to the Pacific. Also, the underwriters were satisfied. They were, interested, as she was insured for $70,000.

McLarney, the wireless man who left the Kentucky at Newport News, did so to oblige his mother, who had written to him that she had a premonition that something more was going to happen to the ship.

The battle ship Louisiana, the cruiser Birmingham, and the cutter Yamacraw were recalled by wireless when the news of the rescue of the Kentucky's crew was received on shore.

MESSAGE BY WIRELESS TO THE WASHINGTON HERALD.

Wireless Operator Cops, at the main office of the United Wireless Telegraph Company's station in the New Willard Hotel, yesterday received the following message, telling of the rescue of the crew of the ill-fated Kentucky by the Alamo:

Cape Hatteras, N. C., Feb. 4, 1910—5 p. m. Washington Herald, Washington, D. C. Steamship Alamo, of the Mallory Steamship Company, took off captain and forty-six men. Kentucky was abandoned in a sinking condition, latitude 33.33 and longitude 75.33. Alamo is proceeding to Key West, with all well on board.

HATTERAS OPERATOR.

Wireless Operator Cops, of the New Willard Hotel station, during the night of March 2 and the day of March 4, when all communication by telegraph and telephone was cut off by the blizzard, was in command of the Willard wireless station, and through that wireless service was master of the situation, and continuously held communication with Baltimore, Philadelphia, and New York through the wireless service. He transmitted to the outside world the news of the inauguration, and sent 5,100 words of the inaugural address of President Taft, an accomplishment considered wonderful under the climatic conditions of snow, sleet, and low temperature that had crippled all other means of communication.

You Can't Afford to drink other than Schlitz Beer

Cheap beer, your doctor will tell you, is apt to be full of germs and so "green" as to make you bilious. The doctor knows that purity is expensive. He knows that proper aging requires months of time and immense storage space.

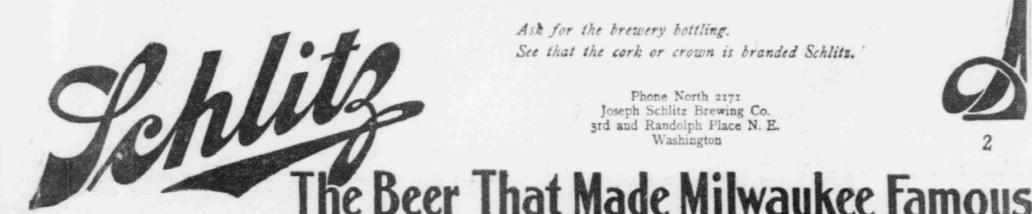

These are the precautions we take and the expenses we incur to insure the purity of Schlitz:

Every tub—every vat—is washed with hot water and steam. Every bottle is washed four times before it is filled.

The beer is filtered through white wood pulp. Even the air in the cooling rooms is filtered.

Then Schlitz is aged for months in glass-lined steel tanks. Finally every bottle is sterilized after it is filled and sealed.

Such precautions as these have made Schlitz the home beer. It is the safe beer for your family. It is the beer of quality for your guests.

WM. C. LOVERING EXPIRES

Representative Dies of Cold Contracted January 7.

Congress Adjourns Out of Respect, and Body Will Be Taken to Taunton, Mass., for Burial.

Attended by committees from Congress and members of his family, the body of William C. Lovering, Representative from the Fourteenth Massachusetts district, who died at 9:15 o'clock yesterday morning, at his home, 152 Massachusetts avenue, after an illness of nearly a month of pneumonia, will be taken to-morrow night on the Federal Express to his former home at Taunton, Mass., for burial.

Services will be held at Taunton Monday at St. Thomas' Church, there being no services in this city.

The Senate adjourned at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon out of respect on hearing officially of the death of Mr. Lovering. The House adjourned until 12 o'clock Monday on the official announcement of the death by Representative Giltett, of Massachusetts.

On motion of Senator Lodge, a committee of five Senators was appointed to attend the funeral, as follows: Senators Henry Cabot Lodge, W. Murray Crane, George P. Wetmore, Joseph W. Bailey, and Francis G. Newlands.

Those comprising the committee from the House are the following: Samuel Walker McCall, George Pelton Lawrence, William Steadman Greene, Charles Grenfell Washburn, John A. Kellher, of the Massachusetts delegation; Andrew James Peters and Henry Sherman Boutell, of Illinois; David Johnson, Foster, of Vermont; George Deardorff, McCrea, and Henry Wilber Palmer, of Pennsylvania; Charles Lafayette Bartlett and Gordon Lee, of Georgia; Nathan E. Kendall, of Iowa; William Alexander Calderhead, of Kansas; and Thetus Willbrette Sims, of Tennessee.

Mr. Lovering's last appearance in the House of Representatives was on January 7, when he went home with a severe cold. Pneumonia developed three days ago, and he continued to decline gradually until his death.

Mr. Lovering was in his seventh consecutive term as a member of Congress from the Fourteenth district, being first elected to the Fifty-fifth Congress. He was the oldest member of the Massachusetts delegation, having been born seventy-five years ago, in Rhode Island. He was educated in Massachusetts, and had been a cotton manufacturer.

When the insurgent movement in the House began to attract attention, Mr. Lovering allied himself with the members of that faction. It was at his home that the insurgents frequently met to plan their campaigns against the Speaker and the rules.

At the last election he received 20,559 votes, more than three times the number given his nearest competitor, a Democrat, and more than twice as many as given to all opposition combined.

For a short time during the civil war Mr. Lovering was an army engineer at Fort Monroe. His health has been very bad for two years or more, and with the loss of vitality due to his previous illness, his recovery was impossible. Mr. Lovering is survived by an only daughter, Miss Lovering, who was called by the attending physician, Dr. Musgrave, and was at the bedside when the end came.

Commercial Club Social. The third of the winter's series of Friday night socials was given last night at the Commercial Club. Herman Rake-man, leader of the Washington Symphony Orchestra, acted as director of the music. The vaudeville feature was in the hands of Messrs. Orth and Fern.

Men's Club Musical. A musical, followed by dancing, characterized an entertainment of the Men's Club, Church of the Ascension, at Pythian Temple last night. Until a late hour the younger set gayly indulged in dancing. The dancers numbered over fifty couples.
