BUNGLING CHARGE AGAINST POLICE

Negro Pastor Foiled Trying to Catch Van Dever.

HAD BOND JUMPER SPOTTED

Detectives Shadow Man Who Was to Disclose Whereabouts, and Facts Are Published Which Friend of Rev. Howard Says Gives ex-Police-man Notice to Disappear.

Charging that the police have thwarted the capture of Seth W. Van Dever, the former policeman charged with burglary, a friend of Rev. W. J. Howard, his colored bondsman, made a complaint yesterday.

For two days detectives of the Central office shadowed a man who had promised Rev. Mr. Howard to lead him to the hiding place of the fugitive. The informant wanted $300 for his information, declaring he could bring about the arrest in four hours, Van Dever being employed on a railroad in Virginia just a few miles from Washington.

Informant Is Shadowed.

The minister went to the police for advice, and it was agreed first to test the reliability of the informant, whereupon the detectives were put on his trail. Instead of shadowing him, it is claimed, they approached him on the subject, and went to the house of his sister, which caused the man and his family much alarm.

The "bungling," the minister's friend claims, was followed yesterday by the publication of the facts obtained from the informant and which they claim was just the same as notice to the fugitive to hunt himself another hiding place.

Minister's Search Costly.

Rev. Mr. Howard paid $200 to two other men for services which he was led to believe would result in the capture of Van Dever, and the saving of $1,500, the surety he supplied for the prisoner's release.

Van Dever is charged with burglarizing the store of W. H. Fisher & Son, at Wisconsin avenue and N street, about a year ago.

Arrangements Perfect to Entertain Two Conventions Here.

Attention was chiefly given by the members of the executive committee of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday to matters brought before it by the conventions committee. The luncheon and reception will be given to the visitors on September 17.

Tait, president of the local branch of the National Association of Post-office Clerks, informed the committee that the chances were favorable for bringing the annual convention of the body to the Capital in 1911, and the committee authorized the expenses of a local representative of the body to attend the convention in Saratoga this year and work with a view to bringing the next meeting to Washington.

NEW G. W. U. HOME READY IN MONTH

Trustees Agree on Plans for Rejuvenation.

George Washington University will open its doors as usual next month, for the coming school year. The date is September 28.

This definite announcement was made yesterday afternoon by a member of the executive committee of the board of trustees of the university, and indicates that the committee has evidently been able to dispel many of the clouds that have hung over the institution.

There will be only one void in the curriculum of the university. This is the division of architecture. Determination to discontinue this branch was made shortly after the first announcement of the university's difficulties.

The housing of the university, which is necessitated by the abandonment of the old college building at Fifteenth and H streets, has been tentatively decided upon, the official admitted. Announcement of the new location, he added, would be made by the trustees Thursday or Friday.

Already the process of moving is under way at the old university. Books and pictures are being taken down and packed ready for removal to the new quarters. This packing up will probably take until next week, when the transfer to the new home will be made.
