

Naps Split Series—Cy Young Twists First Game of 1911 Season

Young Comes Back, And Locals Lose

Old-time Star Shows Rejuvenated Form for Naps, Who Bat Groom from Box, but Fail to Hit Tom Hughes.

By WILLIAM FEET.
Poor old "Cy" Young, supposedly a has-been, decrepit and past, drank croplike yesterday from the fountain of youth, and, twisting in a manner unexcelled here this season, lead the Naps to victory over the Nationals in the final game of the series, by a score of 5 to 2.

As much as the fans wanted to see the Nationals win, there was a feeling of relief when the loss of the locals was recorded in the ninth and a win credited to "Cy." When the veteran started his game, it looked as if he was about to deliver his victory, two hits and two runs being scored by him in the opening round. But thereafter the old fellow was invincible, and the Nationals were moved down with regularity. But six scattered hits were made off Young, and these were wholly ineffective after the first inning, save in the third, when a classy throw by Jackson from right to Smith doubled Milan at the plate.

Cy Young really won the game in the very first inning, when a base on balls to Schaefer, Leivelt's two-bagger, and Elberfeld's triple had scored two runs. Doc Gessler was up, and as if the dentist had done another safe smack at this stage it would have been dollars to doughnuts that Young would have gone to the stable and somebody else sent to the plate. Unfortunately for the hopes of the home fans Gessler struck out and McBride, next up, was easy.

Double Plays Rob Nationals.
Double plays in the third and fourth robbed the Nationals of runs. Milan took a desperate chance in the third when he tried to score on Leivelt's fly to Jackson. The throw was perfect, and Clyde was easily caught. Gessler found himself doubled up at the hot corner in the fourth on McBride's grounder to Turner, as Stovall slammed the ball back to Olson, and the husky outfielder was nailed. These were the only chances outside of the first chapter where the Nationals had a ghost of a show.

Superb fielding helped Young greatly. Jackson, with a throw to the right, and Stovall, in the third, started the Naps' playing. Birmingham throwing wild to Stovall in the third to catch Milan napping, Zeb going to third on the heavy.

Groom lasted but five innings before the Naps, nine hits and five runs being made off him. Hughes, who followed, worked his old charm on the Naps, but three hits being made off him. Groom, who followed, was more prominent. Graney connected twice, Jackson went him one better, and Stovall binged for 500. Two fast double plays by Jackson, Smith and Turner and Stovall and Olson, each of which prevented runs, featured the Naps' work.

Young was given encouragement in the first inning when the Naps scored enough runs to put the game on ice. Graney poked to right for two sacks, going to third when Groom threw wild to catch him napping, Olson taking second on the heavy after getting a base on balls. It was up to Jackson, but Groom worked the corners and the "General" fanned. Stovall produced the goods with a single to left, Graney and Olson talking, the manager going to the mound to throw to Street struck Olson. Birmingham sent Stovall home with a single to center, but Birney was doubled at third on Turner's grounder to Elberfeld, the kid relaying to Schaefer and the latter tossing to McBride, who nailed Birney at third.

Naps Again Score.
It wasn't until the fifth inning that the Naps scored again. With two down, Jackson made his second hit, a single to third. Stovall followed with a double, and both scored on Birmingham's single to left. Birney dying at second on Leivelt's throw in, Groom tossing to Cunningham for the out. Hughes took up the burden in the sixth, and the Naps were held runless, two singles in the ninth, their best effort off Hughes, being unproductive.

For an inning it looked as if the ball would be rung on "Cy" for the Nationals went after him savagely in the first round. After Schaefer had been passed with one down, Leivelt doubled to left. Both scored when Elberfeld lined to the mound for three sacks. Gessler and McBride were unable to find "Cy," and the danger was passed.

During the remainder of the game, the Nationals never were dangerous, two double plays ending them off when they looked threatening.

Young was unusually steady, passing but one man, and striking out eight. At no time beyond the first inning was he in trouble, a clever change of pace working havoc with the local hitters. Judging from his work yesterday, about seven clubs in the American League will claim Young if waivers are asked on him.

Nationals Meet White Sox To-day

Chicago Club Shows at Local Park for the First Time This Season—Other Gossip.

Headed by Manager Hugh Duffy, of old-time Boston fame, when there was but one major league (and Hughes was considered one of the greatest outfielders and exponents of the art of swing), the ever-popular White Sox will bring a series of four games with the Nationals here this afternoon, play being called at 4 o'clock for the opening stanza, that promises to be one of the most exciting thus far this season.

For the Sox are going at a fast pace and the Nationals, by their showing with the Naps, are believed to be on the upward march. Hence some class is expected to be shown in the coming four battles.

In the premier of their annual peregrinations of this kind, the Sox are showing, for the first time, a new inkling of their anticipated form. Injuries to their infielders, a woeful weakness at first base, and the consequent breaking up of the nine's team play, has kept the Sox from being strong contenders for the bunting. But they confidently expect to improve their position in the race henceforth.

There must be quiet weeping and gnashing of teeth by certain managers in the big leagues when they look at Matty McIntyre's batting average, and then remember they could have secured him for a song last winter. But all feared to take a chance on the former Tiger star, and it was left for Comiskey to pick up a jewel at the price of a selling plater.

McIntyre has made good with a vengeance, and probably no one mourns his loss more than Jennings, of the Tigers, who most likely realizes how well the Sox star worked it in the Detroit outfield with Cobb and Crawford.

"Nixey" Callahan, the "Tar Heel" boy, is another player who could have been secured last winter for almost nothing compared to his real worth. Now it would take big money to separate him from the Comiskeyites, for outside of a somewhat weak wing, and tendency for the knees to wobble, "Nixey" is the same old star he was in the years ago.

SOMERLOT GOES BACK TO TERRE HAUTE.

"Long John" Somerlot will be shipped to the Terre Haute club, of the Central League, to-day, that club being anxious to obtain his services. Manager McAleer asked for waivers on Somerlot two weeks ago, and has been trying to place the player ever since.

Somerlot was purchased from Terre Haute last summer. Somerlot's weak batting caused McAleer to ship him back. Manager Jim also stated that if Outfielder Walker reports to-day he will be played in left field.

Yankee Poloists Capture the Cup

Americans Trounce Englishmen by 4-1-2 to 3-1-2, While 20,000 Enthusiasts Cheer the Brilliant Work.
New York, June 9.—Again the Polo Association team threw its rival over the International Cup to-day and yanked it away from the All-England challengers. The Americans won at Meadowbrook by 4 goals to 3. The English and American players are to meet again for fun on Monday, but the International Cup match of 1911 is now decided by two games to nothing; nine goals to six and one-half. The cup has been hanging about each of the American teams especially about Whitney, and as the four winners showed their way toward the clubhouse more than 1,000 persons followed them, each doing some hustling in the laudable endeavor to smack the back of his favorite player. The Englishmen had a similar escort as they broke away toward their ponies.

Presently the challengers and defenders were rounded up in the tea room, and Gov. Dix, with a few words of congratulation to Whitney, handed the massive silver cup to the American captain, Whitney replied briefly, and Capt. Lloyd was also on his feet. H. L. Herbert, chairman of the Polo Association, proposed three cheers for the Hurlingham Club and Capt. Lloyd. These were given with a vim, and another rousing outburst followed when Lloyd called for cheers to the American team and American. Then the cup filled with champagne was passed from hand to hand among the players and officials.

Fastest Game in History.
It was a time for only short talks. Capt. Whitney said it was the fastest polo game he had ever played in, and also a fair one. Lloyd, the Hurlingham captain, said his team was not discouraged. They felt the two games had revealed a vim, and another rousing outburst followed when Lloyd called for cheers to the American team and American. Then the cup filled with champagne was passed from hand to hand among the players and officials.

It was a terrific game for the hokier and for riding off, but latter at no time being unduly rough, and there were no accidents. Waterbury. There was a foul against Edwards for crowing Whitney, and of the American team, L. Waterbury was penalized for fouling, knocking Whitney's mallet and later penalized for crossing him.

There were two safety plays in the first period forced on the Americans, Milburn and Whitney each having occasion to evade a rush of their opponents by hitting over their own goal line.

Fielding Saves Mathewson.

Giant Pitcher Hit Hard, but Pittsburghers in Defeat.
Pittsburgh, June 9.—New York defeated Pittsburgh by 6 to 3 in an uninteresting game to-day. Mathewson was hit hard, but excellent fielding saved his game, while Leifield, who pitched for the locals, was hit timely. Clarke's home run was the only feature.

GETS IN A BAD HOLE.
Salice Allows Three Hits Yet Prevents Opponents from Scoring.
St. Louis, Mo., June 9.—St. Louis won an exciting game from Boston to-day, 2 to 1. Salice got into a bad hole in the ninth, when the first three men hit safely. Then Collins lined squarely to Konechky, and Gooch was doubled off first. Graham was passed, again Miller hit bases and Pfeffer, hitting for Curtis, forced Inerton, Motwrey making a double put-out unassisted. Score:

CUBS LOSE TO BROOKLYN.
Rucker's Mastery Pitching Keeps Chicago's Runs Down.
Chicago, June 9.—Brooklyn opened with two infield hits and two three-baggers on Brown to-day, and Rucker's mastery pitching defeated the Cubs, 4 to 1. A single and a triple in the seventh gave the visitors their final run. Manager Chalmers sent in recruit Toney to finish the game, and he gave but two hits, one an infield bunt. For five innings he retired Dahlen's team in order. The Cubs were powerless before Rucker, scoring their only run on a home-run drive by Doyle. Score:

PHILLIES DOWN REDS.
Suggs Gets Poor Support, but Twists Good Game.
Cincinnati, June 9.—Philadelphia took the Reds into camp this afternoon by 4 to 1. Suggs pitched an excellent game, but his support, both at bat and in the field, was very slow. Alexander worked for the Phillies and got out of several tight holes, largely through the star-typed play of the Reds with men on bases. The visitors played a superior game in the field and on the bases. Score:
