

WANT NEW METHOD IN CADET 'EXAMS'

Vexed Problem Before the Board of Education.

DOUBLE TRIALS ARE OPPOSED

Col. Ross, Instructor, Seeks Light from the Members—Supt. Davidson Ready to Open New Kindergarten in Wormley School—Promotions and Transfers.

What may mean a reorganization in the method of examination for regimental and company commissions in the High School Cadets was discussed at the meeting of the board of education yesterday.

Col. Burton R. Ross, instructor of cadets, asked through Assistant Superintendent E. L. Thurston for expressions of opinion from the board.

It is understood that Col. Ross is opposed to letting a fourth year man try for a company command after failing to qualify for a regimental office.

The regimental examinations have already been held and it is understood that some of the students who applied to colonels or lieutenant colonels subsequently entered in the examinations for company commands.

"The question of double examinations," said Assistant Supt. Thurston, "will have to be gone into carefully. I am not able to give reasons at this time favoring either the single or double examination. It would seem that by precedent the former plan would lead, but this is simply because the latter has never been the subject of inquiry."

The same view of the situation was taken by Supt. Davidson.

For New Kindergartens. The school officials are striving to untangle the salary skein and learn exactly what funds are open and how they may be used.

Light on the subject came yesterday when Supt. Davidson announced it was possible for him to open a new kindergarten at the Wormley school.

Supt. Davidson also recommended the promotion of A. F. Albert, teacher of manual training in the vocational school, but now on detail at Armstrong school, from class 2 to class 4 on and after October 1.

Miss A. M. Mitchell from kindergarten assistant to kindergarten principal and transfer from Randall to Wormley school on and after October 1.

SUMMER TIME ICE NOT FULL WEIGHT

District Sealer Urges Uplift of Food Measures.

Recommendations for the licensing of ice dealers, for the fixing of a standard weight of bread, and for a uniform crate and barrel law, are made to the Commissioners in the annual report of W. C. Haskell, District sealer of weights and measures, which was submitted yesterday.

The report states that there were many complaints against ice men for selling short weight during the year, and that many prosecutions followed.

Because of the number of cases during June, July, and August, inspectors were required to work seventeen days overtime.

Mr. Haskell says that inspectors have found loaves of bread sold in the city varying in weight from twelve to twenty ounces, and he recommends that a uniform weight be established.

Improvement in conditions in connection with the sale of coal and ice cream was noted.

During the year there were 2,598 inspections and 12,165 scales, weights, and measures were sealed. The inspectors condemned and destroyed 631 pairs of scales and 180 were condemned for repair. The receipts of the office during the year were $28,257.

NEW PHASE TO STEEL TRUST PROBE

Intimated Interstate Commerce Law Is Violated.

In a statement issued yesterday by Representative Stanley, chairman of the House committee investigating the steel trust, it is asserted that the Interstate Commerce Commission will soon be drawn into the controversy because conditions are said to exist which are in violation of the interstate commerce act.

Stanley states his conviction that no shipper of heavy freight can secure a monopoly, an inviolable monopoly, without the domination of the subservience of common carriers.

He says that railroads must preserve their independence and treat all shippers alike.

"It is not safe to prophesy as a rule," says Mr. Stanley, "that I am firmly convinced that the American people will be quite as much interested within the near future in the operations of the Interstate Commerce Commission as they have been in the decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States in its interpretation of the antitrust act."

In conjunction with Mr. Stanley's statement, the Anti-trust League issued a statement, signed by H. B. Martin, national secretary, and C. T. Brice, national treasurer, that eventually the steel trust officials will be called before the investigating committee and be compelled to admit that they are not only violating the antitrust law, but the interstate commerce law also.

URGES FAIR PLAY SPIRIT.

James E. Walker Speaks at Athletic League Meeting.

An urgent appeal to principals and teachers to impress upon their pupils the spirit of fair play in the public schools formed the basis of an address by Supervising Principal James E. Walker, president of the Public Schools Athletic League, at the annual meeting of that body in M Street High School yesterday afternoon.

E. B. Henderson, secretary of the league, submitted his report and urged the members to encourage games within the school between classes, rather than between classes of different schools.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, J. E. Walker; vice president, Miss E. A. Chase; secretary, E. B. Henderson; treasurer, Miss A. E. Thompson. The following was elected to the executive board: Miss M. E. Gibbs, A. P. Lewis, A. K. Savoy, G. J. Key, and H. G. Douglas.

American naval officers are not much alarmed by the story that the English navy has a torpedo with an effective range of 20,000 yards. This story has just been printed in this country. The fact is that there are in the American navy torpedoes with a range of 12,000 yards and plenty of them with 20,000 yards.

Large advertisement for the Cabinet Range gas stove, featuring the text: 'No dirt, no ash when you cook with gas, No littering up your clean kitchen with trash. Scratch a match, turn a valve, and its flame of blue Is ready and willing to work for you. You can fry, you can boil, you can bake or broil, You can laugh at wood and coal and oil. You have been to the school, now save up your change, And list to the song of the "Cabinet Range."'
