OUTINGS FOR POOR

New Site for Camp Pleasant at Notley Hall.

NOTED OLD EXCURSION RESORT

Many Improvements at Camp Good Will Admit Entertaining Double the Number Last Season—First Hundred Will Arrive Next Friday. New Apparatus Installed.

The summer outings committee of the Associated Charities has acquired a new home for Camp Pleasant at Old Notley Hall, on the Potomac River. The committee was able to acquire this new site for the camp through the generosity of Messrs. Bensinger and Jefferson. Notley Hall is one of the most pleasant picnic grounds on the Potomac, and the committee considers itself very fortunate in procuring it as the new home of Camp Pleasant. The Independent Steamboat Company has granted free transportation to all going and coming from the camp. The camp is ideally located on a hill one-half mile from the Potomac River. This camp is always kept neat and clean, and the mothers and children are taught to be orderly and polite.

At Camp Good Will, one of the oldest resorts maintained by the outings committee, many improvements are under way. Carpenters have been at work for the past few weeks erecting a large dining hall with double the capacity of last year. Besides this, a large, comfortable recreation building has been built for the protection of mothers and children on rainy days and new playground apparatus has been installed.

First Outing Party Friday.
The first party of 100 will arrive at the camp next Friday, when Mrs. Bushen, with her efficient trained workers, will be ready to welcome them.

At Camp Good Will about a thousand mothers and their children will be accommodated this summer, while at Notley Hall it is expected that about thirty of the poorest mothers will be entertained.

Besides keeping these regular camps, the committee hopes to be able to give several large picnics to Colonial Beach and Chesapeake Beach this summer. This work of the committee is dependent absolutely upon voluntary contributions. Like all other work for others, this work is only a matter of means, and the committee hopes that every one will help by a small or large gift. Send contributions to the Summer Outings Committee, 325 H street northwest.

Moose Move Their Quarters.
Columbia Lodge, No. 136, Loyal Order of Moose, has moved its quarters to Eagles' Hall, Sixth and E streets northwest. The next meeting will be held Thursday evening.

GO TO MEXICAN CENTENNIAL.

Under the terms of a resolution signed by the President yesterday, the United States is to be represented by a Congressional committee at the Mexican centennial to be held in Mexico City in September. #### STATE DEPARTMENT SCORED.

Senator Stone Criticizes Action in Nicaraguan Relations.

An investigation into the relations between the governments of the United States and the republic of Nicaragua was proposed in a resolution offered in the Senate prior to the adjournment of Congress by Senator Stone, of Missouri.

It was not the Missouri Senator's purpose to have the Senate act on the resolution, and he made it the basis for a speech criticizing the action of the State Department, which, he said, had not acted for the best interests of the American people, but for the benefit of adventurers and financial interests engaged in exploiting the finances of South American countries.

"The government of Nicaragua," continued Senator Stone, "which has at its head Dr. Madriz, maintains diplomatic relations with every government of the world save that of the United States. I have been unable to discover any sound reason for the severance of relations by our State Department with that government."

"I am informed that a former high official of the government is the representative in Washington of a syndicate. If this be true there are millions in it for somebody."

Senator Callum scouted the idea.

SELLS F STREET PROPERTY.

Business Building Brings $122,500 in Deal Completed Yesterday.

The business building at 1331 F street northwest, adjoining the Adams' Iron Building, has changed hands, a deed transferring the property from Guy F. Whiting, trustee, to Mrs. Sarah L. Dougherty, having been placed on record.

The property occupies the west half of original lot 7, square 233, having a frontage of 27 feet 8 inches, and embraces an area of 1,346 square feet.

The lot is improved by a four-story brown Roman brick building, occupied on the first floor by the Ebbitt House drug store, which has recently moved to the north side of F street, and on the upper floors by Walter K. Bachrach, photographer; O. E. Johnson & Co., tailors; the Washington office of the Royal Free Delivery News, and David B. Edmonston, photographer.

It is understood that $122,500 was paid for the property, which represents a price of approximately $38 per square foot, including the building.

Industrial Association Meets.

BASEBALL WRITER SANGREE LOSES INFANT DAUGHTER

"Joy and baseball travel together in the same compartment." It was a crusty deliver into the dictionary of pessimism who said that after a winning and invigorating team had routed the pitching star of the home set.

Last night in the Arlington Hotel there was a directly opposite setting to a scene of pathos that a Belasco could not have staged with all the implements of Providence. Seated with Earl Gardner, second baseman of the New York American League team, that had conquered Walter Johnson's pitching problems for the first time this year, was Allan Sangree, correspondent of a New York newspaper, discussing whether the trials of a newspaper man outmeasured the storms of an aspiring major league baseball star.

"Baseball players are human just like men who sit on the bleachers and tell us how to do it," assured Gardner. "Yes, it is a deep study for any one to tell what is going to happen next," said Sangree. A page entered with the call "M-l-s-t-e-r S-a-n-g-r-e-e." "Wonder what I am expected to do now," queried the newspaper Argus as he kept one eye on the message and another on Gardner. "Some stunt they want me to pull off, I suppose."

Sitting the yellow envelope, there unfolded was a pithy message reading: Allan Sangree, care Arlington Hotel Washington; Linda was drowned today. KATE.

Without boring into the sacred precincts of death or sorrow, a listener knew that Linda Sangree, only child, two and one-half years old, daughter of Allan Sangree, had been drowned from a houseboat at City Island, New York.

Earl Gardner, baseball player, with growing and rapidly blossoming averages sprouting before him, said, "I may be up against it, but that is heart-breaking." Mr. Sangree left immediately for New York and home.

Mrs. Sangree, an expert swimmer, had left the only child in the care of a new nurse while bidding her husband good-bye in Manhattan when he started on his trip to Washington.

KING'S PRINTER TOLD HOW TO STOP GRAFT

His Shop Is Molested During Visit at G. P. O.

His presence unannounced, and his mission known only to himself, the king's printer, of Ottawa, Canada, was in Washington recently and visited the Government Printing Office.

The reason for his visit was a report that during the administration of Public Printer Stillings some sort of a detective force existed to prevent grafting from the public funds, the "slouts," no doubt, being the body of inspectors which were appointed by Mr. Stillings under the direction of a chief inspector.

Officials Helping Themselves. Certain officials of the government printing bureau at Ottawa were helping themselves, and the king's printer came to Washington and became acquainted with the methods employed to catch grafters.

When he called upon Public Printer Donnelly and other officials at the big printery, he was kindly received and the necessary information given him. While the king's printer was in Washington, however, a high official of the printery in Ottawa molested the department there.

A special dispatch from Ottawa says: "F. X. Gouldthrite, superintendent of stationery in the government printing bureau for twenty years, has disappeared, following charges by Secretary of State Murphy, who has supervision of the bureau, that he has grafted in the purchase of supplies to the extent of from $250,000 to $1,000,000. Gouldthrite is said to be in New York."

While you think of it, telephone your Want Ad. to The Washington Herald, and bill will be sent you at a cent a word.

THIEVES GET JEWELS.

Jewelry Valued at $375 Stolen from Physician's House.

HELD FOR BICYCLE THEFT.

Messenger Boy Brought Back Here from Atlantic City.

Detective Springmann, of central bureau, returned last night from Atlantic City with a boy named Frank E. Sullivan, wanted here upon the charge of stealing a bicycle. Sullivan had been employed as a messenger boy, and a few weeks ago went to Atlantic City to work there. He denied the charge.

Springmann stopped over in Philadelphia to arrest Jesse E. Weaver, wanted here on a charge of nonsupport sworn out by his wife. He was taken before a United States commissioner, who, after hearing the case, paroled him under a $50 bond.

Weaver had gone to Philadelphia to obtain work with the Rapid Transit Company and had not been paid for his first two weeks' work. The commissioner furnished the bond.

BANK CLERKS ON RIVER.

Local Chapter Holds Annual Excursion to Marshall Hall.

Members of the local chapter, American Institute of Banking, with their families and friends, went on their annual excursion yesterday to Marshall Hall. A goodly number of the women folk went down on the early boat, while the bank clerks hastened from their desks to the afternoon boat and joined their friends at the river resort.

The afternoon was spent in a series of outdoor games, including baseball, running races, and a full programme of sports, in which some of the bank clerks excel. Dinner on the grounds was part of the day's outing, and the trip home in the moonlight was enlivened by singing and much mirth and fun in all parts of the boat.

The excursion was voted one of the most enjoyable ever given by the chapter. The weather was perfect, and the prearranged festivities at the grounds went off without a hitch.
