DISTRICT POLICE INVESTIGATION OF THE DEATH OF Mrs. Henry at Hagerstown Shifts to Washington.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY HAWKEN HANDLES CASE AT THIS END McCleary, Held in Connection with Death, Committed to Jail for Three Days.

Investigation of the strange mystery surrounding the death of Mrs. Annie Henry, a widow, of Hagerstown, Md., who is believed to have been murdered while asleep and alone in her home, last night swung to the National Capital...

McCleary himself is believed to have given to the Hagerstown authorities the "tips" which are being investigated by the Washington detectives. Some time in the small hours of Sunday morning McCleary was taken from his cell and escorted to the office of one of the Hagerstown officials, where he was given a "sweating"...

Henry was arrested the day after this article and the police say they found the revolver in his room. It is alleged by the police that McCleary intended to kill the girl if she did not consent to marry him. Miss Henry refused to open her door, and as a result of the disturbance the landlady, Mrs. Jones, of 22 H Street Northwest, who she took refuge after fleeing from Hagerstown to escape McCleary, who, it is charged, had threatened to take her life.

Find Revolver in Room. Henry was arrested the day after this article and the police say they found the revolver in his room. It is alleged by the police that McCleary intended to kill the girl if she did not consent to marry him. Miss Henry refused to open her door, and as a result of the disturbance the landlady, Mrs. Jones, of 22 H Street Northwest, who she took refuge after fleeing from Hagerstown to escape McCleary, who, it is charged, had threatened to take her life.

McCLEARY COMMITTED FOR THREE DAYS Special to The Washington Herald. Hagerstown, Md., Aug. 26.—Justice Doub quietly went to the Washington County Jail today and committed Norman McCleary, under suspicion of having knowledge of the death of his sweetheart's mother, Mrs. Annie R. Henry for three days. The magistrate did this to avoid subjecting the young prisoner to the morbid gaze of the curious crowd that had gathered at the police station.

Wagman & Wagman, McCleary's attorneys, in two interviews with McCleary in jail to-day. They said he was decidedly irrational when they spoke to him and they were unable to get from him a connected story. They stated to-night they expected to have a prominent Baltimore doctor at the autopsy of Mrs. Henry Wednesday. Dr. A. P. Stauffer, Mrs. Henry's physician for years, stated to-night that while Mrs. Henry had tubercular tendencies two examinations of her sputum for tubercular bacilli brought negative results. There is a difference of opinion as to whether Mrs. Henry died of hemorrhage of the lungs or was choked to death.

Miss Lupah Henry, who went to Washington Saturday for some personal belongings she had behind when she was summoned home last Monday by the finding of her mother's dead body, returned to Hagerstown this afternoon. It will maintain that McCleary's friends that he will prove an alibi. Mrs. Arthur Sloane, who is connected with the Temple Theater, is willing to testify, it is said, that on the night Mrs. Henry is supposed to have been murdered McCleary attended the Temple Theater and after the performance went to his room and remained there all night.

ROSEMARY'S WIFE WILL SUE BECKER Widow of Murdered Gambler Asks $100,000 Damages for "Loss of Husband's Services."

WEBBER'S GAMBLING HOUSE STILL DOING BUSINESS No Attempt Made to Conceal Games, but No Money Is in Sight When Police Arrive.

New York, Aug. 26.—Action for $100,000 damages to be begun shortly against Police Lieut. Charles Becker by the widow of Herman Rosenthal, for the "loss of her husband's services." Attorney M. Harold Hochdorf, of 31 Park Row, has been retained by Mrs. Lillian Rosenthal for this purpose.

The gambling house of "Bridgie" Webber, who has confessed that he paid $1,000 to the manager, Rosenthal, was raided to-night. The manager, Kirke Brown, was arrested, and a wagon full of tables, cards, and chips taken to the police station. Other gambling houses have closed since the Rosenthal investigation began, but Webber's place has been in full blast every night, despite the fact that his owner is in the West Side police station, awaiting trial.

Supreme Court Justice Goff and District Attorney Whitman, together with the special grand jury, will have power to compel attendance and testimony of all needed witnesses. Other committees will not have the power to do this, and it is feared that the police, by merely appearing before one of the committees and giving valueless testimony.

James E. March, Republican leader in the Third Assembly District, announced to-day that Police Lieut. Becker, accused of instigating the murder of Rosenthal, had made $125,000 in the past year honestly in stock speculation, and not in graft. March declared he would give testimony against Becker, and which this money had been made when Becker comes to trial.

Acting Capt. Arthur B. Gicster was removed from his position as Inspector District to-day and reduced to desk duty in one of the station houses. Charges also were filed against Inspector Cornelius G. Hayes and his hearing will be pushed to a later date.

More Becker bank accounts were found and an additional graft fund of $100,000 a year from a gang of wire tappers came to light. This gang, which was a monopoly of the wire-tapping in New York in consideration of a large payment yearly, cleared many times this amount from wealthy out-of-town visitors who were charged to report their losses. It was learned to-day that John P. Kirwin, a real estate dealer, is part owner in the Lincoln Hotel, a well-known gambling establishment. Kirwin is a member of the grand jury drawn by Justice McCall to investigate graft between the disorderly and gambling houses and the police. The information was obtained by District Attorney Whitman, and it is probable that Kirwin will be prevented from serving on the grand jury.

Sue for False Arrest. Suit for false arrest in the sum of $100,000 was brought against J. M. Wolford in the District Supreme Court yesterday by William H. Edmunds. Edmunds contends that he was arrested at the instigation of Wolford, who charged him with having stolen a personal property. The former was acquitted when the case was heard before the courts.

Injunction Issued Against Tailor. As a result of suit brought by the firm of George T. Keen, Inc., of 1212 F Street Northwest, a temporary injunction was issued yesterday, restraining Albert M. Keen, a merchant tailor, of 1212 F Street, from using the name "Keen's" in advertising his place of business. The petitioner claims priority in the use of the trade name.

MASTERS TO INVADE Blue Army Encamped Near Charlestown—To Invade Red Territory to Destroy Supplies.

SOLDIER BOYS PLAN TO BREAK CAMP WEDNESDAY Men to Be Paid Off on Final Day. Trains Obtained for Return Trip.

Charlestown, W. Va., Aug. 26 (Headquarters of the Blue Army)—With camp fires dotting the meadow half a mile west of Charlestown, the Blue Army to-night is bivouacking in an open field with a threatening sky giving a half promise of rain. Somewhere to the eastward the Red army, under Capt. Berkeley, Fifteenth United States Cavalry, is lying in wait behind the ridge, and with the Red army marching out from Camp Ordway at noon to-day. It consisted of Troop B, Fifteenth Cavalry; one-half of Battery E, under Capt. Fred T. Austin, Third Field Artillery, and all of the First Separate Battalion, N. G. D. C., under Maj. James Walker. Capt. H. D. Berkeley in command had turned over Troop B of cavalry to Lieut. Overton.

The Blue army, with Gen. George H. Harries commanding, left camp an hour and a half later. Maj. Leroy W. Herron, acting as adjutant general, had disposed of the baggage train from a great loss of Harvey and his Second Infantry acted as the advance guard, with the leading battalion of this regiment carrying an extra heavy supply of ammunition, in that no money was in sight on any of the tables.

Ordned on Rear Guard. The First Infantry, under Col. Charles H. Gurnard, was acting as a rear guard, with a battalion armed with an extra lot of blank cartridges. The men so equipped were later placed in position as a rear guard, as attacks might develop from the quarter. Although the batteries strength of the Red army leads Gen. Harries to believe that he will have to force the fighting, and that the Reds will do all they can to hamper his advance, he is actually offering any serious opposition.

Two meals will have to be cooked in the field by the men and the haversacks were stuffed with easy cooking food when the armies left Camp Ordway for this practice. Cans of baked beans and bacon, besides the bread, formed the staple of the menu. Blanket rolls had been examined carefully and as soon as the men found their camp site at this point in Charlestown, the little shelter tents were raised.

Lieut. Stewart, of E Battery, Third Field Artillery, has two guns with him on the rear guard. The batteries are in an artillery duel with Capt. Austin, who has the remaining two field pieces of the battery. The batteries carried five-hundred rounds, and did not depend on the rear guard for their ammunition.

Capt. Oliver Terry's signal company has been in demand in the Red Army ever since it arrived in this camp. The company, which is commanded by duty when they tumbled into their coats last night, but were up bright and early to-day ready to string a line of field messengers, or military telephones, around the camp so the headquarters would be connected with the headquarters tent. Information of the enemy has been sent in over this single line at various times. The information is not nearly so accurate as the ambulance company, has established a field hospital, and has selected a site for dressing stations for the fight which must surely occur to-morrow.

To Destroy Supplies. The Blue Army has a mission which must be completed to-morrow before the Red army can be driven to divide hostile rivers. The ground north of the stream is Blue territory and that to the south is Red. A Blue force, including Gen. Harries' present command, has been sent into West Virginia with orders to destroy the large quantity of supplies which the Reds have collected twenty miles west of Charlestown, and which are reported to be inadequately guarded.

On the other side of the problem, Capt. Berkeley is to-night at Hallowton, W. Va., and has organized strong patrols of his own cavalrymen under Lieut. W. W. Overton. Berkeley's orders are to find Gen. Harries, to report on his strength, to hang on his flanks and to keep him worried, but not to get in a position where he will have to pit his strength against the overwhelming force under Gen. Harries. The Red commander-in-chief is supposed to be in Wheeling for the purpose of this maneuver, and the problem states that he is desirous to lead the Blues well into his territory so that he can later cut off their retreat.

Cavalry Is Seen. When Gen. Harries and his column reached the scene of their actions to-day the Red Cavalry was seen occasionally. Pairs and three of the riders skulking upon the ridge tops, and hiding behind bushes in the distance. Maj. Clarence Sawyer's Battalion of the Second Infantry was spread around the Blue Camp as outposts and pickets, with instruction to keep in touch with the Blue headquarters at all times and to drive off all inquisitive cavalrymen who were trying to get a line on the Blue strength. For that reason there would be isolated rifle duels all along the curved line of pickets and outposts. The men went to sleep under their shelter tents when taps was blown at 10 o'clock to-night. Sentinels will pace the darkness camp until dawn, and the battalions of outposts will be awake to start off by their firing any one who attempts to sneak close enough to the Blue lines to make a sketch map of the situation, or to glean any other information. Artillery Coming Home. First Battery, Field Artillery, left Camp Ordway at 8 o'clock this morning on route for home. The first camp was scheduled for Leesport, Va., and the battery commander, Capt. J. Harry Shannon, expects to reach Washington Wednesday. To-morrow will be practically the last day in camp. When the present maneuver comes to an end to-morrow noon, the brigade will start back to Camp Ordway to prepare for the final departure Wednesday morning. The men will be paid Wednesday before starting on their return trip. Capt. Boyd Taylor and Capt. R. A. Clark of the maps used in to-day's maneuver.

the paymaster's department M. G. D. C. The hard work of moving troops home falls, for the greater part, upon Maj. Alfred Robbins and Capt. E. M. Neville, quartermaster's department. Maj. Francis B. Wheaton, Corps of Engineers, N. G. D. C., and his assistants were Lieut. A. H. McGonigal, First Infantry; Lieut. H. C. Earnshaw, Second Infantry; Lieut. A. C. Newman, First Separate Battalion; Lieut. C. M. Hammond, Second Infantry; Lieut. W. B. Wall, First Infantry, and Lieut. A. C. Adams, Second Infantry.

Men Establish Record. Sergt. P. E. Shomette and Corp. Duval of the signal company, established a record for stringing field telephones in the recent maneuvers. These two experts strung a line half a mile long in nine minutes, using a horse-drawn reel cart, and sent messages all the while the wire was being laid. Later they sent sixteen messages in fifteen minutes. Sergt. Charles Williams and Sergt. William Rahn, of the signal company, were detailed by special orders from the adjutant general to assist the quartermaster in arranging for the trip home. Sergt. W. J. Bacon, M. Company, Second Infantry, and Corp. Gordon W. Lyle, D Company First Infantry, have been detailed by special orders to assist the quartermaster in the execution and preparation of the intricate pay rolls for use in paying the troops Wednesday.

U.S. CALLS REBEL LEADER'S BLUFF State Department Regards Nicaraguan Revolution as a Crisis in This Country's Policy. QUICK ACT WILL HAVE EFFECT With the arrival in Nicaragua of the extensive re-enforcements now on the way thither from the United States, it is intended by this government to take such vigorous steps in that country as will prove a salutary lesson not only to the revolutionists of Nicaragua, but to the neighboring republics of Central America as well.

With the arrival in Nicaragua of the extensive re-enforcements now on the way thither from the United States, it is intended by this government to take such vigorous steps in that country as will prove a salutary lesson not only to the revolutionists of Nicaragua, but to the neighboring republics of Central America as well. Nothing but the most drastic measures, it is now considered, can prevent the United States from a great loss of influence in Latin America. Information has reached here indicating that Gen. Mena attempted to overthrow the government largely because he was persuaded that the United States was bluffing, and did not mean business in regard to its insistence upon the preservation of peace in Nicaragua and respect for the pledges of the Dawson convention.

To Re-establish Communication. The first step expected is the re-establishment of communication in Nicaragua, both by rail and telegraph. The rebels have now succeeded in holding up all railroad communication between Managua, the capital, and Corinto, the principal Pacific port of Nicaragua. The telegraphic communication has also been broken up, so that Minister Weitzel has been for days at a time unable to communicate with Washington, and some of his dispatches have never reached the State Department. One message was received at the department yesterday dated July 25, which the rebels had succeeded in holding up. This message, if it had been received in due order, would have been the first to break the telegraphic line, as it told of Gen. Mena's attempt to replace the capital garrison with his own men from his home town.

The steps contemplated by the State Department are not nearly so drastic as are being urged by Nicaraguans themselves. Representations have been made to the American Legation and also to the British Legation in Managua, urging that the United States intervene in Nicaragua and not only put an end to the revolt, but establish the government firmly and by methods similar to those adopted in Panama last month at the elections, at the request of that government, and see that the Nicaraguans have opportunity of choosing a successor to President Diaz.

Diplomat's Relatives Endangered. Joaquin Cuadra, secretary of the Nicaraguan Legation, called at the State Department yesterday and reported that he had just received a cable from his mother, long delayed in transmission, stating that his father and uncle had been thrown into prison at Granada by Gen. Mena and were being starved in that confinement. Though the State Department is not likely to interfere on behalf of any particular Nicaraguan, it is expected that when the re-enforcements arrive on the scene the rebels will be forced to abandon practices contrary to the rules of war and the requirements of civilization and humanity.
