

WASHINGTON GIRL PLANS LONG RIDE

Miss Oliver One of Party to Cross New Mexico.

TRIP WILL COVER 250 MILES

Mrs. Herbert Wadsworth, Who Recently Surpassed Col. Roosevelt's Equestrian Feats, Will Visit Indian Reservations in the Southwest.

Another Washington society girl will try for equestrian honors. She is Miss Marion Oliver, daughter of Gen. Robert S. Oliver, Assistant Secretary of War.

Miss Oliver will accompany her father on a jaunt through the territory of the Southwestern United States. The start will be made from Fort Wingate, New Mexico, and thence over the Mescal and Navajo reservations. The trip will cover more than 250 miles.

Miss Oliver is the secretary's youngest daughter and is one of the prime favorites of the younger social set of the Capital. She is thoroughly at home in the saddle, and frequently goes off on saddle trips that discourage many of her companions.

Going to Be Harder. The trip through the Indian section, however, is somewhat different from riding where mature civilization has modified conditions, and Miss Oliver realizes this. It has only served to increase her anticipation of the trip. She realizes that the going will be considerably harder on both animal and rider, while the climate and infrequency of put-in stations will tell more rigorously on them.

Gen. Oliver has been over the territory before during his active military service, and he has well informed his daughter just what may be expected. Ten or a score years has made little change in the conditions since the general was in the saddle, and he counting on meeting practically the same hardships again.

The trip will be made doubly interesting by the presence of the Washington social leader, Mrs. Herbert Wadsworth, who recently enthused the Capital by her brilliant feat of riding 212 miles in fifteen hours, thus rivaling Col. Roosevelt's record ride of ninety-eight miles from the White House to Warrenton, Va., and return.

Rode Twenty Hours. In this feat she started from her place, "Ashantee," at Avon, near Genesee, N. Y., and rode steadily for twenty consecutive hours, five of which were discounted because of stops for change of mount and for food and drink. She used twenty relays of animals, using fourteen horses and employing six of them twice.

Her niece, Miss Smirnoff, will accompany Mrs. Wadsworth. Others in the party will be Capt. Frank McCoy and Reginald Hildekoper. One of the aims of the trip will be to see a real Moki snake dance. Gen. Oliver in his tour will inspect the military camps of instruction at Fort Riley, Kans.; Fort D. A. Russell, Wyo.; Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind., and at Sparta, Wis.

LOUVRE PAINTING STOLEN

French Paper Reiterates Charge Regarding "Monna Lisa."

Declares Masterpiece Has Been Smuggled to New York, and Ring Is Organized to Get Others.

Paris, Aug. 6.—Despite the fact that Jean Homolle, curator of the Louvre, denied the report of the theft of the painting, "Monna Lisa," which is regarded as one of the masterpieces of Leonardo da Vinci, the Cri de Paris, which first published the report of the robbery, prints an editorial demanding the appointment of a committee of famous artists to examine the picture.

Like all the Louvre masterpieces, the "Monna Lisa" is covered with glass to protect it from the attacks of vandals. The Cri de Paris insists that it is this glass that prevents not only the public but experts from detecting the substitution of a copy.

According to the Cri de Paris, which repeats its charge of a substitution, an English woman copyist made a copy of the "Monna Lisa" picture for an art restorer on the Rue Bonaparte, and imparted an appearance of antiquity to the copy.

The paper reiterates emphatically that the real picture painted by Da Vinci is now in New York, and adds that it is in a position to assert that the successful substitution has soon encouraged the New York dealer that they have formed a ring for the purpose of obtaining and smuggling to New York more of the Louvre's finest art treasures.

Loses Pin in Theater Rush. John Hopkins, of 132 Pierce street northwest, yesterday reported the loss of a gold watch with a silk fob attached, valued at $35. Hopkins says he was jostled by a crowd of men in front of a Ninth street theater, and discovered the loss of his watch a few minutes after.

Fittings Stolen from Engine. The police have been asked to look out for a lot of brass castings, and pipe valves, valued at $50, stolen from an engine owned by J. B. Knowles, of Chesapeake Junction. It is thought that negroes will try to dispose of the lot to some of the second-hand dealers here.

Wife Causes His Arrest. William E. Bailey, of Anacostia, was arrested yesterday on charges of non-support preferred by his wife. It is alleged that he left his family about a week ago, telling his wife that she would have to make her own way, as he was tired of working.

Thieves Take Watch. Report was made to the police yesterday by James Jordan, of 623 D street northwest, that a gold watch valued at $50 had been stolen from his coat. The police have no clue.

Defective Gas Pipe Starts Fire. Fire in a house at 2129 F street northwest, owned by H. C. Bliss, of Baltimore, Md., yesterday did about $200 damage. A defective gas pipe was responsible.

GEN. HARRIS THANKED.

Headquarters Camp, Gettysburg, Pa., July 30, 1910. My dear Gen. Harris: On the eve of breaking up of our camp, I wish to express to you my high appreciation of your efforts to further the purposes of the camp and to thank you for your hearty assistance in every direction.

I am sure you will be pleased to know how much I appreciate the good behavior, earnestness, and patience of the troops of your command, as well as the interest displayed by the regimental officers in the many problems we have had. The troops have at all times been quiet in camp and acquired and maintained an excellent state of sanitation in their camps; they have been generous in their formations for the various exercises.

I hope it may be my good fortune to again see service in the same encampment with your brigade.

Wishing you a pleasant journey, and with my kindest regards to your staff, I am, Very sincerely yours,

W. W. WOTHEISPOON, Brig. Gen., U. S. A., Commanding, District of Columbia Brigade, camp of instruction.

FUND FOR DICKENS PROPOSED.

Novel Plan of Celebrating His Centenary in 1911.

London, Aug. 6.—Use of conscience money to celebrate the centenary in 1911 of Charles Dickens is the suggestion of the editor of the Strand Magazine. To the great novelist's present-day admirers it is pointed out that Dickens did not live to draw one-tenth of the profits from his books and received no royalties whatever from America.

Besides all this, three of his children and his seventeen grandchildren are in comparatively poor circumstances. It is estimated that, allowing for loss and the wear and tear on the 24,000,000 copies of Dickens' works that have been issued, 2 cents royalty on each copy would realize $500,000.

SCOTLAND AFTER HOME RULE.

Representatives in Parliament Issue a Manifesto.

London, Aug. 6.—Now it is Scotland that demands home rule. This week twenty-one Liberal members of Parliament from Scotland issued a manifesto, declaring that the time has come when that country should be ruled by the Scotch people. They say that Parliament gives no adequate time to the discussion of Scotch affairs; in other words, that the country gets short shrift in matters of vital importance. They now demand that they be permitted to manage their own affairs in their own way instead of having them managed from London as at present.

The manifesto declares that Scotland is getting tired of being governed by absentee legislators.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

U. S. Dept. of Agriculture—Weather Bureau. Washington, Aug. 6.—8 p. m. Temperatures continued moderate during Saturday east of the Rocky Mountains having been, as a rule, slightly below the seasonable average, except in the Plains States, the rain area extending into Arkansas and Missouri. WILL ERECT RESCUE STATION.

Government Agent in Anthracite Field to Pick Site.

Wilkesbarre, Aug. 6.—James Wilson, a representative of the national Bureau of Mines, arrived to-day to select a site for the government rescue station to be erected here for the use of the anthracite region. He arranged with the city authorities for a convenient site, and says the building will cost $5,000. It is to be close to a railroad so that its rescue apparatus can be quickly mounted on cars and taken to any section of the region where it may be needed in case of a big accident. Work will be started on the station within a couple of weeks.

Georgetown Market Robbed.

Thieves yesterday broke open the cash drawer in M. A. Dugan's market, in Georgetown, and took $40 in bills. Dugan told the police that two negro boys had been looting about the place the day before, and that he had found one of them in the market. Entrance was gained through a rear door that was not bolted.

GERMAN FOOD PRICES HIGH

American Packers Watch for Opportunity There.

Workmen Protest They Are Not Able to Feed Their Families and Changes Are Urged.

Berlin, Aug. 6.—Representatives of the American packing houses are watching with much interest the remarkable situation in the meat trade, which has resulted from the exclusion of American meats. The prices of all foods are increasing in Germany with alarming rapidity. It was announced this week that the price of meats will be increased from 10 to 20 per cent. The German newspapers assert that the cause of these increases is the shortage in the domestic supplies, which cannot be augmented by importation. The quantity of meat available in the market of Berlin this year is almost a third less than in 1909.

The butchers and the retailers declare that they are powerless to remedy the condition, and blame the influential agrarian and cattle men, whose alleged anxiety in regard to the purity of imported meats is declared to be a transparent pretense. The public is clamorous and demands a removal of the bars against foreign meats.

Workmen bitterly protest that they are not able to eat meat at the present prohibitive prices. If the American government would seize upon the psychological moment and urge the removal of the restrictions against American meats it would be able to count upon the strong support of the masses in Germany.

FILES AMENDED SUIT.

Mrs. Mayer Asks Injunction Against Trust Company.

A new phase was injected into the Mayer divorce case yesterday, when Mrs. Theodore A. Mayer had an amended petition filed in the District Supreme Court to enjoin the American Security and Trust Company from accepting a $15,000 assignment from her husband, from the estate of his father, and also to restrain him from further incurring the estate.

The trust company controls the estate, holding a sum of about $350,000 in trust for Mayer until he is forty-eight years old. In the meantime he is allowed an income of $200 a month and other amounts ranging up to $30,000. Justice Bernard set September 19 as the date for the trust company's answer to the petition.

MAN AND GIRL FLEE. Captured After Chase and Charged with Wife Desertion. Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 6.—Arthur Jacobson, part owner of a garage and repair shop at Mount Vernon, is a prisoner here, and will be taken back to Mount Vernon to-morrow by Detective Silverstein to face the joint charge of abduction and abandoning his wife and baby.

On July 14 says the detective, Jacobson and Anna Dreaper, his stenographer, got into an automobile belonging to Byron D. Chandler, known as the millionaire kid and husband of Grace La Rue, and left town. They abandoned the machine at White Plains, and the police have pursued the couple to Montreal, Wilkesbarre, and finally to Buffalo.

The girl's father accompanied the police when she was arrested in a rooming house at 2 o'clock this morning. She had enough of a roaming life and was glad to go home.

DOGS IN DISTRICT GUILTY OF LIVING

Continued from Page One. the thought of the inconvenience and annoyance caused to the dogs by muzzling should give some thought also to the danger and suffering entailed upon human beings. Only the Pasteur treatment saves many bitten people from a horrible death.

"This treatment, while perhaps not very painful to a vigorous adult, is quite an ordeal to a young child or a nervous person, consisting as it does in the injection of an emulsion under the skin of the abdomen once or twice a day for nearly thirty days. Parents whose children have been bitten are the greatest sufferers from anxiety and suspense, despite assurances given them by competent scientists as to the reliability of the Pasteur treatment. Naturally, they feel very bitterly over the pain that their little ones have to suffer because of the failure of the District authorities to muzzle the dogs.

"Should the feeling for a dog outweigh the feelings of a child and its parents? Leashing of Rabies. It may not be possible to keep out absolutely all stray dogs from the surrounding country, but an honest effort to enforce the muzzling order will do away with a lot of them, and will at least very greatly reduce the prevalence of rabies, and consequently the number of people who will have to take the treatment. The police cannot catch all the crooks who come into the District, but by vigilance they can minimize their operations.

"The muzzling order of 1908 was not well enforced, even in the heart of the city, and was not continued long enough; yet it had a very noticeable effect in diminishing the number of cases. The lack of a muzzling order for the past year and a half is responsible, in my opinion, for the great increase recently apparent in the prevalence of rabies and for considerable suffering on the part of numerous people. The effectiveness of muzzling has been demonstrated in several countries. Rabies was eradicated from Great Britain by this means, and that country has been free from it for ten years.

"It seems incredible that a humane and civilized community will tolerate year after year a state of affairs under which a highly dangerous disease is propagated, numerous people are subjected to mental anxiety, the pain of treatment, or danger of death, and the government put to the expense of maintaining facilities for treatment. Even the partisans of the dog should realize that the continuance of the infection brings suffering, torture, and death to many dogs, pets as well as strays. It is exceedingly unjust that officials who are endeavoring by the only practicable known means to protect the community against a real danger should be held up to ridicule."

SULZER BEGINS CAMPAIGN. New York gubernatorial candidate speaks at Jamestown. Jamestown, N. Y., Aug. 6.—William F. Sulzer came to Jamestown to-day to promote his boom for the Democratic nomination for governor. The district convention carefully refrained from instructing the State delegation on that point, but did instruct them to try to nominate J. W. Sanbury, of Busti, for secretary of state.

Mr. Sulzer, however, was invited to address the delegates to the county convention, which was held immediately after the district convention. He told the assemblage that he was a candidate for governor and would win if the rank and file of the party had anything to say about it. He also talked about good roads, the tariff, and other things.
