COLUMBIA COUNTRY CLUB HOLDS MEETING

Reports of the Officers Show Successful Year.

The first annual meeting of the Columbia Country Club was held last night at the New Willard. The meeting was largely attended, nearly two hundred members being present.

The report of the president, Henry L. West, contrasted the conditions one year ago, when the club was nothing but the nucleus of a golf organization, with the present situation, when a magnificent clubhouse has been erected upon a most desirable property of 128 acres, fronting upon Connecticut avenue extended.

The following board of governors was then elected: E. S. Marlow, Benj. Woodruff, J. M. Stoddard, Emmons Smith, S. A. Reeves, H. Cornell Wilson, F. L. Davis, Percy Thompson, H. W. Fuller, J. C. Davidson, M. E. Danforth, R. G. Donaldson, George A. Mills, E. B. Eyrone, Jr., and H. Bradley Davidson.

Complaints against ash collections will hereafter be made to Contractor Bean, who has a telephone, Lincoln 2673, at his residence, instead of being sent to the street cleaning department.

SALE HELD TO BE ILLEGAL.

They had a short chat. Mr. Moseley will go to his home at Newbury Park, Mass., until he is able to resume his duties.

The training ship will remain off the city until Sunday, when it will proceed to Norfolk, Va., to take on coal, before sailing for Portsmouth, England.

The cadets will have sufficient shore leave while here to enable them to see the public buildings, and during the remainder of the stay visitors will be permitted to board the ship from 10 o'clock in the morning to 12 o'clock, and from 2 until 7 o'clock in the afternoon.

DISTRICT TO PUSH STAMP VIOLATIONS

"Gift Enterprise" Held to Be Illegal in Capital.

Following the decision of the Supreme Court upholding the gift enterprise law as constitutional, Commissioners Rudolph yesterday assured a delegation of merchants, consisting of A. Lisner, Isaac Gans, Simon Kann, T. C. Dullin, Joseph Strasburger, and W. W. Everett, of Woodward & Lothrop, that the statute prohibiting trading stamps would be rigidly enforced.

The merchants appeared before Commissioners Rudolph and Judson, calling attention to the fact that the highest tribunal had refused to review the trading stamp cases. Commissioner Rudolph dictated a note to Corporation Counsel Thomas, informing him that trading stamps must be pushed.

Presented in Police Court.

The law which the corporation counsel says is violated says that no person shall engage in any "gift enterprise" in the District. Because trading stamps were held to be a "gift enterprise produce" the managers of the Sperry & Hutchinson Company and the Economy Co-operative Society were presented in the Police Court. Judge Mulowny quashed the information and the District obtained a writ of error before the Court of Appeals.

An opinion handed down by Chief Justice Shepard reversed the decision of Judge Mulowny. An appeal was made to the Supreme Court, which settled the constitutionality of the law. The prosecution is now returned to the Police Court, where the cases will be heard.

GIRL WINS AT SPELLING.

Miss Lillian Wolf Outclasses Boy in Final Spurt.

The Red Men and a spelling bee attracted a large attendance to the National Manufacturers and Household's Show at Convention Hall last night.

The crowd came early and remained until late, and was with a thoroughly satisfied lot of folks. The children, their parents, and close personal friends were notably impatient to get down to work.

One by one the thirty-odd youngsters stepped down until only a boy and a girl remained. But the girl won after a sharp struggle, due to the omission of an important "L." The winner of the contest was little Miss Lillian Wolf, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Wolf, of 235 W street northwest, who attends the Gaze School.

Miss Wolf was a proud little girl who handed a medal inscribed "Champion Speller of the District."

Members of the Order of Red Men, their ladies, and friends enjoyed a fine programme of dancing after inspecting the exhibits of household hints that are on show in the hall.

To-night will be National Guard night, when the members of the First and Second regiments will appear in a competition in the manual of arms. A gold medal will be awarded the winner.

Thousands of packages of good things were given away by the exhibitors last night.

SCORES SCHOOL ALARMISTS.

Dr. M. S. Iseman Attacks Theories of Anti-vaccinationists.

After a summary investigation in which he visited twenty-four public schools and personally examined 1,900 children who had been vaccinated, Dr. M. S. Iseman, of this city, made public a report yesterday in which he attacked the theories of anti-vaccinationists, and assured parents of school children that vaccination is in no wise harmful.

Dr. Iseman scores the alarmists, and says that those who oppose vaccination must do so through ignorance, and "It is not necessary to argue that vaccination does protect against smallpox," says Dr. Iseman, "provided one is willing to accept the testimony of thousands of conscientious physicians during the past few hundred years."

SAVES PROSPERITY SUFFERS.

Representative Levy's Charges Are Answered by Chairman Knapp.

Representative Levy, of New York, in a letter to President Taft, charges that the Interstate Commerce Commission has caused the entire country to suffer greatly because of certain blunders which have severely injured its prosperity. In reply to the criticism, Chairman Knapp has reported to the President.

"Mr. Levy charges that the commission, instead of staying here during the summer, is attending to its affairs, let the matter of rates to inspectors, and now have to go all over the question again, delaying the rates decision until January."

In reply to Mr. Levy's charges, Chairman Knapp replied that it was true that two members of the commission were out of the country in the summer, but acting as delegates for this country at the International Railroad Congress at Switzerland. It was not true, he said, that this delayed for a single day the investigation of railroad rates.

Up to Fine Arts Commission.

President Taft issued an order yesterday stipulating that hereafter no government building in the District shall be erected until the commission of fine arts sees the plans. This order applies to the new post-office and the structures for the departments of State, Commerce and Labor, and Justice.

Newest Creations in Dress Shown by Schoen & Co.

Exclusive Millinery, Gowns, Wraps, and Furs Form a Magnificent Display.

With one of the finest displays of exclusive millinery, evening gowns, wraps, waists, French underwear, and imported dress novelties ever seen in the National Capital, the firm of Schoen & Co., of Baltimore, opened their Washington store yesterday at 1514 H street.

Especially pleasing are the furs and the numerous evening gown creations. The evening gown attracting most attention is a Maurice Mayer model of white satin with bodice and tunic drapery of gold brocade. The neck and gold embroidery are arabesqued with gold em-broidery and a heavy gold cord.

The gown ripples above the waist line, and is finished at the back with bullion tassels. Gold net and a band of black panne give a final touch to the skirt.

A Paul Poret gown is of foam-green chiffon, its empire lines clinging in soft draperies over a slip of foaming white satin. The green chiffon has for its skirt decorations a half yard deep band of black and white crystal embroidery in flower design, with narrow bands of the crystal around the sleeves, which are also edged with sable.

The line of furs of all kinds is an exclusive one, and is well worth seeing. The hats shown are models of smartness. One of the most effective is a huge picture hat in cerise tones. The enormous brim is wreathed in splendid cerise willow styles and patterns. The millinery and flower design, with narrow bands of the crystal around the sleeves, which are also edged with sable.

The new building of Schoen & Co. is four stories high. Two floors are given over to the designers and creators of new styles and patterns. The millinery and gown rooms are on the first and second floors.
