Escaping from the guards at St. Elizabeth's, riding about the city and country in hired touring cars, assuming the character of a United States army captain, marrying a pretty eighteen-year-old girl at the Rockville Grotna Green at 2 o'clock in the morning, ordering a wedding breakfast at the New Willard Hotel, occupying a private box at American League Park, and running afoul of the Central office detectives—this was the exciting career of Edwin Frank, formerly a private of the United States army, and now returned to his cell at the Government Hospital for the Insane. Sadly disillusioned, the bride of less than a day, whose maiden name was Virginia Strouse, is at her home, 223 First street northeast.

Frank, who told the police his home is at 213 West 122d street, New York City, enlisted in the Seventeenth Infantry in November, 1909. He was soon transferred to Fort McPherson, Ga., where he served until examination by the army physicians showed mental derangement. He was ordered to the Government Hospital for the Insane in Washington. After being a patient for about six months at St. Elizabeth's, he was again examined and a report sent to his captain that he was cured. Pending notification as to whether he should be returned to the fort or sent home, he was released from the strict surveillance of the guards and allowed to go about the grounds.

Escapes from Hospital. Tuesday morning he left his ward about 9 o'clock, telling the watchman that he had been ordered to go to the main office. Watching his chance, he slipped out the gate and was in the city before his absence was discovered. Frank went to an automobile garage, engaged a car, and away he went. His first order was to be carried to the New Willard. From there he called up Miss Strouse, and after informing her

MAN FALLS THIRTEEN STORIES.

Insurance Agent Crashes Through Roof and Dies Instantly. New York, Aug. 31.—E. H. Halbrook, an insurance agent, fell or jumped at least thirteen stories from a north window of the twenty-four-story building at 12-21 Park row to the roof of the six-story building at 23 Park row about 3 o'clock this morning and was unrecognizably crushed. Death was instantaneous. At the nineteenth story of the building from which Halbrook jumped a painter's tackle and platform were swinging. Several painters at work on the wall were startled to see a body hurtle through the air from above them, and as they peered down the body struck with terrific force. It hit the square elevated housing of the top of an elevator shaft, broke through the tin roof of the shaft, smashed a glass skylight, and landed on a metal screen. The noise of the impact was very great and brought the tenants of the building to the roof.

Largest Gas Well in World. Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 31.—The Arkansas Natural Gas Company today received word from Louisiana that in Cadno Parish last night there was drilled for them the largest gas well in the world. The well has a pressure of 60,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily, and is situated on the Hazen farm, near Vivian.

THOUSANDS SEE FLIGHT

Will Attempt to Return to Cleveland To-day.

Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 31.—Flying sixty and five-tenths miles in 78 minutes, or 46.1 miles per hour, Glenn H. Curtiss wrote an aeroplane story to-day by his flight from Euclid Beach, just east of Cleveland, to Cedar Point, off Sandusky Bay. Crowds aggregating close to 150,000, cheering and neck-straining, gathered at Euclid Beach, along the Cleveland water front, in parks, on tops of buildings in the cities along the lake, along the shore of the lake in the country, with another great crowd at the landing place, witnessed the flight. Curtiss landed gracefully before the Breakers Hotel at Cedar Point, rushed inside the hotel, and while devouring a big meal declared the trip fine.

Strikes Heavy Wind.

He said: "I struck a mean thirty-mile wind in the last twenty miles. I don't want to tackle it again to-day. I will start the return about 10 o'clock to-morrow morning, everything being favorable."

BIRD FOILS SLEUTH.

Brings Message to Burglar to Flee His Home.

Waterbury, Conn., Aug. 31.—James F. Sangree, thirty-eight years old, a circusman, is wanted in Chicago for burglary. Suspecting that he was in this city because an aunt lives near here, a detective came on to get him.

Huge Crowd Sees Start.

There were 50,000 in the crowd at Euclid Park at the start to-day. Down town Cleveland was as crowded as the park. Tops of buildings were made into grand stands, and the lake shore was lined with thousands. The same condition was true in Lorain and in all the towns along the route.

BULLET TO REMAIN.

Physicians Agree Not to Operate on Mayor Gaynor.

St. James, Long Island, Aug. 31.—The five physicians who have been in almost constant attendance on Mayor Gaynor since he was shot down three weeks ago, went to St. James to-day, accompanied by Dr. Cornelius G. Coakley, a well-known surgeon, to make a final examination of the mayor's throat. At the close of the examination it was officially announced that there will be no immediate operation for the removal of the bullet from the mayor's pharynx, and that from present indications the bit of lead will be allowed to remain there for the rest of the mayor's lifetime.

ASSUMES LEADERSHIP OF PROGRESSIVE PARTY.

COL. THEODORE ROOSEVELT. Former President, in a remarkable speech at Osawatimie, Kans., aligns himself with radicals and cuts adrift from the administration of President Taft.

ROOSEVELT A PROGRESSIVE.

I do not wish to see the nation forced into ownership of the railroads if it can possibly be avoided.

There must be an expert tariff commission wholly removed from the possibility of political pressure or of improper business influence. I believe in revising our schedule at a time. A general revision of the tariff almost inevitably leads to log rolling and the subordination of the general public interest to local and special interests.

WILL INSURE AEROS.

Aviators to Be Risks of New Casualty Company.

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 31.—Articles of incorporation for the first insurance company in the South to insure the lives of aviators and their machines against accidents by aviation were filed here to-day. The name of the concern is called the Transylvania Casualty Insurance Company, and the capitalization is $300,000. Nearly every conceivable loss to be received from aviation is named in the list of casualties, for which the company is to pay certain sums.

CAUGHT WITH GEMS.

Professional Jewel Thieves Nabbed at Freight Depot.

Located at the Pennsylvania freight depot yesterday, just as they were shipping a box containing $1,000 worth of jewelry, stolen last Wednesday from a Philadelphia jeweler, to Cincinnati, Israel Bigman and Amie Smith were taken into custody by Detectives Cornwall and Bauer, and are held for the Philadelphia authorities.

HEINZE WEDS ACTRESS.

Mining King Married at Episcopal Rectory in Brooklyn.

New York, Aug. 31.—F. Augustus Heinze, the mining man, this afternoon was married to Mrs. Bernice Golden Henderson, an actress who has been playing the leading feminine role in "The Vampire." The ceremony took place at the home of the Rev. H. A. Handel, an Episcopal clergyman, in Brooklyn.

RETURNS AS MINT DIRECTOR

Beverly, Mass., Aug. 31.—The executive offices here have received word from Chicago that George E. Roberts, of Chicago, Director of the Mint for a number of years under Presidents McKinley and Roosevelt, has decided to accept the position again. President Taft offered to make Mr. Roberts Director of the Mint to succeed A. P. Andrews, some time ago. Mr. Andrews was made Assistant Secretary of the Treasury when C. D. Norton became secretary to the President. Mr. Roberts resigned as Director of the Mint to become president of a Chicago bank.

PROGRESSIVE PARTY PLATFORM OUTLINED

Utterances at Osawatimie Show Complete Breaking Away from Party Traditions.

SMILES AT MENTION OF SOCIALISM

Raises Issue of Man Against Property and Defies Special Interests—Clash with Administration Must Follow.

Osawatimie, Kans., Aug. 31.—The new nationalism was begun to-day. Theodore Roosevelt, speaking in the town where John Brown stood himself against the Missouri raiders in 1856, delivered himself of utterances which are construed here as the most radical he has ever made.

He split with the administration and President Taft. He will never endorse the administration, for, indeed, he cannot now. Col. Roosevelt will go along on his own hook, and the regulars can follow him if they want to. He stated part of his platform to-day.

Col. Roosevelt declared that the common people are right in demanding a new nationalism, without which they cannot hope to deal with new problems. He declared also that the new nationalism put the national need before section or personal need. He said that it is impatient of the utter confusion that results from local legislatures attempting to treat national issues as local issues. He did not mention President Taft.

SPEECH RELEASES INSURGENTS.

A crowd of red-hot Kansas insurgents listened to the colonel make this impassioned speech, and they yelled for all they were worth. While they sat in John Brown Park, where the merry-go-round and hot sausage stands had amused them in the morning, they heard Col. Roosevelt discuss issues of the moment and the future. Some of them he has spoken of before; others he has not.

Before long he will have more to say in regard to his platform. The colonel piled point upon point in his address, and when it was over he said that he had nothing to add, because his remarks speak for themselves.

It was put up to him that he had preached socialism, but he merely smiled. His unmistakable threat to break down the business of the land if its managers do not be good was simply a repetition of things he has said before on this trip. His break with the President was confirmed without a shadow of doubt. He is as thick with the insurgents as mud in the streets of Osawatimie.

Col. Roosevelt had luncheon with Dr. Uhlil at the State Insane Asylum to-day. From there he went to John Brown Park and began his speech. Gov. Stubbs, Senator Bristow, Representative Madison, James R. Garfield, Gifford Pinchot, and William Allen White were with him.

INSURGENTS LEAD APPLAUSE.

They roared to beat the band. They led the applause whenever they got the chance. They were in hearty sympathy with the colonel's declaration. Equalize opportunity, the colonel began, destroy privilege. While he stands for the square deal under the present rules of the game, he stands for having these rules changed.

That was the first shot that was calculated to get the Kansans going, and it did. They shook the trees with their shouts. The colonel then got into the heart of the matter. He discussed railroad corporations, tariff, the income tax, and publicity of campaign funds. He intimated that he favors the recall. He showed mighty clearly that on a good many matters he does not agree with President Taft, if he does not take occasion to say so. That came in regard to the tariff.

Col. Roosevelt did not spare the members of Mr. Taft's Cabinet. He took issue on certain things which Attorney General Wickersham has done, as the insurgents took issue. He backed up the theories of his friends Garfield and Pinchot.

DOESN'T CARE FOR WALL STREET.

He demanded the investigation of our financial system, and he demanded that it be investigated right away. What Wall street thinks of these notions Col. Roosevelt does not care a whoop. One of the things that created a deep impression on the men who listened to the colonel to-day was his remark concerning the relations of property to human welfare. Very few understood this.

"The man who wrongly holds that every human right is secondary to his profit," he shouted, "must now give way to the advocate of human welfare, who rightly maintains that every man holds his property subject to the general right of the community to regulate its use to whatever degree the public welfare may require it."

And when he went further and admitted the right to regulate the terms and conditions of labor they were even more deeply impressed. There were no cheers here.

WANTS AN INCOME TAX.

Col. Roosevelt set forth his belief in a graduated income tax on swollen fortunes and a graduated inheritance tax on big fortunes. It should be properly safeguarded against invasion, he said, and should increase rapidly in amount with the size of the estate. The Supreme Court has held that such a tax is a direct tax, and is, therefore, unconstitutional. A resolution amending the Constitution so as to permit of the imposition of an income tax was adopted, and is now before the State legislatures. Mr. Taft regards an income tax as a proper source of revenue in all emergency, however, and prefers a graduated inheritance tax as a remedy for swollen fortunes.

There must be a government supervision of capitalization not only of public service corporations, but of all corporations doing an interstate business. He said that he did not wish to see the nation forced into the ownership of railroads if it can be avoided, but he does want a physical valuation. This is necessary, he declared, not so much for rate fixing, but as the basis of honest speculation. This is an endorsement of the La Follette amendment to the recent railway bill which was rejected in conference.

Favors Tariff Commission.

In regard to the tariff Roosevelt expressed his dissatisfaction at the method of revising it. He said that it is the duty of Congress to provide a method by which the interests of the whole people shall be all that receive consideration. He suggested a tariff commission.
