MISS SUMMER BIDS ADIEU; AUTUMN SAYS HOWDY-DO

It was quiet in the city room when she blew in about 9:30 o'clock last night. No one saw her until she approached the city editor and said sweetly: "I came to say good-by." Then every one looked up and made a scramble to surrender his seat to the fair visitor.

You ought to have seen her. She was what Mickey Ryan would call a "pippin." In her girlish dress of some of the most flimsy material. When things got settled, after the staff recovered their composure, and she had taken a seat right up close to the city editor, she began to talk. Even the copy readers sat up and took notice, and you know what a temperament they've got.

"I ought to have introduced myself," she said as she dropped a smile—yes, what a smile! "I'm Miss Summer, and I quit to-morrow, you know, to make room for Mr. Autumn, who opens three months' engagement at midnight to-morrow night. I just couldn't go away without coming to you and asking for a recommendation."

The city editor said she could have the press or anything else she wanted and she continued:

"I just want you to look over my record. First and foremost, did not my engagement here see our Nationals climb to fifth place? That, in itself, I think, entitles me to consideration as being an extraordinary summer. Of course, that's only a local issue, but look at the things of nation-wide interest I've seen this year.

"Didn't I move the center of the universe to Reno, Nev., for about one week, and then move it back again to its proper place after Mr. Jeffries stopped one of Mr. Johnson's hard blows?

"And then see the copy each one of my days furnished politically. The primaries where standpatters were taken from their pat stand by insurgents; the advent of the colonel from Africa, where he chased elephants, to this country where he has one big elephant on the run; the colonel's trip to the West, and his refusal to dine with our friend Lorimer; Taff's letter to the insurgents, and what's the use of my telling them over, just consult your files.

Started Crippen Chase.

"Didn't I start this round-the-world chase for Doc Crippen, and that was some story for a few days, too. Look at the at-risk stunts that were pulled off everywhere but here during the summer. We've had a few flights of imagination—here, too, but they don't count."

She drew a sigh and rose from her seat. "Do I get the recommendation?" she asked sweetly. The city editor nodded, as did the entire staff. "Right," was the chorus. When she got her "character" she glided from the room.

Every one was stunned by her sudden entrance and exit except the cub reporter. He jumped from his chair and bawled after her:

"Going to be home to-night?"

But she had gone.

FINDS LAWS INADEQUATE.

Acting Supt. Curry Reports on Insurance.

In his annual report, submitted to the Commissioners yesterday, Daniel Curry, acting superintendent of insurance, recommends immediate legislation to remedy the insurance laws of the District, which he declares are inadequate. The report says:

"Some of the most essential requirements in the organization and operation of insurance companies are unprovided for. The law as it stands does not provide for a maximum or minimum capital stock for insurance companies, with the single exception of fire insurance companies, and there is no law definitely prescribing what the reserve liability of any insurance company shall be.

"These are conditions that probably do not exist in any other jurisdiction in the country where an attempt has been made to provide for an insurance code.

"The law regulating insurance companies is unsatisfactory and has caused litigation between the department and some of the companies transacting that kind of business. I recommend that sections 648 and 653 of the code be amended so as to cover these defects."

Assets of all insurance companies transacting business in the District on December 31, 1909, amounted to $3,955,636.20.

COL. GILMAN CHOSEN

McElroy Withdraws as Candidate at Atlantic City.

G. A. R. OFFICERS ARE NAMED

New Commander-in-Chief Was Member of the Fighting Twelfth of Massachusetts and Fought at Antietam Under Fletcher Webster, Son of Daniel Webster.

Atlantic City, Sept. 22.—John E. Gilman, of Boston, was this evening elected commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic for the coming year. Col. John McElroy, of Washington, D. C., was the only other candidate, and he withdrew his name before the balloting began.

Charles E. Burton, of New Jersey, was elected senior vice commander-in-chief, and William James, of Jacksonville, Fla., was chosen junior vice commander-in-chief.

Col. Gilman was a member of the "Fighting" Twelfth Massachusetts Infantry, enlisting at a tender age, after he had run away from home. The colonel of his regiment was Fletcher Webster, son of the illustrious Daniel Webster. The bloodiest engagement of his regiment was at Antietam, where 80 per cent of the men were either killed outright or mortally wounded.

John McElroy received 215 votes against 673 cast for Gilman, though he withdrew his name.

Demands an Inquiry.

Col. McElroy created considerable excitement when he jumped to his feet after he had declined the nomination, demanding the appointment of a committee of inquiry to investigate charges made against his character, connecting him with an alleged scheme of swindling land deals in the South.

"Charges have been brought," he said, "that as editor of the National Tribune I have induced over a thousand veterans to buy land from the Seminole Land Company, of which I am vice president. It is true that we have advocated the establishment of a winter home in St. Cloud, Fla., for old soldiers. We sell them five acres of land and a town lot for $100. Out of the thousand or more old soldiers who are now located at St. Cloud you will find one who is not perfectly satisfied. Although the National Tribune, of which I am editor, devotes a column to news of the Grand Army, the paper has no connection officially with the organization."

His request for the committee of inquiry will probably be granted.

Rochester, N. Y., will in all probability be the next encampment site of the Grand Army. The veterans to-day voted to go there if suitable railroad rates can be secured. Los Angeles, Cal., put up a good fight for the 1911 meet.

JURIES TO SETTLE SUICIDE INQUESTS

Corporation Counsel Decides on Coroner's Question.

Following a decision handed down last night by Corporation Counsel Thomas, inquests in the case of suicides in the District will be conducted by Coroner Nevitt before a jury. This action was taken at the request of Dr. Nevitt and is in compliance with the District code instead of the Federal laws, under which proceedings have formerly been conducted.

Coroner Nevitt yesterday submitted the following letter to the District Commissioners, asking for a decision thereon:

"Where the coroner is satisfied from the investigation of death 'that the deceased committed suicide, as a matter of law, he is required to summons a jury and proceed with an inquest.'"

The Commissioners referred the matter to Corporation Counsel Thomas, who last night, through Assistant Counsel Stephens, communicated the following decision to the coroner:

"It is the opinion of the corporation counsel that the coroner would be required to hold an inquest over the bodies of all suicides."

Speaking of the case last night, Coroner Nevitt stated that the matter was taken up at his own request in determination of the status of his position, which partakes of both Federal and District attributes. Up to the present time the Federal statutes, which give him latitude to form his own opinion as to whether an inquest with a jury is requisite or not. The District code is, however, according to the corporation counsel, specific on this point.

This action will have no effect upon either the Harris or Browning cases, as in each instance the existence of suicide evidence existed for Dr. Nevitt to have a jury sworn in.

Probe Into Florida Lynchings.

At the request of the Italian Embassy the State Department has asked the governor of Florida for information of the reported lynching of two Italian subjects at Tampa on Tuesday night. The Italians, according to press dispatches, were taken from the sheriff and hanged.

CASTLE'S ATTORNEY TO GET HEARING

Vital School Problem Comes Up Again To-day.

Charles W. Darr, attorney for the Anti-Vaccination Society, representing Charles Castle, of 2016 Eighth street northwest, whose two children have been barred from the Phelps School because they have not been vaccinated, will be granted a hearing to-morrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the Franklin building, before either the board of education or the special committee appointed to consider the matter.

This was determined upon late yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the special committee, consisting of Mrs. Ellen Spencer Mussey, chairman, Capt. James F. Oyster, and Henry P. Blair.

Until the final report is made, one of the most vital problems in the school system of the District, involving a constitutional question, will be pending.

If it is decided that the children must remain away from school, the matter will be appealed to the Circuit Court branch of the District Supreme Court, then to the Court of Appeals of the District, provided there is a writ of error, the case will be appealed to the United States Supreme Court.

Different Kind of Case.

Mr. Darr said last night that the decision of Mr. Justice Harlan, quoted yesterday by A. Leftwich Sinclair, chairman of the committee on law and legislation of the Chamber of Commerce, regarding the constitutionality of the vaccination law, was in a Massachusetts case and based on compulsory vaccination on pending or impending anticipated epidemic of disease, and does not include the case represented by Mr. Castle.

The decision handed down by Justice Harlan was in the recent case of Henning Jacobson against the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

The Personal Liberty League, of which Mr. Barr is president, has taken a definite stand against the board of education and the children of R. L. Henry, of 214 Thirteenth street, who were suspended from the Bradley School because their father also refused to have them vaccinated.

HOW TO GET RID OF CATARRH

A Simple Safe, Reliable Way and it Costs Nothing to Try.

Those who suffer from catarrh know its miseries. There is no need of this suffering. You can get rid of it by a simple, safe, inexpensive, home treatment discovered by Dr. Blosser, who, for over thirty-six years, has been treating catarrh successfully.

His treatment is unlike any other. It is not a spray, douche, salve, cream, or inhaler, but is a more direct and thorough treatment than any of these. It cleans out the head, nose, throat, and sinuses so that you can again breathe freely and sleep without that stopped-up feeling that all catarrh sufferers have. It heals the inflamed mucous membranes and arrests the febrile conditions, so that you will not be constantly blowing your nose and spitting, and at the same time it does not poison the system and ruin the stomach, as internal medicines do.

If you want to test this treatment without cost, send your address to Dr. J. W. Blosser, 261 Walton street, Atlanta, Ga., and he will send you by return mail enough of the medicine to satisfy you that it is all he claims for it as a remedy for catarrh, catarrhal headaches, catarrhal deafness, asthma, bronchitis, colds, and all catarrhal complications. He will also send you free an illustrated booklet. Write him immediately.

Seek Conveyance of this City.

James O. Gowell, of this city, and Henry Z. and William R. Gowell, of Fairfax County, Md., yesterday asked the Supreme Court to decree the conveyance of two houses in Fourth street by Mrs. Amelia J. Lyle, eighty-six years old, to Mrs. Jennie E. Lyle, to be in trust for the petitioners and other heirs of the deceased, alleging that Mrs. Jennie E. Lyle unduly influenced the elder Mrs. Lyle in the transfer of the property, which was without consideration.

Mrs. Kelly Pleads Guilty.

Arraigned in Police Court yesterday, Mrs. Marian H. Kelly pleaded guilty to three charges of obtaining money under false pretenses, and was sentenced to pay a fine of $10 or fifteen days on each count. On an additional charge of selling a piano bought on time payments before the entire amount had been paid, sentence was suspended.

FIGHT ON PARALYSIS

Doctors Organize a Crusade Against Malady.

The medical profession of Washington is determined to check the epidemic of infantile paralysis, and have started a crusade against the disease. A blank form has been printed on which physicians record every symptom of patients under treatment for the malady. This is turned over to the secretary of the Medical Association of the District of Columbia. The doctors hope that with this information they will be soon able to prescribe intelligently for the malady.

The infantile paralysis scare in Washington among the general public was started only a few days ago, when Health Officer Woodward issued an order excluding from the public schools children who had been exposed to the disease. The medical profession has been worried over the epidemic for some time. The first knowledge of the disease was given to the world by a famous German physician, named Heine, in 1840, and it is as much a mystery to the physicians now as it was when first discovered.

Dr. Noble P. Barnes, president of the Medical Association of the District of Columbia, yesterday said that the disease is contagious, but not so much so as diphtheria and other common diseases. The only thing the doctors seem to know for a certainty is that the number of cases decrease as the weather grows colder.

In experiments conducted at a local laboratory with seven monkeys, it was found that the use of vaccine inoculated into two of the beasts before their mouths were sprayed with the saliva of a patient prevented the disease assuming any alarming proportions. The other five developed serious cases. The same treatment used on the lower animals proved useless.

A systematic study of the disease in New York State is being made by State Health Commissioner Porter.
