

ROOSEVELT MEETS KAISER AT PALACE

Cordial Reception Lacks Appearance of Display.

COURT IS IN MOURNING

Berlin Streets Entirely Without Decorations.

Former President Has Throat Trouble and Makes No Speeches, as He Is Reserving His Voice for the University Lecture To-morrow.

Berlin, May 10.—Some 1,500 Americans went to meet Roosevelt this morning, but they were not allowed near enough to the station to witness his unimpressive arrival.

On the steps of the palace the long-looked-for meeting between the Kaiser and Roosevelt at last took place.

The Kaiser welcomed him heartily and preceded by the court chamberlain with a wand, led Roosevelt and his family through what is known as the Shell Room to the Kaiser's study.

After the presentations, the Empress, the Kaiser, and the Roosevelt families withdrew to another room, the rest of the guests waiting in the Shell Room.

In the long chamber, the Empress and the others returned to the Shell Room, and the court chamberlain then marshaled the company in due order and conducted them to the Jasper Gallery for luncheon.

After luncheon, which was informal, no speeches being made, the company went back to the Shell Room and stood in groups. Now it was that the real meeting of the Kaiser and Roosevelt came off.

Before the conversation ended all the guests, except the Roosevelts, left to take the 8 o'clock train for Berlin.

A special train was ready at the station, but the Roosevelts came direct to the embassy from Potsdam in automobiles.

To-night Roosevelt dined at the embassy. Berlin is the first place on his tour where there has been an outward evidence of his visit.

The review will be of a strictly private variety, for the reasons that strangers are never welcome at German military shows, and that the ministry of foreign affairs is anxious to keep the Kaiser in the background as much as possible during the period between the death and funeral of King Edward.

POWDERLY FAVORS PERSONAL LIBERTY

Former Labor Leader Quits Petworth Association.

Asserting he can no longer be a member of an organization that believes taking a quiet drink is a crime, T. V. Powderly, former commissioner of immigration, resigned from the Petworth Citizens' Association last night.

Recently the association endorsed the Commissioner's bill providing for an inebriate's home and making habitual drunkenness a misdemeanor.

When Mr. Powderly obtained resignation from the chair, he read his resignation and proceeded to tell just why he could not conscientiously continue as a member.

Mr. Powderly went on to explain the action of the association had been so totally at variance with his own views at the last meeting that he did not see how he could in the future be of use to its members.

There were more than one of the listeners who were in complete sympathy with his views, so when the chairman called for a vote on the resignation, a heated discussion began. A motion to reject the resignation was carried by a big vote.

After luncheon, which was informal, no speeches being made, the company went back to the Shell Room and stood in groups. Now it was that the real meeting of the Kaiser and Roosevelt came off.

CHAMBER HEARS MRS. DIMMOCK

Outlines Plans of George Washington Memorial.

BODY INDORSES PROJECT

Charles Walcott and Dr. Kober Make Speeches.

W. V. Cox Says Local Committee Will Organize and Start Subscriptions This Week—A. Lisner Pledges $500—Business Session Moves Live-ly and Much Routine Is Transacted—Home-coming Week Plans.

Unanimous indorsement of the project to build in Washington the proposed memorial to George Washington and support of the association organized to carry the enterprise through were voted by the Chamber of Commerce last night.

This action was taken at the close of an interesting description of the plans of the George Washington Memorial Association presented by Mrs. H. L. Dimmock, of New York; Dr. Charles D. Walcott, Secretary of the Smithsonian Institution, and Dr. George M. Kober, representing the American Geographical Society.

Mrs. Dimmock was present at the invitation of President Dugan, and came from New York for the purpose of presenting the plans of the association to the Chamber. Prefacing her short address with the positive declaration that the plans of the association must succeed, and that the great memorial to Washington would be erected in the Capital, Mrs. Dimmock told the Chamber that it was proposed to erect a large building in which could be held national and international congresses, conventions, and assemblies, especially those devoted to the advancement of science and art.

Following Washington's will. This had been undertaken because of the ideas expressed in the will of Washington that the nation and its citizens should work for the diffusion of knowledge.

Mrs. Dimmock submitted that no other plan could be devised better to serve the purposes of Washington than to build a great structure here devoted to the purposes named, with a seating capacity of 6,000 to 8,000, with accessory rooms and halls, making it a national building, in which the citizens of the country could hold their great meetings without cost of rental.

Mrs. Dimmock said it was intended to raise $2,000,000 for the edifice, and $5,000,000 or more to provide an endowment for its maintenance. Mrs. Dimmock said the work of the association had reached a point where it was necessary for the citizens of Washington to come forward and show what they would do toward raising this fund.

Before going to Pittsburg four weeks since, he had charge of the trials of the night riders of Kentucky. The trip to Pittsburg was to obtain evidence against the window-glass trust. He immediately contracted cold, which later developed into pneumonia.

"Harry" was a Washingtonian. After having spent several years at the Capital and in Philadelphia, working upon the editorial staffs of different newspapers, two years ago he accepted a position with the government.

Urges Washington to Act. Mrs. Dimmock said the association now brings the opportunity to Washington for the erection of the auditorium it has long needed, and she asked Washingtonians to be proud of themselves, subscribe liberally, and see that the association would see that the building was built.

Dr. Charles D. Walcott said that a committee of the association had sent out circular letters to members of a society containing $8,000, and that 4,000 replies had been received making contributions to the fund of several thousand dollars. He said the committee was at work now with an association of larger membership, and that others would be taken up. He hoped the response would be as generous from

BYRNES' FUNERAL HELD.

Men in All Walks of Life Pay Respects to Detective.

New York, May 10.—The funeral of Thomas Byrnes, perhaps the most famous of New York's detectives, founder of the detective bureau, and one time chief of police, was held this morning.

Hundreds of persons, most of them older men, were on hand to pay their last respects to the dead man. Seventy-seventh street was so crowded that a special traffic police detail had to be called out, and the whole line of the procession was between densely packed lines. And they were not curious crowds, either, but made up largely of those who had known the old inspector who died at his home last Saturday night.

His wife and his three married daughters, as well as his two unmarried daughters, Amy and Jessie, remained close to the bier throughout the ceremonies.

GAYNOR CLOSES RISQUE SHOW.

"Girl with the Whooping Cough" Barred from New York.

New York, May 10.—Mayor Gaynor, it is reported, has transformed himself, vicariously, into a censor of the stage, and under his orders the New York Theater has been closed until, as the order runs, it can give some guarantee that it will be conducted decently.

The cause of this drastic action was the production in which Valeska Suratt has been displaying herself—the somewhat undraped adaptation from the French called "The Girl with the Whooping Cough."

As a result, the New York Theater was dark last night, though it was not till the mayor's order was made public to-day that the real nature of the trouble was generally known.

The Windsor Sale To-day. The Windsor sale opens to-day at the Sloan Galleries, 197 G st., with sessions at 11 a. m. and 3 p. m. This sale presents a rare opportunity to obtain unusual and valuable household decorations. Catalogues at the galleries.

WHY NOT A "COMET" HAT?

HARRY HOAGLAND DIES IN PITTSBURG

Former Newspaper Man Is Victim of Pneumonia.

Harry Hoagland, a former well-known Washington newspaper man, died at 11:55 p. m. at a hospital in Pittsburg from double pneumonia, according to word received here this morning.

Hoagland was special agent of the Department of Justice, and contracted a severe cold several days ago in the discharge of his duties. He was taken to West Pennsylvania Hospital, and grew steadily worse.

"Harry" was a Washingtonian. After having spent several years at the Capital and in Philadelphia, working upon the editorial staffs of different newspapers, two years ago he accepted a position with the government.

Before going to Pittsburg four weeks since, he had charge of the trials of the night riders of Kentucky. The trip to Pittsburg was to obtain evidence against the window-glass trust. He immediately contracted cold, which later developed into pneumonia.

WILLIAM SEYLER INDICTED.

Alleged Murderer of Jane Adams Will Be Tried May 23.

Atlantic City, May 10.—William Seyler, of this city, accused of the murder of Jane Adams, a pretty shop girl, on the night of February 4, last, was indicted by the May grand jury at Mays Landing to-day.

The jurors took but twenty minutes to decide to send the man to trial after hearing testimony of the father of the girl and her younger sister, Alice Adams, who saw Jane alone with Seyler on the lonely sea end of the million-dollar pier for the last time before the dead girl's body was washed upon the beach two weeks later.

Seyler was brought into court and pleaded not guilty. Date of his trial was fixed for May 23, and Lawyer Edmund C. Gaskill, of this city, was appointed by the court to defend Seyler, brother of the accused man, who was first charged as an accessory, but who is now held only as a witness.

LABOR UNIONS TO BUY BONDS.

Milwaukee Not at the Mercy of Eastern Capitalists.

Milwaukee, May 10.—It is announced by city officials that Milwaukee bonds will not go begging under a Social Democratic administration. The executive board of the International Bakers' Union has decided to buy Milwaukee bonds to the extent of $200,000 should there be any move by Eastern bankers to hamper the administration.

At the same time the International Bakers' Union requested all other unions to take similar action.

AUTOMOBILISTS, ATTENTION!

HYDE LOSES GROUND.

Damaging Admissions Extorted from Swope Murder Suspect.

Kansas City, May 10.—The defense in the murder trial of Dr. B. C. Hyde this afternoon rested its case.

Dr. Hyde was compelled to make some damaging admissions. The strongest point in the cross-examination was when he testified that he could not remember one place where he had bought cyanide, except at the Breckin drug store.

He had testified that he had used cyanide for eight or ten years. The cyanide was purchased last fall. Another time Hyde was asked where he bought the cyanide he said he injected into Margaret Swope's arm. He could not remember. Another point was his statement that he dropped no capsules the night Mrs. Swope says he found the cyanide in the snow.

SECOND PRIMARY NECESSARY.

Tallafiero Falls to Get Majority Over Broward in Florida.

Jacksonville, Fla., May 10.—Meager returns up to 11 o'clock from the Democratic State primary indicate that the race for United States Senator is very close, and that a second primary will be necessary to decide.

Senator Tallafiero, who is seeking re-nomination, is opposed by ex-Gov. N. B. Broward and Claude L. Engle. The returns show that Tallafiero is leading but will not have a majority. Broward is running Tallafiero a close race, and the second contest will be between these two.

The corporation question figured largely in the campaign, Broward attacking Tallafiero as a representative of the interests and as the agent in the Senate of Henry M. Flagler. Tallafiero is serving his second term.

In the Congressional contests, Sparkman, of the First district, has no opposition. Clark, of the Second, and Mayo, of the Third, were opposed, but returns indicate that both have been renominated.

BECKHAM SEEKS TOGA.

Former Governor Has Strong Support for Paynter's Seat.

Louisville, May 10.—There seems little doubt that former Gov. T. C. W. Beckham will be a candidate to succeed Senator Thomas H. Paynter.

The Elizabethtown News, a very strong factor in Kentucky Democratic journalism and party councils, which is published in Beckham's Congressional district, in a double-headed editorial this week demands his nomination.

STRUCK BY PROJECTILE.

Artillery Tender Disabled While Towing Targets for Tests.

Tacoma, Wash., May 10.—The United States Artillery tender, Maj. Evan Thomas, commanded by Capt. Charles Madison, while towing targets for sub-caliber tests this morning, was struck by a projectile fired by the 14th Company of Fort Casey. The missile penetrated both decks of the steamer and demolished a steam drum, leaving the craft helpless. Fortunately no one was injured. Rigid official investigation will be made. The target was in tow 700 yards astern of the vessel.

BALLOONISTS FALL; IDENTITY UNKNOWN

Second Gas Bag Is Sought Near by with Lanterns.

Glasgow, Ky., May 10.—Two balloons this afternoon came to the ground near Center, Metcalfe County, about twenty miles from here.

The first one that fell contained two men, both in an unconscious condition. In the rush to the first balloon no one saw the second one come down, and up to a late hour to-night it had not been found, though several hundred people with lanterns are searching for it.

There were no marks by which the identity of the men could be established, and their personal effects have not been examined, the people being intent on saving their lives if possible.

Sixty-nine telegrams have been sent to many of the leading cities, but up to a late hour nothing has been learned. They have evidently been adrift for many days, and have doubtless come a great distance.

Efforts are being made to ascertain if the men are A. Holland Forbes, of New York, and J. Carrington Yates, both of whom ascended on Monday from Quincy, Ill., to break the world's record for distance.

It is said that they took enough provisions to last them three days, but no food was found in the balloon here. Forbes and Yates were last heard from sailing over Rich View, Ill., near the Kentucky border, at 10 o'clock this morning.

From the cooition of the men here it is presumed that they have been in the air many hours, because their food had all been either eaten or thrown away, and both were lying senseless in the bottom of their basket when they struck the earth.

COMET ALARMS NEGROES.

Laborers Quit Work in Western Georgia to Sing and Pray.

Newnan, Ga., May 10.—Halley's comet has thrown the negroes of Western Georgia into a panic as they believe it presages the end of the world. In over a dozen counties they have quit work, and are spending the time in singing and praying.

They expect the end to come on May 15, when the earth passes through the tail of the comet.

In one locality they are cutting and eating cabbages which are not matured, fearing themselves with the assurance that they will not be here after May 15, and that they want to get the most of them before leaving the world. The panic among the negroes has brought farming operations to a standstill.

DICK'S NAME ON BALLOT.

Democrats Fail to Obtain Injunction Against Senator.

Cleveland, May 10.—Both the Common Pleas and Circuit courts to-day ruled that Senator Charles W. Dick's name should remain on the ballot to be voted on May 17 as the unopposed candidate for the Republican indorsement for re-election to the United States Senate.

An appeal is to be carried to the Supreme Court of Ohio at once in an effort to settle the question of the validity of the primary law.

The action to enjoin the Cuyahoga county board of elections from putting Senator Dick's name on the ballot was brought by Democrats.

Judge Babcock this morning held that the law was valid, and the case was carried immediately to the Circuit Court, which upheld the lower court.

KING PLANS FOR FATHER'S FUNERAL

George V One of the Busiest Men in His Empire.

RENEW OFFICIAL OATHS

Members of Privy Council Thus Take Allegiance.

Preparations for Lying in State of Body in Westminster Hall and Funeral in Windsor Castle Have Begun—Public to Be Admitted Until 10 o'Clock at Night—Alterations in Liturgy of Church Ordained.

London, May 10.—King George to-day has been one of the busiest men in the empire. From morning until night every minute of his time was occupied in State business or in superintending the arrangements for his father's funeral.

His most important engagement to-day was with privy council, at which the members of the cabinet renewed their official oaths. Alterations in the Liturgy of the Church of England, necessitated by the change in sovereign, were ordained. These show that Queen Mother is to be Alexandra's future title. The King previously gave an audience to Prime Minister Asquith, and he received various officials throughout the day.

Makes Plans for Funeral.

The remainder of his time was spent in his own office in Marlborough House, examining and discussing arrangements for the funeral and for the entertainment of the royal guests. Queen Mary is doing her utmost not to allow the loss of their grandfather to overshadow the lives of the younger children. King Edward saw much of them. He often told them stories and joined their games, and they have the happiest recollections of him. Their mother wants them to retain these memories.

The preparations for the lying in state in Westminster Hall and the funeral in St. George's Church, Windsor Castle, already have begun, and for the next few days both places will be in the hands of carpenters and upholsterers. Electric standards are being fixed around the place in Westminster Hall where the catafalque will stand, for it is intended to admit the public until 10 o'clock at night. The catafalque will occupy the spot on which Gladstone's catafalque stood. The coffin will be sealed and draped and be surrounded by some of the royal regalia, and King Edward's field marshal's sword.

Only a Million Can Pass. As expected, many people come from the provinces, numbers are likely to be disappointed in passing the coffin, for the officials figure that it will be impossible for more than a million to pass during the two days and part of the third day allotted to the ceremony.

As soon as the coffin is placed in position a solemn service will be held in the hall. This will be attended by the members of the House of Lords and the House of Commons. Probably a thousand people will be present. Immediately after the service the public will be admitted. There will be no distinction as to persons, nor will there be any ticket privileges for this part of the ceremonial. All must take their turn in line.

At St. George's chapel the carved stalls are being removed in order to give space to timber seating. Otherwise not a tenth of those entitled to attend would be able to enter. The chapel will be draped with violet hangings. Violet will also be the predominant tone of all the funeral drappings and public decorations, it being well known that King Edward greatly disliked the gloom given by black draperies.

Memorial Service Only. The service that may be held in Westminster Abbey will not form any part of the royal funeral. It will be a memorial service held specially for those members of the House of Lords and House of Commons who will be unable to go to Windsor.

The removal of the body from Buckingham Palace to Westminster Abbey will be carried out with elaborate ceremonial. Troops will line the route along which the imposing procession will pass.

Londoners will thus, within a few days, have two great spectacles, the second being the state procession from Westminster to Paddington station, when the body is transferred to Windsor. On this second occasion 2,500 troops will line the route. The King and the other sovereigns will ride in the procession. The great pageant will attract immense crowds.

The World, a society paper, claims to have the best of authority for stating that the Queen Mother Alexandra had a presentation while she was at Corfu that her husband was on the verge of a dangerous illness.

This presentation was so strong that although she intended to stay another week, she left at short notice for Calais. But for this presentation, she says, she would hardly have arrived in time to attend the final scenes at the death bed.

In consequence of the continued circulation of rumor in regard to the health of the Queen Mother Alexandra, an official statement was issued this evening which states that she continues in good health, although she is naturally suffering great grief.

Day of General Mourning. The Official Gazette publishes a proclamation appointing May 29 the day of King Edward's funeral, as a day of general mourning throughout the United Kingdom.

King George has notified the managers of the Anglo-Japanese Exhibition that it is his wish that the exposition shall be opened on schedule time, May 12, in pieces under the wheels of the motor.
