OPERA GOERS TO GAIN.

Paris, April 23.—Oscar Hammerstein this evening said he had sold his opera interests with the view to stopping the existing unbusinesslike situation which, although of invaluable benefit to the public, caused both concern to suffer from the boundless exactions of artists, and abetted by competitive conditions. He added:

"I believe that opera-goers will gain through the new arrangement which will have the effect of obtaining a firm ruling in all matters connected with the great institution. The report of my continuous losses is untrue. I always made money with the exception of last year. Personally, I am ashamed to say that I retire with sadness and regret, although the Metropolitan Opera Company made most satisfactory financial arrangements with me. I need rest badly, probably for a few months."

"I cannot say now what I will do afterward, but I will do something. I could not stand idleness. Anyway, the Manhattan Opera House remains mine. I might give there fine musical and dramatic entertainments."

NOTABLE WEDDING

IN VIRGINIA TOWN

Miss Sallie Woods Becomes Bride of W. J. Rucker.

WASHINGTONIANS AT NUPTIALS

Home of Capt. Mienjah Woods, One of Best Known Lawyers in Old Dominion, Handsomely Decorated. Bridal Presents Costly. One Being Large Silver Service.

A notable wedding took place yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock at Charlottesville, Va., in the residence of Capt. Mienjah Woods, former president of the Virginia Bar Association, and one of the best known lawyers in the State, when his daughter, Miss Sallie Stuart Woods, became the bride of Mr. William James Rucker, of St. James, Mo., son of the late Col. William Alexander Rucker, U. S. A.

Owing to the recent illness of Mr. Rucker, the elaborate church wedding contemplated was abandoned, and the marriage solemnized in the presence of the immediate families. Rev. Frank Page, D. D., of Brooklyn, N. Y., an uncle of the bride, presided over the ceremony, assisted by Rev. Harry B. Lee, rector of Christ Episcopal Church, of Charlottesville.

The house was tastefully decorated with spring flowers and foliage. In the parlor, where the ceremony was performed, there was an abundance of palms and white roses, white and green being the prevailing colors. The bay window was banked with palms. Sweet peas formed the chief decoration in the dining-room. In the library and drawing-room there was a profusion of growing plants and evergreens. Mendelssohn's Wedding March was rendered by Miss Nell Irvine, of the University of Virginia.

Mr. Miller Best Man.

Mr. Rutger Bleecker Miller, of New York City, was best man, and the ushers Mr. Robert H. Woods, of the University of Virginia; Mr. J. Dean Rucker, of Detroit, Mich.; Mr. Francis Nash Iglehart, of Baltimore, and Mr. Samuel T. Caves, of Keswick.

Mrs. Lettie Page Woods, sister of the bride, and Miss Francis S. Cook, of Baltimore, cousin of the groom, were the bridesmaids. They wore white lingerie over pink messaline and carried shower bouquets of pink roses.

The bride entered the parlor with her father, who then gave her away. She wore an exquisite gown of white satin, trimmed with Duchess point lace. Her long tulle veil was caught with orange blossoms, and she wore a superb collar of diamonds and pearls, a gift of the groom's mother, Mrs. James Dun, of Chicago, and a diamond and pearl necklace, the gift of the groom.

A small reception followed the ceremony, and late in the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Rucker left for an extended wedding tour.

The bridegroom was numerous, costly, and beautiful. One, a large solid silver waiter, and dinner and breakfast service, from Tiffany's, was said by the head of that princely establishment to be the handsomest they had ever sent out. This was the gift of Mrs. James Dun, of Chicago, mother of the groom.

"THE BACCHANTE" RETURNS.

Bronze Statue Now on Exhibit in Boston Museum.
Boston, April 23.—After a long absence, due to the protests of Boston's reformers, "The Bacchante" is once more in this city. This piece of bronze—at which a part of Boston looked with lively interest and approval and a part looked to disapprove, but looked, nevertheless—has been placed on exhibition at the Museum of Fine Arts.

The cold inhospitality to which the statue was subjected for the short time it was at the public library has been displaced by a cordial welcome by the directors of the art museum.

At the art museum the Bacchante will be among friends. It will be sheltered from the hostile attacks of those who, in 1887, drove the bronze from the public library and from Boston.

It has been accepted as a loan from a Boston man whose name has not been made public. He purchased it at the recent Yerkes sale in New York.
