WIN IN THE TENTH

Georgetown Defeats Eastern College, 3 to 2.

WHITE ALLOWS BUT TWO HITS

Visiting Twirler Holds Blue and Gray Hitters for Nine Innings, a Close Decision Tying Up the Score in the Ninth—Murphy's Double Wins in the Tenth.

By N. T. WORLEY.

Georgetown won a hard and bitterly fought ten-inning struggle from Eastern College on the Hilltop yesterday afternoon, 3 to 2. For nine long innings the Hilltoppers tried unsuccessfully to locate the elusive twirler of young White, who did the flinging for the visitors, but after Murphy had tied up the game in the ninth by a daring steal to the home plate, the Blue and Gray boys landed the game on Waldron's single and Murphy's double in the tenth chapter.

The contest was in a sense a pitchers' battle, White, on the one hand, almost unhittable, but wild as a March hare, and "Wab" O'Connor, on the other, effective in pinches, wild at times, but always pegging away in cheerful fashion. That Eastern lost the game is not the fault of its diminutive slab artist, as the battle should have terminated at the end of the ninth inning but for two close decisions by Umpire Handlose that came to the home squad. O'Connor was hit hard in the eighth, ninth, and tenth sessions, two hits being garnered by the opposition in each of these rounds, but bright fielding saved "Wab" at this stage of the game.

Both clubs played exceptionally well, only two errors being made during the two hours of play, and the sensational work of both nines more than overcame their two misuses. For the home team, Murphy, for his work on the sacks and his timely two-base clout, must be given the most praise. The Georgetown center fielder stole three bases, played a grand game in center, and worked hard all through the contest. Sitterding had a good day at shortstop and handled both of his chances in snappy style. Hunt went all the way to the edge of the bank in right and pulled down a hard-hit ball off Curry's bat in the fifth.

Sparrow, at third base for the losers, was the bright particular star of the Manassas aggregation, grabbing everything that came his way and getting some hard-hit drives that were labeled hits when they left the bat. His one error permitted Georgetown's first tally to cross over the rubber, but that was unfortunate, and his work afterward prevented several scores. He scooped Hunt's roller out of the dirt in the fifth, and retired the side and made two plays in the next inning that were corkers. Kibler did some good base running in the third, when he went from first to third on a sacrifice fly by Russel.

With one out in the second inning, White was passed and was advanced by Johnson's single to center. Waldron had a passed ball, which took White to third, and he scored on a sacrifice fly to left by H. G. White. In the third, Kibler was hit by a pitched ball, was sacrificed to second, advanced to third on a passed ball, and scored on an out by Curry, short to first.

The Hilltoppers made one in the third session. Hunt walked, stole second, and when Murphy's bounder to third was thrown wild to first by Sparrow, scored. Facing defeat in the last inning, Georgetown was desperate. Murphy was hit by a pitched ball, was sacrificed to second by Sitterding, and stole third. With two strikes on the latter and two out, the Georgetown captain then stole home. Both of the decisions, at third and home, were close, and Eastern kicked and threatened to leave the field, but resumed play after wrangling awhile.

O'Connor batted for Feenan in the tenth and was retired on a fly to right. Waldron singled and advanced to second on a wild pitch, scoring on Murphy's double to right.

NOTES OF THE GAME.

White struck out eight of the Hilltoppers.

Eastern appeared to be poorly drilled in the finer points of the game. Several times their runners were nipped trying to steal because they would not slide.

Waters saved a run in the tenth by backing up third base and nabbing a wild throw by the catcher.

"Bib" Johnson on second base inspired the Manassas boys with ginger by his chirp and chatter. But Oh, you should have heard what he said about the umpire!

Gibson had a busy day around second base with five chances, and he gathered them all into the basket in a skilful manner.

The visitors hit the ball in a manner that was most pleasing. The crack of the ball against the bat sounded like a small army at practice.

TRACK IN BAD SHAPE

Only Five Horses Enter the Speedway Matinee.

NEW TROTTER SHOWS SPEED

J. C. Mott Shows Don Cozine, Promising Young Three-year-old-The Course Too Hard for Good Results. Committee Will Meet Soon to Improve Matters—Crowd Present.

By L. D. SALE.

A track too hard for the feet and legs of horses and a lamentable lack of features to entertain the fairly good crowd present were some of the things that attracted general attention at the matinee held yesterday over the new Speedway.

Only five horses accepted the issue, Bedford Boy, Miss Arcola, Harry C. The Clerk, and Flexina, and their owners exhibited courage in consenting to start their charges under such adverse conditions. Miss Arcola and The Clerk, the first-named a pacer and the last-named a trotter, carried off the honors of the afternoon, if there were any honors to be distributed. Mr. J. A. Jones, behind Flexina, did not try with the beautiful and fast mare, and old Bedford Boy hit a knee early in the game and would not pace a full half in spite of all Claspny could do to make him go level.

Of the five horses present in actual contests, nearly every one exhibited muscle soundness, due to the fact that it is yet too early to drive animals at full speed and dangerous to demand it of their untrained legs given extra attention afterward. April is a treacherous month for man and beast. As the season advances we shall have warmer days, speed horses will gradually become hardened if jogged daily, and we may soon expect happier results.

J. C. Mott exhibited during the afternoon one of the most promising young trotters ever brought to this section in the three-year-old Don Cozine stallion, Palm Cozine. He is a glossy black in color, an handsome as a picture, and possesses a way of going that bespeaks for him a brilliant future. Louis Hechinger excited a great deal of attention with his black hitch-acting park oak, one of a pair which he owns and drives in the parks of the city.

A meeting of the Speedway committee is to be held at once to devise ways and means to improve the roadbed of the Speedway and make it safe to drive horses over it at speed. The meeting cannot be called too soon.
