B'NAI BRITH READY

Delegates Arrive To-day for Ninth Convention.

WELCOME FOR THE MEMBERS

Committees Appointed by Council of Jewish Women and Auxiliary
Society of Eighth Street Temple.
Fraternity Represents Intellectual Aristocracy of Hebrew Race.

More than 100 members of B'nai Brith fraternity, representing the intellectual aristocracy of the Hebrew race, will arrive here to-day and to-morrow for the opening of its ninth grand lodge convention at the Arlington Hotel.

Jews throughout the city, whether members of the fraternity or not, are preparing to give the visitors a royal welcome, and committees have been appointed by the Council of Jewish Women, Mrs. Charles Goldsmith, chairman, and the Auxiliary Society of the Eighth Street Temple, Mrs. A. Selinger, chairman, to form a reception committee.

Reception at White House.
The convention programme will include a White House reception, a brilliant banquet, attended by President Taft, several excursions about the city and to points of interest near it, and a dozen business sessions. Each delegate will bring his family. Special entertainment features have been arranged by Simon Wolf and other prominent local members for them. There will be representatives here for every State in the Union and three European countries.

The opening session will be called by President Adolph Kraus at 10 o'clock to-morrow morning in the ballroom of the Arlington. Commissioner Rudolph will make an address of welcome and Simon Wolf will extend the hospitality of Washington Hebrews. To-morrow afternoon there will be an informal reception at the Arlington, and 8 o'clock Lucius Simon, of San Francisco, one of the foremost orators of the Jewish race, will make an address at the Eighth Street Temple.

Order Not Sectarian.
The order of B'nai Brith is humanitarian and not sectarian; it aims to educate and uplift; its mission is peace and good will, and to bring all men and all races into closer fraternal relations. It has a membership of 40,000, representing the best and most intellectual Hebrews of the world. The ninth convention, which is expected to be a milestone in the history of Judaism, is the first ever held in the National Capital.

The crowning event of the convocation will be the banquet next Wednesday night. In addition to President Taft, Vice President Sherman, Speaker Cannon, and other distinguished statesmen, practically the entire diplomatic corps will attend.

WORK OF YEAR REVIEWED.

Rhode Island Avenue Citizens Also Elect New Officers.

At a meeting Thursday night of the Rhode Island Avenue Suburban Citizens Association, the work of the past year was reviewed in annual reports of various committees. Charles L. Mendel, secretary, was presented with a framed certificate signed by the executive committee in behalf of the 100 members of the association.

Following are the newly elected officers: President, S. S. Symons; vice president, D. D. Lohre; secretary, Charles L. Mendel, and treasurer, T. S. Mallon. Chairmen of committees—Schools, Chestnut R. Smith; streets and sidewalks, J. P. Benfer; railroads, A. D. Ashby; sewers and water, L. V. Cook; membership and press, W. G. Lueallen; fire and police protection, Charles R. Wilson; lights and mails, J. L. Knopp; legislation, Bristow Adams; entertainment, I. R. Schwinger, and health and sanitation, Dr. R. W. Conklin.

TEAM STRIKE TO BE BRIEF.

Representatives of Gravel Firms Seek to Make Terms.

Seven hundred gravel teams were idle yesterday as a result of the strike of the hauliers for increased rates. A conference of representatives of big sand and gravel companies was held in the afternoon. The Potomac Dredging Company, the E. L. Snoot Company, and the Columbia Granite and Sand Dredging Company were represented at the conference. According to reports given out after the meeting, the employers believe that the rates paid team owners for hauling are too small, and that the demands made are just and fair.

"We have recognized the fact that the team owners are not properly paid, but because of contracts on our hands at present, we cannot grant the raise we would like to," said J. H. Bradley, of the Columbia Dredging Company, last night. "We agreed at the conference this afternoon to submit to the team owners a new schedule. Another meeting will be held Monday."

Chamber Committee Votes to Send Delegate to Citizens' Body.

Cincinnati Plan of Associated Civic Organizations May Be Tried in Washington.

If the recommendations of the committee of fifteen are carried out, the Chamber of Commerce will appoint a delegate and alternate to attend the meeting of citizens called to consider the formation of a central body as a means of registering public opinion upon matters affecting the local government and general welfare of the city.

This meeting is set for April 16, and was decided upon at the meeting of delegates from the citizens' associations called to a conference with the committee of fifteen on the subject. This meeting will be made up of delegates from citizens' associations, civic and trade bodies, and will take up the question of forming a central association to act, when called together, as a vehicle of expressing the sense of all the bodies represented on a given subject.

The committee voted yesterday to recommend to the Chamber the formation of such a body, and that the Chamber should participate therein.

The committee, at its meeting yesterday, received, through John Delph, a general description of the workings of the Cincinnati associated organizations, which, it appears, has worked well in that city. The letter was from Ralph R. Caldwell, secretary of the body. He said the organization was made up of delegates from the local associations and civic bodies, and of its usefulness Mr. Caldwell said:

"A centralized body, composed of delegates from the local organizations, has been found to be a most excellent clearing house for ideas, a first-class means of directing the work of these various organizations along effective lines, and, further, the centralized body in itself, because of its composition and the bodies it represents, has great influence in any movement it undertakes to promote. Where the city officials might well ignore any demand of the small local organizations, they cannot afford to do so when the demand has come from a large organization closely in touch with all civic and improvement associations in the city."

"The associated organizations of Cincinnati, through its efforts, has been instrumental in obtaining for Cincinnati many of the great improvements made in the last five years. It has fostered reforms in taxation, in school matters, in park matters, in transportation matters, in street improvements, in construction of new public buildings, in city transportation matters, and in franchised questions. Through its efforts natural gas was brought to Cincinnati more quickly than it otherwise would have been, and generally this organization takes part in all worthy movements aimed to improve the city, and is often the originator thereof. I think a centralized organization such as this will be found to be of great benefit to any city."

Courtland Field Bishop Seeks Data About College Park.

Convincing Information Will Be Submitted at Meeting of International Federation in Paris.

Reports that the International Aeronautic Federation will have as much to say in the choice of the site for the next world-wide aviation convention as the Aero Club of America were partially verified yesterday, when Chairman J. W. Bell received a letter from Courtland Field Bishop asking for additional facts about College Park to submit to that tribunal.

Mr. Bishop asked just how much Washington and Baltimore will give in prizes, what improvements they will make at College Park in the matter of grandstands and other conveniences, and what the two cities have planned for entertainment of visiting thousands.

Chairman Bell will call a special meeting to arrange to furnish Mr. Bishop with enough information to convince the International Federation at its meeting in Paris this month that College Park is the most convenient flying field in the world.

More than $100,000 has been pledged to the aviation committee, and more will be obtained if Washington is chosen. How much it will cost to turn College Park into an ideal soaring ground, with seating capacity for many thousands, a clubhouse for aviators, machine shops, and aeroplane sheds, is not exactly known.

President Bishop will leave for Europe on April 14, taking the data, and ten days later he will submit it. On April 13 there will be a meeting of the Aero Club of America in New York and a farewell reception to Mr. Bishop.

The Wright brothers will meet the directors of their million-dollar aeroplane company next week in New York to decide what stand will be taken in the matter of the big meet.
