

CATHOLIC LINER REACHES QUEBEC

Cardinal Vannutelli Among 225 World Delegates.

CONVENTION DATE NEAR

City Is Decked in Gayest Attire for Notable Visitors.

Papal Representative Spends Evening at Archbishop's Palace After Reception by Mayor and Presentation of Flowers by Two Sons of City's Executive Dressed as Pages of the Court of King Henry IV.

Quebec, Sept. 1.—The Canadian Pacific Railway liner Empress of Ireland arrived at Rimouski at 7 o'clock this morning and was met by his grace, Mgr. Bruchesi, archbishop of Montreal; Canon Dauth, Mgr. Tampierre, Mgr. Blais, archbishop of Rimouski; Mgr. Blanche, of the Saguenay district, and many priests from the surrounding parishes, who came alongside to render homage to the papal delegate, his eminence Cardinal Venceze Vannutelli.

Among the distinguished passengers, in addition to Cardinal Vannutelli and Miss Vannutelli, his sister, were his eminence Cardinal Logue, of Dublin; Father Bernard Vaughan, of London; Prince Ferdinand, of Crove, and Rev. Canon Gauthier, of Montreal.

225 Delegates Aboard.

The Canadian government representative and under secretary of state, Hon. Joseph Pope, welcomed the distinguished visitors in the name of the Canadian people. All are reported to be in good health. Others of importance appearing on the passenger list are Count Henry Danville, of Paris; Count Montalembert, Paris; Count Lapparent and Countess Desclables, of Pas de Calais. In all there were 225 delegates on board.

Decked in her gayest attire, Quebec greeted Cardinal Vannutelli this afternoon. From the King's wharf, where his eminence was received by Mgr. Bequin, Archbishop of Quebec to the basilica, the route of the procession was a riot of color. Banners, devices, mottoes of every conceivable description line the streets from the busiest quarter of bunting, which has done many a good service in the past, to the most artistic of decorations flying the fine device of Plus X "Intraura Omnia in Christo."

Although the number of strangers in the city is not large, the greeting to his eminence was worthy of Old Quebec. In honor of the occasion Mayor Drouin had proclaimed a civic half holiday.

On arrival at the wharf his eminence was greeted by his grace, the Archbishop of Quebec, and the procession formed for the terrace.

Address of Welcome Read.

Here Mayor Drouin read the address of welcome on the part of the city, and the procession formed and proceeded to the basilica. Chords along the whole route meanwhile chanted their welcome. The students of the Christian Brothers' schools were grouped in the square facing the basilica and welcomed his eminence with "O, Canada," the "Benedictus," and "Bene Pastor."

Here, opposite the basilica, there was a little touch of the old regime, a reminiscence of the pageantry of years ago. Dressed as pages of the court of Henry IV, the two sons of Mayor Drouin greeted his eminence and again there was the presentation of flowers. At the doors of the basilica itself his eminence was received by Mgr. Faugy, rector of the church, with the parish priests, while inside there was a liturgical reception, followed by a benediction of the blessed sacrament.

His eminence spent the evening at the archbishop's palace. To-morrow morning he will officiate at low mass in the basilica and later in the morning, accompanied by Cardinal Logue, will pay an automobile visit to the Shrine of St. Ann de Beaupre. The party will return to the city for luncheon at the archbishop's palace, and the afternoon is to be spent in visiting points of interest about the city. At 4:30 p. m. his eminence and Cardinal Logue will board the Lady Gray for Montreal.

CURTISS FINISHES LAKE ERIE TRIP

Daring Aviator Completes Passage Over Water.

ENCOUNTERS 30-MILE WIND

Last Lap of Grand Prize Flight of Sixty Miles Is Accomplished in One Hour and Forty-one Minutes—Aeroplane Outdistances Fast Train. Rises 600 Feet in Air.

Cleveland, Sept. 1.—Glenn H. Curtiss today flew from Cedar Point, off Sandusky, to Euclid Beach, circled about the crowd there for three minutes, and landed easily, all in one hour and forty-one minutes. The aviator insisted he traveled seventy miles in his flight to Cedar Point yesterday and a like distance on his return, though the mileage is called sixty and nine-tenths miles, and a geodetic survey of shore figures the flight at sixty-four miles and a slight fraction. Curtiss established a record for a distance flight entirely over water.

His biplane battled with a stiff gale for thirty miles east from Cedar Point, the speed being retarded till only an average of forty miles an hour was possible. At that, the machine outdistanced a Lake Shore train, aboard which were Mrs. Curtiss and Aviators Ely and Mars. The train was scheduled to leave Sandusky five minutes before Curtiss rose. It was late, and never caught the biplane.

Rises 600 Feet in Air.

Curtiss started from Cedar Point at 2:47 o'clock this afternoon. Rising rapidly, he was 600 feet in the air before passing out of sight. He veered to the southeast, and followed the shore line to Cleveland, outdistancing the train. The stiff gale, which compelled him to dip and rise, seeking a steady air current, retarded his speed.

From the train, which followed the lake shore, Mrs. Curtiss hoped to watch her husband, but all she saw were farmers turning back from watching Curtiss. She had hoped Curtiss would not make the attempt to start back to Euclid Beach to-day. But the contract for the flight, worth $5,000, and possibly $10,000 more, called for a return before Friday night. Curtiss, though the air currents today were eccentric, dared not trust to better and steadier wind to-morrow.

The train did not arrive in Cleveland until fifteen minutes after the biplane had landed.

Wins Prize of $5,000.

Curtiss, by completing the flight to-day worth $5,000. He failed to shatter the speed record, for which accomplishment another $5,000 was hung up, and did not rise 5,000 feet above the Breakers Hotel at Cedar Point, for which feat another $5,000 was promised. He got 100 feet above the Breakers just before starting his flight to-day.

When he landed Curtiss declared the trip had been comfortable, though he admitted the gale at the western end of the flight had compelled him to employ all his ingenuity in seeking steadier air currents.

SICK PASSENGER DELAYS SHIP.

Steerage Case Holds Lusitania Off Quarantine for Night.

New York, Sept. 1.—The Cunarder Lusitania, which reached Quarantine at 8:50 o'clock to-night from Queenstown, with 95 cabin passengers and 1,124 in the steerage, expecting to come to her pier immediately, was held up at Quarantine for the night by the illness of one of the steerage passengers. The health officers could get no history of the case.

The failure of the ship to come to her dock was a disappointment to several hundred persons who thought that the Lusitania would dock. Under ordinary circumstances she would have been at her pier at about 11 o'clock.

Among the passengers on the Lusitania are the Right Hon. Lord Cowdray and Lady Cowdray, Alf Hayman, the theatrical manager; Cyrus McCormick, Miles O'Brien, Harry S. Black, Capt. Charles J. Fausal, Charles E. Knox, the Hon. W. H. Cove, the Hon. Clyde Pearson, H. L. Benson, Fannie Whetworth, the English actress; N. W. Greenhut, Daniel Lord, and George H. McFadden.

MARTIAL LAW FOR BILBAO.

Troops and Gendarmes Charge Strike Disturbances.

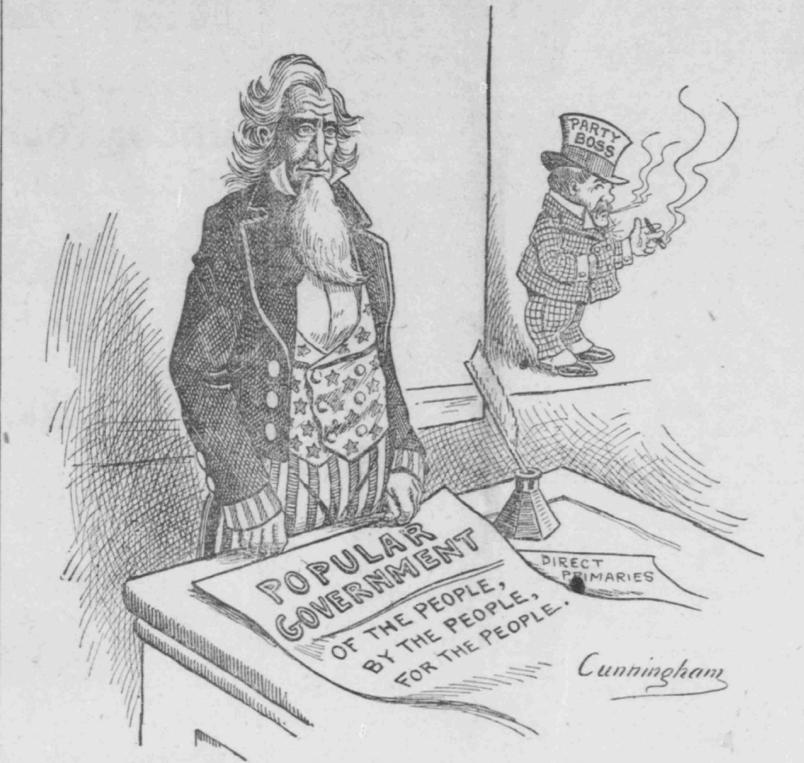

Bilbao, Sept. 1.—The continued disorders here arising from the strike have led to the proclamation of martial law and the suspension of the constitutional guarantees. Attempts by strikers to prevent nonstrikers from working are the chief cause of trouble. Troops and gendarmes have repeatedly charged the disturbers and held them in check, and the riots have produced more noise and wind-dust than bloodshed.

More troops have been ordered to hold themselves in readiness for strike duty.

RAPS HOBBLE SKIRT.

Editor of School Publication Says It Disfigures Woman.

Scranton, Pa., Sept. 1.—Henry Turner Bailey, editor of School Art, at the city teachers' institute this afternoon decried the hobble skirt and the latest hats worn by the women. He said the hobble skirt destroys the beauty of the human figure because it makes a subdivision of a line which was not intended to be divided. The latest high hat is not artistic, he said, because it adds a plane or square to the contour that destroys the beauty of the outline.

If the skirt must be divided, he thought it would be best to tie the sash at the knees, where God intended a subdivision should be made.

ENGLISH ACTOR'S CHILD A SUICIDE

Throws Herself Before Car in Richmond.

Richmond, Va., Sept. 1.—"Dear Mr. Lloyd: Being in a depressed state of mind, I have determined to end my life. Please notify my mother in England, and have my effects sent to her at No. 3 Colville Terrace, Bayswater, London. I wish you much success in your fair association work."

Beautiful, talented, and accomplished Muriel Kiehl, twenty-four, daughter of the English actor, Royston Kiehl, of London, wrote the foregoing note to her employer, Mark B. Lloyd, manager of the Virginia State Fair Association, and then threw herself beneath the wheels of a suburban electric car in front of the Union Theological Seminary, two miles from here, shortly after 7 o'clock this morning.

Efforts at identification were vain until friends of the summer home of the young woman's Christian Association, at which she lived in the seminary building, recognized the clothing and a simple enamelled locket.

DEPUTIES ARE FOILED.

Columbus Car Dynamiter Escapes When Cornered.

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 1.—Deputy sheriffs to-day cornered, but could not catch Alfred Strader, of Grove City, who is suspected of being responsible for the dynamiting of cars in Columbus. As the officers came near, Strader ran. They shot at him and Strader fell, but got up and ran on. He was closely pursued through alleys and streets until he came to a shoe factory. He ran in, and by the time the officers got inside he had dodged out a rear door and boarded an out-going train, southbound. To-night deputies and detectives are searching the county to the south.

Strader, it has been discovered, has bought dynamite at several places. At some stores it was refused him. He spent only the nights in Columbus, leaving the city each morning. At several of the explosions under the cars a man in a buggy has been seen to leave just before their occurrence. Sheriff Sartain has offered a reward from his own pocket of $100 for Strader, and the chamber of commerce has added $1,000. Strader is said to have told friends that he was paid $5 for each explosion he pulled off.

Woman's Night Court Opens.

New York, Sept. 1.—The new women's night court opened to-night in the courtroom of Jefferson Market. Three delinquent women were there to declare that all of the societies were behind a movement to test the constitutionality of certain phases of the new law dealing with the treatment of women convicted of soliciting, even to the extent of breaking up the sessions, as a last recourse.

London Sees Henry VIII.

London, Sept. 1.—Realizing that Shakespeare's King Henry VIII is more of a pageant than a drama, Sir Beerborn Tre produced it on those lines at His Majesty's Theater to-night and scored one of his greatest scenic triumphs. Mr. Bourchier played the king, in a beard grown for the occasion. Violet Van Brugh played Katherine, and Sir Beerborn, Cardinal Wolsey. The play occupied four hours, although the original five acts were compressed into three.

SHERMAN SPEAKS ON TARIFF AT ENID

Oklahomans Hear Praise of Republican Efforts.

Enid, Okla., Sept. 1.—That the present and future prosperity of the nation is dependent upon the tariff, and that the election of a Democratic Congress at the approaching election will retard the efforts of the Republican party to formulate a scientific tariff, was the keynote of the speech delivered to 5,000 persons here to-night by Vice President Sherman.

Mr. Sherman reviewed the operation of the tariff since the enactment of the Dingley law. He declared that protection has always meant commercial success, and free trade stagnation of commerce and starvation for the laboring man. He claimed that through the present law the country has become prosperous, though revision at the last Congress was not satisfactory. He said that President Taft would be without power to carry out his progressive ideas if a Democratic House were elected, and his efforts to revise the tariff scientifically by a commission would be futile.

Representative Watson, of Indiana, made a stirring speech, in which he compared the administration of Oklahoma under Democratic rule and the nation under the guidance of the Republican party.

Addresses of both men were directed toward lining up the insurgents in Oklahoma with the regulars. Garfield County is overwhelmingly progressive, and the August primaries gave the insurgent candidate a majority of more than 1,000 above his regular opponent.

Sherman arrived here at 1 o'clock yesterday morning and was given a rousing ovation. He will leave to-morrow morning for Oklahoma City.

WORK ON WRECKED SHIP.

British Admiralty Hopes to Save Guns and Stores of Cruiser.

London, Sept. 1.—The admiralty has decided to abandon the salvage operations on the hull of the cruiser Bedford, which went ashore on August 21 in the Yellow Sea, off the coast of Korea.

The officers in charge of the work hope to be able to save the guns and some of the stores on board the wrecked ship.

WINS COLUMBIA TROPHY.

Fourth Regiment of New Jersey Retains Honors.

Asbury Park, Sept. 1.—For the fourth time since the District of Columbia National Guard eighteen years ago presented the Columbia trophy to the New Jersey Guard for annual competition, six marksmen representing the Fourth Regiment to-day won the trophy.

In a race over four ranges through a driving rain all the forenoon and a blinding drizzle during the afternoon, the Fourth maintained the lead it gained on the 200-yard range, and it quit with 1,035, five points ahead of the Second, which has won the match ten times. The Third, which won last year for the first time, pulled in third, with 984; the First, which has twice been victor, landed fourth, with 977; the Second troop fifth, with 946, and the Fifth was last, with 917.

GRAFT SCENTED AT TRIAL.

Sensational Letter Sprung in Illinois Central Case.

Chicago, Sept. 1.—A sensation was sprung late this afternoon in the trial of Frank E. Hartman, Charles Lewing, and John M. Taylor, former Illinois Central officials, before Judge Bruggemyer, when Attorney Walter T. Fisher asked C. H. Peltz, who was testifying, to identify a letter written to him by Henry C. Ostermann, May 25, 1910, in which Ostermann told Peltz to keep quiet in case he should be questioned by Illinois Central officials as to graft in the car repair bills presented to the Illinois Central.

The letter was received by Peltz while he was in San Francisco. Peltz identified the signature as that of Henry C. Ostermann, following which the letter was introduced as evidence.

Evidence that Illinois Central Railroad officials demanded stock in the Ostermann Manufacturing Company, from Henry C. Ostermann, was given by Peltz, who, it was brought out, was the medium between Ostermann and the Illinois Central in the alleged fraudulent dealing between its officials and Ostermann.

CITY IS SEARCHED FOR LOST JEWELS

Missouri Man Misses $1,000 Diamond in Capitol.

Detectives are combing the city in a search for two diamonds, valued at over $1,000, lost yesterday on a sight-seeing tour by Maxwell Blake, a prominent business man of Kansas City, Mo. Pawnshops and jewelry stores are being watched in an effort to recover the gems.

The larger, weighing within a fraction of six carats, is estimated at $900, while the smaller, weighing slightly over one carat, is valued at about $250. Both are uncut. Mr. Blake carried them in a small square of linen in his coat pocket.

Mr. Blake arrived in Washington some days ago from New York City, where he had purchased the stones. Awaiting the opportunity to have them set in a piece of jewelry being made by a local firm, he carried them about with him constantly, rather than intrust them to a safe.

Upon returning to his hotel after seeing the city, Mr. Blake missed the jewels. He reported the loss to police headquarters and Detectives Berman and Cox were detailed upon the case.

COLONEL'S MARCH STILL A TRIUMPH

Kansas City Goes Wild Over Roosevelt's Visit.

SPEAKS AT FOUR PLACES

Employers' Liability Theme of Talk to 1,000 Workmen.

Ex-President, as Guest of Commercial Club, Smiles Broadly as Songsters Tell His Praise in Verse, and Hints Are Given About 1912 Nomination—Says He Likes "Progressive" Title Given Him.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 1.—The march of triumph goes merrily on.

The people of the West are shouting their heads off for Roosevelt, and the farther he goes the more they shout. The tour is cumulative in its enthusiasm. Roosevelt is for them, and they are for Roosevelt.

The colonel did not have to cross from Kansas into Missouri to find how popular he is. But he discovered that here they are wilder about him than in any city he has touched on this trip. Since his spectacular announcement yesterday at Osawatomie that he is a progressive and is not affiliated in any way with President Taft or the administration, the crowds have shown an even kindlier feeling in the West.

Mr. Roosevelt liked it to-day when they hailed him as a progressive. He did not scowl as he was called insurgent, but he said that he prefers the other appellation. He did nothing more negative than to beam happily as they cheered him for the nomination in 1912. He drank a toast to the President, but he didn't smile then.

Concede 1912 Candidacy.

Even the more conservative of the politicians were ready to admit to-night that Roosevelt is the big man of the country. All are not prepared to declare that he is out for the nomination, but they think that he is mighty close to it, and that if it is offered to him he will not turn it down.

The Kansas City of two States received Mr. Roosevelt to-day with wild whooping. The Sunflower City is smaller and was therefore not so noisy, but this town is crazy to-night. Every reserve on the police force was called out to keep the mobs in check. In spite of the rain that threatened to throw a damper on the plans of the local committee thousands of persons hung along the curbs all day.

At the Baltimore Hotel, where the colonel held forth most of the time, the crowd jammed itself against the entrance and fought from morning until night to get a look.

The colonel made four speeches to-day. In the morning at Kansas City, Kan., he spoke to an audience of 1,000 workmen and talked about the employers' liability in case of accident or death to a laborer. He said that the government ought to aid in the settlement of such accidents, and not leave it to lawsuits and lawyers, who grab most of the claim if, indeed, it is ever settled.

At a luncheon given in his honor by the Commercial Club of this city Mr. Roosevelt said pleasant things. He declared that the American people are ready to turn to the moral aspect of certain issues. They are prepared to forsake the material in order to boost the good work of bettering the conditions of business and of living.

He spoke about the time when he was President and got after the railroads and shippers in regard to rebates. He said that the men of Kansas City, who were deeply touched by the change, stood by him and helped him carry out his notions.

Speaks to Huge Crowd.

To-night in Convention Hall the colonel faced an audience of nearly 15,000 persons. It was the sort of reception that quickened him in his campaign for progress. Every seat was taken, and the crowds forced their ways into the entrances and the aisles. The big men of the State were there. It was the Denver reception over again, but there was more of it.

Mr. Roosevelt preached a sermon here about honesty and corruption in business and politics. He discussed once more the matter of mobs overstepping the bounds of justice, and he condemned the public officials who would stand for that sort of thing. He touched upon conservation. This made a hit.

It would be futile to deny the fact that the West regards Roosevelt as their next President. A goodly part of the crowds that greet him in the cities and towns take it for granted that he is on a campaign tour and they don't hold back in saying so. But the men who work the wires and who are supposed to be posted are going slower. They are puzzled frankly.

The colonel is not making statements as to his future. And the result is that all this hurrah is tending to put them up in the air. This is especially true of the friends of the administration. Mr. Taft is not friendless in the West by a long shot.

Colonel in "Great Shape."</
