Cleveland, Ohio, June 2.—Just as the Washington players arrived at League Park this afternoon, the weather had a relapse, and down came the rain in torrents once more. So it was a case of travel back to the hotel, after inspecting the great baseball plant which the Cleveland club has installed since the Nationals were here last fall.

Manager McAleer returned from Youngstown this morning ready to assassinate the local newspaper writer, a former Youngstown man, who started the yarn yesterday that McAleer was a candidate for sheriff down in Mahoning County.

Another Rider Injured at Gravesend Track.

HORSES CROWDED AT TURN

James Butler Hurlled Under Dozen Hoofs and Fred Langan's Life is Crushed Out in Cloud of Dust—Davis Has Miraculous Escape in the Accident—The Summaries.

New York, June 2.—Fred Langan, eighteen years old, a jockey in the employ of R. P. Carman, was instantly killed at Gravesend race track during the running of the last race this afternoon.

The accident occurred on the far turn, which is sharply curved. There were thirteen starters in the race. Langan was third in the race. Warwick led, followed by Stewart Laid, and Langan went down in the dust cloud.

Another rider, James Butler, was hurled under a dozen hoofs and Fred Langan's life is crushed out in a cloud of dust.

Davis has a miraculous escape in the accident. The summaries of the race are as follows:
