Trading Is Dull and Prices Show Little Changes.

PECULATORS HOLDING OFF

Want to Wait for Clearer Opinion of Political Conditions—Canadian Pacific Shows Remarkable Increase in Both Gross and Net Weather Reports Favorable.

New York, Aug. 30.—If the professional traders and the regulars, who supplied most of the business in the stock market to-day, had agreed before hand to conduct their operations as to close stocks even with yesterday's final prices, and had carried out the plan successfully, the result of the day's trading would have been much the same.

The only few stocks in which there was action exceeding 10,000 shares—Amalgamated Copper, Reading, Union Pacific, and Steel common—either broke up on the day or closed with changes of one-eighth of 1 per cent. These four stocks together supplied more than two-thirds of the day's transactions, and the trading in them, and in most of the others, seemed to represent more than a snapping of small lots back and forth by professional traders.

On the other hand, a development in politics, which naturally intensified the disposition of speculators and investors to refrain from transactions in securities, until a clearer opinion can be obtained of the outcome of the new political agitation.

Decrease in Net Earnings. Rather striking demonstrations of the proposition were furnished to-day in the way statements of the Union Pacific and other Pacific, the former reporting an increase of $32,000 in gross earnings, but a decrease of $40,000 in net, and the latter an increase of $40,000 in gross and a decrease of $102,000 in net.

Interesting by contrast was the July statement of the Canadian Pacific, a company which is not hampered by the same restrictions as those which have retarded railroad business in the States.

In the cotton market conditions to-day were practically unchanged, bullish speculators holding the price of cotton for August delivery at an extravagantly high figure, and the trading in the new crop options being little affected by the speculation in the August option.

There were no changes of any consequence in grain prices, and weather reports from the crop sections were again generally favorable.
