

WALL STREET NEWS

Most Stocks Make Small Net Declines for the Day.

ACTIVITY IN AMERICAN CAN

General Market a Duplicate of Monday, Utter Dullness During Middle Part of Day, Being Followed by Sufficient Strength to Make Closing Figures About the Same.

New York, Nov. 22.—Most stocks in the security market to-day made small net declines. Advances, where they occurred, were likewise inconsiderable, with barely more than a single exception. This exception was the American Can preferred shares, which sold at one and 4/5 points higher than they did yesterday, and retained the greater portion of the gain, the volume of trading in the stock being much larger than is usually the case.

The only story that Wall street heard to account for the activity and strength thus displayed in fact this quarter was that possibly partial payment might be made of the accumulated or so-called "back" dividends in American Can preferred shares. A rumor that the company's dividend rate would be raised was, of course, under the circumstances, absurd.

Duplicate of Day Before. The general market was substantially a duplicate of that of the day before, a slightly higher tendency being displayed in the morning, utter dullness during the middle and greater part of the day, with an increase in the activity of the market at the close, which was, however, just as on the preceding day, along the line of lower prices. Many of these declines were recovered before the close, which accounted for the small change in the final quotations.

The quantity of the day's dealings was but little more than on Monday. In a fairly large number of stocks there were no dealings at all, and in others only single hundred shares lots in each instance. James J. Hill's interview on business conditions, printed in a morning newspaper, was rather enigmatical, as Mr. Hill's utterances are apt to be, and it was in no way a market influence. It may be said that a serious telling of revolutionary outbreaks in many different parts of Mexico to-day excited more serious attention in Wall street than news of a similar kind has in all recent years, and sufficient cause for this was found in the fact that a quarter of the kind described is now more general in Mexico than for a long period. The impression widely prevails among financiers and others in the downtown districts having close relations with Mexico that political sentiment in the country is in a state of ferment which would become acute after the death of President Diaz, and which even the veteran President may find difficult to calm in his life time.

The business interests of the citizens of our own country in Mexico are, of course, large, particularly those relating to mining and smelting concerns. The Southern Pacific, for instance, has 1,500 miles of railway in the western part of that country. Anything like a serious civil war in the sister republic with consequent damage to property could not fail, therefore, to be other than a grave matter from a stock market point of view.

The Safest Investments

Are those that do not fluctuate during disturbed conditions of the money or stock markets. First deed of trust (first mortgage), well secured on real estate in the District of Columbia, constitutes "gold-edge" investments. They do not depend upon the credit of any individual or corporation for their stability, and are exempt from taxation as personal property. We can supply such investments in amounts from $500 upward. Send for booklet, "Concerning Loans and Investments."

An echo of the First Co-operative Building Association was heard yesterday, when the American Surety Company sued to recover in the District Supreme Court $6,000 from John Barton Miller, former secretary-treasurer of the defunct association.

The amount represents the bond they forfeited when Miller was indicted for embezzling the company's funds.
