

Bankers Out of Race for the Tri-city Amateur Championship

Weak hitting caused the Nationals to drop all three games to the New York Yankees during the series just closed. Little Jack Warhop had the better of Walter Johnson Thursday; Ray Caldwell was able to hold the Nationals at arms' length on Friday, and yesterday Russell Ford pitched more consistent ball than did Dixie Walker. At that the Nationals should have won Friday's game. A little brisker stick work this week and more games will be chalked up in the won column.

Boston comes here for a three-game series, starting to-morrow. Thursday is an off day and on Friday and Saturday the St. Louis Browns will appear. The Nationals are due to take Boston's measure in the concrete column, as the Red Sox have thus far landed the majority of games, and it would not be at all surprising to see McAleer's hand breeze away with two out of the three. As for the St. Louis Browns, the tail-enders have played eight games in the Capital thus far and lost seven. The Nationals should make short work of this bunch.

It would appear as if Washington had drafted a likely looking young twirler in the person of Musser from the Canton club of the O. and P. League. The Washington Herald's Canton correspondent sends in the following story:

Pitcher "Oom Paul" Musser, drafted by Washington from the Canton team of the Ohio and Pennsylvania League, is twenty-two years of age, weighs 185 pounds, and stands five feet eleven inches. He is a right-hander, with a world of speed and a sharp drop ball, and lacks control.

Three other clubs after Musser—the New York Nationals, St. Louis Americans, and Chicago White Sox. Providing he can eliminate his wildness, Musser is sure to have a brilliant future.

But for Tom Hughes' unfortunate accident in Chicago, the Nationals declare that at least three games would have been won on the Western officials appointed by the intercollegiate football rules committee for 1911 appears the name of Garland Stahl, 64 Kimbark avenue, Chicago, Ill. Stahl, when at the University of Illinois was a gridiron as well as a diamond hero, and for a number of years has been a competent referee or umpire. He will referee in a number of big college games in the Middle West this fall.

Spartacus Walker is handling ground balls and getting back on long drives much better than he did a month ago. The boy is learning a few things in this league.

Jake Stahl may have given up baseball, but he is still connected with football. Chabrera, the infielder purchased by Boston from New Britain, is not a Spanish-Cuban. He says he is a Guanche, a descendant of ancient Beber or Kabyr Arabs, who invaded the Canary Islands 1,000 years ago, before the Romans came.

For the first time in authentic history the cover on a ball burst and came off in mid-air in Buffalo the other day. "Finch" McCabe, of the Boston, former Red, therefore gets credit for being the first man to "knock the cover off the ball."

The Marquis of Queensberry wrote up a baseball game for a New York paper the other day. He figured it all out that the Marquis would hold one of those English cricket tests to 20 runs, which is the same thing as a no-hit game in baseball. Yes; and the Rubie would look mighty cute drinking tea between innings.

Empire Klem's idea of nothing to stand for, says the New York Sun, is verbal criticism by a tail-end team. He ran over to the bench in the morning game, yanked out our old friend Fred Tenney, and threw him out of the lot. Tenney was considered "peevish" and at one stage it appeared that he might bite the arbitrator. Fred was peaceable all afternoon, but he was the most feisty twirler of any in the Taylor band. along the first base line and failed to run, thinking it was foul. Boykin was thrown out at first. Boyd at first. This was the last chance the Bankers had to count.

President Reeside, of the American Security and Trust Company, showed the boys a great time, putting them up at the Jefferson and treating them in great shape. The officials of the Richmond commission met the team at the station and took them to the ball park in automobiles in time to see the first game.

NOTES OF THE GAME.

Mike MacDonald opened the game by slamming a single past third, but the next three men were easy outs.

The first Battle Axe hit came in the third inning, when Dogget singled to left center.

Hay Boykin had a busy time in center field capturing flies, two of them after long runs.

Chris Feinle fanned Bowers in the fourth with two on the sacks. Some twirler, that boy Chris.

Inky Davis made a great attempt to capture Hay's foul fly in the fourth, but the ball was just a little too far away. It was a grand attempt, and the Richmond fans gave Inky the glad hand.

Battle Axe smacked out four safeties in the seventh, but not a run resulted.

Boykin singled in the eighth, but West dumped the ball in front of the plate, and Boykin was doubled at second.

You have to hand it to Strain. Yesterday he pitched ten innings against the Petersburg club of the Virginia League, beating them in the tenth inning with a double to center.

It was one of the best games ever seen on the Virginia League grounds, was the verdict of the fans, and there were some prizes.

Bill Stittinging, of the Georgetown variety ball club, was an interested spectator. Tom Kirby and Percy Green were also there.

M. A. C., 4; BATTLE AXE, 3

Richmond, Va., Sept. 8.—The Maryland Athletic Club defeated the Battle Axe Club in the first game of a double-header for the intercity championship, by 4 to 3, before the largest crowd that ever witnessed an amateur game in Richmond. Joe Boehling, the crack southpaw of the Battle Axe Club, did the hurting for the Richmond champs, and while he was touched for but four hits, two costly errors by his team mates cost him the game. Blount's error gave the Marylanders the run that won them the game.

Boehling pitched in great shape and he deserved to win. In the second round the first runs of the game crossed the rubber. Schmidt fanned, but Dooley booted J. Whitefield's slow grounder and Bowers walked. A wild pitch moved both runners up a peg. Whitefield scored on his brother's sacrifice fly to center field. Dogget stung to left, scoring Bowers. The third and last Battle Axe run was scored in the fifth on hits by Boehling and Blount and Worthington's error.

In the fourth the Baltimore champions pushed a pair of runners over the

GANZEL PLAYED IN THE HAWAIIIS

Rochester Manager Had a Ball Team on Island.

Manager John Ganzel of the Rochester team was instrumental some years back in putting the Hawaiian Islands on the baseball map. Sixteen years ago Ganzel went to the islands, and while there helped to organize and manage the first team that gave the Hawaiians a first start in baseball. A copy of a Hawaiian newspaper received here recently tells how the former Red Leg manager helped to install baseball in the Pacific Islands.

"John Ganzel is one of the top-notchers in national baseball circles and is doing well. He was quite a young man when he came here in 1894—about seventeen or eighteen, I think, but he was quite a player even then, and during his two years' residence in this city gave evidence that he had the makings of a brilliant future.

"He did not come here just to play baseball, though, for he was a good catcher, and with his brother, Fred, was engaged in building operations. The baseball revival struck us about that time and Ganzel came in the front with other lovers of the sport, and in 1895 he got the Stars organized. James Thompson also got busy and rounded up the club which called the 'Unknowns,' which soon held its name, giving the Stars and the Kamehamehas, which also entered the field, some good trouncings once in a while.

"The three clubs were pretty evenly matched, but there was some fine games, I can tell you, just as exciting as any of today. The Stars consisted of Lionel Hart, pitcher; Harry Wilder, catcher; Ganzel, first base; J. O. Carter, second base; Samuel Woods, third base; W. Wilder, shortstop; W. C. Wilder, Jr., right field; George Angus, center field; and D. McNeill, left field.

ALL-STAR TEAM IS BADLY BEATEN

New York R. R. Y. M. C. A. Nine Wins, 10 to 2.

The representatives of the New York Railroad Y. M. C. A. easily trimmed the all-star aggregation from the local branch here yesterday, 10 to 2. On the previous meeting of these teams the Washington contingent was victorious, but yesterday, rivaled by the superb pitching of Durkey, they drew the short end of the stick, which were garnered on the rubber for the local team, and showed the effects of a long lay-off.

Durkey, the visitors' hurler, a southpaw, held the home crew to five smacked hits, three of which were garnered by Thompson. Capt. Otto, of the Gottamites, did telling work with the stick. On three occasions he was up with men on, and in each instance responded with a clean, cap, hitting up the eighth, ninth and tenth, and in the eighth, ninth and tenth sent three runs over the plate. ### HARVARD BOY WINS.

Whitney Captures Intercollegiate Tennis Honors. Philadelphia, Sept. 8.—E. H. Whitney, of Harvard, today won the intercollegiate lawn tennis championship in singles by defeating in the final round A. H. Mann, Jr., of Yale, on the courts of the Merion Cricket Club at Haverford.

The scores were 6-1, 6-2, 6-2. Whitney's win makes Harvard a six-time champion, with six points each, in the championship trophy. It takes seven points to gain permanent possession.

Now that the post-season series is over, why not play a series of games between all-Irish, all-German, and all-Italian teams?

This series would be a corker in more than one way. Every nationality is represented in the amateur leagues of the District, and the foregoing teams were picked at random. Three good ball clubs could be gotten together and some fast games would be played.

The Italian team has been sounded and they are willing to play the games, and now it is up to the other clubs.

Look over the Irish team, for they seem to have the call on paper. Murphy, of Silver Spring, is a good receiver and a hard hitter. Bernie Gallagher, of the Cornell Tigers, is one of the best twirlers in the District. George Mullin is put on first for his hitting, and he sure can kill the speed. On second we have Jack Hurley, of the Aloysius club. Here is the best second sacker in the city. Ted Hayes, of the Aloysius club, is the best baseman, is placed in short, not only for his fielding but for his hitting as well. On third we have another Sullivan. This one plays third for Aloysius club during the entire season, and he proved that he was able to deliver the goods. In the outfield we have Rielly, of the Aloysius club; Drennan, of the same team, in center; and Mulvey, of the Aloysius club, in right. This makes a fast trio of outfielders, and they are all good hitters.

Chris Feinle, the star twirler of the Bankers, is picked for the German hurler with Munch, of the Sewage Pumping station team, behind the bat. Both of these ball tossers are too well known to need any introducing to the public. The catcher of the post-office, is the first sacker of the Dutch team, and a better man would be hard to find. Riston, of the Southland team, is picked for second on his well-known ability to alarm the aggregation. In right, the first aggregation, will be seen in the shortfield, while Harry Shalin, of the Walford club, will hold down third and take his turn on the rubber should it be necessary.

In the outfield we have Dutch Stuckert, the well-known fence buster of the Sunday School and Capital City leagues; Dutch Hessler, of the Cornell Tigers, and Dutch Schwelger, of the R. P. Andrews team. This is some sweet outfield, and they can all field.

Taken all in all, the Germans have a good team and will give the Irish all the rub they want should this series be arranged.

Now for the Italian team. Tony Russo, who has been appointed manager of the team by Captain Guza, said last night that he would have his team on the field any time, or later, and the other arrangements would name. Here is the way they will line up. Giovanetti, of the Navy Yard team, behind the bat. Here is about the best throwing receiver in the District and picked by many to be the best all-around catcher in Washington. Atlas, Atlas, of the Capitals, will do the hurling, with Capt. Guza to fall back on. Cassasa, the old timer, will get down to dirt. Tony went to the Tidewater League the early part of the season, but when the ghost failed to walk, home came Tony a-trotting.

This would be some series, and when all arrangements are completed, the fans will have a chance to see some real ball playing by three teams, composed of players of the same race, something that has never been seen here before.

As umpires we have Finnegan, of the Bankers League, and Dutch Newman, of the Independence League. What better place could be secured in the District than at McDevitt's Field? So we will take that spot as the scene of the battles. And when the spools are divided—well he who runs—

TECHS QUAD OUT.

Candidates for the Technical High School football team reported at the school yesterday morning, when uniforms were given out and plans discussed for the coming season.

Manager Bennett announces that the first practice will be held to-morrow morning, and that all candidates are requested to be at the school at 8 o'clock. As yet no practice field has been obtained. Business was the order of the day at Central District League Park, so that the Manual Trainers are up against it for grounds. Preliminary practice may be held at Union League Park.

YALE STAR WINS.

Stanley Captures Golf Semi-Finals in Intercollegiate Tournament. Short Hills, N. J., Sept. 8.—After surprising everybody, including themselves, by defeating Robert Gardner and Albert Seckel, in the semi-finals of the individual intercollegiate golf championship at Baltusrol this morning, George Stanley, of Yale, and Harry Heyburn, of Pennsylvania, got together in the final in the afternoon, and Stanley won the title by 1 up and 4 to play.

The feat of putting out the two favorites seemed to be considered enough good golf for one day by both Stanley and Heyburn, and the former owed his victory in the final more to Heyburn's mistakes than to his own good play. To serve as a partial excuse for the high scores, rain began to fall before the match had gone one hole, and though it let up now and then, conditions were anything but favorable for the greater part of the day.

"How to Play Football," by Walter Camp, has just made its appearance in the Spalding Athletic Library. This book is very much needed by beginners and all those who wish to be posted on the new plays and changes in the rules. It also gives information on how to train a football team under the new rules. This should be read by the officials, coaches, and players, as well as all those who are learning the game. Among the interesting chapters of the book are to be found one on signals, which all captains should study, and another on training for football, by Michael Murphy.

CHALLENGES JOE TURNER.

Dear Sir—Please issue a challenge to Joe Turner, or some of the other wrestlers of Washington, in behalf of Al Maupaus, who made such short work of Lew Ellis, last winter at the Gayety Theater, by defeating him in two straight falls, the first fall in 14 minutes and the second in 30 seconds. I have repeatedly endeavored to get Turner to give Maupaus a return match, but it looks as if he won't say any of Maupaus' name. However, if he does, we will take him on the winner to take all.

Now, to show the sporting public that we are not four-flushing, Maupaus will agree to take on Turner or any other local wrestler whose weight does not exceed 175 pounds, on the basis of winner take all, the said match to be held either in Washington or Baltimore.

Hope they will see this challenge and stop side-stepping Maupaus, as they have been doing since his last match in your city.

Thinking you kindly for the space in your valuable paper, I beg to remain, respectfully yours,
