SHORT WEIGHTS SOLD

Business Dishonesty Blamed for Cost of Living.

FRAUD IN PACKAGE GOODS

Col. Haskell Tells District Committee Washington Loses $42,000 Annually on Flour Alone—Manufacturers Present Their Side, Claiming Accuracy Not Always Possible.

If your package of breakfast hay contains a little less this week than it did last, what are you going to do about it? District officials told Washington's lawmakers at the Capitol yesterday that the increased cost of living is partly due to the fact that everybody who eats food put up in package form sustains a heavy loss in short weights. Manufacturers of these products came back with a defense of package goods, declaring them to be more sanitary than the bin under the grocery's counter.

Hearings pro and con on the issue of fraud in package goods occupied the attention of the District Committee of the House in two sessions. Yesterday morning Dr. William C. Woodward, health officer, and Col. William C. Haskell, superintendent of weights and measures, told of short-weight packages and secret agreements between wholesalers and retailers, which they declared have helped to boost prices. At a session last night the other side was heard.

"Every one of the 200,000 barrels of flour sold in the District annually," said Col. Haskell, "is short at least four pounds. This would amount to about 1,200,000 pounds in a year, and with the average price of flour at 35 cents a pound, the people of the District are annually paying about $42,000 for flour they do not receive. There should be national legislation to prohibit this sort of thing. Selling by packages should be subject to prosecution unless the packages show the weight of the contents."

Don't Get All They Pay For.

Col. Haskell said that practically every package sold in grocery stores is from one to four ounces short of what the purchaser believes he is paying for.

"Would it be practicable to label each package with the weight of the contents?" asked Mr. Moore, chairman of the select investigating committee.

"Such action," replied Col. Haskell, "would not only be in the interest of the public, but also in the interest of the retailer. The retailer has to take what he gets from the manufacturer just as the public has to take what it gets from the retailer. The source of trouble is with the manufacturer."

"Do these short-weight packages account for the increased cost of living?" asked Mr. Moore.

"Perhaps not entirely," replied Col. Haskell, "but in a large measure."

Col. Haskell said that only on rare occasions the purchasers of whisky get full pints, half pints, and quarts. The pint bottles, he said, are usually two ounces short, and the quarts are ordinarily three and four ounces short.

Package Goods Defended.

The hearing was resumed at 7:30 o'clock and continued until 10. Louis Runkel, a cocoa manufacturer, of New York, defended selling goods in packages, citing the impracticability of always getting the same amounts into small packages which are filled by machinery. Larger packages, above a quarter of a pound in size, could be filled without error and contained full measure. He said that foods put up in packages were more sanitary than those dispensed in bulk.

Similar testimony was given by John A. Green, secretary of the National American Retail Grocers' Association, of Cleveland, who spoke of the superiority of cereals put up in packages.

Both Mr. Green and Mr. Runkel opposed bills pending before the District Committee seeking to remedy the evils complained of by Dr. Woodward and Col. Haskell. One is a bill by Representative Moore, of Pennsylvania, to provide for the labeling of packages containing foods, beverages, and drugs in the District so as to show the weight or measure of their contents. The other also by Mr. Moore levies a tax on certain classes of vendors.

FOUNDER'S DEATH WILL NOT AFFECT METHODS AT GUNSTON HALL SCHOOL.

Mrs. Beverly R. Mason, principal of the Gunston Hall School, announced yesterday that the prospectus which will be published shortly will show few changes in the faculty, or in methods of teaching in the institution.

In her announcement Mrs. Mason expressed appreciation of the tokens of regard evinced following the death recently of Mr. Mason, the founder of the institution. It will be the aim of Mrs. Mason to continue the administration as formerly, also to maintain the standard of former years.

TOURNEY PLANS STARTED.

Dr. Wiber Elected Chairman to Manage Potomac Park Carnival.

Plans for the athletic carnival to be held at Potomac Park the Fourth of July are already under way, and the committee in charge of the games has elected Dr. D. E. Wiber chairman, and selected him to manage the tourney. He has been empowered to name a committee of fifteen to work in conjunction with him.

It has been announced that there will be, in addition to the regular field and track events, swimming races under the immediate supervision of the committee in charge of the regatta, of which Claude R. Zappone is the chairman. These, like the other events, will be open only to bona fide residents of the District, and there will be two classes of contestants—grouped according to ages.

This will be practically the first time that athletics of this sort in the District have been under the direct supervision of the municipal government. Dr. Wiber expects to complete the selection of his committee by the end of the week.

NOTES CHANGE IN THE PRESS.

Edgar C. Snyder Makes Address on Newspaper Methods.

With the assertion that the newspaper business of to-day is vastly changed from the methods of the days of Horace Greeley and other great lights of the school of Journalism, Edgar C. Snyder, Washington correspondent of the Omaha Daily Bee, addressed members of the Washington Advertising League yesterday, at their regular luncheon meeting in the Raleigh.

In discussing his subject, "Upstairs and downstairs in a newspaper office," Mr. Snyder attributed this change to marked inroads in advertising.

Among those present were Messrs. John E. Shoemaker, E. C. Snyder, Lester F. Marx, L. P. Carter, M. H. B. Hoffman, Lewis Holmes, H. A. C. Fay, George B. Ostermeyer, F. J. Marble, Charles Lawrence, R. G. Hunt, W. W. Norman, W. P. Hartley, J. C. McLaughlin, and Byron W. Orr.

FIGHT ON TRANSFER BILL

Senate Opposed to Reduction in Alexandria Fare.

There will be a fight in the Senate District Committee over the provision inserted by the House on Monday in the universal transfer bill, compelling an interchange of free transfers between the Capital Traction Company and the Washington, Alexandria and Mount Vernon line. The bill was received by Senator Gallinger yesterday, and was referred to the subcommittee on public utilities, of which Senator Carter is chairman. An effort will be made to strike out the clause bringing the Alexandria line under the terms of the bill, which will be opposed by Senator Martin, of Virginia, a member of the committee. There will be strong opposition to it by the railroad companies.

Senator Gallinger himself thinks the amendment ill advised, and it seemed evident at the Senate end of the Capitol yesterday that the amendment would be stricken out by that body. As it was adopted in the House by a majority of but one vote, the opponents believe it will go out of the bill as finally passed.

"It is the best feature in the whole bill, and I believe it will stay in," said Representative Carlin, of Alexandria, yesterday. "As to the argument that a reduction of 5 cents in the fare between Washington and Alexandria would be a serious financial loss to the Mount Vernon line, it should be pointed out that the loss will be equally divided between the Mount Vernon line and the Capital Traction Company, as the exchange of transfers between the two companies, it would seem, would be about equal."

"The amendment means a reduction of 5 cents in the fare between Washington and Alexandria, and is popular in Virginia. The Mount Vernon line cannot increase the charge from 15 to 20 cents, which would equalize the difference, as the State railroad commission would not permit it to do so."

SOCIETY ELECTS OFFICERS.

Anthropologists Hold Annual Meeting and Consider Reports.

The Anthropological Society of Washington held its annual meeting last night at the George Washington University.

The reports of the officers and committees on the work of the past year were read and approved.

The society elected the following officers for the ensuing year:

President—Dr. J. Walter Fewkes.
Vice president—George R. Stetson.
Secretary—Mr. I. M. Crawford.
Treasurer—Mr. George C. Maynard.
Board of managers—Messrs. J. N. B. Hewitt, E. L. Moran, J. E. Swanton, William H. Babcock, and David Hutcheson.

WILL DISCUSS CIVIC PRIDE.

Society of Fine Arts Is to Meet on Wednesday, May 4.

The Washington Society of Fine Arts will hold a special meeting in Continental Memorial Hall Wednesday, May 4, at 8 p. m., to consider the betterment of Washington.

In its announcement the society says: "Now is the time for all organizations interested in the future of Washington to join heartily in this great work for the better and more beautiful city, giving thought, time, and energy to the end that its many natural beauties shall be saved, and development made in the right direction—that Washington may become the model city of the nation."

The programme arranged follows: Opening address, Thomas Nelson Page, president; "Municipal art," Maj. W. V. Judson; "What the citizens can do," Glenn Brown; "Washington playgrounds," Henry B. F. Macfarland; "A garden city," David Fairchild; "The decoration of public schools," Miss Lella Mecklin; "The American Federation of Arts," F. D. Millet.

NO DEFINITE SITES SELECTED.

Newly Appointed Committee to Investigate District's Historic Spots.

A meeting of the newly appointed committee on sites for the marking of historical spots in the District, was held yesterday afternoon at the Public Library. George P. Howerman, chairman of the committee, and W. P. Van Wickle, chairman of the executive committee, failed to decide on any definite sites, and those viewed by the committee will be further investigated.

PENALTY FOR MOTORMEN.

Recent Accidents Cause Amendment to the Police Regulations.

Recent accidents to pedestrians through reckless handling of street cars at crossings have caused the Commissioners to amend the present police regulations.

The new regulations provide for a penalty of not less than $1 nor more than $40 for the failure of cars to give way to pedestrians at street crossings, thus placing these vehicles on the same footing as bicycles, horse and motor-driven vehicles.

RIVER STEAMER SOLD.

N. & W. Company Dispose of Old Vessel to the Joy Line.

Announcement was made yesterday of the sale of the steamer Washington, belonging to the Norfolk and Washington Steamboat Company, to the Joy Line, of New York. The Joy Line recently purchased the Norfolk of the local company, and both boats will be used in traffic between New York City and a point on Long Island Sound.

The sale of the Washington completes the disposal of the old steamers with which the local company started in business, which have been supplanted by the Newport News and the Southland. Another boat is to be constructed this year and named the Northland. It will be built upon exactly the same lines as the Southland.

GUARDIAN FOR BABY BOY.

Court Decides Father Not Entitled to Child's Custody.

Chief Justice Claiborn yesterday entrusted the well being of Russell Valentine, a twenty-month-old youngster in the charge of Frank Valentine, of Clayton, Ala.

The court decided the father was not entitled to the custody of the child, his previous conduct not having been considered exemplary.

A Word About Prices

In these days of big profits, trusts, and combinations, the consumers buy few manufactured articles without being suspicious of the size of the profit. Many shoes are placed on the market as custom-made and a higher price asked for them, although they are no more custom-made than any ready-to-wear shoe that is sold. A goodly portion of all shoes are built by hand, except where machines do the work better. This is especially so with PATRICIAN. The prices have never been more than $3.50 and $4.00, which can suggest no unfair profit to any one. The honesty of price, materials, and workmanship have gained for PATRICIAN the sincere respect and approval of American women. The high-grade of materials and labor are not stunted in order to sell the shoe at a low price.
